—— Brig. Gen. Reno makes honorable mention, in his official report of the late demonstration on Norfolk, of Lieut. Col. Bell, commanding a brigade, and of Lieut. Col. Griffin of the 6th N. H. Regiment; and the 6th Regiment (with four other regiments engaged,) has been ordered to inscribe upon its banners the name Camden, April 19, as a deserved tribute to the perseverance, discipline and bravery exhibited by the officers and soldiers.

PROPOSED BANKRUPT LAW.—In an able article, urging the need of a United States Bankrupt Law, the Boston Post says:—

"That we want a new bankrupt law, does not seem to be questioned in any quarter. That the law of 1841 was a failure, is no reason that one well matured now would be a failure. Because fraud and perjury then were freely committed to carry out a saturnalia of debtors, is no reason why the same thing will be done to-day. Because the Southern creditors may avail themselves of such a law to clear themselves of their obligations to Northern creditors, as has been urged in this Congress, is no reason why the law should not be matured and passed."

The law of 1841 was no failure;—and we shall never have one better matured than that was. Fraud and perjury would be as freely committed under a new law, as they were then. That law was repealed by party spite and popular ignorance, just when it had done all the evil it could do,—and before it had time given it, to work on compelled bankrupts. It was not repealed because of its defects, but because demagogues wished to get into fat offices and get great power by a clamor against it. Defects it had, no doubt; so would a new one.

Nevertheless, let us have it: for as the Post truly says:—

"It is not the bankrupt alone, but the creditor also, who is asking for this law."

Honest, forbearing creditors, and honest, but insolvent debtors, would be alike benefitted by it.

NAVAL.—The U. S. sloop-of-war Constellation, Com. Thatcher, which sailed from Portsmouth, March 11th, arrived off Fayal on the 23d, after a very tempestuous passage. A boat was lowered for the purpose of communicating with the U. S. Consul, but it was stove by the heavy sea, when it was hoisted on board again. In the evening, the wind which had been violent all day, increased to a heavy gale, and the Constellation was compelled to put to sea for safety, and stood for Lisbon, where she arrived on the 31st. On the 16th an able seaman, named Campbell, a Scotchman was lost overboard in a squall, and drowned; his body was recovered, and decently interred with appropriate services.

NAVAL.—Lieut. Alex. Murray has been detached, by order of the Navy Department from the Louisiana and ordered to the command of the U. S. steam gunboat Sebago.

The Board appointed by the Secretary of the Navy, under the act of Congress, to decide whether the Stevens Battery will make an effective war vessel, has not reported in its favor, as stated. The report is in substance that, with modifications rendered necessary by recent events, the battery can be made effective. The Department has called upon the Committee for specifications of the alterations required.

☞ The Postmaster General gives notice that all letters intended for New Orleans should be sent to the New York Post-office, whence they will be forwarded by regular mail steamers.

☞ When the ice went out of the Connecticut river at Barnet this spring, trees two feet through were torn up by the roots or cut off.

When you see a drunken rebel black with mud, you may conclude that he has dyed in the last ditch.

☞ An order has been received prohibiting visitors at the Charleston Navy Yard.

A NEW RED, WHITE AND BLUE.

BY WILLIAM ROSS WALLACE.

I.

O Flag of a New World, thy glory
Is safe as the glory of stars
The soul of the Universe marshalled
To roll on their sky-blessing cars!
Thy Crimson by Courage was pictured,
Thy White is from Purity true,
And Love spreads upon thee her beauty—
A star-lighted Heaven of Blue!
Hurrah for the Red, White and Blue!
Hurrah for the Red, White and Blue!
And cheers for the Army and Navy
That fight for the Red, White and Blue!

II.

Of Union thou art the broad symbol,
Yet Liberty's imaged in bee!
Thy folds rustle time to the beating
Of hearts that were born to be free!
Thou art the mighty standard of millions
Who here from black tyranny flew;
O ne'er will their proud souls surrender
The star-lighted Heaven of Blue!
Hurrah for the Red, White and Blue!
Hurrah for the Red, White and Blue!
And cheers for the Army and Navy
That fight for the Red, White and Blue!

III.

Hark! Hark!—from the graves of the martyrs
A curse on all traitors is hurled!
And see, the immortals of Mount Vernon
Is guarding the Hope of the world!
For all bound in tyranny's dungeons
Thy stars shall yet glitter through—
The God of the Universe blesses
Thy glorious Heaven of Blue!
Hurrah for the Red, White and Blue!
Hurrah for the Red, White and Blue!
And cheers for the Army and Navy
That fight for the Red, White and Blue!

—New York Ledger.

CONGRESS, Tuesday,—In the Senate, the Homestead bill was passed, 38 against 7. The Confiscation bill was taken up, and after a debate it was referred to a special committee.

In the House, the Pacific Railroad and Telegraph bill was passed, by a majority of 30. Mr. Segur was admitted to his seat as member from the 1st Virginia district.

CHRISTIAN LIBERALITY.—An orthodox minister residing not a thousand miles from Portsmouth, N. H., was once asked at dinner if he could call one of the most esteemed of the Unitarian divines "Brother." "Hardly," he answered. A sly wink passed round the table, and a low muttering of "there's Christian charity for you." But the reverend gentleman went on to say:—"There are some Unitarian ministers of such truly Christian character and spirit that I do not feel authorized to reckon myself in the same family." The company was satisfied with the explanation.—Boston Jour.

STRIKE.—The colliers of the several mines in the vicinity of Pottsville, Pennsylvania, were on a strike Tuesday, and committed many high-handed and outrageous acts. The pumping engines of some of the largest colliers were stopped by them, causing a serious destruction of property.—Heckscher's mines were the object of their united vengeance. The State authorities have been called on to furnish troops, and volunteer companies are organizing.

JOHN B. GOUGH.—Our readers will doubtless be pleased to know that this celebrated orator is to lecture at the Temple on Tuesday evening, May 20th, under the auspices of the Sons of Temperance.

☞ The Richmond Dispatch mentions two instances where the rebels in that city have buried their sick soldiers before they were dead.

DIDN'T SEE IT.—"You can't do too much for your employers, my man," said somebody to a big-fisted, strong-backed man-of-all-work, on the wharf one day. "Arrah, be jabers," replied Pat, with emphasis—"neither will I."

☞ At a meeting of the General Theological Library, of Boston, held in that city on Tuesday, Rev. Dr. Burroughs was elected President for the ensuing year.

☞ Chicago now ranks as the greatest market in the world for beef, pork and lumber.

WHOSE BARGAINS IN GOOD, DURABLE, AND FASHIONABLE

READY-MADE CLOTHING

ASTONISH THE WORLD!

Why is it that Lane is so popular?

WHY IS IT THAT THE GREAT MASS OF THE PEOPLE BUY THEIR GOODS AT

"L A N E'S?"

These are questions, the answers to which you will do well to remember.

1st. We do a strictly "CASH BUSINESS," buying and selling for "nett cash," thereby saving much from bad debts, and having great advantage in buying goods.

2d. We employ none but first-class artists in the cut and manufacture of our goods, thereby giving to the purchaser an elegant and tasty fit, combined with great durability.

3d. We always keep a very large stock, and you are sure to find garments suited to your taste and pocket.

4th. Our corps of salesmen are all gentlemen, and you have no fear of being abused if you do not purchase; but on the contrary, take great pleasure in showing strangers over our immense establishment.

5th. We invite strangers who are making purchases in the city, to make our store their headquarters, and send any bundle or package there for safe keeping.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when used in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried mud. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

☞ Capt. Towle advertises a large sale of nice and common house furniture, and other articles, at his elegant new Auction and Commission Rooms, corner of Pleasant and State streets, this (Thursday) morning. His card and sale notices will be found under the Auction heads in these columns, and also in the bills liberally circulated—for Mr. Towle was long since aware of the virtues and benefits of full advertising.—His rooms are so spacious that he need not and will not postpone the sale, even if rainy—no small object in such fickle weather as we have had lately.

He also announces a large sale of fine trees, shrubs, &c., for next Saturday.—Read his advertisements and take a look at his excellent new quarters and the goods, and you can hardly fail of being convinced that it will be for your interest to attend these sales. 1t

☞ We have just changed our carrier of the West list, and hope the new boy, when he learns the route, will do better than the old one has—for he has acted "like the old boy," indeed. It is some trouble to print newspapers, but it is more to get them delivered as they should be. We wish somebody would invent a machine for it—and we guess some of our subscribers do. We are going to try "a little longer," however—and if we can't succeed in serving patrons to their satisfaction, we will shut up shop.

☞ It will be seen that that Benefit Festival for Mr. and Mrs. Carter, is to come off to-morrow (Friday) evening, instead of to-night.

1900 BARRELS of the Lodi Manufact'g Co's
Superior Poudrette.
This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.
TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!
Try it on your FIELD CROPS!! Try it on your BEANS, your CABBAGES, your CORN, POTATOES. Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY; Try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS.
Try it ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will and that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY
The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity,
One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.

Also, for sale,
PURE PERUVIAN GUANO
—and—
Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime.
warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

Farmers! Farmers!
Your attention is requested to the following unsolicited recommendation of the
LODI MANUFACTURING CO'S
POUDRETTE.
Dunbarton, N. H., May 1, 1862.
Mr. Shores,—Dear Sir:—
Last year I sent to you for three barrels of Poudrette.
Upon two acres of land I spread about twenty loads of barn manure to the acre. Upon ten rows of corn I put hog manure, a shovel in a hill. Upon the next ten Poudrette, and then phosphate of lime upon ten—and thus through the field.
One load of hog manure went five rows of seventy hills.
A bu of Poudrette eighteen rows;
A bag of Phosphate of Lime sixteen rows, all of the same length.
The Corn upon which the Poudrette was spread was more in quantity and superior in quality to the other, and also proven it to be the cheapest.
I want six barrels for this year, and my neighbors want ten or fifteen barrels more.
Please write upon what terms you will furnish it. Yours, CHARLES HOLMES.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.
Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and Wm. J. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky:
New York May 1, 1861.
Mr. Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:
Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.
Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufactory of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.
We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

Louisville, Ky., July 31, 1861.
Drs. Valentine Mott, Willard Parker & others
Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received, in accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I can trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,
I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. J. CUTTER, Jr.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and Wm. J. Cutter, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

900 CASKS of best quality Rockland Lime for sale for cash, by S. L. RUSSELL,

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S
Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!
The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.
Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine squeezes them so gently that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.
In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.
The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.
The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.
We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have the money refunded.
Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.
Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

IMMORTELLES.

THE SWORD.

The Sword! a name of dread; yet when
Upon the freeman's thigh 'tis bound,
While for his altar and his hearth,
While for the land that gave him birth,
The war drums roll, the trumpets sound,
How sacred is it then!
Whenever for the truth and right
It flashes in the van of fight,—
Whether in some wild mountain pass,
As that where fell Leonidas,—
Or on some sterile plain, and stern,
A Marston or a Bannockburn,—
Or 'mid fierce crags and bursting rills,
The Switzer's Alps, gray Tyrol's hills,—
Or, as when sank the Armada's pride,
It gleams above the stormy tide,—
Still, still, where'er the battle word
In Liberty, when men do stand
For justice and their native land,
Then Heaven bless the SWORD! —Anon.

THE DEAD.

There are no dead! the forms, indeed, did die,
Thatcased the ethereal beings now on high:
'Tis but the outward covering is thrown by;—
This is the dead!

The spirits of the lost of whom we sing,
Have perished not; they have but taken wing,—
Changing our earthly for a heavenly spring;
There are the dead! —Anon.

SPRING.

Spring still makes Spring in the heart,
When sixty years are cold;
Love wakes anew the throbbing heart,
And we are new world.
Over the winter glaciers,
I see the summer glow,
And through the wild-piled snowdrift,
The warm rose-buds below.
—Emerson.

HOPE.

Hope skims o'er life as, we may sometimes see
A butterfly, whose home is in the flowers,
Blown outward far over the moaning sea,
Remembering in vain its odorous bowers.

Advertise!

IT IS THE

LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. So that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when meeting the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the collateral evidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, tentatively established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising over failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers in the business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy or good business shrewdness to advertise when the business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it says, "Give up the idea that very few advertisers occupy it and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no fibes are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing is half me the second from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where every body seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is so constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

THE NEWSPAPER

Advertising Agency

—OF—

S. R. NILES,

1 Scollay's Building, Court Street, Boston,

Embraces most of the principal Commercial, Business, Religious, Literary, Scientific and Agricultural Newspapers in the United States, British Provinces and Canadas, to secure his place the duly appointed Agent, and authorized by the proprietors to receive advertisements and subscriptions at their lowest rates.

The Agent will spare no pains to render his agency a prompt, safe and reliable medium of communication with the Newspaper Press of the country. He feels qualified, from his long experience and devotion to the subject, to impart valuable information in regard to papers and localities best adapted for different kinds of business.

Persons desiring information, its cost, comparative value of papers and situations, are respectfully invited to call at the Agency, or they will be waited upon and every assistance rendered for the adoption of a thorough and judicious system of advertising. sp6 tf S. R. NILES.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal taint, whether Secondary, Gonorrhœa, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are such as to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate. apr1—1y3taw

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus, Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain one dollar, or they will not be answered.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

Daily Morning Chronicle

VOL. 20. PORTSMOUTH, N. H. FRIDAY, MAY 9, 1862. NO. 81.

The Chronicle.

☞ The Gen. Denver, who has just been relieved of his command in Missouri and Kansas, was one of the tools by which it was attempted to force the Lecompton constitution upon Kansas. Col. Jennison, whom he has had under arrest, was a free State man there, and of course opposed to Denver. The other General relieved at the same time, Gen. Sturgis, is stated by the Chicago Tribune, to be "the chief persecution of the realm," especially of free-state officers,—and the same paper says, "their plot is to demoralize and degrade Kansas; to banish the old guard of freedom; and if not to bring in slavery itself, at least to make Kansas pro-slavery in sentiment." If these things are so, the relief is fit and timely.

☞ On Friday afternoon two of the firemen of steamship Bohemian, at Portland, started to go on shore, to settle by a fight some difficulty that existed between them. In crossing the plank one of them slipped and fell between the vessel and the wharf, striking the fender and pitching into the dock. His opponent immediately jumped down and rescued him from his perilous situation. That fight was indefinitely postponed.

☞ The presumptive heir to an Irish peerage and a rich estate, is in trouble, at Rochester, N. Y. His name is Charles Beresford, and he is under arrest, on a charge of obtaining goods on false pretences. He is a lad of fourteen years, son of Major Beresford, a retired officer of the British army, and was taken to Rochester when an infant, at the elopement of his mother with her coachman.

☞ Governor Todd, of Ohio, has taken the rebel prisoners in that State under his care, and is sending off the slaves still remaining with the rebel officers, in small squads, not back to slavery, but northward to freedom.

☞ Perry & Co.'s aromatic Elastic Bands, advertised by Mr. J. H. Foster, are a very neat, useful and agreeable article for filing papers, documents, and similar uses. Try 'em.

☞ The Methodist Episcopal church have more than half a million dollars invested in their Book Concern in New York city.

☞ Prof. Crosby, of the Normal School in Salem, is spoken of for the Presidency of Tufts College. It would be a good selection. He is a fine scholar.

☞ Billiard playing by minors is forbidden by a new law of the Ohio Legislature, which went into operation last week.

Dr. S. Swett's Vegetable Medicines.
The saving efficacy of these truly valuable medicines is daily witnessed by thousands of the first classes of society, many of whom are physicians of success. The following are among his most popular preparations, viz.:
His PANACEA is unrivalled for the cure of Cancers, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Canker in the mouth or throat, Sore or inflamed eyes, and all impurities of the blood. Price $1.00.
CORDIAL of Dandelion, Spikenard and Boneset—a remedy unsurpassed for the liver and heart complaint, costiveness, dizziness and pain in the head, stomach and side, and the whole family of consumptive complaints. Price 75 cents.
RHEUMATIC COMPOUND, for the cure of Rheumatism in its stages, phases and names of acute and chronic gout, neuralgia, lumbago, &c. This compound he has proved to be the surest remedy for those complaints that he has tried or known during the whole 40 years of his study and practice of medicine. Price $1.00.
His FAMILY PILLS are warranted paramount to any in the market, as a safe, easy and effectual physic. Price 25 cents.
His CONSERVE cures the piles, headache and costiveness, and is the surest remedy for worms in young or old. Price 25 cents.
COUGH DROPS for phthisic, colds, asthma, croup, whooping and chin coughs, and all diseases of the lungs. Price of small bottles, 38 cts.; large, 50 cents.
EXETER, March 3, 1841. "Many of my brethren in the ministry frequently complain of oppressed lungs and hoarseness of voice after frequent labors. I wish by this card to say to them and all others affected that the Cough Drops prepared by Dr. Swett of Portsmouth, is a valuable remedy. I have found nothing that gives relief so quick. Let every suffering preacher take a phial and try it."
Eld. EDWIN BURNHAM."
☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of these medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. 1y20

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, MAY 9, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

The rumor of the evacuation of Corinth and its occupation by the Federals, is repeated by every arrival of deserters. There is no doubt that Beauregard, while holding his forces in line of battle, is gradually falling back on Grand Junction. The opinion gains ground that there will be no general engagement between the two armies in their present position.

The Boston Journal's account of the fight below New Orleans says:—

Our squadron encountered thirteen Confederate steamers as soon as they passed the forts and a short and decisive action soon followed. The notorious ram Manassas attempted to sink the Mississippi steam sloop of war, but failed most signally. She was set on fire, her captain taken prisoner, and, floating down the river, she sunk. The gunboat Verona set fire to and destroyed six rebel steamers, and was sunk by the enemy, with a loss of three men killed and seven wounded. Eleven of the enemy's steamers, including three gunboats with iron clad prows, were destroyed, and their officers and crews either killed or taken prisoners. Only two of the rebel steamers escaped up the river. Among those destroyed were the W. H. Webb, Jackson, Phœnix and Palmetto. The telegraph wire was cut, and all communication destroyed between the forts and New Orleans.

The Baltimore American's correspondent, under date of Yorktown, 7th, at 12 o'clock says:—Gen. McClellan has come up with the enemy about eight miles beyond Williamsburg, and after a pretty severe skirmish with his rear has again put him to flight across the Chickahominy, the rebels destroying all the bridges. Large numbers of prisoners have been taken, including many deserters, who report that they had nothing to eat but a few biscuits for forty-eight hours, and when brought in fell down in a state of exhaustion. There is no doubt that the whole army of Lee, Johnston and Magruder are in a state of utter disorganization, and under the rapid pursuit of Gen. McClellan are fleeing with great precipitation, with no intention of making a stand anywhere. Unless they reach Richmond in boats by James river they will certainly be intercepted and captured by the forces landing at West Point. Not less than fifty steamers are engaged in transporting the balance of our army to West Point. Large numbers of prisoners are arriving at West Point, and others are being constantly brought in.

The rebels burnt their gunboats in York river on Tuesday morning. Two companies of the 8th Ill. cavalry were reported captured by the enemy. We have taken many prisoners in small companies, but no large bodies as yet. Gen. McClellan was struck by a piece of shell on Monday, but was not injured. The opinion prevails at Fortress Monroe that if Gen. Franklin's division receive reinforcements in time, a great part of the rebel army will be captured. The advance of our army is greatly impeded by the bad state of the roads. Sickles' brigade, Gen. Hooker's division bore the brunt of the battle on Monday, and fought most valiantly against greatly superior numbers, and the superior position and breastworks of the enemy. Nearly 700 of the rebel dead were left on the field, and many wounded, though nearly all of of the latter were carried into Williamsburg. Our loss was less than 300 killed, and about 700 wounded.

CONGRESS, Wednesday.—In the Senate, Mr. Sumner offered a resolution that Benj. Stark, Senator from Oregon, who has been found by a committee to be disloyal, be expelled from the Senate. Mr. Saulsbury objected, and the subject was laid over.—The bill from the House providing for an increased revenue was passed. A resolution was adopted that the Committee on Commerce inquire whether any legislation is necessary in relation to vessels belonging to loyal citizens, which were confiscated at New Orleans and other places. A committee from the House appeared and impeached Judge Humphreys, of Tennessee. The President (Mr. Foster) said the Senate would take proper order in the premises.—The President announced the select committee on the confiscation bill, as follows:—Clark, (chairman) Collamer, Harlan, Cowan, Wilson, of Mass., Harris, Sherman, Henderson and Willey.

In the House, the Nebraska contested election case was taken up. Mr. Washburne of Illinois moved to table the whole subject. Carried—64 against 20.

This vote retains Mr. Daily in his seat.

THE WAR WITH THE SOUTH, a history of the great American Rebellion, is the title of a work by Robert Tomes, M. D., now being published in quarto numbers. It is beautifully printed, and has exquisite illustrations by F. O. C. Darley. The first two numbers, which we have received, show the work intrinsically valuable to all who desire a connected history of the rebellion.

John F. Gallagher is agent for Portsmouth.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Marshall D. Robinson, a son of West Robinson, Esq., of Concord, was drowned on Tuesday evening last, about 7 o'clock. He was 14 years of age. He and a young sister were in a boat, in a small pond which was made by the rise of the water in the Merrimac River. In pushing the boat he lost his balance and fell in.—He remained in the water 3 or 4 hours.

—— During the shower of Monday afternoon a row of five elm trees by the roadside on the farm occupied by Mr. John Durgin, in Exeter, on the Hampton road, were struck by one flash of lightning, which also killed a cow in the vicinity. All the trees bear marks of the course of the fluid, and from one, pieces of the bark were hurled to the dooryard of the house, some fifty yards distant. During the same shower a tree was struck and shattered on the farm of Gilman Barker, near Prescott's Mills, on the Brentwood road.

—— Capt. John Moore of Raymond, 69 years of age, on the 19 of March fell from the loft of his barn, breaking a thigh bone and otherwise injuring him, so that he died in two weeks after. He was a worthy and much respected citizen, and in 1847 was one of the Selectmen of the town.

—— In the S. J. Court for Coos County, the case of Francis H. Wentworth vs. James A. Smith, was tried last week. This action was brought against the deft. as Postmaster of Lancaster, for $34, lost in the mails in December, 1859, the plff. averring that the letter containing the money was received at that office and lost through the carelessness or neglect of the deft. The defence was that there was no evidence to show the deft. careless; that he was not liable for the acts of a sworn assistant and that he was not bound to exercise more than ordinary care, and this view was sustained by the rulings of the Court. A verdict was returned for $34 for the plff. with interest from the time of the demand upon the deft.

—— John Lindsey, Esq., for many years landlord, and lately one of the proprietors of the Lancaster House in Lancaster, has assumed the control of the Eagle Hotel at Concord.

—— The Mirror says a large depot is to be built on the Candia Branch between Hallsville and Manchester Centre, one and a half miles from Manchester, and already quite a land fever has started up in that section. Lots are being staked out and contracts being made for building. The heavy articles, lumber lime, coal, slate, salt used in Manchester, would naturally stop at that station, as from there to the places of consumption it would be down grade for teams.

—— Rev. J. S. Canfield, of North Adams, Mass., has accepted an invitation to become pastor of the Universalist church in Concord, N. H.

BIRDS' NESTS.

Spring is abroad! the cuckoo's note
Floats o'er the flowery lea;
Yet nothing of the mighty sea
Her welcome toffee imports:
Nothing of lands where she has been,
Of fortunes she has known;
The joy of this remember'd scene
Breathes in her song alone.
No traveller she, whose vaunting boast
Tells of each fair but far-off coast;
She talks not here of eastern skies,
But of home and its pleasant memories.

Spring is abroad: a thousand more
Sweet voices are around,
Which yesterday a farewell sound
Gave to some foreign shore;
I know not where—it matters not;
To day their thoughts are home.
To pluck, in some sequeste.'d spot,
Their secret summer tent;
Bid from the glance of urchins' eyes.
Peering already for the prize;
While daily, hourly intervene
The chastening leaves, a closer screen.

In bank, in bush, in hollow hole
High on the rocking tree;
On the gray cliffs that haughtily
The ocean waves control;
Far in the heath, and mountain hoar,
Beyond the foot or fear of men,
Or by the cottage door:
In grassy tuft, in ivy'd tower,
Where'er directs the instinctive power,
Or love or care, prompt to dwell,
Is built the cone, or feathery cell.

Beautiful things! that I, no boy
Your traces may discern,
Sparkling in the green of the forest fern,
With livelier sense of joy;
I would not bear them from the nest,
To learn I regretting;
But, like the soul screen'd in the breast,
Like gems in beauteous setting,
Amidst your mossy, green array
I deem them; and, from day to day,
Passing, I pause, to turn aside,
With joy, the boughs where they abide.

The mysteries of life's early day
They shine as summer's dew,
Like it, they glitter'd and they flew,
With ardent youth away;
But not a charm of yours has faded,
Ye are full of marvel still.
Now jewels cold, and now pervaded
With heavenly fire, ye thrill
And kindle into life, and bear
Beauty and music through the air;
The embryos of a shell so-far
To-morrow, and—away! away!

Methinks, even as I gaze, there springs
Life from each tinted cone;
And wandering thought has onward flown
With speed cancelling wings,
To lands, to summer lands afar,
To the mangrove, and the palm;
To the region of each stranger star
Led by a blissful charm:
Like toys in beauty here they lay—
They are gone o'er the sounding ocean's spray;
They are gone to bowers and skies more fair,
And have left us to our march of care.

☞ The Washington Star of Tuesday evening says:—"The country will be glad to learn that Lieut. Worden, of the Monitor, had sufficiently recovered to enable him to be out again. He called on the President yesterday, and to-day was at the Capitol. His sight, however, continues much impaired, we regret to have to add."

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

From our Regular Correspondent.

NEW YORK CITY, First of May.

Dear Chronicle:—Talk about May poles and May Festivals in the "shadowy wood," May Queens and attendant subjects all imbedded in May flowers, and all that sort of thing, but such tales little accord with the aqueous element which has been coming through the air, downward, for the past forty-eight hours, drenching carts, horses, movables and all, washing furniture which hasn't seen water for a twelvemonth, and trickling into corners and cross-joints, much to the astonishment of the dust which has collected there since May Day, a year ago,—nor accord with the cold northeast wind which offers little encouragement to the May flowers, or adds still less to the enchantment of moving your "traps."

How many christians prayed for pleasant weather to day, e'er the day commenced, and how many tidy housekeepers, and fastidious ancient unmarried individuals of the female persuasion have Oh! dear ed! and groaned both inwardly and outwardly, over the pouring rain, which is sure to find its way thro' some ruinous aperture in the oil cloth covering of the drays, which aperture is just as sure to come directly over the richest damask sofa, the choicest velvet chairs, or the most costly carpet?

The last night of April the streets, in every direction, are illuminated with hundreds of fires,—the consuming bed straw,—millions of living beings are burned to death, and the evening mist has a lurid tinge, spreading over the city, in its whole length and breadth, as if it were the scene of some vast conflagration.

Throughout the next day, the inexorable custom which has its annual recurrence at this period, is in full progress. Though not participated in so universally as a few years since, it is still observed to an extent sufficient to inconvenience everything and everybody.

Carts are mingled promiscuously with our regular Broadway vehicles; loads towering in the air, bed-posts pointing heavenward, drawn by every species of horse flesh or horse-bones, go lumbering along,—stagnation curse the inconvenient addition to the usual perambulators of the main thoroughfare, pedestrians stand poised on the curb, waiting an opportunity to cross, which the compact order of the conveyances almost precludes. There goes one individual with a mirror on his shoulder and a glass lamp in his hand—half way across he comes in contact with a stray porker, like everything else on the move; down goes human, porker and glass ware, the latter so much added to the account of "profit and loss:"—everybody is "bobbing around," the water comes down wet, very wet, "everything is unlovely," and it's fortunate for the good nature and welfare of all Gothamites that May Day comes but once a year.

The Concert Saloon Law is strictly enforced. Week before last the proprietors were notified to abolish the bars and "Pretty Waiter Girls," which they did for a few days, but soon returned to their former practices. Learning of this the police, on Monday evening, made a descent on the Canterbury and "444," and arrested the P. W. G.'s and proprietors, who are held to bail before the Circuit Court.

The saloons are still open, and the performance as brisk as ever, minus the drinks and waiter girls, over which part of the institution only the law has control, and the former it effects in all the first-class theatres as well, the bars having been closed at Niblo's, Wallack's, and Winter Garden.

Should any one ask you why Jeff. Davis is like a fresh ham, reply that he must first be hung and then cured! Meanwhile I remain, as ever, NEWINGTON.

☞ A correspondent of the Cincinnati Inquirer, (Republican) writing from Wheeling, Va., on the 2d, says:—

"Gen. Fremont occupies a very fine residence in the city as his headquarters.—His staff is complete, and with two exceptions have unpronounceable names. The General is accompanied by his estimable lady, the 'little corporal,' and other members of his family. They speak of him here as they did in St. Louis, as being quite reserved, receiving visitors only upon the most urgent business, referring the less important to the heads of departments. 'Jessie' works as constantly and as laboriously as her husband."

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without injuring vegetation, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, potatoes, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in applying it to the roots of the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried manure. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fill it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

Local.

From the Dover Inquirer.

PORTSMOUTH.

The "commercial capital" of the State is our next door neighbor, down the river, but as Dover people can go to Boston about as easy, they have got into the habit of doing so, and much of the trade which in former years went down there, not only from this city, but from the towns around and above us, now goes to the "hub of the universe." Dover and Portsmouth, in consequence, are not so well acquainted as they used to be. Most of their business men are strangers to each other—to their mutual disadvantage, we doubt not.

It is a great pity that we cannot have direct railroad communication between the two places. It will be some years, we suppose, before the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad, which was much talked about a while ago, will be built; though we cannot doubt that in time the object will be accomplished, either by the construction of that road, or what would be better, a change in the location of the Eastern Road, by bringing it up over Dover Point and making the junction with the B. & M Road here, instead of crossing the river at Portsmouth and running for a dozen miles through a region where there is no local travel. Such a change would be a great accommodation to business and travel, and no damage to any body.

But while waiting for this, the enterprising business men of the two places ought to put a small steamboat on the river, to run regularly in the summer season, making one or two passages a day—extending its trips in hot weather to the Shoals. Such an arrangement would not only bring Dover and Portsmouth very near to each other, but we cannot doubt that it would soon renew much of the business intercourse which formerly existed between them, and thus indirectly, if in no other way, pay its projectors a handsome dividend.

Portsmouth merchants are well situated for giving good bargains in many articles of large consumption, and with their capital and enterprise ought to command the whole trade of eastern New Hampshire.

The direct communication now established between Portsmouth and Manchester, by the change in the Concord and Portsmouth Railroad, is, we learn, already creating much business between those places. Manchester people are now almost daily seen in Portsmouth, and large quantities of freight are taken directly from the wharves into the cars for that city. Manchester people are also finding out that it is a good place to emigrate to—one of its "solid men" last week having purchased the "Cutts mansion," one of the finest residences in the city.

Portsmouth, we are glad to see, wears an appearance of unusual thrift the present season. Many of its ancient buildings have been rejuvenated—some new ones have been erected—its business streets look lively—and its new Custom House and Post Office, whose ample accommodations and substantial appearance show the liberality of "Uncle Samuel," are an ornament to the city, besides being one really good thing for which Portsmouth folks can remember the administration of our New Hampshire President.

U. S. Steamer Mahaska, recently launched at Portsmouth Navy Yard, and now lying at the wharf there, has been put in commission and received her crew from Boston this week. She is to make a trial trip to-day. Her officers are:

Lieut. Com'd'g—N. H. Farquhar.
Ex. Officer—Lieut. E. C. V. Blake.
Acting Masters—B. Dyer, C. Lee Moses.
Chief Engineer—B. B. W. Wharton.
Surgeon—J. C. Spear.
Asst. Paymaster—Charles Fairchild.
1st Asst. Eng'r—E. Hansen.
2d " " Thomas Leblanc.
3d " " J. L. Steens.
4th " " Edward L. Hewitt.
Masters Mates.—Thos. Smith, N. W. Black, B. P. Trask, G. E. French.

The Mahaska will probably be ready for sea in a few days. Her officers are nearly or quite all young men, and eager to be doing their country active service. We are indebted to Lt. Blake, whom we found aboard on our visit, for various courtesies. Also, as usual, to the Commandant and Lieutenant of the Yard.

☞ We are requested to state that Mr. Wm. Downie is to open his new spacious Clothing House, at store No. 29 Market street, this day, for trade. Mr. Wm. H. Cheever is to be employed with him, as cutter and salesman. We could not give the advertisement this morning.

Mr. Stephen A. Avery, of South Reading, Mass., has bought the news depot of J. P. Morse, Esq.; and we have no doubt will conduct that important institution to the satisfaction of the public.

☞ Queer weather we have now-a-days—in fact, we always do in this climate. As a Boston musical friend of ours is wont to say, "A man ought to be built of white oak, and copper-fastened, to stand this climate." Wednesday afternoon and night we had rain, hail, snow, frost and ice—the thermometer Thursday morning being down to 37°, only five degrees above freezing. We are now (Thursday) getting the weather we didn't get in March.

U. S. Circuit Court.—A session of this Court commenced in this city on Thursday morning, Judge Harvey presiding. Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Humphriss. The Grand Jury, finding no bills to report, were discharged. The Petit Jury were retained, and the Court adjourned over till Friday morning, to await the arrival of Judge Clifford.

☞ Wm. Conn, Esq., of this city, has been appointed mail agent on the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad.

☞ All who enjoy a social hour, can spend this evening very pleasantly, at Jefferson Hall, where a Festival is announced for the benefit of those who were especially active in furnishing the agreeable entertainment there for the public last week.—The Hall is beautifully decorated, and should be seen by all who appreciate such things—the Tableaux will be really fine—plenty of nice refreshments, good music, and other attractions. Go and see.

We learn that this benefit was suggested by their Committee of Arrangements, and not by the whole Division S. of T.; also that Mr. Carter is simply "Worthy Patriarch"—the "Most" being interpolated by mistake.

We are also requested to say that to the Portsmouth Cornet Band, the especial thanks and deep gratitude of the Committee, the Division, and its officers, are extended, for their invaluable services, so generously volunteered, on the occasion referred to.

☞ Some enterprising chap steals thermometers from our office door, whenever we place them there. The last one was held by a staple, well driven, but the thief brought his hammer, and stole staple and all. He also tore a little side sign of "Chronicle Office" almost clear from the door, a few nights since, but finally left it hanging. Perhaps he's going to start a new Daily—we wish he'd give us a chance to "start" him.

The Nashville.—The Newbern correspondent of the N. Y. Times writes that deserters state that the rebel steamer Nashville appeared off New Inlet on the 24th ult., and attempted to run into Wilmington. She struck on the bar and remained aground until the 26th, during which time she was lightened of a portion of her cargo. On the 26th she passed into the river and anchored. She was reported to have brought from Nassau 16,000 stand of arms and 100 tons of gunpowder. The blockading vessel was cruising off the shore at the time. The naval gunboats are now relieved of the necessity of longer blockading Beaufort, and would proceed to Wilmington to look after the Nashville.

☞ The Boston Advertiser, which originated the report that a nomination had been made for President of Harvard College, now declares that the report is erroneous, and states that no nomination will be made until the meeting of the Board of Overseers.

☞ The news of the fall of New Orleans created the greatest consternation among the sick in Havana.

Manures.

J. F. SHORES, Jr.,
No. 1 Congress Block,
—has for sale—
1900 BARRELS of the Lodi Manufact'g Co's
Superior Poudrette.

This article has been so long used, and with such success, for this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.

TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!
Try it on your FIELD CROPS!! Try it on your Beans, your Cabbages, your Corn, Potatoes. Try it on your Grape Vines, your Fruit Trees, your SHRUBBERY: Try it on your Lawns, on your MOWING FIELDS.

Try it ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY.

The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity,

One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.

Also, for sale,
PURE PERUVIAN GUANO
—and—
Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

Farmers! Farmers!

Your attention is requested to the following UNSOLICITED recommendation of the

LODI MANUFACTURING CO'S
POUDRETTE.

Dunbarton, N. H., May 1, 1862.
Mr. Shores,—Dear Sir:—
Last year I sent to you for three barrels of Poudrette.
Upon two acres of land I spread about twenty loads of barn manure to the acre. Upon ten rows of corn I put hog manure, a shovel full in a hill. Upon the next ten Poudrette, and then phosphate of lime upon ten—and thus through the field.
One load of hog manure went five rows of seventy hills;
A bag of Poudrette eighteen rows;
A bag of Phosphate of Lime sixteen rows, all of the same length.
The Corn upon which the Poudrette was spread was more in quantity and superior in quality to the other, and also proves it to be the cheapest.
I want six barrels for this year, and my neighbors want ten or fifteen barrels more.
Please write upon what terms you will furnish it. Yours, CHARLES HOLMES.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.
Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and Wm. J. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky:

New York May 1, 1861.
Mr. Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:
Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.
Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.
We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

Louisville, Ky., July 31, 1861.
Drs. Valentine Mott, Willard Parker & others
Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. T. CUTTER, JR.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a proper person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Portsmouth.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S
Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!
The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibre; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS TIME ONE EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringer Machine ever invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

Advertise!
IT IS THE
LIFE OF TRADE!
Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.
THE RIGHT MEANS.
Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.
To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there whenever in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the place at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.
THE RIGHT TIME.
Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.
There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy or good business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most needed. In many it is considered the very time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their books out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."
THE RIGHT WAY.
There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some mode of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred and one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is so constantly increasing, No man is so rich, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.
THE NEWSPAPER
Advertising Agency
—OF—
S. R. NILES,
1 Scollay's Building, Court Street, Boston,
Embraces most of the principal Commercial, Business, Religious, Literary, Scientific and Agricultural Newspapers in the United States, British Provinces and Canadas, for which he is the duly appointed Agent, and authorized by the proprietors to receive advertisements and subscriptions at their lowest rates.
The Agent will spare no pains to render his agency a prompt, safe and reliable medium of communication with the Newspaper Press of the country. He feels qualified from his long experience and devotion to the subject, to impart valuable information in regard to papers and localities best adapted for different kinds of business.
Persons desiring information, its cost, comparative values of papers and situations, are respectfully invited to visit the Agency, or they will be waited upon and every assistance rendered for the adoption of a thorough and judicious system of advertising. sp4 tf S. R. NILES.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.
DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a
PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.
By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since the first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of
GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.
Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal disease, impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.
SEMINAL WEAKNESS.
Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.
Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment, while in Boston, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate. sprl—1y3taw

CAUTION
To Females in Delicate Health.
DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.
Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.
Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.
Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledged no superior in the United States.
N. B.—All letters must contain one dollar, or they will not be answered.
Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE
In all cases, or No Charges Made.
Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.
Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (u. s. for the Act of 1837.)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years continues to receive Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of Specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all the which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twelve rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

Dr. S. Swett's Vegetable Medicines.

The saving efficacy of these truly valuable medicines is daily witnessed by thousands of the first classes of society, many of whom are physicians of success. The following are among his most popular preparations, viz.:

His PANACEA is unrivalled for the cure of Cancers, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Cancer in the mouth or throat, Sore or inflamed eyes, and all impurities of the blood. Price $1.00.

CORDIAL of Dandelion, Spikenard and Benecet—a remedy unsurpassed for the liver and heart complaint, costiveness, dizziness and pain in the head, stomach and side, and the whole family of consumptive complaints. Price 75 cents.

RHEUMATIC COMPOUND, for the cure of Rheumatism in all its stages, phases and names of acute and chronic gout, neuralgia, lumbago, &c. This compound he has proved to be the surest remedy for these complaints that he has tried or known during the whole 40 years of his study and practice of medicine. Price $1.00.

His FAMILY PILLS are warranted paramount to any in the market, as a safe, easy and effectual physic. Price 25 cents.

His CONSERVE cures the piles, headache and costiveness, and is the surest remedy for worms in young or old. Price 25 cents.

COUGH DROPS for phthisic, colds, asthma, croup, whooping and chin coughs, and all diseases of the lungs. Price of small bottles, 33 cts.; large, 50 cents.

EXETER, March 3, 1841. "Many of my brethren in the ministry frequently complain of oppressed lungs and hoarseness of voice after frequent labors. I wish by this card to say to them and all others affected that the Cough Drops prepared by Dr. Swett of Portsmouth, is a valuable remedy. I have found nothing that gives relief so quick. Let every suffering preacher take a phial and try it."
Rev. EDWIN BURKHAM.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of these medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. 1y30

SATURDAY, MAY 10, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

The lists of the killed and wounded at Williamsburg show that the New Hampshire 2d regiment lost 18 killed or mortally wounded, 54 wounded, and 23 missing.

A bearer of dispatches from the fleet at New Orleans has reached Fortress Monroe and reports as follows:—

"The squadron under Flag Officer Farragut has been vouchsafed a glorious victory and triumph in the capture of the city of New Orleans, Forts Jackson, St. Louis, Livingston and Pike, the batteries below and above New Orleans, as well as the total destruction of the enemy's gunboats, steam rams, iron-clad floating batteries, fire rafts and obstructions, booms and chains. The enemy, with their own hands, destroyed from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 worth of cotton and shipping. Our loss is 36 killed and 123 wounded. The enemy lost from 1000 to 1500, besides several hundred prisoners. The way is clear, and the rebel defences are destroyed from the Gulf to Baton Rouge, and probably to Memphis. Our flag waves triumphantly over them all."

Capt. Bailey has arrived with dispatches to the Navy Department from flag-officer Farragut. He brought a number of secession flags, including that of the Chalmette regiment, and the one which was hauled down from the City Hall in New Orleans. The dates are to the 27th ult., at which time flag officer Farragut was taking every means to secure the occupation of the forts all along the coast by Gen. Butler's forces.

Gens. Cox and Milroy of Gen. Fremont's department are active, but the particulars of their movements are forbidden. Gen. Banks' forces, also, are by no means idle, and the results of their movements will be known fully in good time.

It is reported from Pittsburg that three brigades of Gen. Buell's army had seized that part of the Memphis and Charleston railroad, midway between Corinth and Grand Junction, thus cutting off rebel communication between the two points. It is also reported that a detachment of Gen. Pope's army had seized the road south of Corinth. No engagement had taken place at Corinth up to Wednesday noon. Our forces were gradually advancing, and were, on an average, three miles from the enemy's rear. The latter were acting strictly on the defensive and for three days have not sent out any reconnoitering parties.—The roads are still in bad condition, owing continual heavy rains.

The divisions of Gens. Franklin and Sedgewick, numbering about 20,000 men, having landed at West Point, twenty miles above Williamsburg, at the head of the river, and the division of Gen. Porter, with the Rhode Island and other batteries, having gone thither, a severe battle took place, in which the rebels were defeated with great slaughter.

It is said Gen. McClellan had a number of cars and locomotives on transports, to be put upon the road at West Point, as soon as secured, to carry troops up to Richmond before the rebels could reach that city.

A dispatch from Fortress Monroe states that the iron clad steamer Galena, and the gunboats Aroostook and Port Royal went up James river Thursday morning. Heavy firing was heard up the river after their departure. They are intended to cut off the river communication with the rebel army south of the Chickahominy. On the same morning Sewall's Point was being evacuated, and shortly before noon the Monitor, Naugatuck, Seminole, Susquehanna, Detroit and San Jacinto steamed toward Sewall's Point, Capt. Lardner of the Susquehannah in command of the expedition. As soon as they were in range they opened with shot and shell over Sewall's Point. It was nearly half an hour before any reply was made from the Point. The Rip Raps also opened fire. A little before 2 the firing from the Point became very feeble, and the Monitor whose position had been far in advance, returned to the rest of the fleet. About half past two o'clock the Merrimac made her appearance when the fleet returned, except the Monitor, which remained until half past five. At that time, the Merrimac still remaining off the Point, the Monitor also returned. Of the many shots fired by the rebels not one struck any of the vessels of our fleet. Some went over their masts, but most of them fall short. The rebels were seen carrying off their dead and wounded. During the afternoon, a dense, black smoke arose from Sewall's Point, indicating that our incendiary shells thrown there had fired the barracks. President Lincoln viewed the action from a tugboat lying about a mile in the rear of the fleet. On his return, as he passed up the wharf, the troops cheered him vociferously.

☞ Minister Adams has presented a claim to the British Government for the restoration of the ship Emily St. Pierre, the captain of which rose upon the prize crew and conveyed her to Liverpool, after her capture by the United States fleet for violating the blockade.

HIST. OF FORMER CONSPIRACIES

AGAINST THE U. S. GOVERNMENT.

The Hartford Convention Conspiracy.—The Embargo act of 1809 gave intense dissatisfaction in Massachusetts. At that time that State had a heavy interest at sea, and the embargo affected her commerce disastrously. Many leading loyal men of the State pronounced the act to be unconstitutional. A large meeting in Boston declared the act arbitrary and unconstitutional, and that all who assisted in carrying out the law should be regarded as enemies of the State and as hostile to the liberties of the people. To aggravate the evil feeling there appeared, in the New England States, one John Henry, whose mission, it eventually became apparent, was to foment the excitement into open rupture against the Federal Government. Madison, in his special message to Congress, said of him:—"He has been employed as a secret agent of the British government in the New England States in intrigues with the disaffected, for the purpose of bringing about resistance to the laws, and eventually, in concert with a British force, of destroying the Union and forming the eastern part thereof into a political connection with Great Britain."—He was in correspondence with parties in Canada, and was known to maintain intimate relations with some of the leading malcontents in Boston and other New England cities. He intrigued and plotted beyond the power of Government to arrest "a subject of the British crown."

The declaration of war against Great Britain, June 18th, 1812, brought the excitement to its climax. A "Peace Party" was formed in New England, pledged to offer all possible opposition to the war.—Taxes to support State levies of militia were not readily assessed nor easily collected.—The New England States were so backward in sending their quotas and supplies to the field that, for much of the time, the army on the Northern frontier was in a powerless condition. The United States treasury was in a distressed condition.—The banks throughout the country, except those of New England, had suspended specie payment. Everything betokened a weak government and a want of confidence and harmony among the States.

A late writer says:—"During the year 1814 the situation of the New England States was in the highest degree critical and dangerous. The services of the militia for two years had been extremely severe, and the United States had been compelled to withhold all supplies for their sustenance, and throw upon the States the burden of supporting the troops which defended their coast from invasion and their towns from pillage. Congress gave the command of this militia to the officers of the regular army. To this the Governors of Massachusetts and Connecticut refused to submit, and the authorities of the latter State passed a law for raising a provisional army of 2000 men for 'special State defence,' of which one of her own citizens was made the commander. The course of Massachusetts in other respects was not less hostile to the general government. Her Legislature refused to Captain Lawrence, afterwards of the ill-fated Chesapeake, a vote of thanks for his capture of the Peacock, believing, in the language of the resolution, "that in a war like the present, waged without justifiable cause, and prosecuted in a manner indicating that conquest and ambition were its real motives, it was not becoming a moral and religious people to express any approbation of military and naval exploits not directly connected with the defence of our seacoast and soil." At the same time the people of the New England States began to cry out for 'a separate peace.' The Vermont militia were withdrawn from the field, and on a proposition being made in Congress to prosecute the Governor for this act, Harrison Gray Otis laid on the table of the Massachusetts Senate a resolution expressive of the duty of his State to aid with her whole power the Governor of Vermont in support of her constitutional rights, by whomsoever infringed." The spirit of opposition went so far in Connecticut that the enemy's vessels, which lay off the harbor of New London to intercept Decatur's frigates, were advised by blue lights on the hills of the movements of the American ships. This incident gave rise to the expression—"Blue-light Federalist," which became a term of opprobrium for the opponents of the war.

The State Legislatures of Massachusetts, Connecticut, Vermont, &c., passed laws forbidding the use of their jails by the United States for the confinement of prisoners committed by any other than judicial authority, and directing the jailors at the end of thirty days to discharge all British officers, prisoners of war, committed to them. The President, however, applied to other states of the Confederacy for the use of their prisons, and thus the difficulty was in a measure obviated.

This opposition of course met with the sharpest recrimination from the Central and Southern States of the Union, which, generally, supported the war policy of the Government. Anathema and invective were freely bestowed upon the "Yankees," and, as a natural result, the friendly feeling of the New Englanders did not wax warmer toward their confederates. Action, long threatened, finally came. The Massachusetts Legislature, by report of a joint committee on the question of calling a Convention of the States, urged a conference as "expedient to lay the foundation of a radical reform in the national compact, and devise some mode of defence suitable to those States, the affinity of whose interests are closest, and whose habits of intercourse are most frequent." This report was adopted by a vote of three to one, though it was protested against by a powerful minority, who declared it a step toward a dissolution of the Union, and therefore treason.

On the 18th of October, twelve delegates were elected to confer with delegates from the other New England States. Seven delegates were also appointed by Connecticut and four by Rhode Island. New Hampshire was represented by two and Vermont by one. The Convention met at Hartford, Connecticut, on the 15th of December, 1814. After a session of twenty days a report was adopted, which, with but slight stretch of imagination, we may suppose to have originated from a kind of en rapport association with the South Carolina Convention of 1861 We may quote from the Report:

"To prescribe patience and firmness to those who are already exhausted by distress is sometimes to drive them to despair, and the progress towards reform by the regular road is irksome to those whose imaginations discern and whose feelings prompt to a shorter course. But when abuses, reduced to a system, and accumulated through a course of years have pervaded every department of government, and spread corruption through every region of the state; when these are clothed with the forms of law, and enforced by an Executive whose will is their source, no summary means of relief can be applied without recourse to direct and open resistance. It is a truth not to be concealed that a time for change is at hand. * * * A reformation of public opinion, resulting from dear bought experience in the Southern Atlantic states at least, is not to be despaired of. They will have seen that the great and essential interests of the people are common to the South and to the East. They will realize the fatal errors of a system which seeks revenge for commercial injuries in the sacrifice of commerce, and aggravates by needless wars the injuries it professes to redress. Indications of this desirable revolution of opinion among our brethren in those states are already manifested. Finally, if the Union be destined to dissolution by reason of the multiplied abuses of bad administrations, it should be, if possible, the work of peaceable times and deliberate consent. Some new form of confederacy should be substituted among those states which shall intend to maintain a federal relation to each other. Events may prove that the causes of our calamities are deep and permanent. They may be found to proceed not merely from the blindness or prejudice, pride of opinion, violence of party spirit, or the confusion of the times; but they may be traced to implacable combinations of individuals or of states to monopolize power and office, and to trample without remorse upon the rights and interests of commercial sections of the Union. Whenever it shall appear that the causes are radical and permanent, a separation by equitable arrangement will be preferable to an alliance by constraint among nominal friends, but real enemies, inflamed by mutual hatred and jealousy, and inviting, by intestine divisions, contempt and aggression from abroad,—but a severance of the Union by one or more states, and against the will of the rest, and especially in time of war, can be justified only by absolute necessity."

IMMORTELLES.

TRUTH.

Truth needs no champions; in the infinite deep
Of everlasting Soul her strength abides,
From Nature's heart her mighty pulses leap,
Through Nature's veins her strength, undying tides.

IMPATIENCE AND REPROOF.

Yes, I have felt a weariness of soul,
A shaking of my loyeful faith in man,
Jostling with souls that ne'er beyond life's span
Have glimpsed, to whom this empty earth is goal
And starting-place, and death the dreadful whole;
But as, within the parlor's glare, at night,
Amid loud laugh and converse vain and light,
Sudden, without, is heard the thunder's roll,
Deep toned and infinite, with sad reproof,—
So, when my love and faith in man are shaken,
Great, inborn thoughts, that will not keep aloof,
Within my soul like those far thunders, waken,
Growing and growing, till its depths are dinned
With the sad sense of having deadly sinned.

LOVE.

For Love bides longest in a woman's heart,
And flutters many times before he flies,
And then doth perch so nearly, that a word
May lure him back, as swift and glad as light.

God judgeth us by what we know of right,
Rather than what we practice what is wrong
Unknowingly.—

CONGRESS, Thursday.—In the Senate, the resolution of impeachment of Judge Humphreys was received from the House and referred to a select committee. The bill establishing a port of entry at Hilton Head, S. C., was received from the House and passed. The bill limiting the number of Brigadier Generals to 200, and of Maj. Generals to 30, was passed. Mr. Sumner offered a resolution that it was inexpedient that the victories obtained over our own citizens be placed on regimental colors of regiments of the U. S. The bill establishing a department of agriculture was passed, 25 against 13. A petition of Gen. Sigel and other German officers, was presented, asking for a German professorship at West Point, and recommending Reinhold Solger for said office.

In the House, a resolution was adopted requesting the Sec. of War to inquire into the murder of Robert C. Scott and a man named Dulaney, citizens of Fauquier county, Va., by two soldiers. The bill organizing a territorial government in Arizona was taken up and passed. The bill repeals all the laws in the organizing of territories recognizing the relation of master and slave, and prohibits slavery therein.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers, and therefore it can be used we freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, roots, onions, &c., at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a large crop of potatoes, and in thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried meat. This article farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

For the Chronicle.

☞ The Temple was well filled on Wednesday night, with an intelligent and attentive audience, who were greatly interested in the exercises,—especially in the statements of Wm. Davis, late a slave in Virginia, but now a freeman

Rev. Mr. Eddy, of the Middle street church, opened the meeting by prayer, and read satisfactory credentials of Messrs. Cowan and Davis, showing them to be reliable as to facts, and trustworthy as to donations.

Mr. Cowan is the collecting agent of a Missionary Society in New York, which has sent teachers, books and clothing to the freed men at Fort Monroe and vicinity.—He informed the audience that after a little experience in his business, he went to the fortress, and was among the contrabands during the coldest weather in December, 1861, finding them in want of clothing, books and tuition, but rejoicing in their freedom, teachable, desiring to learn and to improve. Their number then was about 2000.

After spending some time there, he selected one of their number, Wm. Davis, and with the consent and approbation of Gen. Wool, he made him his companion in a tour through our country, to represent the condition of his brothers, and excite an interest in their behalf.

Thus introduced, Mr. Davis informed the audience that he had always been a slave, till recently he had been freed by the rebellion. He was not a fugitive slave, for he had not run away, but his mistress had run away, and left him. He was born in Norfolk, Va., and when six years of age was sold to his third master, who sent him into the fields near Hampton, to watch the cattle and drive away the crows. Here he spent his childhood, ignorant, hungry, and often abused and whipped, as the custom was with slaves.

The piece of bread which should have been sent to him each day, was often forgotten, and many times he satisfied his hunger with sorrel; but if the cattle strayed, or the crows pulled up the corn, his whipping was never forgotten or neglected.

Some persons had raised the question how often he was whipped; his answer was, he could not number his whippings, as they were numerous like the hairs of his head.

A white overseer on his master's plantation, was particularly hard and cruel, and having one day made a new cowhide whip, about the time Davis came to manhood, the overseer cut up a woman's back with it, laying open the flesh at every stroke. To this scene Davis was a witness, and fired with indignation he declared with an oath that he would not be whipped.

The overseer was cowed, as this was said before him, and also before a number of slaves, — and the master presently took Davis into the house as a house servant, where he fared better. The overseer was soon dismissed, and Davis, still a slave, was made overseer or head driver of the plantation, having in the meantime become a baptist and a speaker. As he would not be whipped himself, so he disdained to whip his fellow slaves, and all but one of the men slaves, became christians with him. The plantation prospered; and the white overseers in a few years, all disappeared from the neighboring plantations.

We have not room to follow the thread of his life,—suffice it to say, that like other slaves, he was subjected to a change of owners by the death of his master; that his four children were sold away from him,—and his wife was only saved by the fact that a lawsuit of eight years about her ownership, lasted till the rebellion set her free.

In the plainest and most graphic manner he showed us that selling and whipping were every day occurrences among Virginia slaves; that their desires and prayers for freedom were constant and universal; that they are able to take care of themselves if free; desirous to learn and be useful citizens; and would gladly fight for their liberties and for the Union if suffered to do so.

In reply to the question what should be done with the slaves if freed,—he answered "Nothing." If the blacks will not work, let them starve and die,"exactly as poor whites do in the same conditions."

In reply to the question, Will it do to turn them all loose, he put the question to the audience, "Are you loose?"—and then said "Yes—turn them just as loose as you are,"—and it would be just as safe.

He gave an amusing description of the brave rebels a year ago,—of the slaves, who all pretended to be secesh, but slipped out when they could,—and of the panic when the Yankees landed at Newport News.—The whites told the negroes that the Yankees would kill them or send them to Cuba for sale, etc., etc.

He assisted his mistress at Hampton, to pack up a few things for her flight,—but astonished her with the delaration that he was not going with her. She expressed great concern lest he should suffer,—but as he had been paying her $10 per month for his own time for years, while he took care of himself, as to board, clothing, and everything, and did a good deal for her besides, he did not feel very anxious on that account.

He indulged the strongest hopes that his people, who had been praying for freedom these many years, were now to have their prayers answered in general emancipation and improvement. REF.

1900 BARRELS of the LODI MANUFACT'G CO'S
Superior Foudrette.

This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.

TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!
Try it on your FIELD CROPS!! Try it on your BEANS, your CABBAGES, your CORN, Potatoes. Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY; Try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS;
TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY

The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity,

One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.

Also, for sale,
PURE PERUVIAN GUANO
—and—
Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

Farmers! Farmers!

Your attention is requested to the following UNSOLICITED recommendation of the
LODI MANUFACTURING CO'S
POUDRETTE.

DUNBARTON, N. H., May 1, 1862.
MR. SHORES,—Dear Sir:—
Last year I sent to you for three barrels of Poudrette.
Upon two acres of land I spread about twenty loads of barn manure to the acre. Upon ten rows of corn I put hog manure, a shovel in a hill. Upon the next ten POUDRETTE, and then phosphate of lime upon ten—and thus through the field.
One load of hog manure went five rows of seventy hills;
A box of Poudrette eighteen rows;
A bag of Phosphate of Lime sixteen rows, all of the same length.
The Corn upon which the Poudrette was spread was more in quantity and superior in quality to the other, and also proves it to be the cheapest.
I want six barrels for this year, and my neighbors want ten or fifteen barrels more.
Please write upon what terms you will furnish it. Yours, CHARLES HOLMES.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:

NEW YORK May 1, 1861.
MR. WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:
Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.
Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.
We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 31, 1861.
DRS. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others
Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, I
I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. T. CUTTER, JR.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between such Physicians of Boston.

LIME! LIME!!
900 CASKS of best quality Rockland Lime for sale for cash, by S. L. RUSSELL, feb25 36 WATER ST.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S
Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

THE SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibres; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron stains.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving it a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any persons wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscribers.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE

PURE AND FOUR YEARS OLD,

OF CHOICE OPORTO FRUIT.

For Physicians' Use.

FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS.

SAMBUCUS FREE, OF PORTUGAL,

The Great Remedy for Kidney Affections, Rheumatism, Chronic Complaints

Excellent Wine for Females.

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefitting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

WE REFER TO ADVERTISE!

Advertise!

IT IS THE

LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time for advertising, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that economy in the business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time to call off others from the crowd; one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their hooks off of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

THE NEWSPAPER

Advertising Agency

—OF—

S. R. NILES,

1 Scollay's Building, Court Street, Boston,

Embraces most of the principal Commercial, Business, Religious, Literary, Scientific and Agricultural Newspapers in the United States, British Provinces and Canada, for which he is the duly appointed Agent, and authorized by the proprietors to receive advertisements and subscriptions at their lowest rates.

The Agent will spare no pains to render his agency a prompt, safe and reliable medium of communication with the Newspaper Press of the country. He feels qualified, from his long experience and devotion to the subject, to impart valuable information in regard to papers and localities best adapted for different kinds of business.

Persons desiring information, its cost, comparative value of papers and situations, are respectfully invited to call at the Agency, or they will be waited upon and every assistance rendered for the adoption of a thorough and judicious system of advertising. apr4 tf S. R. NILES.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the childish ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, The fearful result of which Insanity or Death is to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, Timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days can find a home in his family with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate. apr7—1y3taw

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 Endicott Street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system, such as Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain one dollar, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837,)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into the American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Models of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that fit no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them the early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

Dr. S. Swett's Vegetable Medicines.

The saving efficacy of these truly valuable medicines is daily witnessed by thousands of the first classes of society, many of whom are physicians of success. The following are among his most popular preparations, viz.:

His PANACEA is unrivalled for the cure of Cancers, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Canker in the mouth or throat, Sore or inflamed eyes, and all impurities of the blood. Price $1.00.

CORDIAL of Dandelion, Spikenard and Boneset—a remedy unsurpassed for the liver and heart complaint, costiveness, dizziness and pain in the head, stomach and side, and the whole family of consumptive complaints. Price 75 cents.

RHEUMATIC COMPOUND, for the cure of Rheumatism in all its stages, phases and names of acute and chronic gout, neuralgia, lumbago, &c. This compound he has proved to be the surest remedy for these complaints that he has tried or known during the whole 40 years of his study and practice of medicine. Price $1.00.

His FAMILY PILLS are warranted paramount to any in the market, as a safe, easy and effectual physic. Price 25 cents.

His CONSERVE cures the piles, headache and costiveness, and is the surest remedy for worms in young or old. Price 25 cents.

COUGH DROPS for phthisic, colds, asthma, croup, whooping and chin coughs, and all diseases of the lungs. Price of small bottles, 33 cts.; large, 50 cents.

EXETER, March 3, 1861. "Many of my brethren in the ministry frequently complain of oppressed lungs and hoarseness of voice after frequent labors. I wish by this card to say to them and all others afflicted that the Cough Drops prepared by Dr. Swett of Portsmouth, is a valuable remedy. I have found nothing that gives relief so quick. Let every suffering preacher take a phial and try it."
Eld. EDWIN BURNHAM."

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of these medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. 1y0

THE REBELLION.

Refugees from Memphis May 4, report that the citizens are in great panic. The rebel troops are gradually evacuating Fort Pillow and going to Corinth. Beauregard is scraping everything for the impending battle. The conscript law takes effect on the 15th of May.

The rebel gunboats make a movement towards Com. Foote's mortars on Thursday, with the intention of capturing them. Our gunboats formed in line of battle and the decks were cleared for action. Some 50 shots were fired when the rebel boats retired.

The Mayor of Colsubus, Ky., who was carried off by the rebels, has escaped. It is said he pointed out the place where the rebels buried 20 pieces of cannon in Columbus, all of which have been exhumed and are now in our possession.

The fight at West Point on Wednesday afternoon was between the troops under Gens. Franklin and Sedgewick, and the rebels under Lee, who were endeavoring to make their way to Richmond. The rebels were totally defeated and flanked, and driven back towards the forces under Johnston on the Chickahominy. Our gunboats, however, won for us the victory, the rebel force being 30,000, and ours only 20,000. Our loss was 300, in killed and wounded. On Friday, Gen. McClellan effected a junction with Gen. Franklin.

Deserters say Gen. Burnside, on Friday noon, was within a few miles of Weldon, N.C., with a large force, and the rebel troops were evacuating Norfolk with all possible speed. Arrangements were being made, also, for destroying the Navy Yard and other public property.

Com. Goldsborough's official report states that the movement against Sewall's Point showed that the number of guns at the principal work on the Point has been essentially reduced, there being now but about 17, and that the number of rebels there is comparatively small. He says the Monitor had orders to fall back into fair channel way if the Merrimac should appear outside the works, and to engage her seriously only in such a position as would permit the Minnesota and the merchant vessels intended for the purpose, to ram her down. The Baltimore, an unarmed steamer of light draught, high speed and with a curved bow, was kept in the direction of the Monitor expressly to throw herself across the Merrimac either forward or aft of her plated house. But the Merrimac did not engage the Monitor, nor place herself where there was any prospect whatever of getting at her.

A schooner from Fort Pickens, 24th ult., reports Pensacola still in possession of the rebels, with a force of 11,000 men there.—Gen. Arnold was awaiting reinforcements and gunboats before attacking the place.

[A private dispatch, received in this city on Sunday, gives the following important news, for which we are indebted to the gentlemen by whom it was received.]

NORFOLK IS TAKEN! The Merrimac was blown to atoms by the rebels. It is said President Lincoln was the first man who stepped ashore after the town was taken.

A plot to deliver Paducah, Ky., into the hands of secessionists, has been detected and frustrated. Our force there has been increased, and the 64-pounders on the embankments have been turned on the town.

From Gen. Fremont's department it is reported that Gen. Milroy, being reinforced by Gen. Schenck, who made a forced march of 35 miles in one day, made a movement to prevent the erection of a battery and brought on a general engagement. The rebels were defeated with heavy loss; they included a part of Jackson's force.—Our loss was 5 killed and 70 wounded. Gen. Milroy, in accordance with orders from head-quarters, then fell back a short distance. Gen. Fremont was sending forward reinforcements.

Gen. Cox has driven the rebels from Greenbriar, Mercer and Giles counties, in Virginia, after three engagements.

An organized guerilla band of 400 rebels took two towns near Parkersburg, Va., threatening the Grafton Railroad. Gen. Kelly was sent forward and defeated the band, killing a large number. He hopes to kill or take the whole force in that vicinity.

Beauregard's army is reported to be in great distress—to be on half rations and to have provisions for but forty days. All the rebel troops that could be collected were being sent to him. All the infantry at Fort Wright had been sent to Corinth, and Gen. Villipique expressed himself as disgusted with the manner in which his force had been taken from him. It was thought the fort would be evacuated within a week.

Released Union prisoners confirm the destruction of sugar, molasses, &c., at Memphis. Com. Foote arrived at Cairo on the 10th, leaving Capt. Davis in command of the fleet.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Dr. Thomas Wheet and Dr. George A. Crosby, of Manchester, volunteered a few days since to proceed to Yorktown and assist the regular army surgeons in the care of any New Hampshire soldiers who may be wounded. Gov. Berry has accepted their services and they will proceed thither immediately.

—— The Claremont Eagle says it is remarkable that three of the best hotels in the world are conducted by young men from that town. James E. P. Stevens, of the Continental; Hiram Hitchcock, of the Fifth Avenue, and William Bingham, of the Revere, are those to whom reference is made.

—— Dr. George Gale, Jr., of Exeter, has been appointed an Assistant Surgeon in the fleet under Flag-Officer Dupont.

—— Mr. S. H. Dumas, landlord of the Phenix Hotel in Concord, and Capt. Wm. Walker, recently of the steamer Lady of the Lake, caught six bushels of smelt, in a few hours' fishing, in a brook near Meredith Village one day last week.

—— They've one mean fellow in Manchester. He entered a house and asked for a drink of water, and while the lady was gone for it, appropriated a child's money safe, which was on the mantel piece. The theft was detected, and he was sent to the Reform School during his minority. He is now 17 years of age.

—— The barn of Wm. S. Webster, of Nashua, was struck by lightning during the thunder shower of Monday.

—— The amount raised by subscription in Concord for the Ladies' Soldiers' Aid Fund, already amounts to $892.50. The North and South Congregational Societies have raised, in addition, about $50 each.

—— The semi-annual meeting of the Grand Division of Sons of Temperance took place on Wednesday at the Hall of Manchester Division, No. 19, in Manchester. Thirty-five delegates from subordinate Divisions in Portsmouth, Dover, Nashua, Milford, and various other towns in the State, were present,—Messrs. Wildes and Banks being the representatives from this city. The Mirror says that the Subordinate Division of Sons of Temperance in Manchester was never in a more flourishing condition than at present. It consists of 185 members, ladies and gentlemen, and has contributed largely to the army, seventeen members now being at the seat of war.

—— A few nights since, about $200 were stolen from the coat pocket of Mr. Joseph Clough, of Sanbornton Square,—in the room where he and his wife were sleeping. It is supposed that the burglar stood outside, and opening the window, reached in and took the pocket book containing the money from the coat pocket. The pocket book was thrown back into the room empty.

—— Chief Engineer Bird, and a committee of the fire department of Boston, were in Manchester a few days since to witness the performance of a new and splendid fire engine just completed by the Amoskeag Co., for that city.

INDICTMENT FOR TREASON QUASHED. In the U. S. Circuit Court, at Cincinnati Ohio, April term, in 1861, the Grand Jury found an indictment for treason against James W. Chenoweth, for furnishing supplies and munitions of war to the rebels. At the present term ex-Senator Pugh, counsel for the defendant, moved to quash the indictment on the ground that the first clause of section 3, Art. 3, of the Constitution, which provides that treason shall consist only in levying war, refers to a rebellion, while the second clause, "or adhering to their enemies in giving aid and comfort," relates only to a public war with a foreign enemy. Justice Swayne gave his decision, sustaining the motion by quashing the indictment.

The council raised this ingenious quibble, and it is only a quibble, to get the traitors clear;—and the Judge, in full sympathy with both, sanctioned the quibble by deciding the case on it. It would be interesting to know if our U. S. Courts have become so rotten as to let every such traitor slip thro'. If so, the people of the United States may have a word to say about the matter.

☞ Lieut. Dempsey, 2d New York, and Capt. Fanish, 79th New York, returned prisoners from Richmond, say they were inhumanly treated while in the Richmond prison, and are in favor of utter extinction of the whole rebel horde. Col. Corcoran is in very bad health. The rebels claim that the fight at Williamsburg was a victory for them, and say that they are successfully holding Gen. McClellan in check. The Union men are determined to save Richmond from the flames.

☞ The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Press has asserted, since the fall of New Orleans, that the rebel Gen. Lovell, in command of the forces at the Crescent City, has redeemed his promise when he left New York, to be of more use to the Union cause South than he could be North. It is still urged by some of his old partizans and confidants that he, having promised to assume the guise of rebellion, so as the more effectually to accomplish something for the Union cause, has been faithful to that promise.

INFAMOUS CONDUCT OF THE REBELS. Com. Porter in his official report of the capture of the New Orleans forts, states that while he had a flag of truce up, and was arranging with the rebel commander for the surrender of the forts, the three rebel steamers remaining (which were under the command of Com. J. K. Mitchell, and with which the officer of the fort acknowledged no connection, wishing in no way to be responsible for their acts) were employed in towing the iron floating battery of 16 guns—a most formidable affair,—to a place above the forts. He adds:—

While drawing up the articles of capitulation in the cabin of the Harriet Lane, it was reported to me that they had set fire to the battery and turned it adrift upon us.—I asked the General if it had powder on board or guns loaded. He replied that he would not undertake to say what the navy officers would do. He seemed to have a great contempt for them. I told him we could stand the fire and blow up if he could, and went on with the conference, after directing the officers to look out for their ships. While drifting on us, the guns getting heated, exploded, throwing the shot about the river. A few minutes after, the floating battery exploded with a terrific noise, throwing the fragments all over the river, and wounding one of their own men in Fort St. Philip, and immediately disappeared under water. Had she blown up near the vessels she would have destroyed the whole of them. When I had finished taking possession of the forts, I got under way in the Harriet Lane and started for the steamers, one of which was still flying the Confederate flag. I fired a shot over her, and they surrendered. There were on board of them a number of naval officers and two companies of marine artillery. I made the surrender unconditional, and for their infamous conduct in trying to blow us up while under a flag of truce, I conveyed them to close confinement as prisoners of war, and think they should be sent to the North and kept in close confinement there until the war is over, or they should be tried for their infamous conduct.

☞ Count Mercier, the French Minister, is reported to be amazed by the rebel retreat from Yorktown. When he was at Richmond, Davis, Wigfall and the rest assured him that beyond any doubt they should succeed in holding Yorktown, and defeating the Yankees there, and he sent dispatches home to that effect, as did some of the other foreign ministers. M. Mercier now exclaims, with abundant French shrugs—"What can I believe? Whom am I to trust? They told me that they never would give up Yorktown, and now."

CONGRESS, Friday.—In the Senate the bill to educate the colored children of the District of Columbia, and abolishing the black code was passed, 28 to 7.

The House passed resolutions expressive of gratitude to God for recent victories, and complimenting Maj. Gen. George B. McClellan for the display of those high military qualities which secure important results with but little sacrifice of life.

☞ Jeff. Davis has issued a proclamation appointing the 16th of the present month for the people to unite in their several places of worship in humble supplication to Almighty God that he will vouchsafe his blessing on the Confederate arms, and that he will strengthen and protect their armies, and watch over and protect the people from the machinations of the enemy, and in his own good time restore peace.

☞ A terrible fire was raging in Troy, N. Y., Saturday noon. The bridge over the Hudson river took fire about half-past eleven o'clock and was consumed. At half past one the fire had been communicated to various parts of the city and, it was feared, would destroy hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property.

Sunday's dispatch says one-third of the city had been destroyed, and the fire was still raging. The loss was then estimated at two millions. Some lives had been lost. A gale was raging, and an effort was being made to stop the fire by blowing up houses.

☞ Hon. Messrs. Richardson, Vallandigham, and others, members of Congress, have issued an address to the Democracy, setting forth that a party organization is a positive good and essential to the preservation of public liberty.

☞ Capt. Rodman, who has already cast a 20-inch gun, is about to get up one with a bore of 30 inches, which will throw a ball weighing 3000 lbs.

☞ The iron-clad steamer, at Philadelphia, was successfully launched on Saturday. She was christened by the veteran Commodore Stewart, as "New Ironsides."

☞ The Ewer Tavern in Bangor was burnt on Wednesday morning together with two small houses adjoining. Several horses were burnt in the stable.

☞ Revell Clark, convicted of embezzling a letter from the Post-office in Augusta, Me., has been sentenced to six months' imprisonment in the jail, and to pay a fine of $5.

☞ Steamer Oriental, from Port Royal 6th, has arrived at New York. She brings no news, except the confirmation of the report that the Nashville had got into Wilmington. The sailing sloop-of-war Jamestown was the only blockading vessel there

☞ No English guns were found within the rebel works at Yorktown. Most of those abandoned were Rodman's and Dahlgrens, made in 1859, a part of the spoil of the Norfolk Navy Yard. Some of the cartridges found were made out of old Bay State shawls, some of which Assistant Secretary Fox recognized as having been made when he was in charge of the Bay State Mills.

☞ Flag Officer D. G. Farragut, commander of the squadron which reduced New Orleans, is a loyal Tennesseean, an officer of the utmost courage and resolution. It is about time to make a batch of Admirals.

☞ The ropewalk at Charlestown navy yard is now the only one in possession of the government, and the demand for cordage is so great that Sunday work is deemed necessary.

☞ Capt. Edward Saxe, who was killed at Pittsburg Landing, at the head of a Wisconsin Company, was a Vermonter. It is remarkable that all the captains in that regiment were killed — save one. Good proof of brave fighting.

☞ Kossuth has just lost his second daughter, aged 18.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurting crops, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried sand. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

U. S. STEAMER MAHASKA.—The trial trip of the gunboat Mahaska, from Portsmouth Navy Yard, seaward, on Friday, was a delightful pleasure excursion indeed, for the select company of ladies and gentlemen who(of the larger number of invited guests) were able to comply with the naval regulations of the occasion, sufficiently near to be on board at the early hour of starting.—Had the day promised to be as fair as it afterwards was, and the start been fixed for a lazier hour than six, a very large party would have been gathered.

In charge of pilot Preble, we left the wharf at 7 o'clock, and ran out along Cape Ann, passing Rockport, &c., so as to get a fine view of Gloucester—about forty miles—returning about six o'clock. The day was fine, and the scene presented—including a varied and beautiful landscape, and always quite a fleet of sailing vessels, and one large freight steamer at a distance,—was one of ever-changing beauty and interest.

Off Cape Ann, a shot from the 100 pound rifled Parrott gun, at the bow, was fired, striking the water at some three or four miles distance; and immediately after, several of the schooners in the vicinity ran up the stars and stripes at their peaks. The Mahaska also carries a 10 inch Dahlgren smooth bore, at the stern, and four 24-lb. boat howitzers amidships.

The Mahaska is a match-boat, in model and build, with the Sebago—and we think will prove the more favorite craft. She gave complete satisfaction on her trial—running very smoothly and steadily. With about nineteen revolutions of her engine per minute, her log told 11 knots; and under most favorable circumstances, it is thought she can show 13 or 14 knots.—Her run of from 80 to 100 miles, was made in eleven hours, including various stoppages for adjustment of the new machinery, &c.

On leaving the wharf, the rigging was manned and cheers given and returned; and also at Fort Constitution—and every body on board was "cheered" by the trip, except a few of the ladies who were temporarily not to be cheered up by anything—something like the seasick Frenchman, who said from his berth: "Boots? yes, take 'em—I shall vant zem nary more." But no matter for that (now), take it all in all, this was a gallant excursion, such as is hard to beat even in midsummer; and we wish we could have a steamer at our Yard to be similarly tried every month. On coming up the river, a salute gun was fired from Fort Constitution, and cheers given and returned from the ship.

The officers of the Mahaska (a list of whom we gave Friday) are a fine set of young men, and we venture to say will make good account of themselves when opportunity offers. In fact, several of them have already seen some stirring times—Sailing Master Moses, a South Carolinian, having had a desperate and almost doubly fatal brush with a secesh in Paris; Master's Mate Dyer having been an officer on board the fated ship Harvey Birch; Master's Mate French was on board the Preble, when attacked by Hollins' ram in the Gulf; and Mate Trask was in the Congress when she was sunk. The hospitality and courtesy of all the officers of the ship were unbounded—and we will close by giving them pleasant memory, and the success of their devotion to the Union—especially their gallant young commander, of whom it certainly can't be said that he is of "faint heart."—The crew numbers about 100 men, and are a staunch and lively lot of blue jackets.

Messrs. Editors:—Your hint in regard to cleanliness of the streets suggests a fruitful topic, and I am fully of the opinion that neatness and good order are closely allied to godliness, and should be urged and if need be enforced, except it comes to the point of breaking anybody's head and killing; in this case I think it would be best to stop and let matters "cool awhile" on all sides.

I am far from being disposed to censure and I should be very sorry to give offence to any one in the matter, for I am well enough aware that for want of proper places and room one hardly knows what to do with shells, coal ashes, &c. But I really feel inclined to make some merriment out of it, in hopes that it may lead to some suggestion as to what shall be done with the unsightly and offensive stuff. I will therefore specify some of the items which called for the hoe, shovel, and basket in one of the, otherwise, prettiest and neatest localities in our city, in the space of only a few days. There were chips, lobster shells, fuel, dead rats, a great old boot, loose stones, &c. I wish somebody that has the gift of a poet would get up a song which every body would sing until some scheme shall be devised promotive of the general good herein.

As I have thus touched on public matters there is one other great and crying evil, productive of crime and immorality, viz. the want of proper places for boys to play in. An open common of suitable extent for every 2500 inhabitants, is as necessary to the well being of a city as public highways; and should be regarded thus by our State and municipal governments; therefore let us have another song until the right sentiment in this matter shall be excited and made operative. X.

☞ Many of those mentioned, in the published list of killed and wounded of the Second N. H. Regiment in the engagement at Williamsburg, as members of Co. E, were, as was feared by many, members of Co. K, which was principally recruited in this city. Mr. James E. Scavey, of Co. K, in a letter to friends in this city, dated Williamsburg, Va., May 7, gives the following particulars in regard to the members of his company:—

Corp. Horace Smith has three flesh wounds in the right leg,—not serious; Freeman Teague is safe, but has not yet returned to camp; C. W. Downs (of Rochester) had his leg taken off by a shell and died that night; William H. Mix (of Warsaw, N.Y.) was shot in the neck, but not badly; James Ricker was shot in the knee, and, probably, must have his leg amputated; Joseph Gordon and B. G. Lake are missing.

The rest of the boys killed or wounded do not belong to Portsmouth. Thomas B. Mace (of Boston) was killed; C. W. Warren, wounded; and M. F. Magraw, J. W. Bell, (of New Castle) B. Ashton, Henry Gibson and B. Lever are missing.

BRIG. GEN. FITZ JOHN PORTER was born in Portsmouth in the time of the war of 1812. His father, Capt. John Porter, was attached to the Portsmouth Navy Yard at that time, and is well remembered by many here who have passed the age of sixty years. Capt. Porter's last residence, before removing from Portsmouth, was in the house on Livermore street, now owned and occupied by A. R. Hatch, Esq.; and in this house the son was born. Mrs. Porter was the daughter of Jeremiah Clark' Esq., Collector of York, Me., about 1810' and was connected with the Chauncey family, well known in this region fifty years ago.

☞ We learn that the staunch, elegant, and favorite fast sailing yacht Sybil is to run between Portsmouth and the Shoals, the coming season; and the pilots of this harbor have chartered the schooner boat Mary Annah, of Salem, to use in place of the Sybil in piloting. We think it safe to expect a large number of visitors this season to Portsmouth, the Shoals, &c.

☞ Frank Rivers' Troupe will give an entertainment at the Temple, on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. They have a good reputation and should have a good house.

1900 BARRELS of the LODI MANUFACT'G CO'S
Superior Poudrette.

This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.

TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!
Try it on your FIELD CROPS!! Try it on your BEANS, Your CABBAGES, your Corn, Potatoes. Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY. Try it on your LAWNS, in your DRAWING FIELDS:
TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY.

The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity,

One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.

Also, for sale,
PURE PERUVIAN GUANO
—and—
Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

Farmers! Farmers!

Your attention is requested to the following UNSOLICITED recommendation of the
LODI MANUFACTURING CO'S
POUDRETTE.

DUNBARTON, N. H., May 1, 1863.
MR. SHORES,—Dear Sir:—
Last year I sent to you for three barrels of Poudrette.
Upon two acres of land I spread about twenty loads of barn manure to the acre. Upon ten rows of corn I put hog manure, a shovel in a hill. Upon the next ten POUDRETTE, and then phosphate of lime upon ten—and thus through the field.
One load of hog manure went five rows of seventy hills;
A barrel of Poudrette eighteen rows;
A bag of Phosphate of Lime sixteen rows, all of the same length.
The Corn upon which the Poudrette was spread was more in quantity and superior in quality to the other, and also proves it to be the cheapest.
I want six barrels for this year, and my neighbors want ten or fifteen barrels more.
Please write upon what terms you will furnish it. Yours, CHARLES HOLMES.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.
Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:
NEW YORK May 1, 1861.
Mr. WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:
Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice, and, since the latter has come into so general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.
Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.
We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 31, 1861.
DRS. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others
Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a superior article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,
I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. T. CUTTER, Jr.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

LIME! LIME!!
900 CASKS of best quality Rockland Lime for sale for cash, by S. L. RUSSELL,
feb25 36 WATER ST.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S
Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!
The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known to be tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.
Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.
In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.
The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.
The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.
We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a general trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.
Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.
Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

Morning Chronicle.

☞ A Washington correspondent says the board of Naval Examiners recommended to the Naval Department the construction of four additional iron-clad gunboats for use in Southern and Western waters.—These gunboats will be 220 feet long by 50 beam; 6 feet draft. Each boat to have four propellers of a diameter of 7 feet 6 inches. The hulls will be entirely of iron, the exposed parts covered with 3 inch plates. Each boat will have two turrets on the Ericsson plan. Each turret containing two 11-inch Dahlgren guns. The boats will cost about $320,000 each, and are designed for the lower Mississippi and Gulf coast.

☞ Some persons have wondered why Gen. McDowell's command was withdrawn from Gen. McClellan's grand army, a short time ago; and some papers grumbled at it. It now appears that it was done by the Secretary of War with the President's assent, because the rebels at Winchester were found to be in so large force as to make it needful to keep a good army in front of Washington. So says the correspondent of the N. Y. Times, near Yorktown.

☞ The difficulty with the Pottsville, Penn, miners, which threatened to end in bloodshed, has been amicably settled, the employers having agreed to pay the advance prices demanded.

☞ In the Connecticut House of Representatives, May 7, the vote for Speaker was for Josiah M. Carter (Union Republican) 163, Alvan P. Hyde (Democrat) 45.

☞ The Augusta, Me., Journal is to be published daily, as well as weekly. The editors are able, and the daily will be useful to the place.

☞ At Charleston, S. C., April 5, corn brooms were $14 per dozen; tea $6 per lb; ham 70 cents per lb.

A D V E R T I S E!
Advertise!
IT IS THE
L I F E O F T R A D E!
Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all and affords the easiest means by which the purchaser become generally known.
THE RIGHT MEANS.
Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the proper, nor the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.
To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its bids. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.
THE RIGHT TIME.
Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be well applied to the interests and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well sustained advertising to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.
There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that in times of economy or good business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to avoid; one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when most of the advertisers country is and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times; because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their books out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."
THE RIGHT WAY.
There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in the hands of a bungler turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others internal advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information, on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium increases in a rapidly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

Advertising Agency
—OF—
S. R. NILES,
1 Scollay's Building, Court Street, Boston,
Embraces most of the principal Commercial, Business, Religious, Literary, Scientific and Agricultural Newspapers in the United States, British Provinces and Canadas, for which he is the duly appointed Agent, and authorized by the proprietors to receive advertisements and subscriptions at their lowest rates.
The Agent will spare no pains to render his agency a prompt, safe and reliable medium of communication with the Newspaper Press of the country. He feels qualified, from his long experience and devotion to the subject, to impart valuable information in regard to papers and localities best adapted for different kinds of business.
Persons desiring information, its cost, comparative value of papers and situations, are respectfully invited to call at his Agency, or they will be waited upon and every assistance rendered for the adoption of a thorough and judicious system of advertising. apr4 tf S. R. NILES.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.
DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, No 7 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a
PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.
By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of knowing that the unfortunate victims of disease that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of
GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.
Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.
SEMINAL WEAKNESS.
Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.
Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be treated with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate. apr1—1y3taw

To Females in Delicate Health.
DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 Endicott Street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppressed, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.
Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.
Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.
Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.
N. B.—All letters must contain one dollar, or they will not be answered.
Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.
April7, 1862—1y3taw

CERTAIN CURE
in all cases, or No Charges Made.
Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.
Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

Advertising.
For a Square (14 inches) or less, one insertion 50 cents, three insertions $1, one week $1.50, one month $3, three months $5, six months $8, one year $15. These are Daily rates—and no advertisements receive more than one insertion in the Weekly (Gazette) without special order and charge.
Funeral Notices, and Advertisements of articles Lost and Found, &c., 50 cents.
Advertisements may appear both in the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, if ordered; as it will thus receive the most thorough circulation both in this city and vicinity, and throughout the State. ☞ Liberal terms for yearly advertising.

The Chronicle.

THE RUMORED MORTGAGING OF THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.—The Honolulu Commercial Advertiser denies that there is the slightest foundation for a rumor circulated some time ago, that agents had gone to England to hypothecate the entire group of the Sandwich Islands to that power.—The only object of two agents sent to that country was to inquire on what terms a loan could be effected on behalf of the government.

It is told as a "true story," that a Yankee girl, who went out to Peru four years ago to teach the Spanish girls how to operate sewing machines, and to establish the business in that country, not only made three or four thousand dollars a year beyond her expenses, but a year ago married a wealthy old Spaniard, who, dying, bequeathed to her a fortune of eighty thousand dollars. Smart girl! And clever, too, for she has sent for her relatives to share her good fortune.

HEIRS, NOT HAIRS.—Mr. Henry Budd, of London, whose will has just been proved under £200,000, ($1,000,00,) leaves the whole to his two sons, on the pain of forfeiture if they wear a moustache—the property in that case to be applied to the erection of a dwelling for the homeless poor of London.

☞ On and after the first of June, all letters for Nova Scotia will be required to be paid in United States postage stamps, at the rate of 10 cents for less than 3000 miles from the frontier line, and 15 cents for over that distance. All letters from Nova Scotia after that date will be prepaid.

☞ Rev. Zenas Thompson, of Maine, now in the U. S. Army near Yorktown, Va. says the country there is more of a wilderness than any part of Aroostook; the trees, a hundred years old, are growing in the cellars of the old houses built by the early settlers.

☞ The Kennebec Journal says every well-ordered christian family should cultivate at least one grape vine even if the inclosure of the land can be covered by an apron. Make the trial and you will never regret it.

The extremes of national finances may thus be stated. In December, 1859, it borrowed at one per cent. a month on Treasury Notes, at one year, to escape stopping payment. In May, 1862, with the prospect of $750,000,000 of national debt, its twenty year bonds sell at par.—Boston Post.

☞ Maj. Miles, the head of the Signal Corps, in his estimates for supplies, asks for seven thousand dollars for telescopes and seventy-five hundred dollars for marine glasses. It is getting more difficult every day to see these rebels.

☞ John Bright has written a letter to James Forsyth of Troy, in which he states that his own clear opinion is that an overwhelming majority of the English people would rejoice greatly at the complete success of our arms and the restoration of the Union.

☞ Isaac F. Shepard, who was so prominently before the public a few years ago in a matter of misuse of money left at his disposal, is a colonel in Gen. Curtis' army in Arkansas, and is said to have behaved excellently in a late fight.

IRISH EMIGRATION.—The emigration to America, from Ireland, notwithstanding the civil war raging here, is greater at present than it was in the corresponding period of last year.

☞ We learn from the Houston Telegraph of the 11th of April, that Texas will have a surplus of not less than three millions of bushels of wheat this year, as well as near ten million bushels of corn, if nothing breaks up the present prospect.

☞ Free negro nurses are called for by the rebel army officers. They are informed that if they go willingly good wages will be paid; if they do not volunteer they will be impressed.

☞ Rev. Charles E. Blake has been elected Chaplain of the 13th Me. Regiment, (Col. Dow's,) in place of Rev. H. D. Moore, resigned.

☞ During the last week large quantities of excellent Jackson potatoes were brought to Augusta, Me., for shipment, at forty cents a bushel.

☞ A woman in Quebec died last week upon reading pleasant tidings in a letter—the joy killed her.

Dr. S. Swett's Vegetable Medicines.
The saving efficacy of these truly valuable medicines is daily witnessed by thousands of the first classes of society, many of whom are physicians of success. The following are among the most popular preparations, viz.:
HIS PANACEA is unrivalled for the cure of Cancers, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Canker in the mouth or throat, Sore or inflamed eyes, and all impurities of the blood. Price $1.00.
CORDIAL of Dandelion, Spikenard and Boneset—a remedy unsurpassed for the liver and heart complaint, costiveness, dizziness and pain in the head, stomach and side, and the whole family of consumptive complaints. Price 75 cents.
RHEUMATIC COMPOUND, for the cure of Rheumatism in all its stages, phases and names of acute and chronic gout, neuralgia, lumbago, &c. This compound has been proved to be the surest remedy for these complaints that he has tried or known during the whole 40 years of his study and practice of medicine. Price $1.00.
HIS FAMILY PILLS are warranted paramount to any in the market, as a safe, easy and effectual physic. Price 25 cents.
HIS CONSERVE cures the piles, headache and costiveness, and is the surest remedy for worms in young or old. Price 25 cents.
COUGH DROPS for phthisic, colds, asthma, croup, whooping and chin coughs, and all diseases of the lungs. Price of small bottles, 33 cts.; large, 50 cents.
EXETER, March 3, 1841. "Many of my brethren in the ministry frequently complain of oppressed lungs and hoarseness of voice after frequent labors. I wish, by this card to say to them and all others affected that the Cough Drops prepared by Dr. Swett of Portsmouth, is a valuable remedy. I have found nothing that gives relief so quick. Let every suffering preacher take a phial and try it."
ED. EDWIN BURNHAM.
☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of these medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. 1ao

RICHARDS' NEW BOOT BLACKING.
This splendid compound is truly unrivaled in this or any other country for its shining quality and nutritious elements for leather, giving the boot an elegant yet black polish, quick and clean: an oil compound, rendering the leather soft and easy to the foot; strictly a leather preservative; will not dry in the box. Try it, Gentlemen, and you will be pleased with it.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, MAY 13, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

The glorious news of the capture of Norfolk and Portsmouth is fully confirmed. Gen. Wool with five thousand men, landed at Willoughby Point on Saturday forenoon, and commenced his march on Norfolk.—The place of landing was selected the previous day by President Lincoln himself, who was among the firstwho stepped ashore. About five miles from the landing place a rebel battery was found, on the opposite side of the bridge over Tanner's Creek. This bridge the rebels burned, after firing a few discharges upon our advance. This compelled our forces to march around five miles further. At five o'clock in the afternoon our forces, when within a short distance of Norfolk, were met by a delegation of citizens, and the city was formally surrendered. Our troops were marched in and now have possession. Gen. Huger withdrew his forces without a battle. The City and Navy Yard were not burned. Fires, which had been seen for some hours, proved to be woods on fire. Gen. Wool with Secretary Chase, returned to Fortress Monroe, about 11 o'clock Saturday night. The Merrimac was blown up by the rebels at two minutes before 5 o'clock Sunday morning. She was set fire to about 3 o'clock. The iron-clad steamer Galena sunk the rebel steamer Yorktown and captured the Jamestown.

Later accounts from Norfolk state that Gen. Wool had visited the City Hall, in company with the Mayor, and had issued a proclamation taking military possession of the town in behalf of the National Government. After the departure of Gen. Wool several thousand people assembled near the City Hall to hear a speech from the Mayor who seemed to be very popular. He said that in his negotiation with Gen. Wool he had secured a pledge for the protection of private property and the safe continuance of all private business.

Gosport Navy Yard and all the public property was burnt by the enemy on Saturday. The Navy Yard was completely destroyed, with a large number of steamboats and other vessels. The Monitor and Naugatuck have been up to Norfolk and returned.

The works on Craney Island, evacuated by the rebels, have been visited by our troops. They were in four or five separate sections, and were constructed with the best engineering skill and most admirable workmanship. They were left in excellent condition, as also were the extensive barracks, which during the winter have accommodated 2000 men. The whole number of guns found mounted was 39, including two Parrott guns and ten 9 or 10-inch Dahlgrens. The Merrimac, before being destroyed, was run ashore. All her officers and crew were landed and a slow match applied to her magazine. On the line of the river leading from Craney Island to Norfolk there are not less than six heavy earth works, mounting in all about 69 cannon, all in position, except those near the naval hospital. The amount of powder found in the magazines is estimated at 5000 pounds, and the fixed ammunition taken can be enumerated only by the cargo.

On Saturday morning, the rebel fleet off Fort Wright, consisting of 8 iron-clad gunboats, four of which were fitted with rams, attacked Com. Foote's flotilla, now under command of Capt. Davis. The action lasted one hour. Two of the rebel gunboats were blown up and one sunk, when the enemy retired precipitately under the guns of the fort. Only six vessels of our squadron were engaged. The Cincinnati sustained some severe injury from the rams, but would be in fighting condition within 24 hours. The rebel squadron was supposed to be commanded by Com. Hollins.

On Saturday afternoon the advance of Gen. McClellan's army was within 20 miles of Richmond. From the best information that has been obtained, the enemy will make a stand at Bottom Bridge, 15 miles from Richmond, at the head waters of the Chickahominy river. Their retreat is said to be most admirably accomplished, carrying away everything with them in the shape of forage and provisions—the wagon trains moving by day and their troops at night.

On Sunday forenoon, Gen. McClellan's advance had reached White House, five miles from Cumberland, and had secured 7000 bushels of wheat and 4000 bushels of corn. The rebels had burnt the railroad bridge and town, and torn up the rails some distance toward Richmond. The distance from White House to Richmond by railroad is 23 miles. The gunboats were on the way to White House. The rebels blockaded the river, but the obstructions were blown up without much trouble. The rear guard of the enemy was at Tunstall's Depot, five miles from White House.

☞ The Tribune's Washington dispatch says it is believed that Gen. Wool will be immediately made a full Major General.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

——Mrs. R. Lawrence, of Jaffrey, N.H., while transacting some business in a Dye House, on Washington street, Boston, on Friday, had her pocket picked of a portemonnaie, containing from $10 to $15.

—— Mr John Lindsey, of Lancaster, has become lessee of the Eagle Hotel, in Concord, in place of Mr. Ezekiel Sawyer: and Mr. Charles A. Norton has retired from the American, and is succeeded by Mr. Oliver Coffin of Gilmanton. It is understood that Mr. Nathaniel White has purchased most of the interests of all the shareholders of the Eagle Hotel, and intends to be the only proprietor of the establishment.

Mr. White is already principal owner of an aqueduct in Concord, also of the fine Universalist Church there, besides being a partner in Cheney & Co.'s. Concord, Boston & Portsmouth Express, and carrying on farming and trading, &c., to almost any extent. He is one of the live men, sure; and deserves the competency he has won.

—— Charles Wilkins, of Henniker, who was a member of the Goodwin Rifles, Second N. H. Regiment and was wounded at the battle of Bull Run, has received his commission as Second Lieutenant of Co. C, 1st U. S. Infantry, and has been ordered to report for duty in Missouri.

—— John Nichols, for stealing a horse in Londonderry, has been sentenced at Nashua to 5 years in State Prison. Bacchus Gerry, for passing counterfeit money at Nashua, 4 years in State Prison.

THE LIEUT. WORDEN FUND.—What a "fine" boy can do.—Henry Hoyt, No. 9 Cornhill, Boston, in a communication to the Transcript says:—"Master George A. Robbins of Newton Corner, Mass., a lad of some 12 years, brought in fifteen dollars and eight cents, the result of a few hours' labor in each of three days, an example to be imitated by all the boys and girls in the free States. Two dollars and twenty-five cents received from the Refuge, with a multitude of smaller sums, in all some two hundred dollars."

☞ The London Army and Navy Gazette says:—"The Admiralty have accepted Messrs. Samuda's tender for the first cupola ship, which Messrs. Samuda have bound themselves, under a penalty of £4000, to launch on February 10th, 1863. The price is £44 15s. per ton. The ship, for which £150,000 has been taken in the estimates, is 56 by two hundred and eighty feet long, nearly two thousand six hundred tons, will draw twenty feet, and will have engines of five hundred horse power. She will, according to present arrangements, have six cupolas, each armed with two 100-pounder Armstrong guns.

☞ It is reported that the Parrott gun has sent newly invented shot completely through a target formed of twelve one inch iron plates and a backing of 24 inches of oak, at a distance of 380 yards. At the same distance, another target, sloped to an angle of 25 degrees, representing the side of the Merrimac, backed by 24 inches of oak and covered with six one-inch iron plates, was completely perforated by every shot.

JOHN BULL'S MODESTY.—Mr. Bull pays a high compliment to Ericsson, the inventor of the "Monitor." He claims it as the invention of one Captain Coles, an Englishman of course. Mr. Bull would have us believe that somehow or other Coles' invention got shoved aside, and was not thought off again until the "Monitor" came out—Mr. Bull is the inventor of a good many nick nacks, but he can't claim a patent for modesty. If at some time in the future it should be certain that the moon is, really and truly, a green cheese, Mr. Bull will at once exclaim:—"I always told you so!"

GREAT FIRE IN TROY.—The fire in Troy, N. Y., on Saturday, raged until sundown. About 1000 feet of the covered bridge across the Hudson, where it originated, was destroyed. The gale carried firebrands to various parts of the city, setting fire to many buildings. Most of the buildings destroyed were private residences, and number between 500 and 600. The total loss is not far from three millions, on which there is insurance to the amount of one million four hundred thousand dollars.

Private and public measures are being taken to render assistance to the large number of homeless families, among whom there is much suffering. Several churches have been opened to the homeless, and the citizens have sent food in large quantities to them. Seven bodies have been found, and ten more are missing. Upwards of fifty acres were burned over.

A RAILROAD MONITOR.—Gen. Burnside is constructing a "Railroad Monitor." A huge frame-work is to be placed over a locomotive engine, and covered with railroad iron from the top to the track. The car is to carry two guns, one at each end, and will be used on the railroads.

☞ The Boston Post states that at a boarding-house in Avon place, a lady said to her husband—"It's too bad! that old woman who sleeps in the attic snores so incessantly I could not sleep." Upon inquiry it was ascertained to be the escape steam pipe at the Aquarial Gardens.

PRESIDENT LINCOLN, as Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy, superintended the expedition against Norfolk, from Fortress Monroe, and, dispatches say, had declared that Norfolk must fall, that the Merrimac must succumb to the naval power of the Union, and that the Government property at Norfolk must be repossessed at whatever cost it might require. What is more he had determined to remain at Fortress Monroe until it was accomplished.

☞ The following incident of the battle of Shiloh is related by an eye and ear witness:—Two regiments from Kentucky met face to face, and fought each other with terrible resolution, and it happened that one of the Federal soldiers wounded and captured his brother, and after handing him back began firing at a man near a tree, when the captured brother called to him and said, "Don't shoot there any more—that's father."

☞ During the battle of Shiloh, a boy belonging to the 24th Indiana was struck on the thigh by a cannon ball, shattering his leg dreadfully. In his agony he exclaimed as he fell: "Oh, mother! mother! take me away from this place." An officer of his company harshly ordered him to cease his cries. In less than five minutes the officer's head was taken off by another cannon-ball. The youth's leg was amputated, but he died under the operation.

AGE OF THE LONDON JOURNALS.—The following gives the dates of the commencement of the principal London journals:—Morning Post, 1772; Morning Herald, 1781; Times, 1788; Sun, 1792; Morning Advertiser, 1803; Globe, 1804; Standard, 1827; Daily News, 1846; Daily Telegraph, 1855; Morning Star, 1856.

THE VERONA.—The Verona, which was sunk at New Orleans, was a new vessel, mounting twelve 32-pounders and 2 rifled pivot guns. She was built in New York, and was commanded by Commander J. L. Baggs, a native of New Jersey, and formerly in command of the mail steamer Illinois. The V. had a crew of 148 men.

CHERRIES AND PEACHES.—The Newburyport Herald says the question whether we are to have cherries this year is fully settled by the trees being in bloom. The few peach trees remaining in that region are also in bloom, and promise a good crop.

☞ The Commercial says trade in the New York dry goods market with the commission houses and importers is about over. Cotton goods are dull; jobbers are wary and manufacturers are perplexed whether to keep on or leave off work. Trade in fancy woolens is well sustained.

"THE CHILDREN OF WEALTH."—Of all the "Children of Wealth," the greatest, without exception, are the Rothschildren.—So enormous is their wealth, that we are assured by a confidential clerk in their establishment, that many and many a time it has been almost beyond Baring.

☞ A watchmaker of Cheapside, London, pays one thousand guineas—upwards of five thousand dollars—for an advertisement covering the last page of the catalogue book of the Great Exhibition. That beats Bonner.

A CHEERING PROSPECT.—A wit says that the successes of our navy on the Southern coast will soon enable the President to be hospitable enough to open a little port almost every day after dinner.—N. Y. Post.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, the only place where it can be obtained in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried mud. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

☞ Commander Joseph F. Greene has been detached from ordnance duty at Boston, and ordered to report to Captain Pearson, at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, for command of the steamer Ossipee, on the 18th proximo.

John S. Vennard, of Portsmouth, has received permission to report at Boston for examination as Master's mate.

PORTSMOUTH, May 6th.

Messrs. Editors:—I wish that you would allow me to speak a few words in the columns of your paper in regard to insults offered to young ladies in the streets of Portsmouth, especially on Congress street. I have noticed that not a night passes but some ladies are insulted by the loungers on the corner of Congress and Market streets. I should think that the City Marshal or some other officers would look after it a little more strictly than they do. Congress street is one of the principal streets in our city. I hope justice will be done to the loafers: once before the Police Court, they would be taught how to behave themselves in future. JUSTICE.

☞ Frank Rivers' Troupe, it will be remembered, are to appear at the Temple tonight. They have been giving highly-successful concerts in many of the cities of Massachusetts, and the press of that state has spoken very highly of them, recommending all who like good singing, good dancing, and excellent negro delineation and drollery to attend their entertainments.

☞ A correspondent informs us that Miss Anna E. Dickinson is to lecture in Portsmouth on Sunday evening, May 25th—and thinks that there is no house in the city that is large enough to hold the audience that will want to hear her.

☞ We understand that Mr. William D. Perkins, one of the oldest "whips" among our city hackmen, has been engaged as one of the drivers at Mr. Blaisdell's stable, and has turned out a fine new team this week.

☞ The alarm of fire on Monday afternoon was occasioned by the burning of a small shed on Noble's Island.

☞ We publish in another column a few lines in reference to the Werden Fund. A box for five cent contributions towards this patriotic object, is kept at Wm. R. Preston's Apothecary Store.

☞ The Boston Saturday Gazette says among the rebel officers who surrendered at Camp Lovell, below New Orleans, was Mr. James Hickey, a native of this city, and a member of the late firm of Gardiner, Hickey & Co., in Milk street, Boston,—probably impressed like many other loyal men, of Northern birth.

NAVAL.—The commander of the New Ironsides is to be Lieut. John L. Worden, lately of the celebrated steamer Monitor.—Commodore Stewart, in his reply to a letter requesting him to christen the vessel, says:—

"In response, I beg leave to say that I will attend the launching with pleasure, and, as an old Godfather, will confer on her the name assigned. How will it answer to add the word 'new' to the name, and let her future soubriquet be the 'Defender of the Constitution,' in honor of the President of our time, whom God has made the first President in battle for its defence?"

Sloop-of-War Vinconnes, 20, Lieut. John Madigan, jr., and sloop-of-war Portsmouth, 22, Com'r Samuel Swartwout, were at Mobile 23d ult. Steamer Niagara, 12, was at Key West 30th ult.

The Navy Department is in immediate want of seamen. Extra inducements have been offered in the way of advances, and in addition the seamen are reaping a harvest of prize money. A single one of the recent prizes will yield to each seaman on the capturing vessels from twelve to fourteen hundred dollars. A fine chance for the New England fishermen.

☞ Hon. Gideon Welles, Secretary of the Navy, has publicly expressed his thanks to Commodore Farragut and his men for their gallant conduct on the Mississippi. He truly says they have a nation's gratitude and applause.

☞ A very funny New York correspondent of the Boston Gazette, denounces the explosives as abomanabali, which we think as abominable as anything we ever heard.

☞ Counterfeit Threes of the Thomaston Bank, Maine, are in circulation. The bogus bills are well calculated to deceive.

☞ Yorktown is now described as the ruined, deserted, polluted village of America. The rebels completely impoverished it.

☞ The New York lawyers complain of very bad times at the bar, and say not fifty out of the three thousand there are making a living.

☞ The rumor that the government intends to exchange Gen. Buckner for Gen. Prentiss, is declared to be without foundation.

1900 BARRELS of the LODI MANUFACT'G CO'S
Superior Poudrette.

This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.

TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!
Try it on your FIELD CROPS!! Try it on your BEANS, your CABBAGES, your Corn, Potatoes. Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY; Try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS;
TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it PAYS WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY.

The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity,

One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.

Also, for sale,
PURE PERUVIAN GUANO
—and—
Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,

warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired on its merit alone.

Farmers! Farmers!

Your attention is requested to the following UNSOLICITED recommendation of the
LODI MANUFACTURING CO'S
POUDRETTE.

DUNBARTON, N. H., May 1, 1862.
MR. SHORES,—Dear Sir:—
Last year I rent to you for three barrels of Poudrette.
Upon two acres of land I spread about twenty loads of barn manure to the acre. Upon ten rows of corn I put hog manure, and cultivated on a hill. Upon the next ten POUDRETTE, and then phosphate of lime upon ten—and thus through the field.
One load of hog manure went five rows of seventy hills;
A box of Poudrette eighteen rows;
A bag of Phosphate of Lime sixteen rows, all of the same length.
The Corn upon which the Poudrette was spread was more in quantity and superior in quality to the other, and also proves it to be the cheapest.
I want six barrels for this year, and my neighbors want ten or fifteen barrels more.
Please write upon what terms you will furnish it. Yours, CHARLES HOLMES.

Fresh Beef & Vegetables for the Navy.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
Bureau of Provisions and Clothing,
WASHINGTON, May 3, 1862.

Sealed proposals will be received at this office until THURSDAY, the 19th day of June, 1862, at noon, for the supply of such quantities of Fresh Beef and Vegetables as may be required on the Portsmouth, N. H., station, during the fiscal year commencing on the 1st day of July next, and ending on the 30th June, 1863.

The Beef and Vegetables must be of good quality, and the best the market affords; and each article must be offered for by the pound.

Bond with approved security will be required in one half the estimated amount of the contract, and twenty per centum in addition will be withheld from the amount of each payment to be made, as collateral security for the performance of the contract, which will on no account be paid until it is fully complied with. Payment to be made in certificates of indebtedness, or in Treasury Notes, at the option of the government.

Every offer made must be accompanied (as directed in the act of Congress making appropriation for the naval service for 1846-7, approved 10th August, 1846,) by a written guaranty, signed by one or more responsible persons, to the effect that he or they undertake that the bidder or bidders will, if his or their bid be accepted, enter into an obligation, within five days after, with good and sufficient sureties, to furnish the articles proposed.

No proposal will be considered unless accompanied by such guaranty. may6w 1ucs 4w

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and Wm. J. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky:

NEW YORK, May 1, 1861.
MR. WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky:
Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.
Presuming that your residence is in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having the market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.
We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

Drs. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others
Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,
I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. T. CUTTER, Jr.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

S. L. RUSSELL,
feb25 30 WATER ST.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S
Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The taxing of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in size, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit, and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscribers.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

NEW SONGS AND MUSIC.—At last we have a good book for singing in the Army and Navy. It is entitled "Army and Navy Melodies: a collection of Hymns and Tunes, Religious and Patriotic, Original and Selected. By Rev. J. W. Dadman and Rev. Arthur B. Fuller, chaplain 16th Regt. Mass. Volunteers."

The patriotic songs are free from vulgarities, and the Hymns are such as may be sung with pleasure and profit by all christians without offence to any. The music is well arranged and popular. Mr. Ambrose has the book.

BALLADS OF THE WAR, No. 1,—being the March to the Capitol,—by Augustine J. H. Duganne, splendidly and profusely illustrated, is just received by J. H. Foster. It is to be followed in a regular series, monthly, —by the Fall of Sumter, Death of Ellsworth, battles of Port Royal, Donelson, Pittsburg Landing,—and other actions. 25 cts. per number.

CANINE SUICIDE.—The Newburyport Herald says, one day last week a little dog, fearing probably that his master would not take out a license to protect his life for the ensuing year, deliberately walked down City wharf, went on board the schooner Halo, walked out upon her flying jib-boom, gave one look at the Police officer, and committed himself to the deep, seeking death by drowning, rather than have his brains knocked out by a watchman's billy.

A SEA CHANGE.—The necessary reconstruction of the British Navy will effect an entire change of nautical phraseology.—"Shiver my timbers!" will become obsolete; and the corresponding exclamation will be, "Unrivet my plates!" Instead of "Scuttle my coppers!" the dramatic Jack Tar will have to say, "Fool my screw!" or "Smash my cupola!" and whereas he used to utter imprecations on his bowsprit he will henceforth perhaps invoke injury of his bowsplitter.

☞ Major C. W. King of Brunswick, Me., a man with the keenest eye-sight, has written the Lord's Prayer, with the naked eye, no glass being used, upon a space one-quarter by one-eighth of an inch. It is no uncommon thing for him to pencil a circle so very minute that the company present will pronounce it a mere dot, until they view it through a magnifying glass. The Major is a genius in the art of drawing.

☞ Rev. A. B. Muzzey of the "First Congregational", (Unitarian) church, Newburyport, has voluntarily relinquished two hundred dollars of the salary. His salary was $1000, now reduced to. $800. This is the second case of this kind among the clergymen of Newburyport.

A D V E R T I S E!
Advertise!
IT IS THE
LIFE OF TRADE!
Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.
Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither respected the rights of, nor, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.
To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is NEWSPAPER. It is that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.
Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.
There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that by economy or good business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to avoid; one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their books out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.
There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sometimes four hundred, and in others instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is so rapidly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

THE NEWSPAPER
Advertising Agency
—OF—
S. R. NILES,
1 Scollay's Building, Court Street, Boston,
Embraces most of the principal Commercial, Business, Religious, Literary, Scientific and Agricultural Newspapers in the United States, British Provinces and Canadas, for which he is the duly appointed Agent, and authorized by the proprietors to receive advertisements and subscriptions at their lowest rates.
The Agent will spare no pains to render his agency a prompt, safe and reliable medium of communication with the Newspaper Press of the country. He feels qualified, from his long experience and devotion to the subject, to impart valuable information in regard to papers and localities best adapted for different lines of business.
Persons desiring information, its cost, comparative value of papers and situations, are respectfully invited to call at the Agency, or they will be waited upon and every assistance rendered for the adoption of a thorough and judicious system of advertising. apr4 tf S. R. NILES.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.
DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a
PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.
By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D has now the gratification of presenting unfortunate sufferers with cures that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of
GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.
Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Syphilitic Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.
SEMINAL WEAKNESS.
Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Pallution of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.
Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate. apr7—1y3taw

To Females in Delicate Health.
DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new physiological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.
Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.
Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.
Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to the office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.
N. B.—All letters must contain one dollar, or they will not be answered.
Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE
in all cases, or No Charges Made.
Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.
Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

The Chronicle.

NOT EQUAL TO THE TIMES.—The Boston Post publishes the Address of Mr. Vallandigham and other Democratic Members of Congress to the Democracy of the United States,—and then cuts it up editorially, into thin slices. We have room for only a few of them.

The Post says:—

"We do not think it a paper equal to the purpose it assumes to answer. Most of its positions are in accordance with the universally admitted principles of the Democratic party, it is true; but its recital of the events which led to our present misfortunes, are not full and impartial, nor is the review of the measures of the present Administration presented with the candor necessary to correct judgment."

"When the Southern Democrats deserted the loyal Democracy of the North, they were double traitors, and are now reaping the just reward of their infidelity. We do not speak of the Southern Democrats indiscriminately, as false to country and old political affinities, but of those leaders who urged them to ruin—they have passed beyond the bounds of forgiveness, and we cannot consider any man entitled to the confidence of the National Democracy who would trust them or hold fellowship with them!"

"Justice to all sections cannot be accomplished by Addresses only; nor by galvanising worn out party men, or by oiling rickety machinery; but the work will be done by the people, in the presence of whose fiat mere party schemers will fall like prairie grass before the consuming flame, and the Government bequeathed by Washington be restored to the supremacy on this continent it held for three-fourths of a century. Then will true Democracy be triumphant and the bond of Union strengthened beyond the power of faction to sever."

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837,)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials let our given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.
The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.
These, besides his private library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.
During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.
R. H. EDDY.

Dr. S. Swett's Vegetable Medicines.
The saving efficacy of these truly valuable medicines is daily witnessed by thousands of the first classes of society, many of whom are physicians of success. The following are among his most popular preparations, viz.:
His PANACEA is unrivalled for the cure of Cancers, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Canker in the mouth or throat, Sore or inflamed eyes, and all impurities of the blood. Price $1.00.
CORDIAL of Dandelion, Spikenard and Honeset—a remedy unsurpassed for the liver and heart complaint, costiveness, dizziness and pain in the head, stomach and side, and the whole family of consumptive complaints. Price 75 cents.
RHEUMATIC COMPOUND, for the cure of Rheumatism in all its stages, phases and names of acute and chronic gout, neuralgia, lumbago, &c. This compound he has proved to be the surest remedy for these complaints that he has tried or known during the whole 40 years of his study and practice of medicine. Price $1.00.
His FAMILY PILLS are warranted paramount to any in the market, as a safe, easy and effectual physic. Price 25 cents.
His CONSERVE cures the piles, headache and costiveness, and is the surest remedy for worms in young or old. Price 25 cents.
COUGH DROPS for phthisic, colds, asthma, croup, whooping and chin coughs, and all diseases of the lungs. Price of small bottles, 33 cts.; large, 50 cents.
EXETER, March 3, 1861. "Many of my brethren in the ministry frequently complain of oppressed lungs and hoarseness of voice after frequent labors. I wish by this card to say to them and all others affected that the Cough Drops prepared by Dr. Swett of Portsmouth, is a valuable remedy. I have found nothing that gives relief so quick. Let every suffering preacher take a phial and try it
Eld. EDWIN BURNHAM."
☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of these medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. 1206

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 14, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

Gen. McClellan made no movement of his forces on Sunday, being desirous of observing the day, and of giving his men an opportunity to rest.

It is reported that Beauregard, so far from evacuating Corinth is strengthening, all his defences. Gen. Lovell, with his New Orleans army of 30,000 men, has joined him. On our side preparations for a battle are are being made on a grand scale. Roads are cut through the woods to facilitate the moving of different divisions. Siege guns are mounted in great numbers, and nothing is wanted on our part to win the victory.

Gen. Pope reports that on the 9th, the enemy, 20,000 strong, drove in our pickets beyond Farmington, (five miles northwest of Corinth) and advanced upon one brigade on the further side of the creek, in front of General Pope's camp. The brigade held on for five hours, but as Gen. Pope could not sustain them without passing the creek with his whole force, which would have been contrary to the orders of the commanding general, and would have brought on a general engagement, they were withdrawn in good order. The rebel loss was heavy: ours has not yet been ascertained.

Gen. McDowell at Fredericksburg, reports that the enemy on the afternoon of the 10th advanced on the Bowling Green road, but fell back after losing a Lieutenant and ten men, who were cut off by Maj. Duffie, of the Harris Cavalry.

Two thousand cavalry started from Paducah, Ky., on Saturday, on an expedition to act in conjunction with the forces from Hickman in pursuit of the rebel cavalry, who have been overrunning Western Kentucky and Tennessee recently.

A Mobile dispatch, 8th, states that the advance of Commodore Porter's fleet, consisting of seven vessels, were off Fort Morgan. Ten more were off Horn Island, moving eastward. They were firing occasionally, feeling for masked batteries.

Memphis papers state that Mayor Monroe and all the Aldermen of New Orleans have been arrested on refusing to take the oath, and imprisoned. Gen. Butler has taken the St. Charles Hotel for his headquarters, and had issued a proclamation to the people. Seven Federal regiments had been landed, and there were others to follow; the river was full of Federal gunboats, mortars and transports. The Jackson Railroad Depot was taken possession of Saturday morning. The Federal pickets had been extended as far as the Jefferson and Jackson Railroad.

Gen. McClellan reports that Com. Rogers found two batteries of 10 or 12 guns on the south side of James river, one opposite the mouth of the Warwick, and the other southwest from Mulberry Point. Between the batteries lay the Jamestown and Yorktown, to which he offered battle, but they moved off. He silenced one battery and ran past the other.

A steamer from the Rappahannock reports 500 rebel deserters from the Gloucester Point batteries, belonging to a Virginia regiment, offered to lay down their arms, and take the oath, which Capt. Harris, of the steamer Island Belle administered to them all.

☞ The New York Tribune says, "rail way stockholders may as well be apprised that there is a measure now before the Canada Legislature ostensibly providing for the amalgamation of the Grand Trunk, Great Western and Buffalo and Lake Huron Companies, but which really cancels the debts of these separat. Companies contracted prior to their amalgamation. The bill as it stands provides that 'the property and assets of the united Company shall not be in any manner liable for the debts and liabilities of any or either of the united Companies;' and that the property of the separate Companies shall belong to the united Company, and shall not be liable to seizure for any debt contracted before the union.

☞ The President has issued a proclamation declaring that the blockade of New Orleans, Port Royal and Beaufort shall cease on the 1st of June, except so far as relates to persons, things and information contraband of war.

☞ Major Scott, of the Post Office Department, takes to New Orleans 16,000 foreign letters, which have accumulated within the last two or three months.

THE N.H. SECOND.—This regiment having been recruited largely from this vicinity and having been encamped here previous to its departure for the seat of war, has been, perhaps, more closely watched and more anxiously regarded by our citizens, than any other. Its career thus far has been one of much credit to itself and of great honor to the Granite State, and, under the skillful direction of Col. Marston and Lieut. Col. Fiske, it has gained a proud position, being regarded by many well fitted to judge, as second to none in the Union Army.

At the battle at Williamsburg, on Monday, the 5th, it was in the thickest of the fight, manifested the most determined bravery and suffered severely. We have, however, seen no public acknowledgement of the fact in the reports of the "special correspondents" of the New York or Boston papers, which perhaps is not greatly to be wondered at.

The Manchester American publishes a letter from Mr. Sanger, of Concord, who participated in the fight, to his father, and from it we make the following extract:—

It has been a terrible fight, and many of our friends lie dead on the battle field.—The 2nd N. H. regiment took a prominent part in the fight, making the attack, and company B. was the first to drive them from their right position, and kept them at bay for two and a half long hours, waiting for reinforcements—all our ammunition gone excepting two or three cartridges, which we kept for any emergency, not wishing to fire unless we were sure of our man.

The Mass. 1st came nobly up to our aid, and stood their ground manfully, meeting with a good deal of loss in both killed and wounded. In fact, all of our boys fought well, and bravely, but in the afternoon, we were whipped twice and driven back to the ground where we first attacked them.

Capt. Drown, of Fisherville, whose company was with us in the attack, was killed, and his company has suffered badly. We do not know what our loss is at this time, but it is heavy, for the rebels had a large force and fought desperately. In driving them back several times, our company and regiment went on to the field three times without any ammunition, just to cheer our folks on. We commenced cheering, and the Band behind played Yankee Doodle, and then we made a grand rush. The rebels, thinking we were fresh troops, gave way.

The American says letters have been received in Manchester, from members of Co. I, Capt. Bailey, which state that this Co. was engaged in this battle five hours; three of the company were wounded, and Capt. Bailey was hit three times. Edwin Plummer, of Capt. Carr's company, had a finger shot off. Lieut. Burnham was badly wounded in the leg, and it is thought it would be necessary to amputate the limb. Capt. Farr, of Co. G, had his arm amputated.

THE CAPTURE OF NORFOLK.—Gen. Wool's official report of the capture of Norfolk has been received at the War Department. The following comprises the material portions of it:—

FORTRESS MONROE, May 12.

To Hon. E. M. Stanton, Sec. of War:—

On the 9th of May (Friday afternoon), I organized a force to march against Norfolk. On Saturday morning, the 10th of May, the troops were landed. I entered the entrenchments in front of the city at 20 minutes before 5 P.M., and immediately proceeded towards Norfolk, accompanied by the Hon. Sec. Chase, and met a select committee of the Common Council of Norfolk at the limits of the city, when they surrendered the city agreeably to the terms set forth in the resolutions of the Common Council, presented by the Mayor W. W. Lamb, which were accepted by me so far as related to the civil rights of the citizens.

I immediately took possession of the city and appointed Brig. Gen. Egbert L. Viele, Military Governor of Norfolk, with direction to see that the citizens were protected in all their civil rights. Soon after I took possession of Gosport and Portsmouth.

The taking of Norfolk caused the destruction of the iron-clad steamer Merrimac, which was blown up by the rebels about 5 o'clock on the morning of the 11th of May.

On the 11th I visited the Navy Yard and found all the workshops, storehouses and other buildings in ruins, having been set on fire by the rebels, who at the same time partially blew up the dry dock. I also visited Craney Island, where I found 39 guns of large calibre, most of which were spiked. Also a large number of shot and shells, with about 5,000 pounds of powder; all of which, with the buildings, were in good order.

As far as I have been able to ascertain, we have taken about 200 cannon, including those at Sewall's Point batteries, with a large number of shot and shells, as well as many other articles of value stationed at the Navy Yard, Craney Island, Sewall's Point and other places.

CONGRESS, Monday.—The proceedings of the Senate were not of general interest. The House passed, by a vote of 85 against 50, the bill to prohibit slavery henceforth and forever in all Territories of the United States now existing or hereafter to be formed or acquired in any way. The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the bill giving bounty to the soldiers of the present war. The bill was amended and passed. It appropriates six millions. Adjourned.

☞ A newspaper writer says, last Fall, but a short time before he resigned the Generalship in-Chief, Gen. Scott told a member of Congress from the West that the backbone of the rebellion would be broken this May. "Can't it be done before, General?" "No, Sir; no, Sir; backbone of the rebellion broken in May, Sir; broken in May, Sir. Can't be done before, Sir."

IMMORTELLES.

THE FATHERLAND.

Where'er a human heart doth wear
Joy's myrtle-wreath or sorrow's cyrce,
Where'er a human spirit strives
After a life more true and fair,
There is the true man's birth place grand,
His is a world-wide fatherland!

Where'er a single slave doth pine,
Where'er one man may help another,—
Thank God for such a birthright, brother,—
That spot of earth is thine and mine!
There is the true man's birth-place grand,
His is a world-wide fatherland!

SILENCE.

O, sweet Silence! they belied thee,
Who have called thee vain and weak;
Speech is emptiness beside thee,
Joy and woe have glorified thee,
Love and longing never seek
Aby better way to speak.

SORROW.

Sorrow, there seemeth more of thee in life
Than we can bear and live, and yet we bear;
And thy endurance is the desperate knife
Wherewith the cable of our dreams we share,
To steer out boldly through the monstrous strife
Of surging action, and learn how to dare,
And drive right onward through the grasping seas
To Will and Power, which give the soul true ease —Lowell.

☞ A great fire took place in Boston, on Monday night, breaking out at 11 o'clock from the cellar of the paper and twine warehouse of Webster & Co., 68 Broad street, six stories high; and running thro' the combustible stock, to the roof, in a very short time. Thence, it quickly fired the large crockery store of French, Wells & Co., seven stories high, well stocked with straw, which made a brilliant flame, and at five minutes past 12, the wall, from the third story upward, fell in a mass, and with a tremendous crash, upon the three-story brick building on the corner of Milk and Broad streets, owned and occupied by Samuel W. Waldron, crockery ware dealer.—This building, although one of the strongest and best constructed in the vicinity, was in a twinkling crushed to the ground, not even a portion of the walls being left standing. Never was destruction more complete and instantaneous than in the demolition of this building. Had it been blown up by powder it could not have been surer.

A GOOD DOG STORY.—A Chicago correspondent of the Transcript relates the following:—

A remarkable incident is related of the manner in which Mrs. Pfeiff, the wife of Lt. Louis Pfeiff of Chicago, who was killed at Shiloh, was enabled to find her husband's body. No person, when she arrived on the field, could inform her where her husband's body was buried; and after searching among the thousands of graves for half a day, she was about to abandon the pursuit in despair. Suddenly she saw a large dog coming toward her, which she recognized as one which had left Chicago with her husband. The dog seemed delighted to find her, and led her to a distant part of the field, where he stopped before a single grave. She caused it to be opened and found the body of her husband. It appears by the statements of the soldiers, that the dog was by the side of the lieutenant when he fell, and remained with him till he was buried. He then took his station by the grave, and there he had remained for 12 days, until relieved by the arrival of his mistress, only leaving his post long enough each day to procure food. A beautiful poem of Sir Walter Scott describes a similar instance of canine fidelity, in which case the dog watched the remains of his master three months.

THE VANDERBILT VS. THE MERRIMAC. It was designed that the steamer Vanderbilt should run down the Merrimac, in case the latter could be disposed of in no other way. The following calculation will show with what force the former would strike the Merrimac, if moving at her average speed: The dead weight of the Vanderbilt is, in round numbers, 4000 tons, and her average speed is at least fifteen miles an hour. That is equal to 60,000 tons moving at the rate of one mile an hour,—which, in turn, is equivalent to 300 tons moving at the rate of 200 miles an hour. The Armstrong gun, one of the heaviest in use, carries a 100-pound ball. Three hundred tons is equal to 600,000 pounds. In other words, the Vanderbilt would strike a vessel like the Merrimac with a force of six thousand 100-pound balls from an Armstrong gun, at the same instant and in the same spot. A further calculation shows that the momentum of the Vanderbilt would be equal to 1200 balls from the Union gun on the Rip Raps, each of which weighs about 500 pounds.—Boston Courier.

☞ Queen Victoria is sometimes short of cash, just like other ladies. For instance, she and her daughter, the Princess Alice, were out riding a short time since, when their attention was attracted by the stock of an Italian image vender. Her majesty ordered the carriage to be stopped, and, with characteristic kindness, purchased several of the images. But when she was about to pay for them she found that neither she nor the princess had enough money. However it was soon procured, and the Italian went on his way rejoicing.

☞ A letter from Palestine states that while the Prince of Wales was at Hebron (April 7th) he and his suite obtained permission to visit the cave of Macpelah, Abraham's burial place. They are the first Christians who have been allowed to enter it since the Crusades, nearly 700 years ago. They report that everything is kept in the most beautiful order, and nothing could be more satisfactory than the state in which the tombs are preserved. Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Joseph, Sarah, Rebecca and Leah are buried there.

☞ The Senate has confirmed the nomination of Daniel E. Sickles as Brigadier General, to date from his original appointment.

☞ The distress in Belgium, owing to the failure of the cotton supply, is stated to be terrible. The city of Ghent is the chief victim. More than 6000 workmen are literally on the street, without resources, and about 4000 more can just drag along their existence by working three days in the week. The students of the University have given concerts and started collections to aid them. Other cities are in nearly equal distress, and the government is seriously embarrassed at the wide spread misery that has overtaken this flourishing kingdom.

☞ Two sail boats containing seven men—three in one and four in the other—were upset in a squall off Garnet Light, below Plymouth, on Tuesday, and all were drowned.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried meal. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

U. S. COURT.—A term of the Circuit Court is now in session in the U. S. Court Room in this city, Judge Clifford presiding. The list of Jurymen now serving is as follows:—

James Boyd, Antrim;
Phinehas B. Beede, Fremont;
Samuel B. Hodge, Francestown;
Tristram Little, Hampstead;
Marcus A. Anthony, Hancock,
George W. Came, Milford;
Levi Jones, Marlboro';
Thomas Hoyt, Manchester;
Alfred T. Joy, Portsmouth;
William Fellows, Sandown;
Charles P. Locke, Sullivan.

Howe v. Danforth is now on trial. The evidence having been put in on Monday and Tuesday, the case will be argued to the Jury to-day. The Plffs. live in New York, and contracted with parties in Nashua for a lot of sewing machines, part of which were delivered in New York, and the remained stored in Nashua. They were attached in the latter place as property of the manufacturers, and action of trespass is brought against the sheriff. C. R. Morrison, of Nashua, for deffs.; Christie and Collins for plffs.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.—A session of the District Court was held on Friday last, Judge Harvey presiding. Argument before the court was made in the action of the owners of schr. Pennsylvania v. owners of schr. Gertrude Horton. This was an action for damages by collision in Long Island Sound in the month of July, 1861. The Pennsylvania was bound into New York, and the Gertrude Horton from New York to Portsmouth, heavily laden with corn and flour. Defence claimed that the night was dark, pflff's vessel showed no light and the collision was the result of pflff.'s carelessness. Argued by Hoyt for deffs.: Hackett for pflffs.

OUR OWN SONS.—A letter from Mr. Nelson Goodrich of this place, on board U. S. ship Pensacola, off New Orleans April 28, mentions that in the engagement with the forts, he was wounded in the right arm by a piece of shell. Also that Nelson Downing, of this city, had an arm and leg shot off, and died in about two hours, charging the writer to tell his father and mother that he died fighting for a good cause. John Jenkins is slightly wounded; Gustavus Mason has a flesh wound; Mr. Cox has a wound on the arm.

BRIG. GEN. FITZ JOHN PORTER, to whom was entrusted by Gen. McClellan the construction of the siege works before Yorktown, was not, as was stated in our issue of Monday morning, born in 1812, but some ten years later, and consequently is now only about thirty-nine years of age. For some time previous to entering West Point, he was at Phillips Exeter Academy, where he developed great mathematical talent.—After graduating with some of the highest honors of his class at West Point, he was for some years continued there as Professor of Artillery—or, until the war with Mexico, in which he was distinguished among others as a brave and efficient officer. At the time of the breaking out of the Rebellion, he was with our army in Texas, and in the summer of last year brought home the remnant of United States troops that had been betrayed by the scoundrel General Twiggs.

The father of Gen. Porter died at Charlestown, Mass., in 1829, but his mother is now a resident of Hagarstown, Md., and even at the age of 72 is distinguished for that high intellectual cultivation, personal beauty, and elegance of manners that characterized her in Portsmouth.

☞ The entertainment given last night at the Temple by Frank Rivers' Troupe, was funny enough to please the most ardent admirer of negro delineation and drollery. The singing and dancing often won the applause of the audience. Pell and Campbell might almost make a rebel smile even in such times as these. They give one more concert in this city this evening. *

☞ Capt. George W. Putnam, late in command of the packet ship Daniel Webster, died at York, Me., on Saturday last, after a lingering illness.

☞ The Maine Conference of the M. E. Church, which closed its session at Portland last week, made the following appointments for towns in this vicinity:

York, Nathan D. Center;
Scotland, George W. Barber;
Kittery, Henry H. Martin;
South Eliot, Swanton Ranks;
Eliot, Alpheus B. Lovewell;
South Berwick, Ezekiel Martin;
Berwick, Wellen N. Richardson.

☞ A "diamond cut diamond" story is told of the Winstead Bank robbers. They left the gold they obtained from the bank, in charge of a New York accomplice, who stole the money and went to Europe.—Green and his companion followed, found him, and demanded the money. The sharper refused to disgorge, threatening to expose the bank robbery, and they were compelled to come home without it.

☞ A deserter at Yorktown says that the Irishmen in the enemy's ranks are regarded with well grounded suspicion, and show but a faint disposition to fight us.

Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

Farmers! Farmers!

Your attention is requested to the following UNSOLICITED recommendation of the
LODI MANUFACTURING CO'S
POUDRETTE.

DUNBARTON, N. H., May 1, 1862.
MR. SHORES,—Dear Sir:—
Last year I sent to you for three barrels of Poudrette.
Upon two acres of land I spread about twenty loads of barn manure to the acre. Upon ten rows of corn I put hog manure, a shovel in a hill. Upon the next ten POUDRETTE, and then phosphate of lime upon ten—and thus through the field.
One load of hog manure went five rows of seventy hills;
A bar of Poudrette eighteen rows;
A bag of Phosphate of Lime sixteen rows, all of the same length.
The Corn upon which the Poudrette was spread was more in quantity and superior in quality to the other, and this proved it to be the cheapest.
I want six barrels for this year, and my neighbors want ten or fifteen barrels more.
Please write upon what terms you will furnish it. Yours,
CHARLES HOLMES.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:

NEW YORK May 1, 1861.
MR. WM. T. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky.:
Dear Sir—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.
Presuming that your residence is the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.
We are, very respectfully, sir, your obt. servts.

DR. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others
Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received, and in answer to your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I think will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,
I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. T. CUTTER, Jr.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and Wm. T. HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S
Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

THE SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without injuring, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a heavy blanket or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

THE YEARS.—They do not go from us, but we go from them, stepping from the old into the new, and always leaving behind us some baggage, no longer serviceable on the march. Some keep our childhood, some our youth, and all have something of ours which they will give up for neither bribe nor prayer—the opinions cast away, the hopes that went with us no further, the cares that have had successors, and the follies outgrown to be reviewed by memory, and called up for evidence some day.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE

PURE AND FOUR YEARS OLD,

OF CHOICE OPORTO FRUIT,

For Physicians' Use,

FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS.

SAMBUCUS FREE, OF PORTUGAL,

The Great Remedy for Kidney Affections, Rheumatism, Chronic Complaints

Excellent Wine for Females.

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE, celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent substitute for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefiting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no admixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

WE REFER TO

LIME! LIME!!

200 CASKS of best quality Rockland Lime for sale for cash, by S. L. RUSSELL, feb25 36 WATER ST.

ADVERTISE!

Advertise!

IT IS THE

LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all classes of persons, by all manners by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, at the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, instantly established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be an article of general consumption, or the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy to place business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to crowd in, and we have tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it—and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in ludicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him fear-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand told. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody reads is information to every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is so constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, No 7 and 9 BENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the mind and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dimness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c, are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, can be accommodated with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate. apr7—1y3taw

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 Bendicott Street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention for the office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain one dollar, or they will not be answered.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Bendicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

Advertising.
For a Square (14 inches) or less, one insertion 50 cents, three insertions $1, one week $1.50, one month $3, three months $8, six months $8, one year $15. These are Daily rates—and no advertisements receive more than one insertion in the Weekly (Gazette) without special order and charge.
Funeral Notices, and Advertisements of articles Lost and Found, &c., 50 cents.
Advertisements may appear both in the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, if ordered; and will thus receive the most thorough circulation both in this city and vicinity, and throughout the State. ☞ Liberal terms for yearly advertising.

The Chronicle.

☞ Examiner Cones of the Patent Office, whose specialty for some months has been examining and reporting upon plans for iron cladding vessels, is preparing a paper with relation to the history of this movement, which will set forth what has already been patented, and what it is desirable to achieve. It will be appended to a forthcoming report.

It is a curious circumstance that a man, who was some years ago President of the American Peace Society, is now engaged in deciding on the relative merits of armor for iron-clad ships of war.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Perhaps as sad and peculiar a case of sudden death occurred in this village on Tuesday last, as is usually recorded. Mrs. Esther Stearns was attending the funeral of her daughter, who had died at Milford, and whose remains were brought to this place for burial. The mother, who had been in poor health for some time, and who had not seen the corpse of her daughter, requested at the grave that the coffin might be opened, and the "last look" of maternal affection gratified. No sooner were the pallid features of the corpse seen than the mother swooned, fell and expired immediately.—Woonsocket Patriot.

☞ Among some paintings lately sold in New York, was an original portrait of Aaron Burr, by the celebrated master, Vanderlyn, which sold for the handsome sum of $210. It is the only original portrait of Burr extant, and was painted previous to his visit to France, about 25 years ago.

☞ A dispatch from Troy, N. Y., says the number of buildings destroyed by the recent fire reaches fully 800. The Common Council have appropriated $5000 for the relief of the sufferers. The sum of $3200 has been received from New York. No more bodies have been found.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the act of 1837,)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.
The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.
These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very moderate charges." JOHN TAGGART.
During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twelve rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

Dr. S. Swett's Vegetable Medicines.
The saving efficacy of these truly valuable medicines is daily witnessed by thousands of the first classes of society, many of whom are physicians of success. The following are among his most popular preparations, viz.:
His PANACEA is unrivalled for the cure of Cancers, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Canker in the mouth or throat, Sore or inflamed eyes, and all impurities of the blood. Price $1.00.
CORDIAL of Dandelion, Spikenard and Boneset, is rendered unsurpassed for the liver and bowel complaint, costiveness, dizziness and pain in the head, stomach and side, and the whole family of consumptive complaints. Price 75 cents.
RHEUMATIC COMPOUND, for the cure of Rheumatism in all its stages, phases and names of acute and chronic gout, neuralgia, lumbago, &c. This compound he has proved to be the surest remedy for these complaints that he has tried or known during the whole 40 years of his study and practice of medicine. Price $1.00.
His FAMILY PILLS are warranted paramount to any in the market, as a safe, easy and effectual physic. Price 25 cents.
His CONSERVE cures the piles, headache and costiveness, and is the surest remedy for worms in young or old. Price 25 cents.
COUGH DROPS for phthisic, colds, asthma, croup, whooping, and hoarse coughs, and all diseases of the lungs. Price of small bottles, 33 cts.; large, 50 cents.
EXETER, March 3, 1861. "Many of my brethren in the ministry frequently complain of oppressed lungs and hoarseness of voice after frequent labors. I wish by this card to say to them and all others affected that the Cough Drops prepared by Dr. Swett of Portsmouth, is a valuable remedy. I have found nothing that gives relief so quick. I let every suffering preacher take a phial and try it."
Eld. EDWIN BURNHAM."
☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of these medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. 1y5o

Recollections of Old Acquaintance.

BY UNCLE TOBY.

JOHN HENRY, an Englishman, who flourished in this country about fifty years ago, was "one grand humbug," whose name made a great noise in the newspapers, and in the bar-rooms and shops where pot valiant patriots did most congregate. He and his successor in notoriety, the Hartford Convention, were the themes of many a diatribe in the republican papers of that day,—and even in the present time, they are brought up again to recollections, in a "History of Former Conspiracies against the United States Government," portions of of which are published in the Chronicle and Gazette.

The writer of this History seems not to have known John Henry's whole history inasmuch as he gives only the following account of him, in connection with the Embargo of 1804, and the opposition to it in New England.

"To aggravate the evil feeling, there appeared, in the New England States, one John Henry, whose mission, it eventually became apparent, was to foment the excitement into open rupture against the Federal Government. Madison, in his special message to Congress, said of him:—"He has been employed as a secret agent of the British Government in the New England States in intrigues with the disaffected, for the purpose of bringing about resistance to the laws, and eventually, in concert with a British force, of destroying the Union and forming the eastern part thereof into a political connection with Great Britain."—He was in correspondence with parties in Canada, and was known to maintain intimate relations with some of the leading malcontents in Boston and other New England cities. He intrigued and plotted beyond the power of Government to arrest a "subject of the British crown."

President Madison, in his special message about John Henry, reminds us how dreadfully the President was sold by this same John Henry, to whom he caused to be paid large sums of money for his pretended disclosure of a plot. Not the least evidence ever came to light that he was the agent of the British Government, except his own statements to that effect, and his "correspondence with parties in Canada," which was probably devised and carried on, to help him cheat and swindle our treasury, through Mr. Madison, who, doubtless, believed his tales, and those of the republican papers and politicians about him.

We remember very well a talk in Republican circles, intimating that Gov. Smith of this State was connected with Henry, and privy to his designs,—but it did not get into the papers, as the Governor, being a good lawyer, might have been troublesome in a libel suit.

Henry's intrigues and plots were only designs to fill his own pockets, and in this he had some success. He visited some federalists in Massachusetts, so secretly that everybody knew it,—and when the matter made a dispute between the republican and federal papers, the administration was alarmed, and as we think very honestly believed that Henry was what he professed to be, and that the leading federalists in New England were in league with him.

"The State department had a correspondent who pretended to be in the confidence of the late British consul at Boston, and to have learned from him or from his papers the existence of a committee of New England royalists, who intended to establish the kingdom of New England with the duke of Kent as its sovereign. The chief clerk of the state department was sent to Boston to investigate this matter, but could discover no trace of the pretended committee."

Mr. John Henry, having secured his reward, took himself off, and was soon generally forgotten.

The Hartford Convention had rather more substance in it than there was in John Henry,—but it was not very popular in New Hampshire, even among federalists,—and only two delegates went from New Hampshire,—both from the Western part.

The holding of the Convention, however, and its supposed treasonable designs, caused a great excitement of the republican party and excited much alarm and apprehension at Washington. The government stationed Major Jessup, a Kentucky officer of distinction, at Hartford with a regiment of troops to repress any sudden outbreak; but after the most careful investigation, this officer reported to his superiors at Washington that the convention would confine itself to complaints, remonstrances, and an address to the people, and that there was no reason to apprehend any treasonable action.

The author of the history is quite correct in his statement that New England was much opposed to that war. Not only was this true of Massachusetts and Connecticut, but of New Hampshire. Portsmouth, largely engaged in privateering and in building a 74-gun ship, went for the war by giving large majorities for the Republican ticket,—but in the country it was otherwise. The State had had republican governors (except one year,) from 1805 to 1812 inclusive,—but in March, 1813, she elected John Taylor Gilman, a well-known federalist, and kept him in till the war was ended.

More than this:—the Legislature, in 1814, elected to the U. S. Senate, Hon. John Goddard of Portsmouth, who had been a leading Republican here, but who, with the late John McClintock, opposed the war, and incurred the lasting displeasure of the war party here.

Mr. Goddard declined the office,—and the legislature then chose Hon. Jeremiah Mason, a federalist, giving him a unanimous vote in the Senate, and a very large majority in the House, much larger than the mere party vote.

☞ A correspondent of the New York Times, writing from Norfolk, says "the rebels succeeded in almost completely destroying the Navy Yard on Saturday night.—Hundreds of them were busy in setting fire to all the buildings and all the vessels, and little remains but smoking ruins and a dismal desolation. The great eastern and western ship houses, the marine barracks, officers' quarters, smiths' shops, engine houses, &c., were all consumed. The rebels had built and launched two iron vessels, mounting four guns each, and built in water-tight compartments, so as to be raised or sunk at pleasure. These were not intended to be propelled, but to be used as stationary batteries for harbor defence, or else to be towed out to operate against our wooden vessels. They were burned, but not so seriously injured as to be entirely useless. A number of small vessels and schooners were also burned. Great efforts were made to destroy the dry dock, but they were unsuccessful. The magnificent Naval Hospital remains untouched. Even the vandalism which has marked so many of the acts of the rebels during this war, shrank from the sacrilege of firing this splendid structure.

☞ Members of the Military Committee of the Senate have returned from Yorktown fall of wrath against the rebels, whose Satanic torpedoes they found at all points; but they found, also, the rebel officers who had been taken prisoners, at work under guard digging them out. The officer in charge replied to these rebels' complaints that it was not in accordance with the usages of war to put them to this service, that the planting of torpedoes was not a case laid down in the books of civilized warfare. New cases required new rules.—The magazines in the rebel works have not yet been touched. The rebel officers will have the first experience of them also.

☞ The annual meeting of the shareholders in the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth Railroad, takes place this year at Armory Hall, on Kittery Foreside, on the 2d of June, instead of North Berwick, the usual place of assembling. The annual feed on sponge cake will be missed by a large number of Massachusetts visitors, who, we are told, used keep to fast several days before the meeting, in order to do justice to the good things spread out for the benefit of the stockholders, in the North Berwick Refreshment Room once a year.

CONGRESS, Tuesday.—In the Senate the bill to protect the Indians who adopted civilized habits, was passed. The joint resolution to provide presentation medals of honor to enlisted men and volunteers, was passed. The Indian appropriation bill was passed. An amendment was adopted, making one Indian reservation of California, instead of two, and otherwise reducing expenses.

The House concurred in the Senate amendments of the bill creating a Department of Agriculture, which has now finally passed. The House resumed the consideration of the Pension bill. The amendment authorizing the appointment of a special agent whose business will be to detect and punish frauds, was adopted, and the bill was passed.

Commander Charles S. Boggs, of the United States gunboat Verona, which was sunk in the recent engagement with the enemy at New Orleans, (where she attacked thirteen gunboats of the rebels, and sunk six of them, and his last shot, fired when his deck was under water, sunk an iron ram of the rebels,) is a native of New Brunswick, N. J. When a lad he told his father he wished to go into the Navy. His father said to him: "You are too clumsey. You would fall into the water from the deck." The next morning his father saw him on the roof of the house; he had climbed the lightning rod, going up hand over hand. His mother was a sister of the gallant Lawrence, of the Chesapeake.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—May Term.—John M. Wood v. Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire. This was a suit to recover a debt against the Great Falls & S. B. Branch Railroad from the defts. as stockholders. The defendants demurred to the plaintiff's writ. Judge Clifford delivered the opinion of the Courtou Wednesday. The judgment was that the demurrer was sustained, and the declaration adjudged insufficient. Wilcox for plff; Hackett for defts.

☞ Our citizens are to be richly entertained on Tuesday evening of next week, by a lecture from John B. Gough. Mr. Gough will be sure to draw a crowd, for he is a man of unsurpassed eloquence, having no equal in America, if in the world. *

THE REBELLION.

An official dispatch states that the gunboat Mound City, in the recent engagement at Fort Wright, was injured in the starboard bow by a ram, and the Cincinnati was sunk in twelve feet of water. The latter will be raised and repaired with all possible dispatch. Commander Stemble is at Cairo, at the Naval depot, doing well.—Fourth Master Reynolds, of the Cincinnati, was mortally wounded. Two of the Cincinnati's crew were slightly wounded.—There were no other casualities.

The rebels are placing obstruction in the James river, twelve miles below Richmond.

It is rumored that Ashby has been captured by Gen. Hatch, of the cavalry, but it is not credited at headquarters.

Eight hundred and eighty-five prisoners have returned from Richmond on parole. A large number of them were taken at Williamsburg. Three hundred and five rebel prisoners were to be returned by a flag of truce, but eighty-five of them refused to give their parole and will be sent to Washington. It is said they wish to take the oath of allegiance to the United States.

The Richmond papers state that the rebel General Early was mortally wounded at Williamsburg, Gen. Anderson and Col. Mott, were killed, Gen. Paine slightly wounded, Col. Ward of Florida, killed, Maj. Palmer of Virginia wounded. Various other names of minor officers being wounded are given. The first Virginia regiment, 200 strong, lost 80 or 90 killed and wounded. The rebel loss is over 1000.

The Atlanta (Ga.) Confederacy of the 4th inst. admits that Beauregard is well nigh flanked on both sides, and says it is idle to conceal that it has fears for the result.

Gen. Wool reports that Suffolk, Va., 16 miles from Norfolk, was taken by our forces on Monday evening. Gen. McClellan's troops were at Cumberland.

Gen Halleck's forces, at the last accounts, had taken possession of an evacuated rebel camp only three and a half miles from Corinth, and the rebel pickets had been driven in. It is said a German engineer, formerly a resident of New York, has deserted from the rebels at Corinth, and brought to Gen. Halleck a comprehensive plan of the enemy's fortifications, giving the position of every gun.

Gen. Fremont reached Franklin, Va., on Tuesday morning, at the head of his army, having come by forced marches to the relief of Gens. Schenck and Milroy. The enemy decamped the previous night, and are retreating.

☞ The Boston Journal's dispatch states that the opinion is gaining ground in Washington that the prominent foreign powers have agreed upon a plan for interference in our domestic affairs, either jointly or by France taking the active part, with the approbation of other governments. This prompts the desire on the part of the Border State men and their friends for a speedy adjournment of Congress.

☞ See advertisements of auctions in two columns this morning, for a sale to-day of furniture and trees at Mr. Towle's room; also for a sale on Saturday by Mr. Adams, and another by Mr. Wendell on the same day,—all of interest to farmers as well as to our own citizens.

☞ They are about to erect in Montreal, in the Place d'Armes, a statue of Queen Victoria. The last royal statue that stood there, a fine marble effigy of George III., was thrown down by the Americans during their occupation of that city in the Revolutionary War, but the head was subsequently found in a well, and is now preserved in the Library of the Natural History Society

☞ Godey's Lady's Book, for June, contains a fine summer frontispiece, Sitting for a Portrait, gay summer fashions, and pleasant light reading for the same season.

☞ Peterson's Magazine, for June, is embellished with "The Pinch of Snuff," a humorous frontispiece.

☞ Elizabeth River is said to be of a deep coffee color, from the quantitities of tobacco thrown into it by the rebels.

THE WILLIAMSBURG BATTLE.—The following letter was written to friends in this city, by Lieut. John S. Sides of Co. K, 2d N. H. Regiment, and has been furnished us for publication, at our request:—

CAMP NEAR WILLIAMSBURG, Va., May 7th, 1862.

* * * We received news of the evacuation of Yorktown on Sunday morning, and immediately made preparations to follow the rebels. We commenced the march about 1 o'clock, the cavalry starting some time before. We passed through the fortifications at Yorktown and had marched about five miles before we heard anything of the enemy. Here we met some wounded cavalry coming back; they had overtaken the rear guard of the enemy and had had a skirmish. We marched about nine miles, through mud up to our knees, and about ten o'clock encamped for the night.

During the night it commenced to rain, and when we awoke in the morning we were wet through, as we had had nothing but our blankets to cover us. We started again about five o'clock in the morning in a pouring rain, and marched about two miles, when we came to the rebel pickets. Here the battle commenced. Our brigade held their entire force in check for three hours, before our reinforcements came up, and for the first hour we had no artillery. Had not our reinforcements come up just as they did, a great many of us would be prisoners now.

The rebels turned our left flank, and it was here that we lost a great many of our men, as we were lying at the time in a piece of fallen timber. Our reinforcements then coming up, our regiment was deployed as skirmishers. After a sharp engagement we drove them.

The battle was almost entirely an infantry fight, and hand to hand; part of the time we were within twenty-five yards of each other. The battle was closed about 7 o'clock by the total rout of the enemy.

It is impossible to tell our loss yet, but I think it is pretty heavy. The woods are full of dead of both sides, and our troops have been burying them all day.

Our Company has lost two killed—Thomas R. Mace and Charles W. Downs,—and we have three badly wounded,—James Ricker, Horace M. Smith and Charles W. Warren. Ricker will probably lose his leg. We had nine missing this morning, but two of them have since come in.—Yours truly, JOHN S. SIDES.

A letter has been received in this city from Mr. Charles Patch, of the same company, who was employed during the fight in carrying the wounded off the field, which he says was worse than being in the fight.

☞ Gen. Mitchell crossed Willow Creek, in Alabama, with a brigade and two pieces of artillery, by constructing a bridge three hundred feet long, of cotton bales. Two cotton bales were first placed end to end, and then firmly and securely bound together by running rails under the ropes. Two others were bound in the same way and placed ten feet distant in the stream, being bound by ropes to an old bridge and to trees. Boards were then placed from bale to bale. In this manner sixty-six bales were placed, affording a pontoon bridge of strength sufficient to bear any weight likely to be placed upon it.

☞ All the New Orleans papers are still published, though a federal censor is placed over every office, to examine whatever may prove inimical to the federal cause. Gen. Butler's proclamation was handed into all the offices and refused publication. When the guard came to the True Delta office and were refused, they took possession, sent for Northern printers, set it up and worked it off in the edition.

☞ The Newport News states that a Mrs. Wilcox, who resides near Wickford, R. I., gave birth, on Friday, to four bouncing boys. The happy father of these newly arrived youngsters is a private in the Fifth Battalion, R. I. Cavalry. The mother and children are doing well.

☞ FOREIGN.—The Paris correspondent of the Independence Belge asserts that the projected intervention of France and England in America is confirmed in the most absolute manner. The South will be required to guarantee the gradual emancipation of the slaves.

The same authority says that a secret treaty between France and Spain provides for the early abolition of slavery in Cuba.

At a large meeting on the cotton crisis at Ashton, a resolution was carried, after considerable opposition, calling on the Government to recognize the Southern Confederacy.

☞ The Military Committee of the Senate on Tuesday reported the charge of drunkenness against Gen. Smith to be without foundation and unsupported by the slightest evidence; further, that he is one of the first officers of his rank, always ready and able to perform promptly any duty assigned to him.

☞ The building, stock and material of Redio & Allen's tallow manufactory, near Piscataquog, on the outskirts of Manchester, N. H., were burned on Saturday night about 9 o'clock. Seven hogs perished.—The loss of stock will be about $1000, and there was no insurance on the buildings.

☞ A most destructive fire has been raging for the last four days on Long Island. It originated near Stony Brook and burnt to River Head, 60,000 square acres of woodland, and destroyed the principal part of the town of Nookhaven. Loss estimated at from $300,000 to $500,000.

☞ On Sunday night, at Paxton, Mass., Henry Watson was beaten to death with a club, by Jeremiah Doyle. Both parties had been drinking, and having quarrelled, Doyle pursued Watson, with the club, and broke his skull in several places.

☞ To-day is the Confederate Fast Day;—but if they do not break every yoke and let the oppressed go free, it will not amount to much.

A "WORD" FROM THE FAMOUS

"LANE,"

WHOSE BARGAINS IN GOOD, DURABLE, AND FASHIONABLE

READY-MADE CLOTHING

ASTONISH THE WORLD!

Why is it that Lane is so popular?

WHY IS IT THAT THE GREAT MASS OF THE PEOPLE BUY THEIR GOODS AT

"LANE'S?"

These are questions, the answers to which you will do well to remember.

1st. We do a strictly "CASH BUSINESS," buying and selling for "nett cash," thereby saving much from bad debts, and having great advantage in buying goods.

2d. We employ none but first-class artists in the cut and manufacture of our goods, thereby giving to the purchaser an elegant and tasty fit, combined with great durability.

3d. We always keep a very large stock, and you are sure to find garments suited to your taste and pocket.

4th. Our corps of salesmen are all gentlemen, and you have no fear of being abused if you do not purchase; but on the contrary, take great pleasure in showing strangers over our immense establishment.

5th. We invite strangers who are making purchases in the city, to make our store their headquarters, and send any bundle or package there for safe keeping.

Farmers! Farmers!

Your attention is requested to the following UNSOLICITED recommendation of the

LODI MANUFACTURING CO'S

POUDRETTE.

Dunbarton, N. H., May 1, 1862.

Mr. Shores,—Dear Sir:—

Last year I went to you for three barrels of Poudrette.

Upon two acres of land I spread about twenty loads of barn manure to the acre. Upon ten rows of corn I put hog manure, a shovel in a hill. Upon the next ten Poudrette, and then phosphate of lime upon ten—and so through the field.

One load of hog manure went five rows of seventy hills;

A bag of Poudrette eighteen rows;

A bag of Phosphate of Lime sixteen rows, all of the same length.

The barn manure which the Poudrette was spread was more in quantity and superior in quality to the other, and also proves it to be the cheapest.

I went six barrels for this year, and my neighbors want ten or fifteen barrels more.

Please write upon what terms you will furnish it. Yours, CHARLES HOLMES.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and Wm. J. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:

New York May 1, 1861.

Mr. Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:

Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

Louisville, Ky., July 31, 1861.

Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received, and in accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,

I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,

WM. T. CUTTER, Jr.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. L. Jones, would recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer

Simple, Economical, Durable,

AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly wetted, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

SEWING MACHINE.—The importance of the sewing machine to the manufacturing interests of the United States is estimated at $342,000,000 annually. The annual saving by the machine is estimated on men's and boy's clothing, in New York city alone, $7,500,000; hats and caps, $462,000; shirt bosoms, $832,750; Boots and Shoes, in Massachusetts $7,500,000. It has revolutionized thirty-seven distinct departments of manufactures.

Two Irishmen were going to fire off a cannon, "just for fun;" but being of economical mind, they did not wish to lose the ball; so one of them took an iron kettle in his hand to catch it in, and stationing himself in front of the loaded piece he exclaimed to the other who stood behind, holding a lighted torch, "Touch it aisy, Pat."

Some say, says "Perley," that France expects trouble with England and the United States, and wants secesh to-back-her.—Such a rumor might answer at a pinch but will end in smoke.

How often we say of such a man:—He is the scourge of society! How little we think that society is itself the scourge of many a good intention, many a true heart, many an earnest hand.

"Oh, miss," said a love-sick swain, "if I were but you bright star, how brightly I would shine for you." "What a pity," said she, musingly, "that you can't shine here." He went out immediately.

Whatever contempt people may manifest for fashion, all are more or less influenced by it, and as Jennie June says, those who are really the most independent of fashion are the fashionable people.

ADVERTISE!

Advertise!

IT IS THE LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, as a close, active Newspaper. It is used by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when moulte the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy or good business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it says, "Give me the devil when few advertisers occupy the ground, and not when times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in the line have taken their books out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is as constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys; Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, Painful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion to society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating marriage, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Persons who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate. apr7—1y3taw

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or Falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain one dollar, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

In all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

Advertising.
For a Square (14 inches) or less, one insertion 50 cents, three insertions $1, one week $1.50, one month $3, three months $5, six months $8, one year $10. These are Daily rates—and no never (Remonts receive more than one insertion in the Weekly (Gazette) without special order and charge.
Funeral Notices, and Advertisements of articles Lost and Found, &c., 50 cents.
Advertisements may appear both in the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, if ordered; and will thus receive the most thorough circulation both in this city and vicinity, and throughout the State. ☞ Liberal terms for yearly advertising.

The Chronicle.

☞ The French Courts have decided that animal magnetisers, who undertake to cure disease, are swindlers. Each consultation is regarded as a separate offence. A female Somnambulist, for 39 consultations with eleven patients, has been compelled to pay a fine of 572 francs, and go to prison for eight months; and a male Somnambulist, for 26 consultations with seven patients to a fine of 286 francs and imprisonment. The two together also pay 100 francs to the prosecutors, who are doctors, and all the expenses, which will amount to more than 500 francs.

☞ The Springfield (Ohio) News says that Major Ben. Platt Runkle, of the 13th Ohio, reported killed at Shiloh, is alive and getting along well. He was hit seven times, and is minus seven teeth, a portion of his jaw and tongue, his great toe, and a shaving from his heel, has a hole through each cheek and a brush on the shoulder.

JAPAN TOMMY.—A letter from Paris says:—

"I inquired of a very intelligent Japanese after Tommy, who has been reported dead, and it will be gratifying to the many admirers of the tawny youth to know that he was alive and well when the embassy took its departure, but he says he left his heart in America."

☞ The owners of fishing vessels find much difficulty in obtaining men for their crews. The army has taken some fishermen, the navy more, and shoe making offers the remainder inducements to stay at home. This creates a demand for "green hands."

☞ The Memphis Argus says the Confederate loss at Shiloh was 7000 killed and wounded. It confesses the rebel attempts with gunboats on the river a disgusting fizzle.

☞ The Memphis Avalanche of the 6th, says the telegraph news from Richmond is painfully significant. Gen. McClellan seems to have been preparing the same fate for Richmond that Butler and Porter got up for New Orleans.

☞ It is satisfactory to know that the prospect of good crops in the North and West is brightening every day. The prospect is especially good in the States of Michigan, Iowa, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Ohio.

FLAX CULTURE.—Owing to the American war, preparations have already been made in England and Scotland to sow ten times the breadth of flax that ever was sown before, and it is said that Ireland will have a fourth of its surface covered with flax this year.

☞ Chancellor Vankoughnet has signalized his accession to the Chancery Bench of Canada, by issuing an edict requiring barristers practising in his court to appear with shaved faces.

Dr. S. Swett's Vegetable Medicines.
The saving efficacy of these truly valuable medicines is daily witnessed by thousands of the first classes of society, many of whom are physicians of success. The following are among his most popular preparations, viz.:
His PANACEA is unrivalled for the cure of Cancers, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Canker in the mouth or throat, Sore or inflamed eyes, and all impurities of the blood. Price $1.00.
CORDIAL of Dandelion, Spikenard and Boneset—a remedy unsurpassed for the liver and heart complaint, costiveness, dizziness and pain in the head, stomach and side, and the whole family of consumptive complaints. Price 75 cents.
RHEUMATIC COMPOUND, for the cure of Rheumatism in all its stages, phases and names of acute and chronic gout, neuralgia, lumbago, &c. This compound he has proved to be the surest remedy for these complaints that he has tried or known during the whole 40 years of his study and practice of medicine. Price $1.00.
His FAMILY PILLS are warranted paramount to any in the market, as a safe, easy and effectual physic. Price 25 cents.
His CONSERVE cures the piles, headache and costiveness, and is the surest remedy for worms in young or old. Price 25 cents.
COUGH DROPS for phthisic, colds, asthma, croup, whooping and chin coughs, and all diseases of the lungs. Price of small bottle, 38 cts.; large, 50 cents.
EXETER, March 3, 1841. "Many of my brethren in the ministry frequently complain of oppressed lungs and hoarseness of voice after frequent labors. I wish by this card to say to them and all others affected that the Cough Drops prepared by Dr. Swett of Portsmouth, is a valuable remedy. I have found nothing that gives relief so quick. Let every suffering preacher take a phial and try it. Ed. EDWIN BURNHAM."
☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of these medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. 1206

RICHARDS' NEW BOOT BLACKING.
This splendid compound is truly unrivaled in this or any other country for its shining quality and nutritious elements for leather, giving the boot an elegant yet black polish, quick and clean: an oil compound, rendering the leather soft and easy to the foot; strictly a leather preservative; will not dry in the box. Try it, Gentlemen, and you will be pleased with it.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, MAY 16, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

Advices from Nassau state that the Nashville had succeeded in getting into Charleston. The steamer Kate had brought 300 bales of cotton from Charleston.

Gen. Curtis's division of the Federal army has commenced to march upon Little Rock, the Capital of Arkansas, and Gen. Steele is marching to the same point from Pocahontas.

Grand Junction is being fortified by Beauregard, with the evident intention of falling back there if beaten at Corinth.—Gen. Mitchell's division has formed a junction with Gen. Pope and now forms the extreme left of our line. On Thursday Gen. Pope moved forward his columns to retake the position lost in the skirmish of Friday last.

Deserters say Richmond is being rapidly evacuated, and the government archives and stores removed south.

Gen. Sigel and staff, with transports and troops, have passed up the Tennessee river, en route for Pittsburg Landing.

A dispatch to the Chicago Times says two rebel regiments at Corinth, from Kentucky and Tennessee, attempted to desert and come over in a body to our army, but the enemy held them in check and a mutiny ensued. A strong force from our advance, sent over to interfere, brought back 60 prisoners, mostly from the deserting regiment.

For the Chronicle.

☞ The recent successes of our arms, at various points, go to show the great strength, hitherto unknown, of the northern heart, and also to show the Union feeling, also hitherto unknown, between our freemen of Yankee and Hoosier, and of Dutch, Irish, and other foreign birth, as well as to increase this feeling, and make us more a nation than ever before.

They show besides, in their effect on the rebels, as we gather from their words and deeds, that we must "occupy" their States, garrison their forts, keep city governments in order by military rule, and do other things as new to us as they are unpleasant.

Our war expenses, now very great, cannot be very small for some time to come; and our national credit, now good, must be sustained by taxes of some kind. The question comes up, shall the loyal men of the land, and especially in the Free States, pay all the taxes? or shall the rebels and the rebel States be made to pay at least a part of it, by a taxation of their lands, to be set off and sold if not paid?

Shall a confiscation bill pass, the best that can be agreed upon?—or how can we best get at the pockets of the rebels, that have made it necessary to incur all this expense?

Looking abroad, at the mutterings of hireling prints in England and France about intervention,—let these successes say to them,—"let us alone" if you please, till we settle this matter in our own way,—but if you please to make war upon us in the shape of intervention, or any other shape,—look out for such a cloud of privateers and gunboats as never darkened the seas before. We have just got our hands in, to make these things and let them fly;—and if you say so, we'll make a good many.

The same successes, in the revelation they make of the bad state of feeling at the South, in hatred of our government and rage at their own defeats, point toward the inevitable reconstruction of society there: something like democracy and liberty must be planted there, and protected till it can take root and grow.

Their aristocracy, which made the war, proud as it has been, and bitter against us as it is now, must be reduced, by taking away its power, before any thing like permanent peace can be had:—and they seem to be so specially bitter now, that our officers may be compelled to beat down their power by emancipation and other decisive measures, just as fast as our armies make progress through the land.

☞ Perley writes to the Boston Journal that Senator Hale, accompanied by Mrs. Hale, started from Washington for Dover, N. H., Tuesday morning. The Senator has recently received from Com. Foote two of the weapons used by the Western Secessionists, a musket and shot gun.

☞ The N. Y. Post says advices per steamer Cahawba, from Port Royal, state that Gen. Hunter had issued a proclamation freeing the slaves in his department; and that he was organizing a Negro Brigade, and had detailed some officers to train the contrabands to the use of arms.

☞ The Tribune's dispatch says the French Minister has received notice from the French Consul at Richmond that the rebels have formally apprised him of their intention to burn the French tobacco stored there, in case they find it necessary to evacuate Richmond.

☞ A little dead negro was found in a bale of cotton, recently, in New York.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— A salute was fired and the bells rung in Dover on Monday noon, by order of the Mayor, in honor of the glorious achievements of our arms at Norfolk and elsewhere.

—— Capt. Thomas F. Snow, of Co. F, 2d N. H. Regiment, writes that Capt. Drown, of Co. E, who was killed at Williamsburg, was decoyed by a flag of truce, and coolly murdered. The Coos Republican says Capt. D. was an experienced officer, having served in the Mexican war, and a true soldier. He was one of the first to volunteer in the present war. He was unobtrusive, energetic, and reliable. He exhibited marked bravery at Bull Run, and in him the State has lost a true man.

—— Mrs. Thomas Phillips, of Lancaster, wishes the public to understand that her husband has left his home with one Mary La Point, and this, too, in the most unprovoked manner. A bad man is Thomas if this be so.

—— The Governor and Council have nominated Lieut. Col. Bell, for Col. of the 4th Regiment, in place of Col. T. J. Whipple. Capt. Gilman E. Sleeper of Co. C, has been nominated for Lieut. Col.

—— Dea. Bickford, an aged citizen of North Wolfborough, while driving a loaded team on Monday last, was run over and received injuries which caused his death in six hours after. Dea. B. was a much respected citizen, and leaves many friends to mourn his sudden death.

—— In Ossipee, week before last, two boys by the names of Hammond and Buzzell were out on a tramp with their guns, and by some means the gun of Buzzell was discharged, and although there was nothing but the wadding and powder in the gun, the contents entered the stomach of young Hammond, causing wounds of which he soon died.

—— Mr. George F. Perry, of Manchester, and one other wounded soldier of Co. C, 2d N. H., arrived home on Wednesday morning. Both were wounded in the arm. Others belonging to the same regiment from Concord, returned on the same day.

—— Holders of the ribbons in Dover, have been in quite a flutter for a day or two. Mr. J. S. Raney, the celebrated horse tamer, having made a brief visit this week to Mr. Joseph Cushing at his fine residence at Dover neck. Mr. Raney was associated with Mr Cushing in England in exhibiting his famous horse "Cruiser" at the Alhambra Palace.

—— On Wednesday afternoon, Henry French, one of the pupils in a public school in Manchester, about eight years old, as the rest were going down stairs for recess, climbed upon the stair railing with the intention of sliding down, when he accidentally fell, striking his head upon the floor, and producing a severe concussion. He remained unconscious through the night, but the next morning was recovering.

—— The Exeter boys were in the fight at Williamsburg. William Morrill, of the 2d regiment, reported killed, was a young man belonging in Exeter, whose death wrings the heart of his widowed mother. A. M. Perkins, reported severely wounded, has lost an arm. He is a son of Solomon S. Perkins of Exeter. Another member of the Exeter company, Isaiah Haines, was wounded in the leg. Daniel McEnany, an Exeter boy about 16 years of age, was killed in the engagement with the forts below New Orleans. He was on board the Brooklyn, and was cut in two by a cannon ball which killed two officers beside him.

—— The following is a list of the sick and wounded of the 2d N. H. regiment, who were at the Seminary Hospital, Hampton, Va., May 11th:—

Capt. E. W. Farr, Co. E,—sick; George E. Pingree, Co. G,—in arm; Lieut. Samuel O. Burnham, Co. C,—in leg; E. D. Noyes, Co. H,—gun shot in thigh; Levi Pollard, Co. A,—gunshot in thigh.

In the Hygeia Hospital at Fortress Monroe, 11th, were:—

H. Smith, Co. F; L. T. Brown, E. G. Tuttle, Co. B; Amos L. Corey, Co. D; Henry Titus, Daniel W. Gould, Co. G; James Ricker, Co. K; R. A. Walker, Co. E.

The following, among other members of 2d regiment have been sent home:—

H. O. Smith, Co. E, South Newmarket; Corp. Chas. H. Warner; Jos. Beeley, Co. E, Salmon Falls; David Sawyer, Co. D, Winchester; Henry O. Jenness, James P. Davis, Charles P. Roberts and John H. Otis, Co. D, Dover; A. J. Sawyer, Co. H, East Kingston.

The following were brought to Baltimore by the Commodore:—

Chas. H. Warren, Avery L. Delson, Co. K.

THE EYE, EAR AND SYSTEM.—We would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement in another column of Dr. B. L. Horr, Optician, Oculist, Aurist and Electropathist, now stopping at the Rockingham House, where he is prepared to treat all diseases of the eye and ear; also chronic diseases of all descriptions.

☞ Com. Foote arrived at Cleveland on Tuesday, on his way East. He is quite feeble from his wound and disease.

☞ A battalion of marines have been ordered to Norfolk from Washington, to guard the navy yard and other places.

CONGRESS, Wednesday.—In the Senate the special committee on confiscation reported a bill upon that subject. Resolutions of inquiry were adopted in respect to the arrest of Kentuckians and the rumors of foreign intervention.

In the House, the committee on the confiscation and emancipation measures reported two bills. The first of these bills provides for the confiscation of the property of all the rebel officers in the rebel army and navy, or of those holding any offices in the so-called Confederate States, or any aiders or abettors in the loyal States or Territories, or the District of Columbia. The second bill provides for the confiscation of the slaves of all persons alluded to in the first bill, who shall be free forever. The two bills were made the special order for Tuesday next. The army appropriation bill was passed without amendment.—This bill appropiates $421,000,000 for the year ending June 30, 1863. Besides this, $208,000,000 have been appropriated during the present session for the current army expenses and deficiences for the the present fiscal year.

☞ The Dover correspondent of the Manchester Mirror says, "The Strafford Guards, Capt. S. S. Wallingford, will celebrate their 39th anniversary, Wednesday, May 28th, in an imposing manner, it being the first public parade since their re formation. Years ago no military company stood higher than the S. G's, and their prestige is known throughout New England. They will appear in a bran new uniform, expensive and brilliant, in fact one of the richest and most distingue in military circles,—blue, with buff, red, yellow and white trimmings, with gold for the officers. "The Guards will parade in the morning, dine at Kimball's American House, and parade again in the afternoon. They will be accompanied by Hall's Boston Brass Band. Company C, Governor's Horse Guards, Capt. M. C. Burleigh, have courteously offered their service to the S. G's, and will probably parade with them."

☞ The seminary of Paul Wing, at Sandwich, Mass., was destroyed by fire, Thursday forenoon. It was valued at $8000. Insured. Furniture mostly saved. Cause of the fire unknown.

READY-MADE CLOTHING

ASTONISH THE WORLD!

Why is it that Lane is so popular?

WHY IS IT THAT THE GREAT MASS OF THE PEOPLE BUY THEIR GOODS AT

"L A N E'S?"

These are questions, the answers to which you will do well to remember.

1st. We do a strictly "CASH BUSINESS," buying and selling for "nett cash," thereby saving much from bad debts, and having great advantage in buying goods.

2d. We employ none but first-class artists in the cut and manufacture of our goods, thereby giving to the purchaser an elegant and tasty fit, combined with great durability.

3d. We always keep a very large stock, and you are sure to find garments suited to your taste and pocket.

4th. Our corps of salesmen are all gentlemen, and you have no fear of being abused if you do not purchase; but on the contrary, take great pleasure in showing strangers over our immense establishment.

5th. We invite strangers who are making purchases in the city, to make our store their headquarters, and send any bundle or package there for safe keeping.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seed. It may be used in the drill, mixed with grain, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried mud. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

C. & P. RAILROAD.—From the Annual Report of the Concord (& Boston) railroad,—for a copy of which we are indebted to Messrs. McFarland & Jenks, of Concord,—we extract the following in relation to the C. & P. Railroad:—

The Concord & Portsmouth Railroad was constructed at large expense and opened to Concord August 18, 1852. It was originally supposed it would form a connecting line between the interior roads and the seaboard, by a shorter route than had previously existed, and would divert much heavy business from Boston and other seaports. Experience has shown that the expectations in that respect were not well founded. It was difficult to obtain supplies of freight in both directions, up and down, and the diversion of cars from other heavier lines of business was such an obstacle to a change of route that the prominent through business continued in its old channels. The road was run for some years for the stockholders, and subsequently by an agent for the bondholders, and much of the time at reduced rates of freight, so as to be of little income to the road, and yet it was the cause of much injury to the regular business on other lines.

The road and furniture became finally reduced to such condition it was proposed to lease it to the Concord Railroad, whose supply of furniture, machine shops and other accommodations would enable it to operate the road far cheaper than it could otherwise be done, and in September, 1858, the Concord Road contracted to run the road for five years at a rent of eighteen thousand dollars per year, twenty-five hundred dollars of which was to be expended annually in permanent repairs.

This contract has proved satisfactory to the parties, and valuable to the Concord Road. For many years, however, strenuous efforts have been made to construct a branch of this road from Candia to Manchester. A charter was obtained for this purpose, and active measures, under an effective organization, were taken early in the past year for its construction. To obviate, in part, the expense of this branch, and the operation of two roads from Candia to Manchester, and Candia to Concord, it was proposed to take up the track on the old line from Candia to Suncook Village—a distance of ten miles—and lay it into Manchester, and run from there, by the Concord Road to Suncook Village, which would require the construction only of a branch of two and a half miles of new road between Hooksett and Concord. By this change the entire distance between Manchester and Concord could be run in connection with the regular trains of the Concord Road, and the expense of the independent operation of two lines be saved to the roads.

At the last session of the legislature, after a personal inspection of the road by the members, leave was granted, by a large majority of them, for these changes, including the unanimous vote of the delegations from Portsmouth, Manchester, and the several towns along the line of the route.

By the provisions of the act the Concord Railroad, as a connecting road, was authorized "to contract for the use and operation of the Concord & Portsmouth Road, or any part thereof, on such terms, and for such time, as the roads might agree," and it was also authorized "to build the Hooksett Branch."

Under these provisions of the Legislature the Concord Road has renewed its lease of the road for a long term of time—ninety-nine years—paying, in addition to the former rent, six per cent on the new outlay expended on the Concord & Portsmouth Road, in making these changes, and for extending that road to tide water, and the construction of new passenger, freight and car-houses, and an engine-house, turn-table, and other improvements at Portsmouth, making, in all, an annual rent of twenty-five thousand dollars.

As a part of this contract the Hooksett Branch has been constructed by the Concord and Manchester & Lawrence Roads, at a proportionate expense of twenty-seven thousand dollars to the Concord Road, and all interest of the Concord & Portsmouth Road, in its track between this branch and Concord, a distance of about five miles, is surrendered permanently to the Concord and Manchester & Lawrence Roads, provided if these roads, at any time, shall not be operated together, the Branch and track shall become the sole property of the Concord Road, on its payment to the Manchester & Lawrence Road its proportion of the original amount advanced by that road therefor, less any depreciation of the track in the mean time.

The current income of the Concord & Portsmouth Road the present year, over and above the rent and its costs of operation, has been $11,125.10, as appears in our exhibits of receipts. Last year it somewhat exceeded this amount.

In the extension of the Concord & Portsmouth road to tide water, it became necessary, in order to furnish the proper wharf facilities at the terminus of the Road, to purchase the property known as Kindge's Wharf. This purchase was made at an expense of twelve thousand five hundred dollars. Portions of the same have been set off for the use of the customers of the road. The balance can be sold any day at a liberal advance on its entire cost, or it can be rented at full interest on such valuation as shall be deemed most for the advantage of the Road. It stands at present charged in the accounts of the Road, at its cost, and the property is holden as assets for that amount.

The distance saved in running the Concord & Portsmouth Road by terminating its separate operation at Manchester instead of Concord is nine miles, making a saving in the distance of separate trains, as heretofore run over the Road, of thirty-six miles daily.

☞ Corporal Horace M. Smith, of this city, a member of Co. K, 2d N. H., was among the soldiers, wounded at Williamsburg, who arrived at Fortress Monroe on the 12th.

☞ The side-wheel steamer Mahaska sailed from the Portsmouth Navy Yard on Thursday evening at half past seven.

You Don't Say So!—The "patronizing" air with which certain newspaper scribblers condescend to "notice" "old Portsmouth," is really refreshing. Two special instances are fresh in our mind at this moment—one the remarks of the Boston Courier's reporter concerning the recent launch of the Sacramento, and the other a letter from "Kineo" in the Manchester American a few days ago. Both write as if they never smelt salt water before, and as if they had not shaken all the bayseed out of their hair yet. The Courier fellow said there was a great bustle in our streets on account of the launch, that public and private buildings were decorated, and that it was the event of the day. "Show!" it is almost an every day affair to launch crack vessels on the Piscataqua—and neither Portsmouth people nor Portsmouth papers make half such a fuss about these things, as our Boston cotemporaries do.

"Kineo," in the American, says:

"Portsmouth and Manchester are entirely unlike. No places could be more so.—The former is staid, quiet, old, quaint and crooked;—the latter bustling, smart, young, thrifty, trim and modern. Conservatism is the distinctive quality of Portsmouth, as progress is of Manchester. * * * Portsmouth is a fine, snug cluster of "old families," and if there were as much enterprise in the place as there are means and intelligence, it might rise to the position it once held. But I am afraid that the superabundant life and energy of Manchester will hardly give it start enough for that."

Really, Mr. Kineo, we never heard that "the position" of our city has ever changed more than that of Mount Kineo itself.—Won't you be good enough to tell us where it was formerly located? As to population, wealth and resources, we believe there has always been a steady increase in all these.

Kineo says:

"Portsmouth has with many old mansions, some very sightly wooden buildings, among which I should enumerate, as the most attractive, the Custom House, a fine structure of granite," &c.

He also speaks of "Foreman's Block"—we wonder where that is.

But enough—we wouldn't undertake to correct or notice all the blunders and misapprehensions of hurried scribblers for the press; but we think the editors themselves ought to prune such youthful effusions a little, before airing them.

Farmers! Farmers!
Your attention is requested to the following unsolicited recommendation of the
LODI MANUFACTURING CO'S
POUDRETTE.

Dunbarton, N. H., May 1, 1862.
Mr. Shores,—Dear Sir:—
Last year I sent to you for three barrels of Poudrette.

Upon two acres of land I spread about twenty loads of Manure to the acre. Upon ten rows of corn I put hog manure, a shovel in a hill. Upon the next ten Poudrette, and then phosphate of lime upon ten—and thus through the field.

One load of hog manure went five rows of seventy hills:

A pa. of Poudrette eighteen rows.

A bag of Phosphate of Lime sixteen rows, all of the same length.

The Corn upon which the Poudrette was spread was more in quantity and superior in quality to the other, and also proves it to be the cheapest.

I want six barrels for this year, and my neighbors want ten or fifteen barrels more.

Please write upon what terms you will furnish it. Yours, CHARLES HOLMES.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and Wm. J. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky:

New York May 1, 1861.

Mr. Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:

Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

We are, very respectfully, sincerely,

Dr. Valentine Mott, Willard Parker & others

Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I hope will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,

I remain, very respectfully, your obt. servt.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S
Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE MINUTE OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and worth; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

THE SPRING.

The Spring—she is a blessed thing!
She is the mother of the flowers;
She is the mate of birds and bees,
The partner of their reveries,
Our star of hope through wintry hours.

The many children, when they see
Her coming, by the budding thorn,
They leap upon the cottage floor,
They shout beside the cottage door,
And run to meet her sight and morn.

They are soonest with her in the woods,
Peeping, the violet's leaves among,
To find the earliest fragrant thing,
That dares from the cold earth to spring,
Or catch the earliest wild bird's song.

The little brooks run on in light,
As if they had a chase of mirth;
The skies are blue, the air is balm;
Our very hearts have caught the charm
That sheds a beauty over earth.

The aged man is in the field,
The maiden 'mong her garden flowers;
The sons of sorrow and distress
Are wand'ring in forgetfulness
Of wants that fret and care that lowers.

Up—let us to the fields away,
And breathe the fresh and balmy air;
The bird is building in the tree,
The flower has opened to the bee,
And health and love and peace are there.

—Mary Howitt.

ADVERTISE!

Advertise!

IT IS THE

LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have not shown them the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. The business of the NEWSPAPER To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the means at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no business of well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy for their business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered, the very time of all others to stop, one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. I reap my harvest at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is so extensively known. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, No. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D has perfected a medication of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms which attend this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Consumption of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate. apr1—1y3taw

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 Endicott Street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain one dollar, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

Advertising.
For a Square (14 inches) or less, one insertion 50 cents, three insertions $1, one week $1.50, one month $3, three months $6, six months $8, one year $10. These are Daily rates—and no advertisements receive more than one insertion in the Weekly (Gazette) without special order and charge.
Funeral Notices, and Advertisements of articles Lost and Found, &c., 50 cents.
Advertisements may appear both in the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, if ordered; and will thus receive the most thorough circulation both in this city and vicinity, and throughout the State. ☞ Liberal terms for yearly advertising.

The Chronicle.

☞ A correspondent of the Boston Journal, in a letter from Yorktown, thus refers to the operations of the N. H. 5th Regiment, previous to the flight of the rebels:—

"The brigade was employed in building roads, all except the Fifth New Hampshire regiment, which was set at work making gabions, fascines, and other appliances of engineering. This regiment seems to have the faculty for doing anything and doing it well. Gen. McClellan sent for a large detachment to build a tower for signal purposes near his quarters, and a famous edifice was in course of construction when the enemy left Yorktown.

"The best shots among the sharpshooters were said to be the New Hampshire and Wisconsin men. At any distance up to 800 yards they were sure of their game.—One of the New Hampshire men, a well educated and fine looking fellow, with a long heavy rifle, showed me eleven notches on the breech of it, each marking a defunct or wounded rebel. Said he, 'the first day I could hardly face to shoot them—it seemed horrible, but I soon found it was the best way to fire close and lay low myself.' Another said, 'the man in the pit with me hit six of the artillery men. I only hit two, but his rifle was heavier than mine.'"

FAST TROTTING.—The Bonner mares on Tuesday, trotted two miles on the Fashion Course, in five minutes and one and a quarter seconds. It is said to be 17 3 4 seconds quicker than the same distance was ever made before.

Dr. S. Swett's Vegetable Medicines.
The saving efficacy of these truly valuable medicines is daily witnessed by thousands of the first classes of society, many of whom are physicians of success. The following are among his most popular preparations, viz.:
His PANACEA is unrivalled for the cure of Cancers, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Canker in the mouth or throat, Sore or inflamed eyes, and all impurities of the blood. Price $1.00.
CORDIAL of Dandelion, Spikenard and Boneset—a remedy unsurpassed for the liver and heart complaint, costiveness, dizziness and pain in the head, stomach and side, and the whole family of consumptive complaints. Price 75 cents.
RHEUMATIC COMPOUND, for the cure of Rheumatism in all its stages, phases and names of acute and chronic gout, neuralgia, lumbago, &c. This compound he has proved to be the surest remedy for these complaints that he has tried or known during the whole 40 years of his study and practice of medicine. Price $1.00.
His FAMILY PILLS are warranted paramount to any in the market, as a safe, easy and effectual physic. Price 25 cents.
His CONSERVE cures the piles, headache and costiveness, and is the surest remedy for worms in young or old. Price 25 cents.
COUGH DROPS for phthisic, colds, asthma, croup, whooping and chin coughs, and all diseases of the lungs. Price of small bottles, 33 cts.; large, 50 cents.
EXETER, March 3, 1861. "Many of my brethren in the ministry frequently complain of oppressed lungs and hoarseness of voice after frequent labors. I wish by this card to say to them and all others affected that the Cough Drops prepared by Dr. Swett of Portsmouth, is a valuable remedy. I have found nothing that gives relief so quick. Let every suffering preacher take a phial and try it
Eld. EDWIN BURNHAM."
☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of these medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. 1y30

SATURDAY, MAY 17, 1862.

EDITORIAL JOTTINGS.

We have recently had the pleasure of visiting Concord twice, going over the new route of course, and at one time making the round trip to Boston, and home over the B. & M. road. We intended to have said a word concerning our first trip, but had hardly time to look at all our friends on the route, and no time afterward to write about any thing. But now we will "speak of men as we found them."

The ride to Concord, through Manchester, &c., is really picturesque in many places, and this will be a favorite route for pleasure travel this season. You get a fine view of Manchester, the Reform School, &c., as you pass along; and the river is with you a great part of the way above there. And from the time you arrive in sight of the fine new depot in Portsmouth, till you get to Concord, you see constant evidences of the thrift and good management of Superintendent Gilmore, and the all powerful Concord Railroad.

On the occasion of our first visit, we noticed a crowd gathering at the Phenix, after supper, and learning that they were to call on the new Mayor Humphreys, just re-elected, we "fell in," and joined in the "services," on the occasion—which consisted of a bountiful collation, (which we should have enjoyed but for just having supped at the Phenix—after which a man can't get up another appetite very soon;) good music by the Concord Band, which we did help enjoy; and an agreeable hour spent socially. We also saw that gold-headed cane and the cake basket, previously presented to the Mayor and his wife. It may be excusable to say that the better if not the larger portion of that great company, including His Honor himself, were Horse Guards—so we felt at home among 'em.

The only change we noticed at the Phenix, (in fact, the only change they needed to make,) was the addition of a billiard room, which is neatly fitted up, in rear of the reading room, and has a couple of superb tables. We won't say how many points we had beat friend H, of Portsmouth, (who was with us on our last visit,) when the dinner-bell rang; but we were just as many ahead of him as he was ahead of us, and his paying the scot proves us victor, don't it?

In Boston, we found our old friends, Messrs. Hallet, Davis & Co., in new quarters, down in Washington street, where on the lower floor (the only similar case in Boston,) they have the most spacious, elegant, and convenient piano warerooms in the city—and, as usual, are selling instruments surpassed by none, whose notes are as sure and sound as those of the U. S.—They have a patent elevator, for moving pianos up and down stairs, "as easy as turning your hand over." Among other splendid instruments, we noticed a truly magnificent full grand, just finished for Express man Adams, worth a thousand dollars or so, the finest piano we think, we ever heard.

We also found friend Perkins, of California wine celebrity, at 46 Bromfield street—his neat and snug quarters redolent with the bouquet of his sole vintage, and full of the original packages, labelled for "all parts," including the residences of various clergymen, for whom this is the favorite brand; and with so courteous an entertainer, it was not strange, perhaps, that after our hour's stay, we should carry with us a little of the true California flavor.

We don't like Boston, and always get out as soon as we can—and this time, our course lay over the B. & M. Road, home—which is getting to be a favorite route for many citizens, especially those who wish to go up early. And there is one thing we have repeatedly noticed in travelling over the two competing lines, the Eastern and B. & M.,—that while very many who live along the Eastern, or ride over it, are too fond of saying as ill word against it and its management, yet almost everybody speaks well about, and rather boasts of, the B. & M.; and ditto of the Concord proper. Why?

Our late visit to Concord, was of a patriotic nature—concerning the Union, the union matrimonial, which after all said, is of vastly more importance to mankind, and especially womankind, than any other Union. The particular subject on this occasion, was the junction of an Eastern brakeman with the fair daughter of the Concord Road Master; and one of the singularities of the affair, besides this connection of these two roads, was that the bridegroom was still a "bachelder" after he was married,—which we presume the bride must have winked at, as the parson had told her she might "consider him" her husband. Long may it be ere they run off the track.

The marriage took place in church,—and for the benefit of our lady readers, many of whom are acquainted with the parties, and all of them interested in any such affairs, we will say that the bride was dressed in white silk, and looked sweetly, of course, as was her duty on such an occasion. One bridesmaid (Miss C. F. of Portsmouth) wore blue silk, with white muslin waist striped blue, like a shield; and the other (Miss F. B. of Portsmouth,) was dressed in pink silk, to match in style. The three ladies beautifully displaying the red, white and blue in the most attractive manner.—All wore lovely wreaths, and carried elegant bouquets,—the bride alone wearing a veil. Messrs J. B. M. of Portsmouth, and N. H. of Hooksett, were groomsmen, and stood the fire bravely; and if the bridesmaids appeared less charming than the bride herself, it must cave been simply because they were not brides. Of the reception, and the good time generally, "at the residence of the bride's father," afterward; and also the dinner at the Phenix, (where the Hon. A. B. was, as usual, the life of the party, master of ceremonies, and "said over" the champagne,); and how the next Governor of New Hampshire kissed the bride in the depot; and how we all rode to Manchester, and there switched off from the bridal party, (which is always amply large when two are left;) and how we (not they) got home—is it not all written in the memories of that crowd, so as not to need Chronicling? Let us have, the success of all the bachelors present, married and single—and good bye.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Among the killed in the late battle of Pittsburg Landing, was Capt. Albert Hobbs, of the 3d Iowa regiment, formerly of Effingham. Mr. H. leaves two brothers, one still residing in Effingham, the other, recently a student at Bowdoin College, is in the N. H. 4th.

—— A young widow of Manchester, who is now only 24 years of age, was married last week to her third husband. She has had four children, two of whom she has buried. The American anxiously inquires, has the third husband got his life insured?—And the same number of the American states that there is another woman in Manchester who has been three times married, but has never lost a husband by death.—She has been twice married to the man with whom she now lives.

—— The "scallawag" who imposed upon some of the clergymen in this State recently, and was exposed by Rev. Mr. Barstow of Keene, has again turned up as the son of a New Hampshire minister, and been exposed by Rev. Asa Bullard, agent of the Sabbath School Union, Boston.

—— Capt. Jonathan Cram, and wife, of Raymond, on the 7th inst. were surprised by a visit from all their children and grandchildren, to the number of twenty-five, who came to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day, which occurred on that day. The occasion was one of joy, and will long be remembered by those who participated in the social converse and good cheer of the day.

—— A New Hampshire soldier, writing from St. Augustine Fla., says the first picture he saw, after arriving at that place, was a likeness of Levi Woodbury, of New Hampshire. It was hanging in the Court House.

—— A correspondent of the Ballot, writing from Roanoke Island, shows that the reverse of the proposition that "one Southerner is equal to five Yankees," is true. In giving an account of a recent expedition of the 6th Regiment to Elizabeth City, he says:

"Lieut. David A. Titcomb, (of Seabrook,) Co. C, was ordered to bring Co. D up from the landing, and, in order to do so, was compelled to go through t e woods at least a mile. On his way he suddenly came upon five rebels, when he immediately drew his revolver and ordered them to surrender. Four of them dropped their arms and fled, but the fifth, who was proffably too much scared to run, quietly surrendered to our gallant lieutenant. After securing the arms of the five, he came in with his prisoner."

—— A little girl named Addie Nutting, aged two and a half years, daughter of Leander Nutting, of Mason Village, died on Saturday morning last, from eating matches two days before. She had eaten nearly 90 matches.

—— They are talking of getting up a Cornet Band in Dover—where they certainly ought to have one.

☞ The James Steam Mills have just declared a semi-annual dividend of 10 per cent. This corporation is under the excellent management of Wm. C. Balch, Esq., of Newburyport, who satisfactorily discharges the combined duties of Agent, Treasurer, Book-keeper, Clerk and Superintendent of the Mills. The Corporation is largely indebted to his sagacity and forethought, as seen in a judicious purchase of cotton, made at the early stage of the rebellion. The affairs of this corporation are managed with a degree of economy and ability that might well be adapted by other manufacturing companies.

☞ The Bartlet Steam Mills, Newburyport, have declared a semi-annual dividend of 6 per cent.

☞ Gov. Morgan, of New York, has been confirmed as a Major General. Gen. Wool, who has been in the service 51 years, has not yet been nominated for the Major Generalship.

THE REBELLION.

A rebel camp at Bloomfield, Mo., has been broken up, and many horses and a quantity of camp equipage captured.

In the Farmington battle one rebel General, supposed to be Bragg, was killed.

It is said the rebels are encamped in large numbers, 19 miles from Richmond, awaiting the approach of Gen. McClellan, who on Wednesday was at Cumberland.

The Texans in New Mexico have abandoned their sick and wounded and 35 of their wagons, and burying some of their guns, have separated in small parties and fled into the mountains.

Rebel guerrilas are committing great outrages near Parkersburg, Va.

Gen. McDowell has seized a large foundry, used by the enemy for casting shot and shell, and for rifling cannon.

Gen. Mitchell reports that a portion of his troops had seized a bridge and the ferry near Rogersville, Ala., thus cutting off another rebel source of supply.

A dispatch from Gen. McClellan to Sec. Stanton, highly compliments the divisions of Gens. Hooker and Kearney, for their splendid conduct at the Williamsburg battle.

☞ The Tribune's Washington dispatch says a few days ago one thousand slaves, as if by a preconcerted movement, simultaneously left Prince George's county, Md., and went to the District of Columbia, where they still are.

The Fugitive Slave law, was being quietly enforced in the District on Thursday, the military authorities not interfering with judicial proceedings. There are at least 400 cases pending. It is said, that some of the negroes, whose owners or agents from Maryland were in Washington, seeking their recovery, mysteriously disappeared on Thursday morning.

☞ The Union prisoners from Richmond report large numbers of prisoners going South. The Union sentiment is represented as strong and increasing.

JUSTIFIABLE HOMICIDE. — James T. Hill, a police officer in Boston, was attacked on Saturday night, May 10, in Broad Street, by three rowdies, who succeeded in getting away his "billy," or watchman's club, throwing him down, jumping on him, and choking him. He fired two barrels of his pistol; the second fire killed Morris Buckley, one of the assailants. The Coroner's jury, after a full hearing, gave their verdict, that Buckley came to his death by a ball fired by policeman Hill, in the proper discharge of his duties,—that Buckley and others were murderously assaulting officer Hill, and that Hill's act was done in self-defence "and was justifiable."

It appeared in testimony that Boston police officers have pistols, and are expected to carry them on proper occasions;—it is known to the city government, by whom it is countenanced. This being now known to the public, will make rowdies hesitate a little.

SAMBUCI WINE.—Our druggists have just received a number of cases more of that much excellent and harmless beverage, Speer's Sambuci Wine. Mr. Speer knows how to keep wine pure, and of course is worthy of public patronage. This wine has already become very popular, and seems to be gaining new friends daily.—Portland Courier.

Wm. R. Preston has procured some that is four years old. 1t

ADVERTISING ABROAD.—For the accommodation of merchants and others of the citizens of Portsmouth, we are ready at all times to forward Advertisements for insertion in any papers in New Hampshire, Boston, Maine, or elsewhere,—at the publishers' lowest rates. Apply at the Chronicle Counting Room.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from cesspools, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun, and it has a more excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and bed plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried mud. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

POLICE COURT.—During the past few days, Martha Briggs, John Donovan, Wm. Rowe, Isaac Nute and James Wilson, for being drunk, have been each fined $3 and costs, and committed for non payment of fine.

Rory O. McNeal, John Locke and John Taylor, for same offense, fined the same amount, which they paid.

John Bright and James Jarvis, for brawl and tumult, fined $3 and costs, $4.80.

Oliver Dennett, Robert Campbell and Hannah McCarthy, for being common drunkards, sent to the House of Correction for thirty days, and to pay costs of prosecution.

Patrick Shea, for assaulting watchman Wm. A. Gove, fined $3 and costs, taxed at at $5.74.

Louisa M. Percival, for riding, on horseback, on the sidewalks, fined $3 and costs, $5.62.

IMPROVEMENT AT THE CITY FARM — A neat and tasteful fence has just been erected upon substantial stone posts in front of the City Alms House, giving a decidedly cheerful appearance to the premises, in contrast with the large, high fence, that formerly darkened the lower front windows of the house. The city farm under the direction of the Mayor and Supt. Norton seems in excellent condition, and the house itself looks as inviting as possible.

☞ We presume no decent man or boy would throw paper or other litter on his neighbors' pavement—but how much better is it to sweep it into the street, whence it blows everywhere? Every neat shopkeeper should burn up his sweepings. We hope to have no occasion to call names.

PORTSMOUTH AND INTERIOR TRADE. The opening of trade with Manchester, by the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad, the cars of which now run to the wharf, and are loaded with lime, plaster, salt, coal, grain and other goods, without trucking,—is greatly increasing the trade of Portsmouth, without the knowledge of the citizens who do not observe the freight trains leaving the depot. The Dover Enquirer is again agitating the opening of railroad communication between Portsmouth and that city, which would bring here an extensive trade with the up-river towns, as well as with the lake region. Such a line should have been opened long ago, as it would have been if the monied men of Portsmouth cared anything about the prosperity of the place in which their fathers made the money they now invest in distant corporations.—Ballot.

☞ Messrs. Tobey & Littlefield, at their yard on Noble's Island, are building a Bark for parties in Boston and Chatham.

Messrs. Marcy & Pettigrew now have a large unfinished ship on the stocks, at their yard, foot of Pleasant street, which has been lying untouched for months.

☞ We notice some half dozen more dwelling houses in course of building in different parts of our city; but there seems to be less extensive repairing and improving than usual. However, both houses and stores are in good demand.

☞ Mr. Henry C. Gerrish, is to remove his fruit, confectionery and refreshment stock, from the stand he has so long occupied in Market street, to the corner of Daniel street—late Mr. Joseph H. Clark's.—Mr. Gerrish says it is astonishing what a supply his advertisement of bottles wanted, in the Chronicle, brought him. Not astonishing to us, at all: we always knew advertising there paid.

Misses Loud and Pray, we hear, are to remove their millinery establishment to the store to be vacated by Mr. Gerrish.

U. S. 7.30 PER CENT. SOCKS LIABLE TO TAXATION.—The Commissioners of Taxes of New York, have from opinions furnished them by prominent counsel, decided that the 7 30 per cent. stocks held in that city by banks, corporations and individuals, are liable to taxation. The act of Congress exempting those and other similar securities from assessments, can only be made to apply to Federal taxation, but in order to exempt them from State or city tax, an act of the Legislature is required. This is a matter of some importance to the holders of the $50,000 of this stock in Portsmouth.

☞ A letter from the N. H. 2d regiment, and a notice of John B. Gough, will be found in the last column of our third page, this morning.

SUNDAY SERVICES.—Rev. Dr. Lamson will preach at the Middle Street Baptist Church to morrow.

Rev. Dr. Samuel Barrett, of Boston, will preach at the Unitarian Church to-morrow.

☞ Prof. Miles J. Fletcher, of Asbury College, Greencastle, Indiana, killed by a railroad accident in Indiana, on Saurday night, was a graduate of Brown University, and a brother of Rev. J. C. Fletcher of Newburyport.

EGGS.—In two days this month, a million and a half of eggs were received at Buffalo from the heneries of the West, brought over the Lakes.

☞ Mary Hartung who was convicted some years since of the murder of her husband, and released from prison last December, by order of Judge Wright, now Judge of the Court of Appeals, was re-arrested at Albany, recently, on a bench warrant issued on application of District Attorney Sheffer. The Supreme Court, General Term, decided on Saturday that Judge Wright's discharge was erroneous, and ordered Mrs. Hartung to be kept in prison for a new trial.

☞ The N. Y. Herald publishes an article said to be from the Charleston Courier, admitting the hopelessness of the rebel cause, and acknowledging that the misfortunes which have befallen the rebellious States are not more than their iniquities deserve.

☞ Sec. Stanton has ordered the release of Col. W. F. Baldwin, of Virginia, to be exchanged for Col. Corcoran.

☞ In the village of Orono, Me., on the Penobscot, where Gov. Washburn has his home, is a saw mill which is not only the largest on the river, but probably the largest in the world. It takes one hundred men to run it, and is called the "Basin Mill."

☞ Maretzek, it is said, has engaged for the Havana opera the Marchisio sisters, Wachtel, and a German tenor who recently was a hackney-coach driver, but, possessing a splendid voice, left the street stage for the lyric stage.

THE EYE, EAR AND SYSTEM.—We would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement in another column of Dr. B. L. Horr, Optician, Oculist, Aurist and Electropathist, now stopping at the Rockingham House, where he is prepared to treat all diseases of the eye and ear; also chronic diseases of all descriptions.

☞ John B. Gough at the Temple on Tuesday evening next.

☞ See a woman, in another column picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y

1900 BARRELS of the LODI MANUFACT'G CO'S
Superior Poudrette.

This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.

TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!
Try it on your FIELD CROPS!! Try it on your BEANS, your CABBAGES, your CORN, POTATOES. Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY! Try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS;
Try it ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE ON THE OUTLAY.

The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity,

One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.
Also, for sale,
PURE PERUVIAN GUANO
—and—
Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those who agree in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

Farmers! Farmers!

Your attention is requested to the following UNSOLICITED recommendation of the
LODI MANUFACTURING CO'S
POUDRETTE.

DUNBARTON, N. H., May 1, 1862.
MR. SHORES,—Dear Sir:—
Last year I sent to you for three barrels of Poudrette.
Upon two acres of land I spread about twenty loads of barn manure to the acre. Upon ten rows of corn I put hog manure, a shovel full to a hill. Upon the next ten POUDRETTE, and then phosphate of lime upon ten—and thus through the field.
One load of hog manure went five rows of seventy hills;
A bs of Poudrette eighteen rows;
A bag of Phosphate of Lime sixteen rows, all of the same length.
The Corn upon which the Poudrette was spread was more in quantity and superior in quality to the other, and also proves it to be the cheapest.
I want six barrels for this year, and my neighbors about ten or fifteen barrels more.
Please write upon what terms you will furnish it. Yours,
CHARLES HOLMES.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky:

NEW YORK May 1, 1861.
MR. WM. T. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky.:
Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.
Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.
We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 31, 1861.
DR. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others
Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,
I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. T. CUTTER, JR.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and W. T. CUTTER, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!
THE SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.
Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.
In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-MINUTE ON THE AVERAGE. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.
The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.
The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.
We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser can make, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.
Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by having their address with the subscriber.
Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

JOHN B. GOUGH.

Our citizens are to be favored with a lecture from the world-renowned John B. Gough, next Tuesday evening, at the Temple. Our only regret is, that we have not a larger room than the Temple, that two thousand instead of one might listen to his stirring eloquence. However, those who procure tickets before hand will be sure of seats. His theme is not strictly a temperance one, but the lecturer will doubtless here, as he has elsewhere, draw from his long and varied life-experience in England as well as America, fit subjects for his thrilling eloquence. Let all our readers in this and neighboring towns prepare for a rich entertainment.

In Mr. Gough's lecture in Boston, says the Journal, the fun of young men sitting around a table and having a good time, was humorously described, but in no case, if they could have the next day's reaction first, would they take the drink afterwards. If the drunkard could have the delirium tremens first he would leave the liquor alone forever. No night of so called social pleasure was really pleasure—only a wild delirium of present forgetfulness; and a terrible consciousness of reaction and misery the next day, all the long, long day.

In a forcible manner Mr. Gough described his feelings when he stood on the summit of one of the loftiest of the Alps, and felt that he was a man,—that when all that grandeur should have perished and dissolved, his immortal soul would rise on the wings of hope and love, to live forever in the realms of God. To think of such a soul indulging in "social" pleasure, debasing itself, losing its senses,—to think of a man becoming a maudlin, silly fool, for the sake of a moment's gratification!

Correspondence of the Portsmouth Journal.

BATTLE AT WILLIAMSBURG.

The following letter from Mr. James E. Seavey of the Second N. H. Regiment, states the exposed position of that regiment, and will be read with much interest.

WILLIAMSBURG, VA. May 8, 1862.

At one o'clock on Sunday we started to follow the retreating rebels. We walked about 14 miles that night, without anything transpiring to stop our progress. About midnight it began to rain and rained steady for twenty-four hours. At daybreak the word was onward. At eight o'clock we came up with the enemy, and the 2nd N. H. opened the ball. A battery of ten pieces was got into possition and we supported it. The enemy were behind very strong entrenchments, and our men were scrambling over fallen trees; our progress was therefore very slow. After three or four hours the enemy received reinforcements, upon [illegible] began to turn our left flank. We were very hard pressed, they having their rear guard of about thirty thousand men all concentrated on our left, where was our division of ten or twelve thousand men. We here kept them at bay for four hours of as severe fighting and charging bayonets as was ever witnessed. It was truly terrible to hear volley after volley of musketry, and the cries of the wounded and dying, yells of the rebels and the hurrahs of our boys. At about quarter [illegible] were about to despair, when Gen. Heintzleman rode along our lines and told us to hold out ten minutes more and he would give us ten thousand reinforcements.

This gave us courage; our Regiment made three desperate charges, which [illegible] ments began to come in. These were in enough to drive the rebels; but our boys fought like heroes; th bands began to play "Yankee Doodle," which gave us some cour and began to dishearten the rebels. At 5 o'clock more reinforcements arrived; these turned the tide of battle in our favor, and at dark the enemy had retreated in every direction. We camped on the battle-field that night; and such a night of misery I never saw before. Soaked through by the rain, and so many of our comrades killed or wounded, was truly a sad condition to be in. In the morning we moved our camp to the front of the battle field, and then we were busy all day in taking care of our dead and wounded. I have given you the dark side, now I will give you the bright side of the story, if you can call such a picture bright.

We have driven a portion of the enemy to West Point, captured a good many guns, a great deal of provisions, and taken a great many prisoners. The rebel loss is as heavy, or heavier than ours. Such is the picture of war.

The wounds of Horace M. Smith are not dangerous—he will probably be sent home in two or three weeks. Freemen Teague is safe; he got back to camp yesterday. Joseph Gordon has not yet returned.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of City Ordinance No. 4, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

SEC. 3.—All waste water of houses yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c. shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 11. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 14. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed, and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. And whenever any person or persons shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

Morning Chronicle.

☞ Rev. B. M. Tillotson, of Manchester, appeared, on Tuesday May 13, before the Committee of Discipline appointed by the New Hampshire Universalist State convention to investigate the charges and specifications made against him.

The charges were "deception, fraud, falsehood and forgery," chiefly in 1857-8-9. In a paper drawn up by his attorney, Mr. T. asked for a postponement of the trial, to get an affidavit of Dr. Hubbard as to the condition of Mr. T.'s mind at the time of writing the letters containing the alleged falsehoods, and also to examine the letters, so as to frame a defence.

The Committee resolved to proceed, and Mr. T. and some friends withdrew, promising a thorough review of the matter through the press.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE

PURE AND FOUR YEARS OLD,

OF CHOICE OPORTO FRUIT,

For Physicians' Use.

FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS.

SAMBUCUS TREE OF PORTUGAL.

The Great Remedy for Kidney Affections, Rheumatism, Chronic Complaints

Excellent Wine for Females.

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and invigorating qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians to possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefiting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

WE REFER TO

A D V E R T I S E!

Advertise!

IT IS THE

LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all and affords to one only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER, and that the purchaser is sure to find the ultimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its merits. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising—the filling of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers in the business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy or good business sheweisdom to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it would advise me the field with few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their books out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had.?

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as a indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sometimes ten-fold, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and then stop, and it is sufficient; others continue advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by the applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The People of daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is as constantly increasing. No man can do justice to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never yet failed to cure, when used them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such cases require a skillful, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate. apr7—1ydaw

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private and Delicate Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Carlton, the correspondent of the Boston Journal, in a letter from Monterey, Tenn., thus speaks of three sons of the Granite State:—

"Attached to Gen. Davis' division is Maj. Cavender's Missouri battery, which has enscribed on its standard, 'Moonville,' 'Dug Springs,' 'Wilson's Creek,' 'Donnelson,' 'Pittsburg Landing.' A roll of honor and fame unsurpassed. Maj. Cavender is a native of Franklin, N. H. He has for several years past, resided in St. Louis, but it has been his custom to make annual pilgrimages to the East, like the true followers of the Prophet to Mecca. His friends will be pleased to learn that the commander of this celebrated battery is still able to do effective service.

"Capt. Stone, who shares the hardships and honors of the campaign with Maj. Cavender, is a native of Fitzwilliam, N. H., an old attache of the Boston and New York press. When the war broke out he was editor of the Missouri State Journal, but its proprietors being secessionists, and he being an unconditional Unionist, his connection with the paper ceased. Having served his country with his pen, he has also tried the sword with eminent success. His battery is well known. It has attained a degree of proficiency which would challenge admiration from a regular.

"The artillery of the right wing is commanded by Capt. Mack, a native of Gilsum, N. H., of the 4th United States Artillery. He has been in the service twelve years, and is one of the best artillerists in the army. He was appointed to command one of the New Hampshire regiments by Gov. Berry, but his abilities were held in such high esteem, the War Department would not permit the change from the regular to the volunteer service."

☞ Wm. R. Dempster, the English balladist, is concertizing in England—"alone, all alone."

RHEUMATIC COMPOUND, for the cure of Rheumatism in all its stages, phases and names of acute and chronic gout, neuralgia, lumbago, &c. This compound he has proved to be the surest remedy for these complaints that he has tried or known during the whole 40 years of his study and practice of medicine. Price $1.00.
His FAMILY PILLS are warranted paramount to any in the market, as a safe, easy and effectual physic. Price 25 cents.
His CONSERVE cures the piles, headache and costiveness, and is the surest remedy for worms in young or old. Price 25 cents.
COUGH DROPS for phthisic, colds, asthma, croup, whooping cough, chin coughs, and all diseases of the lungs. Price of small bottles, 38 cts.; large, 50 cents.
EXETER, March 3, 1861. "Many of my brethren in the ministry frequently complain of oppressed lungs and hoarseness of voice after frequent labors. I wish by this card to say to them and all others affected that the Cough Drops prepared by Dr. Swett of Portsmouth, is a valuable remedy. I have found nothing that gives relief so quick. Let every suffering preacher take a phial and try it.
Ed. EDWIN BURNHAM."
☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of these medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. 12w0

MONDAY, MAY 19, 1862.

HIST. OF FORMER CONSPIRACIES

AGAINST THE U. S. GOVERNMENT.

The Hartford Convention Conspiracy, 1814.

[Concluded.]

The Report then proceeds to consider the several subjects of complaint, the principal of which is the national authority over the militia, claimed by government.

Continuing, it says: "In this whole series of devices and measures for raising men, this Convention discerns a total disregard for the Constitution, and a disposition to violate its provisions, demanding from the individual States a firm and decided opposition. An iron despotism can impose no harder service upon the citizen than to force him from his home and his occupation to wage offensive war, undertaken to gratify the pride or passions of his master. * * In cases of deliberate, dangerous, and palpable infractions of the Constitution, affecting the sovereignty of a State and the liberties of the people, it is not only the right, but the duty of such State to interpose its authority for the protection, in the manner best calculated to secure that end. When emergencies occur which are either beyond the reach of the judicial tribunals, or too pressing to admit of the delay incident to their forms, States which have no common umpire must be their own judges and execute their own decisions."

This sentiment, in this paragraph, is that of State supremacy in its unadulterated form—such supremacy as really renders the hold of the Constitution and the power of Congress over the States that of a mere contract, to be dissolved at will. But, nullifying and disintegrating as it was, Mr. Jefferson himself set the precedent. In his Kentucky resolutions, before referred to, he began with a resolution that the Federal Constitution is a compact between States as States, by which is created a general Government for special purposes—each State reserving for itself the residuary mass of power and right; and "that, as in other cases of compact between parties having no common judge, each party has an equal right to judge for itself, as well of infractions, as of the MODE AND MEASURE OF REDRESS." Perhaps the special pleader may be able to discover that this assumption by Mr. Jefferson, is not that of the Hartford Convention; but, to the mass of readers, who take words in their accredited signification, the Hartford resolves will seem but Mr. Jefferson's reproduced. If any lingering doubt exists as to the extent of Mr. Jefferson's nullification sentiments, they will be dissipated by the eighth resolution, which expressly and directly declares that (the States themselves being the sole judges,) where Congress assumes powers not delegated by the people, "a nullification of the act is the right remedy; and that every State has a natural right, in cases not within the compact, to nullify, of their own authority, all assumptions of power by others within their limits." We are at a loss, in view of this express declaration, and that which immediately follows it in the same resolutions, to discover upon what authority Mr. Everett [See his address, July 4th, 1861] denies the nullification sentiments as Mr. Jefferson's own. The "theoretic generalities" read so much like Hartford Convention and South Carolina Convention specialities, that ordinary perceptive faculties will not discover their differences.

The Convention adjourned January 5th, 1815, and no doubtful was it of the propriety of its acts, that the resolutions adopted were not made public until two weeks after adjournment. These resolutions were, in brief, as follows:—

The first recommended the Legislatures of the States represented to protect the citizens of the several States from the operation of acts passed by Congress, subjecting them to forcible drafts, conscriptions or impressments, not authorized by the Constitution.

The second recommended that the States be empowered to defend themselves, and that they have for their own use their proportion of the taxes collected

The third recommended each State to defend itself.

The fourth recommended amendments to the Constitution as follows:—

Apportionment of representation and taxation the basis of white population.

New States to be admitted by a vote of two-thirds of both houses of Congress.

Congress shall have no power to lay an embargo of more than sixty days duration.

"Congress shall not have power to interdict foreign trade without a vote of two-thirds of both houses.

Congress shall not make war by a less vote than two thirds of both branches, unless in defence of territory actually invaded.

No naturalized citizens to be eligible to any civil office under the United States.

No President to be elected twice, or for two terms, nor to be chosen from the same State twice in succession.

The report concluded with the recommendation that if the foregoing resolutions should be unsuccessful when submitted to the general government through the respective States, if peace should not be concluded, and the defence of the New England States be neglected, as it had been, it would be expedient for the Legislatures of the several States to appoint delegates to another Convention to meet at Boston, "with such powers and instructions as the exigency of a crisis so momentous may require."

The sessions of the Convention, like those of similar conventions held in the seceded States at a later day, were secret. The people of Hartford, justly indignant at the presence of a "body of disorganizers" in their midst, expressed their loyalty to the government in various ways. The resolutions brought forth a burst of indignation from all quarters of the Union. The good sense of the mass of New England people then perceived what a dangerous thing they had nursed into life, and none were more willing to consign the twenty-six members of the convention (twenty of whom were aw yers!) to infamy, than the intelligent and influential portion of the "Yankees" themselves.

The responses of such states as took the trouble to respond to the propositions made to them, were adverse to the proposed changes in the Constitution. The distrust set forth both in the Address and Resolutions gave dissatisfaction to those dissatisfied with the embargo and the war. No second Convention was called, for not a town or village in New England, one year later, would have tolerated the sittings of such a body in its precincts. Well would it have been for the country—for the lately seceded States—if the loyal people of the cotton-growing commonwealths had crushed their disloyal leaders as the New Englanders crushed out the treason hatched by the Hartford Disunion Convention!

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The brotherhood of Masons of Hiram Lodge, Claremont, joined by several other lodges, will publicly celebrate the festival of St. John's day, the 24th of June.—A band of music will be in attendance, and after the oration a dinner will be served.

—— A member of the Fifth N. H. Regiment, in a letter to the Independent Democrat, states that at Yorktown there was a large steam mill close by the N. H. Second, and adds:—

"When taken the water was warm in the boilers, and, singular enough, was not injured in the least."

After learning of so many atrocities committed by the rebels, it is a relief to know that they did not in the least injure the water in the boilers of that steam mill. Perhaps, however, this affords only another proof of the efficiency of iron-clad vessels.

—— Lieut. George H. Perkins, a son of Hon. Hamilton E. Perkins of Concord, was second in command on the Cayuga in the naval engagement at Forts Jackson and St. Phillip at New Orleans. Lieut. Harrison, the commander of the Cayuga, and Capt. Bailey in his official report to Com'r. Farragut, both highly compliment Lieut. Perkins for his remarkable coolness and precision during the action, and especially while aiding in steering the vessel through the barrier and past the forts, under a long and heavy fire, the vessel having received 42 shots.

—— A little boy, two years of age, son of Mr. Richard Gage of Fisherville, fell into a pail of hot water, Monday, last week, and was severely, but not fatally scalded.

—— New Hampshire State Stocks bearing six per cent. interest, sold in Boston, on Tuesday, at four and one half per cent. premium.

—— By an arrangement effected by the Postmaster of Concord and N. G. Ordway, Esq., the New England Mail Agent, the citizens of that town have a daily mail direct to and from New York, via Nashua and Worcester. New York morning papers are received there the evening of their date, thirteen hours earlier than before.—A mail leaves Concord by the 5 1 2 A. M. train, and reaches New York the same evening.

—— Gov. Berry has received a requisition from the War Department for two hundred men, to recruit the Sixth Regiment to its maximum standard. This regiment is with Burnside, well officered, and highly commended by the General of its brigade.

—— The Statesman says Capt. Leonard Drown, of Co. E, 2d Regiment, was shot at Williamsburg, in advance of his company, receiving a fatal wound in the head; yet drew his revolver, fired two shots, and fell dead. No man died that day with more honor, yet there were many dead, and there was much honor. He leaves a wife and two children.

Another war correspondent thus gives the particulars of Capt. Drown's murder:—Col. Marston, of the 2d New Hampshire, relates with deep feeling that one of his Captains, Drown, in the most critical pinch of the battle, gathered a large number of scattered men of his own and other regiments, and led them on to a body of the enemy, firing with his revolver as he went, and cheering on his new battalion. The rebel in command waved a white flag, and cried out, "don't fire, don't fire, we are friends," and at the same time ordered his men to "trail arms." Too succesful trick! Drown commanded his men not to fire.—At the word, the rebels poured a volley upon them, killing many and among them one of the best of the men of New Hampshire, and one of the best officers in the army—Capt. Drown.

—— Lieut. Hutchins of the Sixth U. S. Cavalry, was seriously wounded in the head and had his horse shot under him in a skirmish at White House, a day or two since. Lieut. Hutchins is a native of Concord, and was formerly a reporter for one of the Boston papers.

—— Ebenezer E. Bailey of Claremont, was instantly killed by falling from a tree in his yard. He was cutting a limb from an elm, standing with one foot upon the ladder and the other on the limb, when the limb, which was twenty-five feet from the ground, gave way suddenly.

—— About midnight on Sunday, 11th inst., Mrs. Sally Langmaid, a widow, about 62 years of age, leaving her clothes at her house, went some distance to the bridge between Durham and New Market, and threw herself into the river, and was drowned. Her body was found the next afternoon. She was an eminently pious and worthy woman, but for some time past has been partially insane.

THE REBELLION.

It is said Van Dorn and Price left Corinth ten days ago. Rumor says Beauregard has sent a flag of truce asking an armistice of ten days, and that Gen. Halleck has the matter under consideration.

Cleaveland, the leader of the notorious Jayhawkers and robbers, was arrested on the 11th at Osawattomie. He endeavoured to escape and was shot.

The gunboat Cincinnati, sunk by the rebels at Fort Wright, has been raised, and it was supposed would leave for Cairo on Friday. The Memphis Appeal says the rebel loss in the recent engagement was 8 killed and 16 wounded.

A letter from Cumberland, Va., reports that General McClellan had a very narrow escape from capture during an attack by the rebels on our wagon train. He was making a reconnoissance with his staff, and came in sight of the rebel cavalry before he was aware of their proximity. By hard riding he escaped, and took command of what force was at hand and dispersed the rebels.

BY TELEGRAPH.

A new ram and an iron-clad gunboat have been added to the rebel fleet at Fort Wright. Jeff Thompson landed part of his force on the Arkansas shore and made a demonstration on our land forces, on Wednesday night. Our pickets were driven in and the rebels now hold a portion of the point.

The Galena, Monitor, Naugatuck and two other Union gunboats were repulsed from Fort Darling, 7 miles below Richmond, on Friday, and some of them returned to Jamestown Island, near Williamsburg.—Lt. Morris, of the ill-fated Cumberland, is among our wounded. The 100-pounder on the Naugatuck burst at the first fire.

Gen. Pope's force has again advanced and is now three miles from Corinth. It is said sickness is raging to a fearful extent in Beauregard's camp, and that the delay of our troops in making an attack, is working to our advantage.

Pensacola has been evacuated. Our batteries commenced shelling the place on the morning of the 12th inst., and there being no response, a flag of truce was sent ashore, but no enemy was discovered. Our troops were to occupy the place on the 13th.

The notorious Phelan, of Jeff. Thompson's gang, and 100 of his men were captured near Broomfield, Mo., on Friday.

☞ Gen. Rufus Saxton, the new military Governor of South Carolina and the Department of the South, left New York for Hilton Head on Thursday.

DAVID HUNTER, Maj. Gen. commanding the U. S. Army in the Department of the South, issued a General Order, dated Hilton Head, S. C., May 9, 1862,—freeing all the slaves,—which reads as follows:

"The three States of Georgia, Florida and South Carolina, comprising the Military Department of the South, having deliberately declared themselves no longer under the protection of the United States of America, and having taken up arms against said United States, it became a military necessity to declare Martial Law.—This was accordingly done on the 25th day of April, 1862. Slavery and Martial Law, in a free country are altogether incompatible; the persons in these three States, Georgia, Florida, and South Carolina, heretofore held as slaves, are therefore declared forever free."

Dispatches to the N. Y. Tribune and Times state that the proclamation was unauthorized by the President. "Perley" says "the Border State men denounce it, while prominent Republicans, headed by Secretary Chase, approve it."

P. S.—The President on Saturday decided to modify Gen. Hunter's proclamation emancipating the slaves.

☞ The subject of selecting a successor to President Felton, at Harvard College, causes great discussion among the Overseers of the University. The nomination first made has been withdrawn, from opposition to the gentleman named, and Rev. Dr. Thomas Hill, of Antioch College, has now been nominated. The Boston Transcript says this selection is not entirely satisfactory to the Overseers, many of whom would prefer Prof. Lovering or Rev. Dr. Peabody; and adds that Dr. Peabody would harmonize a wider range of religious opinion than any other gentleman mentioned in connection with the office.

☞ There had been three cases of yellow fever in New Orleans, at last accounts.

☞ An exchange says you should pronounce Burnside as if the last syllable contained no e—Burnsid.

Local.

"OUR FLAG IS THERE"—or at any rate our flag-staff is, in front of the Chronicle office door,—and some trouble it was to get it there, too. But by the aid of midnight diggers, and fearless riggers, and carpenters, and blacksmiths, and mast-makers, and painters,—not to mention the honorable crowd of lookers-on who "countenanced" the raising, and those who toasted it to "long may it stand"—there it is. And we are proud to agree with all who say it is one of the handsomest poles in the city, or anywhere else—one of Mr. Martin's best. And not much more are we indebted to his skill than to that of the rigger who superintended the whole movement, and the blacksmith who sewed did his part—and the volunteers who rendered such efficient service in running up the topmast—which, after all, is not a topmast at all, and should not be, as it is not, the size of one, being but a flag-staff, of which it is a beautiful specimen, worthy to hold aloft the gallant red, white and blue, with the thirty-four stars.

We are also greatly obliged to the Portsmouth Cornet Band, for their very acceptable salute of the "Star Spangled Banner,"—and also for their serenade; and to those who offered their hearty "three times three" afterward, at our residence,—we presume also in honor of this event.

Altogether this was (on Friday evening) a gala occasion for the city. The warm weather brought everybody out, and the streets were thronged to hear the Cornet Band, which was invited to a ride-out in Mr. Nathan Jones' fine new carriage, "Fanny Fern." Mr. Preston had also run up a new topmast and flag at his store, and Maj. Goodwin ditto at the City Hotel, on that afternoon—all which was duly noticed by the Band.

And we will close by asking why we can't have some out-door Concerts by the Band, this season? Mr. Preston, why won't you get up a couple of hundred dollars subscription for the purpose? It can be done easily enough—the Band deserve it, the people will enjoy it, and there are plenty willing to pay for it. Put us down for a fiver.

☞ It is not good policy to give any thing to street beggars, unless the donor knows something about them. We repeat this caution now, because we have been told of an old man, lame, walking with a staff, and really an obj ct of pity, who begs money sometimes in this city, and then goes to his own town, where pretended friends relieve him of the money, so that it is of no use to him.

His own absolute wants are supplied by his town;—and if what he begs were used for his comfort, all were well: but in such a case as his, and in almost all cases, the donors would do better to refer the beggar to the City Missionary, and send their alms through the same channel, rather than waste them on they know not whom.

☞ Wm. Conn, Esq., the newly appointed Mail Agent on the Concord and Portsmouth Railroad, will assume the duties of his office at once—the mail-car to be put on this week we believe. The Concord mail leaves here in the morning before the Post Office is open, and reaches here after it is closed in the evening; so it is impossible to write to Concord and get a reply the same day unless a letter is sent by express. Mr. Conn will go up in the afternoon, and come down in the morning, we hear.

The lofty and worthy ex-president of the I. O. of S C. M., called his friends together at Tibbetts' saloon, Saturday evening, in acknowledgement of his new appointment. Previous engagements prevented our attendance—but with W. R. M. and C. L. T. as committee, and Mr T. for caterer, every thing must have been all right.

☞ Tickets for Gough's lecture at the Temple to-morrow evening, are selling at Thacher's and Preston's. They are in great demand, and those who wish to hear the world-renowned orator should secure tickets early, as but a limited number remain unsold.

☞ We (and the public through us) have on numerous occasions been greatly indebted to ex-Gov. Goodwin, J. J. Pickering, Esq., A. L. Joner, the telegraph operators in Newburyport and Portsmouth, and perhaps others, and latterly to a club of gentlemen interested in "the news,"—for private telegraphic dispatches sent to them. We received similar courtesy from Messrs. W. N. Ilsley, B. Hutchings and others, on Sunday. We may sometimes neglect to acknowledge favors,—so many are continually being extended to us,—but we trust we are not unmindful of them.

SUICIDE.—Mrs. Armstrong, an Irish woman about 50 years of age, wife of Mr. James Armstrong, laborer, living at No. 11 Ann street, in this city, cut her throat with a razor so severely that she died almost immediately, on Saturday evening, at her home. When her husband came home for his supper, he found her lying upon a bed; after exchanging a few words with her, he passed out into the barn; in a few minutes their little boy ran out, crying that his mother had killed herself. She was lying upon the floor, weltering in blood. It is said that she was severely sun-struck two years ago, and was at work in her garden much under the burning sun of Saturday, which would naturally produce temporary aberration of mind.

☞ Friday and Saturday were extremely warm and sultry, the mercury going up to about 80°. The blossoms have been brought out beautifully, flowers are blooming luxuriantly, and the grass in this region is looking finely, from the effects of this heated term and the previous rains.

☞ It will be seen by the advertisement that the favorite Winnicumet House at Hampton Beach is open for the season.

AN EDITOR IN THE PULPIT.—Horace Greeley officiated for Rev. E. H. Chapin at the Broadway Universalist Church in New York on Sunday last. For many years he has been a member of that society.

1900 BARRELS of the LODI MANUFACT O Co's

Superior Poudrette.

This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.

TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!

Try it on your FIELD CROPS! Try it on your BEANS, your CABBAGES, your CORN, Potatoes. Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY. Try it on your LAWNS, on YOUR MOWING FIELDS.

TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where application marks—and you will find that it pays WELL, PAYS FIRST RATE ON THE OUTLAY.

The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity,

One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.

Also, for sale—

PURE PERUVIAN GUANO

—and—

Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,

warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

Farmers! Farmers!

Your attention is requested to the following UNSOLICITED recommendation of the

LODI MANUFACTURING CO'S

POUDRETTE.

DUNBARTON, N. H., May 1, 1862.

MR. SHORES,—Dear Sir:—

Last year I rent to you for three barrels of Poudrette.

Upon two acres of land I spread about twenty loads of barn manure to the acre. Upon ten rows of corn, planted upon this, I showed in a hill. Upon the next ten POUDRETTE, and then phosphate of lime upon ten—and thus through the field.

One load of hog-manure went five rows of seventy hills;

A ba of Poudrette eighteen rows;

A bag of Phosphate of Lime sixteen rows, all of the same length.

The Corn upon which the Poudrette was spread was more in quantity and superior in quality to the other, and also proves it to be the cheapest.

I want six barrels for this year, and my neighbors want ten or fifteen barrels more.

Please write upon what terms you will furnish it. Yours, CHARLES HOLMES.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky:

NEW YORK May 1, 1861.

Mr. WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:

Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice, and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your reputation in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

DR. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others

Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your request, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,

I remain, very respectfully,

WM. T. CUTTER, JR.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer

Simple, Economical, Durable,

AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only been perfected and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent boiling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-FOURTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit, and to purchasers who think, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

may7 JOSEPH H. FOSTER'S.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as GUANO and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more liberally without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, squashes, melons, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a good start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried meal. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

☞ George W. Whitten, confined in Augusta (Me.) jail, awaiting his trial, made his escape from that institution on Sunday, 4th inst., by fastening the turnkey in one of the cells, and then with a key which he had in his possession, unlocking the door opening into the jailor's office, and making his escape into the street. Monday he stole a pair of boots and proceeded to Winthrop, and there stole an overcoat from the depot, and exchanged the boots for a pair of shoes. Tuesday he proceeded to Readfield, and that night entered a building used as a store and post office, helping himself to various articles in the store, and robbing the post office of letters, &c. SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE

PURE AND FOUR YEARS OLD, OF CHOICE OPORTO FRUIT, For Physicians' Use, FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS.

SAMBUCUS TREE, OF PORTUGAL,

The Great Remedy for Kidney Affections, Rheumatism, Chronic Complaints

Excellent Wine for Females.

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefitting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

A D V E R T I S E!

Advertise!

IT IS THE LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate channel of the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be of a kind adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy or good business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. by many it is considered the very time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it and I care not how loud the others are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it be gins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of sight for some time everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is as constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undervalues the influence without availing himself of its advantages.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and long standing Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Tumors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, love of solitude, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate. apr7—1y3taw

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 Endicott Street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system, Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

The Chronicle.

NORFOLK NAVY YARD.—Reports from Washington state that the Navy Yard at Norfolk, destroyed by the rebels, will immediately be rebuilt by the Government, as topographically speaking it is one of the best sites for such an establishment in the world. A good many people hope that the Government will not be in a hurry concerning this matter. The Hartford (Conn.) Courant says in relation to this subject:

"If the rebels at Norfolk do not want a Navy Yard in their vicinity, we trust Congress will accommodate them, and never appropriate a dollar to rebuild the ruined yard or to expend on vessels under construction in that region. The true Virginian thinks it more genteel to rot out a vegetable existence than to live one hour of crowded life. We would accommodate the Norfolk people, and let them vegetate. Perhaps a few years of decay, poverty and misery would awaken them to their folly. Their blood must stagnate in that hot pool, if forever they lose the market trade of the North in early vegetables, and what little circulation the expenditures of the navy yard have heretofore imparted to Norfolk trade. The population has been about 20,000, but it must dwindle to a very small figure if the navy yard is permanently abandoned. But the rebels are mad enough to bite their own noses off, to show their impotent spite against the best and mildest Government ever seen on the face of the globe."

We suppose the U. S. Government will at once build some temporary work shops or shanties at the Navy Yard in Norfolk, and make use of what tools and conveniences are left there, for the repair of our ships of war. But they certainly should not, and we hope they will not appropriate a dollar for costly buildings, nor order any vessels to be built there at present.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— A letter from Hilton Head to the New York Herald says that George A. Tarbox, of Co. K, Third N. H. regiment, has been tried for sleeping on his post, and sentenced to be shot. Gen. Benham approved the sentence, but referred the subject of its remission to the General commanding the department.

—— A dispatch received in Concord states that Capt. Colby, of the Goodwin Rifles, (Co. B,) of the 2d N. H. regiment, died of typhoid fever at the encampment near Fortown, on Thursday last.

☞ Capt. Boggs reports that the Navy Department are solely indebted to Major General Butler for the ability to make the fight and take the City of New Orleans.—The shipment of coal by the Navy Department for the use of the gunboats and to move the mortar fleet, was badly damaged, and it would not have reached the scene of operations in time. Gen. Butler furnished coal to the fleet from the transports supplied to him by the War Department, and thus the battle was fought and won. At New Orleans our officers found abundance of coal and appropriated it.

☞ In Silesia, a Province of Prussia, 260,000 colonies of bees are kept, representing a capital of more than one million dollars. These, even in the most unfavorable years, yield a profit of ten per cent., and in propitious seasons, such as the year 1846 was, the yield is fully 100 per cent., or more than $1,000,000. It is well ascertained that the whortleberry and buckwheat blossoms are much richer in saccharine juices on the poor soil of Silesia than in more fertile districts.

☞ Of six daily papers that have survived the hard times in New Orleans, the Boston Traveller says, "the two most sympathizing with the Union, are owned and edited by Southern men, and the four most rampant for treason are owned and edited by Northern men—two of them New England men."

☞ Several of the vessels found at New Orleans bore the British flag, and were loaded with cotton, with which they designed running the blockade. The question of relief under the circumstances of loss will be a curious one.

RHEUMATIC COMPOUND, for the cure of Rheumatism in all its stages, phases and manner of acute and chronic gout, neuralgia, lumbago, &c This compound he has proved to be the surest remedy for those complaints that he has tried or known during the whole 40 years of his study and practice of medicine. Price $1.00.

His FAMILY PILLS are warranted paramount to any in the market, as a safe, easy and effectual physic. Price 25 cents.

His CONSERVE cures the piles, headache and costiveness, and is the surest remedy for worms in young or old. Price 25 cents.

COUGH DROPS for phthisic, colds, asthma, croup, whooping and chin coughs, and all diseases of the lungs. Price of small bottles, 25 cts.; large, 50 cents.

EXETER, March 3, 1861. "Many of my brethren in the ministry frequently complain of oppressed lungs and hoarseness of voice after frequent labors. I wish by this card to say to them and all others affected that the Cough Drops prepared by Dr. Swett of Portsmouth, is a valuable remedy. I have found nothing that gives relief so quick. Let every suffering preacher take a phial and try it.
Ed. EDWIN BURNHAM."

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of these medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. 1y30

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, MAY 20, 1862.

For the Chronicle.

THE UNION AS IT WAS.—The radical men and newspapers are boldly setting their faces against the Union. They have some concealed, perhaps because indefinite, idea of what sort of government they propose to establish, but they do not explain.

The enemies of the Union, North and South, are uniting for a vigorous and final struggle against it. The true Union-Savers, the constitutional men of the nation, are rallying to the support of the Old Union against enemies on both sides. The Shibboleth by which we know a patriot now is, "Are you for the Union of Washington, the Old Union, the American Union, one and indivisible?" If any man hesitates, prevaricates or explains before he says yes to that question, set him down as a disunionist. —Journal of Commerce.

If the reader will look at the first paragraph, quoted above, he will see the N. Y. Journal of Commerce find fault with certain men and papers, because they do not explain;—and looking at the last he may see the same paper set them down as disunionists if they do explain. Very liberal indeed, and quite in character.

It is probable, we think, that nine-tenths of the people of New England and New York, are in favor of the Old Union of Washington and Jay, Franklin and Marshall, but not at all probable that one-third of them are in favor of the New Union of Buchanan and Taney, Breckinridge and Floyd,—and many will hesitate to swallow such a dose. U. T.

THE REBELLION.

Our gunboats were "repulsed" on the James river, only because their guns could not be brought to bear on the rebel fortifications on the high bluffs. After a five hours' action they accordingly retired.

Gen. McClellan's command on Saturday, reached Bottom's Bridge, 15 miles from Richmond, when they drove the enemy across the Chickahominy, the rebels, however, destroying the bridge. A gunboat expedition up Pamunkey river caused the rebels to destroy two steamers and twenty schooners.

Deserters say Bragg is in command at Corinth, Beauregard having been called to Richmond by rather pressing events in that quarter.

The rebels, on the 11th inst., destroyed the Pensacola Navy Yard and the forts.—Fort Pickens opened a furious bombardment and kept it up during the conflagration, the rebel accounts say without any damage to any one.

It is unofficially stated that Flag Officer Goldsborough has taken possession of the two batteries on James river, one of which was silenced by the Galena on her way to Richmond.

It is reported that the iron-clad boat Galena was considerably damaged in her upper works by the plunging shot of the rebel batteries below Richmond.

FORT WARREN.—It is stated in the Baltimore Sun that the result of the investigation by the commissioners appointed by the President, into the cases of the State prisoners confined at Fort Warren is, that of twenty-nine prisoners from all parts of the country, twenty were released or were offered their release upon parole. Among those not released was Marshal Kane of Baltimore. Mayor Brown of Baltimore was offered his release if he would resign his position as Mayor of Baltimore, as the existing state of things there did not admit of his resuming the duties of his office. He declined the offer.

☞ In obedience to the proclamation of Jeff. Davis, Gen. Pemberton proclaimed martial law in Charleston and the whole district between the Santee and South Edisto rivers, on the 9th of May. On the 1st of May Governor Pickens had issued a similar proclamation. On the 12th Provost Marshal Hagood warned the people of Charleston, that all the salt owned in the city should at once be delivered to the military authorities. The removal of salt from the city is strictly forbidden under pains and penalties.

☞ The California Senate, on the 14th, convicted Judge Hardy, of the 16th District Court, of disloyalty to the government, by a two-thirds' vote, and a resolution of expulsion was passed.

The charge of misconduct against Judge Terry, for killing Broderick, failed by a tie vote.

A young man in Washington, a member of a Quaker family, enlisted in the Union army. He called to say farewell to an old aunt, a Quaker lady, who remarked to him, 'Thomas, what strange clothes thee has on, for a Friend?' 'Yes, Rebecca, they are military clothes. I have joined the army, and I am going to do something for my country.' 'Well, Thomas, this is a good country, and we have an excellent Government, and thee knows my sentiments about war, and what my teachings have always been; but, Thomas, if thee takes a gun, and thee should meet any of the wicked Rebels, I advise thee, Thomas, not to have a silent meeting.'

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— A destructive fire occurred in Manchester, Monday morning. The fire broke out about two o'clock, in a stable in the rear of property on Manchester street, and extended rapidly. It burnt five houses on Manchester street, belonging to the John Eastman heirs, all insured in various companies. It was cheap tenement property, occupied by twenty one families. It also burnt another tenement house adjoining, occupied by two families. House owned by Thomas Smith, occupied by ten families, was well scorched out. The basement was occupied as a grocery store. Most of the furniture was got out. The fire crossed north to Hanover street, taking Prince's coffin warehouse, the Mrs. J. M. Bean block, the Granite State Market, and the three next tenement houses. Mrs. Bean was insured $1500 on the building and $1500 on her stock. A paint shop was also destroyed. The market and the coffin warehouse were owned by John Prince. Insured $1000.—Most of the property was insured. The whole loss will not exceed $30,000 on the houses.

—— By the death of Capt. Drowne, of Co. E, 2d N. H. Regiment, Mr. Wm. H. Smith, of Exeter, becomes captain, and Mr. Perkins, also of Exeter, 1st Lieut.

—— An article, entitled Old-fashioned Comforts, which appeared originally in the Exeter News Letter, is floating about in the newspapers, cred ted to the Scientific American, and has been twice copied by the News Letter thus credited.

—— The votes for officers in Hillsborough County, last March, were declared by the Court in session at Nashua, on Tuesday last. The Republican candidates were elected by an average majority of 926.

—— E. P. Liscombe, of Lebanon, one of the allotment Commissioners to the N. H. Regiments, brought $10,000 from the 5th Regiment. He says many of that regiment are sick.

—— Mr. Samuel Currier, of Henniker, was drowned on Thursday by falling into a pond.

—— The Boston papers have much to say in praise of the steam fire-engine recently built for that city, by the Amoskeag Company, of Manchester, and we have already copied one or two of their notices.—The machine hereafter may as well do its own spouting.

☞ We have recorded the commission as Major U. S. A., granted to a woman in one of Halleck's regiments. But what is most unhappy in the case of this lady-Major, is that her once adoring and loving husband, who now holds the rank of Lieutenant, insists on being made a Colonel, and gives as a reason that his wife now commands him, from the virtue of her rank—being a Major—and that this is directly contrary to the original understanding existing between them at the day of their nuptials. From this protest of the Lieutenant all law abiding wives will hold up their hands and exclaim, "Oh! the brute."

☞ Gov. Letcher in a message to the Virginia Legislature, declares the conscription law unconstitutional, as being an invasion of State rights. In the same document alluding to the loss of slave property, the governor says:—

"The loss to the citizens of Virginia in the item of slave property alone far exceeds the loss from the destruction of cotton or any other species of property during the war. Counties in Virginia have been overrun, containing an aggregate slave population of 80,728 by the late census, and which at a moderate value is worth in round numbers, $45,000,000."

☞ Capt. Wilson, who retook the Emilie St. Pierre, was on the 3d inst. presented with a service of plate and a gold chronometer, by a number of Liverpool merchants. He was also presented with a sextant by his own crew. The Mercantile Marine Association of Liverpool have decided to have a gold medal struck for the captain and a silver one for each of the men. The owners have made Capt. Wilson a present of £2,000; and it is stated that they also intend to provide handsomely for his companions, one of whom is an Irishman, and the other a German.

WALKING TO SCHOOL WHILE ON FIRE.—The Plymouth Memorial states that as, on Tuesday morning, a daughter of Mr. Samuel Reynolds of that town was leaving her parents' house to go to school, she observed that she smelt smoke somewhere, Not much notice taken of it, and she went out. As she was going down the street, some men at work near by saw smoke coming from her clothes and that she was on fire. They immersed her in a pond near by, and carried her home. Her clothes were nearly burned from off her, and her burns are of so serious a nature that her recovery is doubtful. Nothing is known as to how her clothing took fire.

☞ It is stated that Gen. Sumner is to be relieved from active duties for refusing to reinforce Gen. Heintzlemann at Williamsburg.

"Say, boy, you have been to Canton, haven't you?" "Yes." "Well can you speak China?" "Yes, a little—that is, I speak broken China."

IMMORTELLES.

OH! FOR PEACE AND QUIET.

The world is rough and wild with care—
The people are hurrying to and fro—
We are weary and worn, we sigh with despair,
Where—where shall we go?
Where shall we go to be free from this,
Just for a time to put it by?
Where struggle from out the desperate mass?
Give us rest, or else we die!
Is there no spot where violets grow,
Love, and dim, and silent and sweet,
Where flowers that lie in the dews below
Perfume our humble, aching feet?

A dim retreat,
Where very scorcey makes it sweet!
So silent, no sound doth ever come
Of the battling world, save the hum
Of bird wings and the breeze
Sighing its love out to the trees,
As we sigh out of one another!
To some dim nook in spirit westeal,
Letting the blind world reel;
While we, like children, are lulled to rest
With the soothing sense of a mother's breast.

EACH IN ALL.

Little thinks, in the field, yon red-cloaked clown,
Of thee, from the hill-top looking down;
And the heifer, that lows in the upland farm,
Far heard, lows not thine ear to charm;
The Sexton, tolling the bell at noon,
Dreams not thine approaching tune
Stops his horse, and lists with delight,
As his files sweep round yon distant height;
Nor knowest thou what argument
Thy life to thy neighbour's creed has lent;
All are needed by each one,
Nothing is fair or good alone. —Emerson.

FIVE GIRLS DROWNED.—While Wm. Ward, a lad of fifteen, was sailing with five of his sisters in a small boat, near Toronto, last Sunday, a sudden flaw of wind upset the boat, and the girls—the oldest of whom was thirteen and the youngest four years old—were all drowned. Young Ward strove to save them, but without avail.

☞ Gen. Burnside has squelched out C. H. Foster, a Maine man, who has been endeavoring to obtain a seat in Congress from North Carolina. He saw through Foster at once; and when the fellow advertised to address the people of Newbern, he indefinitely postponed the meeting and the orator.

Maj. Pangborn, paymaster of the army, and formerly editor of the Boston Atlas, reports that the effort by the strong-minded women, to educate the slaves at Port Royal, has produced great mischief, and there is no way of getting along with them except by a compulsory labor system, under the control of smart business overseers.—Boston Post.

☞ Secretary Wells says the Varona (which was sunk, below New Orleans,) and her armament, may yet be secured, though at some expense. The amount paid for her originally, was $127.46.

☞ The steamship Atlantic from Port Royal reports that a contraband pilot and crew ran away from Charleston with the steamer Planter, and arrived at Port Royal. They brought papers of the 12th, and seven heavy guns, one an eight-inch rifled gun, intended for Fort Ripley, being constructed in Charleston Harbor.

☞ Experience having proved that two surgeons are not sufficient for one regiment in time of actual warfare, the Governors of some of the Northwestern States are doubling the number. Gov. Morton of Indiana has appointed forty-eight additional surgeons for the twenty-four regiments raised in that State.

☞ The French steamer Montezuma, from Vera Cruz, 8th, has arrived at New York, and reports the French army marching on the City of Mexico, and that they are meeting with but little opposition.

DEATHS.

In this city, May 18th, Mr. WILLIAM WALKER, aged 82 years.

Funeral services in the Methodist Church, on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

In Bristol, April 30, after severe suffering caused by injuring a nerve near the ankle joint, ADDIE FLORENCE FOGG, aged 10 years, daughter of Oliver B. and Lucy G. Fogg, aged 10 years.

Local.

☞ JOHN B. GOUGH, the celebrated, eloquent, and world-renowned orator, is to speak this evening, at the Temple. As the people of Portsmouth have never heard him, and may not have another opportunity so to do, the capacity of the hall ought to be the only limit of the audience.

His fame, as a most impressive and engaging lecturer, especially on Temperance, extends across the Atlantic, on both sides of which he is acknowledged as better able than almost any other speaker, to affect and impress an audience—causing the susceptible hearer to laugh or cry at will. As usual with Mr. Gough, his lecture to-night, we are informed, will not be confined to one topic, tho' his favorite theme will be presented as only he can present it. All who appreciate glowing eloquence, should be sure to secure tickets early to-day.

☞ The trees and flowers at the present time are in advance of ordinary seasons, some days; and the grass is very forward. Often, on the 20th of May, the commencement of pasturing, there is little feed; but this season it will be ample.

☞ The New York Shipping List notes the sale of A1 new ship City of Montreal, built at Portsmouth, N. H., in 1861, at $60,000, bought by Thomas Dunham and Stephen W. Cary, to go in Dunham's London Line.

☞ Dolly Dutton, the little fairy, who is so full of grace and beauty that you almost forget her diminutive size, and enjoy rather than wonder while she is before you, —is to hold her levees at the Temple on Thursday afternoon and evening. See the advertisement for the programme.

☞ Auctioneer Adams is to sell a most eligible residence this forenoon. See his advertisement.

☞ The Paris Patrie of the 4th inst., asserts that M. Mercier, the French Minister to Washington, had a long conference with Jefferson Davis at Richmond, and that the step taken by M. Mercier is entirely of a political character, and is known by President Lincoln.

The London Morning Herald argues from the reports of M. Mercier's visit to Richmond that the beginning of the end is not far distant. It says France and England suffer more than neutrals ever suffered from any contest, and both begin to regard the war as interminable and atrocious.

NAVAL.—The ten grades of rank in the Navy, as laid down in the bill on which the House Naval Committee has acted favorably, are as follows:—Admirals, Commodores, Lieutenants, Commanders, Lieutenant-Commanders, Lieutenant-Masters, Passed Midshipmen, Midshipmen, Naval Cadets.

☞ The libel suit of D. H. Craig, Agent of the Associated Press, against F. O. J. Smith, is now on trial before the Superior Court of New York city. The alleged libellous article was published in the Boston Courier some years since, and charged Mr. Craig with cutting the wire of the Boston and New York line, in order to give Mr. Little the advantage of an important cypher dispatch. Damages claimed, $25,000.

LARGE CARGO.—The barque Island City, of Boston, which arrived at Portland on Saturday, from Matanzas, brings one of the largest, if not the largest, cargo of molasses ever brought to that port. It consists of seven hundred and sixty-seven hogsheads, seventy-seven tierces, and three barrels.

☞ The New York World, in allusion to high prices at Nashville, says that "chickens that sold a year ago for twenty cents each, now command forty to fifty." The Rochester Union thinks that is not an unreasonable increase, considering their age.

A DEFAULTER.—The Traveller states that a gentleman who has been doing an extensive business in the boot and shoe trade, in Pearl street, Boston, mysteriously disappeared on Saturday, leaving debts to the amount of $175,000. A number of his notes went to protest.

If the synopsis of Ben Wood's speech in Congress, which we have seen, is correct, he ought to be appointed a Colonel under Jeff. Davis.—Boston Post.

☞ A four-inch plank, 107 feet in length, was recently turned out at a saw mill in Oregon.

"Well, Susy, what do you think of married ladies being happy?" "Why, I think there are more ain't that is, than is that ain't."

Now that the Merrimac is destroyed, the rebel navy is reduced to one steamer, the Nashville, and one tug, the tug of war.

☞ Gen. Hunter's proclamation has been published at Charleston, and a negro insurrection is said to be imminent.

A PROPER UNION.—It is said that Gen. Wool entered Norfolk, accompanied by Mayor Lamb. A very natural union.

Hollins' Ram has been sheared; it was a great cry and little wool.

The camp saying is, that Zouaves can eat brick-bats and sleep on broken bottles.

CARDS AND BILL HEADINGS are indispensable to the business man, and we would remind all in want of such work, that the Chronicle Office is the place to get it done.

Our terms for Subscription, Advertising and Job Work, except where accounts are open, are, invariably and exclusively, cash in advance of doing the work.

☞ We always take it as a favor, if subscribers will inform us immediately, when their papers are missed, or if delivered by others than our regular authorized carriers, or not strictly in accordance with our patrons' orders or desires.

Probate Advertisements.

The language of the law relating to the publication of Probate Notices is:

"The party required to publish any notice ordered by the Judge of Probate to be given in a newspaper, may select the paper therefor."

Will our subscribers remember this, and when they have occasion to do business at the Probate Office, if agreeable, request that their notices may be ordered for the Chronicle or the Gazette; otherwise a different paper may be selected.

Our terms are as low as those of any other paper

Farmers! Farmers!
Your attention is requested to the following UNSOLICITED recommendation of the
LODI MANUFACTURING CO'S
POUDRETTE.
DUNBARTON, N. H., May 1, 1862.
MR. SHORES,—Dear Sir:—
Last year I sent to you for three barrels of Poudrette.
Upon two acres of land I spread about twenty loads of barn manure to the acre. Upon ten rows of corn I put hog manure, a shovel in a hill. Upon the next ten POUDRETTE, and then phosphate of lime upon ten—and thus through the field.
One load of hog manure went five rows of seventy hills;
A box of Poudrette eighteen rows;
A bag of Phosphate of Lime sixteen rows, all of the same length.
The Corn upon which the Poudrette was spread was more in quantity and superior in quality to the other, and also proves it to be the cheapest.
I want six barrels for this year, and my neighbors want ten or fifteen barrels more.
Please write upon what terms you will furnish it. Yours, CHARLES HOLMES.

NEW YORK May 1, 1861.
MR. WM. T. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky.:
Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.
Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.
We are, very respectfully, your obt. servts.

DR. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others:
Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,
I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. T. CUTTER, JR.
We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S
Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!
THE SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be seen, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.
Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.
In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.
The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a hand-kerchief or bed-quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.
The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.
We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.
Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.
Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

The Best Manure.
The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called
POUDRETTE.
The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.
Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.
A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried meat. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.
DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

Boy Wanted.
A good, smart, intelligent Boy, may have opportunity to learn the Printer's trade, at the Chronicle Office.

Morning Chronicle.

☞ The Wheeling, Va., Press says, a number of years ago a free black man of Washington City raised sufficient money to purchase a black woman. By her he has since raised a family of six or seven children. As, by the law of the District, the child follows the condition of the mother, of course these children are his slaves. He has therefore filed his claim, and asked payment from the Government, valuing his picaninnies at $300 each. The Press calls this "selling his own children." It is to be noted, however, that he sells them into freedom, and not into slavery, which makes quite a difference.

☞ The rebel Gen. Beauregard says in a late address to his army:

"We are about to meet once more, in the shock of battle, the invaders of our soil, the despoilers of our homes, the disturbers of our family ties, face to face, hand to hand. We are to decide whether we are to be freemen or vile slaves of those who are free only in name."

This looks as if Beauregard and his crew did not think slavery to be a very desirable condition,— and certainly they ought to know.

☞ The President has communicated to Gen. Wool, through Sec. Stanton, his thanks, as Commander in Chief, to him and the officers and soldiers of his command, for their gallantry and good conduct in the recent brilliant movement on Norfolk. On Friday, Brevet Maj. Gen. Wool was confirmed by the Senate, as Major General of the army.

☞ They are reviving garroting in Chicago. A man who visited the grave of Stephen A. Douglas, was garroted by a negro and three white men, and robbed of over $50 in money and $98 in notes.

☞ At Genoa a most startling robbery has been committed. Six thieves, armed with pistols and daggers, entered one of the principal banks, garroted the officials, and made off with 800,000 francs.

☞ A correspondent, who was with the fleet that captured New Orleans, says that whenever a heavy cannonading was going on between the fleet and the forts, large quantities of dead fish floated by the vessels.

A VETERAN ORGANIST.—Mr. Henry S. Edwards has for twenty one years presided at the organ of the High street Church in Portland. He has now retired to accept a similar position in the State st. Church.

In one of the New York churches, last Sunday, the clergyman concluded his sermon as follows:—"But I hear the rustling of silks in the pews, as if some of the ladies are impatient to leave; I will therefore say, God bless you!"

☞ There are as many seamen employed in the Navy of the United States as there are in that of England.

A D V E R T I S E!
Advertise!
IT IS THE
LIFE OF TRADE!
Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.
THE RIGHT MEANS.
Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.
To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means for the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and finds it there when means in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the information which they may be supplied, is naturally established.
THE RIGHT TIME.
Continual perseverance advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.
There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy or good business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to avoid; while the tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their books out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."
THE RIGHT WAY.
There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody looks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is so constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

A COOL JOB.—Workmen were engaged in Portland last week in carting snow from the rear of buildings on Fore street. The Courier noticed a bank of snow in the rear of the block fronting on Middle and Exchange streets, not more than two or three days ago, which was four feet deep.

☞ Miss M. Wise, aged eighteen years, committed suicide at Frederick, Md., on Monday night, by taking laudanum. It appears she was the betrothed bride of a young man named Dennis Stull, a soldier in the Federal army, who died a few days ago from wounds received in battle.

☞ As soon as Gen. Viele was seated in the chair so recently occupied by Gen. Huger, at Norfolk, a servant was ushered in by an orderly, and presented him with two beautiful bouquets of fresh and fragrant flowers. One of these bouquets was presented by the ladies of Norfolk, and the other by the ladies of Portsmouth.

THE EGG-TRADE.—Some idea may be formed of the magnitude of the egg-trade in New York from the following statement: One wholesale produce commission house on Friday, May 16, received 320 barrels of eggs; 165 barrels were consigned by one man in Peoria, Ill., and all came forward in one shipment. These were sold at buyer's risk, at 8 1-2 cents a dozen, packer's count—the best fresh eggs counted out being worth, say, 10 cents a dozen. The same house had previously received two shipments of 120 barrels each from the same man, and sold them from 10 to 10 1-2 cents a dozen. On being advised of the last shipment the house telegraphed the shipper that eggs had declined to 9 cents or less, asking instructions. The shipper replied: "Go ahead; it is your business to sell eggs. I will take care of my end of the line. Lots of hens in Illinois; plenty of corn, and eggs are cheap." Decidedly. They must be, to pay cost, freight, commission, and a profit at 8 1-2 cents a dozen. Illinois is a great country. It is wonderful on eggs, and New York is a mighty place for eating all that Illinois can produce.

☞ Monterey, which is six miles from Corinth, is a village of three houses.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837.)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents to other advantages the merits of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials herewith given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IN THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.
The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.
The subscriber has a large library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.
During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twelve rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

Dr. S. Swett's Vegetable Medicines.
The saving efficacy of these truly valuable medicines is daily witnessed by thousands of the first classes of society, of whom are physicians of success. The following are among his most popular preparations, viz.:
His PANACEA is unrivalled for the cure of Cancers, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Cancer in the mouth or throat, Sore or inflamed eyes, and all impurities of the blood. Price $1.00.
CORDIAL of Dandelion, Spikenard and Boneset—a remedy unsurpassed for the liver and heart complaint, costiveness, dizziness and pain in the head, stomach and side, and the whole family of consumptive complaints. Price 75 cents.
RHEUMATIC COMPOUND, for the cure of Rheumatism in all its stages, phases and names of acute and chronic gout, neuralgia, lumbago, &c. This compound he has proved to be the surest remedy for these complaints that he has tried or known during the whole 25 years of his study and practice of medicine. Price $1.00.
His FAMILY PILLS are warranted paramount to any in the market, as a safe, easy and effectual physic. Price 25 cents.
His CONSERVE cures the piles, headache and costiveness, and is the surest remedy for worms in young or old. Price 25 cents.
COUGH DROPS for phthisic, colds, asthma, croup, whooping and chin cough, and all diseases of the lungs. Price of small bottles, 33 cts.; large, 50 cents.
EXETER, March 3, 1861. "Many of my brethren in the ministry frequently complain of oppressed lungs and hoarseness of voice after frequent labors. I wish by this card to say to them and all others affected that the Cough Drops prepared by Dr. Swett of Portsmouth, is a valuable remedy. I have found nothing that gives relief so quick. Let every suffering preacher take a phial and try it.
Rev. EDWIN BURNHAM."
☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of these medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. 1y30

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 21, 1862.

For the Chronicle.

AN ERROR CORRECTED.—One of the most able papers in New England, in an article on foreign intervention, has this paragraph:—

"The class in England who call republicanism rascaldom to-day, have always called it such and always treated it as such.—They are the English aristocracy, the cream of the cream of whom have for a generation been the high priests at the Exeter Hall incantations; who, under the hypocritical pretence of aiming at abolishing American slavery, really designed the destruction of the American Union and the check of the political power of the United States."

The careful reader will see that the latter sentence is somewhat ambiguous. If the word who means the aristocracy,—then the charge that they desire the destruction of our Union and power, is partly true. But if it means that portion of the cream, who at Exeter Hall or elsewhere have labored to abolish American slavery,—then the charge that they desire our destruction, is wholly false.

The movements in England against slavery in the West Indies, in the East Indies, in the United States, and elsewhere, for the last forty years, have all been made by the same classes of men, and to a great extent by the same men, of whom only a few belong to the aristocracy.

Of all the English abolitionists not one, of any note, can be named who is not favorable to the free states, or who has said anything in favor of the rebellion or the rebels.

It is certain that their efforts to abolish slavery in the West Indies were not a pretence, merely covering their design to destroy the colonies, or to cut them off from the British crown. And they certainly had no such effect. And there is therefore no good reason for the insinuation against them of hypocrisy, when they apply to slavery in our territory the same condemnation which they bestowed upon their own.

The English philanthropists are mostly the religious part of the working and reading man, embracing only a few of the aristocracy, and fewer still of the managing politicians.

These latter classes resisted the anti-slavery efforts, and most other reforms, as long as they could,—until the people compelled them to fall back and let the right prevail.

GEN. HUNTER'S PROCLAMATION.—President Lincoln has issued a proclamation declaring in regard to Gen. Hunter's recent proclamation emancipating the slaves in his department, that the government had no knowledge or belief of an intention on the part of Gen. Hunter to issue such a proclamation, nor has it yet any authentic information that the document is genuine; and, further, that neither Gen. Hunter nor any other commander or person has been authorized by the Government of the United States to make proclamation declaring the slaves of any State free, and that the supposed proclamation now in question, whether genuine or false, is altogether void so far as respects such declaration.

The President also states that he shall reserve to himself alone the decision of the questions whether it be competent for him, as Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy, to declare the slaves of any State or States free, and whether at any time or in any case it shall have become a necessity indispensible to the maintenance of the Government, to exercise such supposed power.

☞ The Chicago Journal states that the steam rams which have been for some time in the course of construction, at Louisville and other points on the Ohio River, are at last completed, and on their way to their destination. It adds: "It is needless to attempt to disguise the fact that the recent engagement between our fleet and that of the rebels, came but little short of being a reverse on our side. The rebel rams accomplished no small amount of damage to two or three of our gunboats, and our entire fleet barely succeeded in repulsing the attacking force, which, repairs being made, will return to the attack. With rams in our flotilla, we may confidently anticipate a great victory in our next engagement."—Some of the vessels designed to reinforce the Federal flotilla were at Cincinnati ten days ago. They are river steamers, razed and altered by covering their sides with two thicknesses of timber, each being about eight inches thick, and composed of live oak. The prows are iron-plated and quite sharp. They are very powerful, and are intended to run down and sink rebel crafts on the Western rivers.

DISCOVERY OF COAL IN INDIA.—Lieut. Col. Fyers has recently discovered a bed of coal in what is called the sub-Himalayan range of Mountains, in North India. The locality in which it was discovered is near Simla. Its quality is good, but not equal to the best English or American.

DOGS AND SHEEP.—The Agricultural paper of New Hampshire, and several other papers, are calling for an Anti-Dog Law,—giving as a reason for it, that the dogs destroy so many sheep as to discourage farmers from raising them.

There is no doubt that a penal law against dogs would diminish their number somewhat,—and would cost the State, or the Counties, a large sum of money. But the same object might be reached more easily in another way, and the State make money by it, viz. by imposing a tax on dogs, say $1 per head, or 50 cts. per head,—either of which would be readily paid by every man who values his favorite dog, and would yield a large revenue. There is no reason why dogs should not be taxed as well as sheep,—and if it is desired to encourage sheep raising, lighten the tax on sheep, and lay a good round tax on the dog.

☞ The Manchester Mirror says:—"The annual spring drive of logs in the Merrimack river is near here—two million feet of them, from Woodstock, Thornton, Wentworth, Pemigewasset and Bakers' river, on their way to the "spindle city." The drive is the property of Mr. Otis Allen of Lowell. Mr. Allen is at Manchester superintending the drive in person; he has a crew of about fifty men, stout, muscular, hearty fellows as are ever met."

For the Chronicle.

☞ In a brief review of Gen. Hunter's order for emancipation, one paper says,—

"No greater cruelty could possibly be inflicted on the blacks themselves, than would follow the unprepared and sudden infranchisement of the negro slaves."

This is directly contradicted, by the experience of the million of people made free in the West Indies, not one of whom has complained of the cruelty. It is also contradicted by the experience of a few thousand in our land, from whom their masters have very suddenly run away. William Davis who spoke here the other day; did not think it at all cruel that he was suddenly made free,—nor did he fear the like cruelty for any or all of his brethren.

The freedmen of Washington are not groaning about the cruelty they suffer:—but all the groans come from another quarter, where they are only ludicrous. They provoke laughter not tears. U. T.

IN THE U. S. SENATE, Monday, May 19,—a bill was passed giving half the value of the steamer Planter and cargo to Robert Small, the runaway slave pilot, and his associates for their services in bringing away the vessel, guns, &c., from the rebels. A resolution presenting medals of honor to soldiers that distinguish themselves in battle was passed. The Confiscation bill was taken up. Mr. Sumner of Mass. favored the principle of confiscation and emancipation of the slaves of the rebels, and urged the adoption of his substitute. Several amendments, offered by Senators Davis, Powell and Henderson, were rejected by two-thirds votes. Mr. Saulsbury offered a pro slavery amendment, and Mr. Wilson one of opposite character,—which were not acted upon.

In the HOUSE, articles of impeachment against Judge Humphrey of Tennessee, as a traitor, were agreed to. Mr. Hutchins advocated his bill equalizing and reducing Postage. He advocated a two cent postage system, the money order, and the abolition of the franking privilege. The Naval Appropriation bill, $38,000,000, was passed; including $48,000 for the Naval Academy at Newport, R. I.

☞ The New Orleans Delta says that 15,000 bales of cotton were burnt in that city on the approach of our gunboats. The tobacco, being all held by foreign residents on foreign account, was not destroyed.

The specie of the banks, to the amount of twelve or fifteen millions, was removed from the city and deposited in a secure place. A correspondent of the Mobile Tribune says he saw 12,000 bales of cotton, rolled out on the levee at New Orleans, in one sheet of flame. The Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel wants to know why the sugar and tobacco were not destroyed, and adds: "There is no justice in placing the whole burden and destruction of this war on the cotton merchants and planters."

☞ T. B. Peterson & Brothers, 306 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, will publish on Saturday next, another story from the pen of Mrs. Henry Wood, author of "the Channings," "Earl's Heirs," "East Lynne," &c. The forth-coming work is entitled "a Life Secret, or a story of woman's revenge,' and the many admirers already won by this popular author, will look with anxiety for another of her powerful and fascinating stories. The price of "a Life's Secret" is but 50 cents a copy, and it will be sent free of postage to any one, on receipt of that amount by the publishers.

☞ Confederate money is quoted in Richmond at 97, and gold and silver at 80 cents premium. This would make Jeff. Davis' Treasury notes worth about 17 cents on the dollar.

The greater part of the goodness at any time in the world is the goodness of common character; the chief part of the good work done must be done by the multitude.

THE REBELLION.

Com're Goldsborough has gone up the James river with a strong naval force, to make another attempt to open the way to Richmond by water. In the recent engagement at Fort Darling, of 28 shots that struck the Galena, 18 penetrated her armor, which was not designed to resist heavy shot of the description fired at her from the fort at so great an angle of elevation. Not one of those striking the Monitor did any damage whatever, all glancing off.

At Norfolk several attempts have been made to assassinate Union soldiers.

Suffolk, Va., seventeen miles from Norfolk by railroad, and twenty-five by the road, was occupied by the Union troops on Monday morning. The place was evacuated by the enemy on Sunday last.

Gen. McClellan's army commenced moving at an early hour on Monday morning, in the direction of Richmond. There are, it is said, but two forts between Gen. McClellan and Richmond. It is asserted that for seven miles this side of Richmond the country is one large disorganized camp of desperate men, savagely determined to fight to the last, and proposing neither to give nor take quarter.

Reports from Gen. Fremont's department state that guerrillas attacked a train with four officers and some sick Union soldiers, and killed or captured all of them, except one surgeon. Col. Downey, being sent in pursuit, killed their captain and three men, wounded several and took twelve prisoners, effectually breaking up the band.

It is reported from Strasburg, Va., that 2900 rebel cavalry have been disbanded and formed into guerrilla bands, and that they occupy various mountain ranges and fastnesses.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The mercury in Dover on Saturday noon, indicated ninety-five degrees above zero, in the shade.

—— A Concord clergyman, who preached in Manchester, on Sunday, was requested to read some notices. One word he could not decipher, and stepping down from the desk, he applied first to a blind man, and next, to an old gentleman who had "left his spectacles at home." The minister, judging from the two specimens, that it was not a far seeing congregation, gave up in despair, and returned to the pulpit.

—— The official list gives the names of 16 killed at Williamsburg, 68 wounded, and 19 missing, of the 2d N. H. Regiment.

"IT BEATS THE DEVIL!"—Speaking of jokers, we meet with a good many of them dodging about the country; but it is seldom that we see one that is sharper or quicker on a good hit than our old friend, J. D. Lyman, cashier of the Farmington Bank, N.H. Though a great wit, he possesses the dignified qualifications for presiding at a meeting, unequalled by any other man in the town, and consequently at all august assemblies, such as political demonstrations, war meetings, elections, etc., he has to take the chair. At the late election friend Lyman was "moderator;" and just as the polls were being closed and the vanquished politicians were getting noisy and ready for a knock-down with any one who should have the politeness to tread on their coat-tails, a rough, double-breasted shoulder-hitter pushed through the crowd, swinging his long arms indiscriminately at friend or foe, and exclaimed:—

"I s-a-y, you moderator, how much behind hand is my candidate?"

"Twenty-one votes," politely replied the cashier.

"Well, don't that beat the devil?" screeched the infuriated man, looking around for a chance to hit some one.

"By just twenty-one majority!" was the quick and witty reply.—N. Y. Atlas.

☞ An improvement—the decrease in the ladies' hoops. May the dear creatures' shadows grow less and less.

☞ Capt. Ericsson has planned a large sea-going Monitor with a single turret, plated with iron twenty-four inches thick, and armed with two guns, carrying a ball 1000 pounds in weight.

☞ The Ocean House, at Shrewsbury, N. J., was totally destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning. Insured.

☞ See a woman, in another column picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y

CAPTIOUS—The Portsmouth Chronicle. It may well chide the American for printing modern, "wooden," or for christening a very respectable building as Foreman's (Freeman's) Block, without leave of the proprietor,—a blunder of ours entirely, as the Chronicle knows. But when it essays to be witty in regard to the former position of Portsmouth, it manifests unnecessary stupidity. "Kineo," who, by the way, has seen salt water, raps the old clam shell city, and that hurts the Chronicle.—Manchester American.

Hold your horses, Mr. American—we made no issue with you. But if you choose to take up for "Kineo," why, all right. Only, unless you can show wherein "the position" of Portsmouth has been changed, it may be as well for you to keep your own "clam shell" closed, and then you won't any farther expose your ignorance.

We hold that Portsmouth is the handsomest, most thrifty, substantial, attractive and healthful city in the State—always was, and always will be; and call for proof to the contrary. And all this without in the least detracting from the merits and powers of her younger and more bustling sister cities.

REAL ESTATE SALES.—The city residence of Albert Blaisdell, Esq., on Middle Street, advertised for sale in the Chronicle of Monday, was sold on that day to Capt. John B. Fray, for the sum of $4,750—so reported, we presume correctly.

J. B. Adams, Esq., on Tuesday, sold at auction the house of J. W. Emery, Esq., corner Islington and Cornwall streets, to Mr. Joseph Holmes, for $3,275.

These sales, and other recent transfers of real estate in the city, go to show that the prices of such property here have not materially changed for several years.

☞ Thirty or forty years ago, a distinguished mineralogist and geologist, whose fame is not now confined to this country, stated that many of the citizens of Portsmouth every day walked over one of the rarest natural curiosities to be found in America. This was a beautifully veined stone in the pavement, in front of the Piscataqua Exchange Bank,—and near the termination of the crossing from the North Church. The stone remains there to-day—look at it.

☞ In the act making appropriations for the erection of fortifications and other works of defence, approved Feb. 20th, there are appropriated for the erection of temporary works in Maine, and in the harbor of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, when, in the judgment of the President, the expenditure of the same, or any part thereof, shall be advisable, five hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

G. H. G.—Company C, of the Governor's Horse Guards, will probably parade in Dover, on Wednesday, May 28th, as escort for the Strafford Guards. The two sections of this (the Third) Company,—at Great Falls and Portsmouth,—are drilling for the summer, and are gradually filling up their ranks with new members.

☞ We understand that a movement is to be begun in this city, to procure passage in New Hampshire, of a Game Law, similar to those in other States,—for the protection of birds which are now shot out of season.—Such enactment is needed to restrain "pot-hunters."

☞ The military spirit has manifested itself recently, among the boys in this city, to quite an unusual extent. A few evenings since, a little fellow was overheard to say, while he shouldered a "quaker" and marched along the sidewalk, "there goes an ordinary sergeant."

☞ Capt. Edward Moses of this city, has been appointed Acting Master in the Navy, and ordered to report to Capt. T. A. Dornin, at Baltimore for command of the U. S. steamer Fernandina.

☞ Appointment by the Governor and Council, May session, 1862,—Oren Bragdon, of Portsmouth, Justice of the Peace for the county of Rockingham.

☞ The Stereoscopton is the name of a new and wonderful invention, by means of which exhibitions will be given in this city in a short time. It affords most beautiful representations of scenes in nature and works in art, on a most magnificent scale.

☞ The Portland Argus says a distinguished Colonel of one of the Maine regiments, before leaving for the seat of war, had fine photographs of himself taken and furnished a copy to each of the workmen in his employ, with which they were much pleased. The pleasure was, however, marred a little, when, at the end of the week, they found the picture charged to them at 25 cents each!

☞ The Farmington Chronicle wants to know if a man with wooden legs can be considered a foot passenger.

☞ Acting Master Stone, who was in command of the Emily St. Pierre when she was recaptured by inferior force, has been dismissed the service. His report of the affair does not materially differ from the accounts published in the English papers.

1900 BARRELS of the LODI MANUFACT'G CO'S

Superior Poudrette.

This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.

TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!

Try it on your FIELD CROPS! Try it on your BEANS, your CABBAGES, your Corn, Potatoes Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY; try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS;

TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY.

The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity,

One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.

Also, for sale,

PURE PERUVIAN GUANO
—and—
Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime.

warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

Farmers! Farmers!

Your attention is requested to the following unsolicited recommendation of the

LODI MANUFACTURING CO'S

POUDRETTE.

DUNBARTON, N. H., May 1, 1862.

MR. SHORES,—Dear Sir:—

Last year I sent to you for three barrels of Poudrette.

Upon two acres of land I spread about twenty loads of barn manure to the acre. Upon ten rows of corn I put hog manure and spread in a hill. Upon the next ten POUDRETTE, and then phosphate of lime upon ten—and thus through the field.

One load of hog manure went five rows of seventy hills;

A bag of Poudrette eighteen rows;

A bag of Phosphate of Lime sixteen rows, all of the same length.

The Corn upon which the Poudrette was spread was more in quantity and superior in quality to the other, and also proves it to be the cheapest.

I want six barrels for this year, and my neighbors want ten or fifteen barrels more.

Please write upon what terms you will furnish it. Yours, CHARLES HOLMES.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky:

NEW YORK, May 1, 1861.

MR. WM. T. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky.:

Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Boubon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

DRS. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others

Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, I am,

I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,

WM. T. CUTTER, JR.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a responsible person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and WM. T. CUTTER, JR., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer

Simple, Economical, Durable,

AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

THE SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least, and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Not water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of order.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringer Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried meat. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

Boy Wanted.

A good, smart, intelligent Boy, may have opportunity to learn the Printer's trade, at the Chronicle Office.

Morning Chronicle.

A New York letter says: "Broadway exhibits its gorgeous plumage and its newest fashions, without regard to the possible evils of the near future. Talk about the war teaching habits of economy, frugality and all that! Walk from Canal street to Grace Church, on the shilling side, and almost every 'McFlimsey' you meet is attired in silks or satins. Upon and along the fashionable avenues, about as many sumptuous carriages are to be seen rolling along as usual. The theatres are as well attended as ever,—the jewelry shops are sellig about as many gew-gaws as they sold before the war; and so on through all gradations of Metropolitan society and life. New York has heard much of the war, but the truth is it has but little felt it as yet."

Parsons, a Chicago lawyer, was trying a case before a jury, being counsel for the prisoner. The judge was very hard on him, and the jury brought in a verdict of guilty. Parsons moved for a new trial.—The judge denied his motion and remarked, "The court and the jury think the prisoner a knave and a fool." Instantly the counsel replied—"The prisoner wishes me to say he is perfectly satisfied—he has been tried by a court and jury of his peers."

To the question, "What is the weight of a million dollars in gold?" an officer of the mint answered as follows:—"The weight of one million dollars United States currency in gold, is 53,750 troy ounces. This makes 4479 pounds, 2 ounces—or nearly two tons and a quarter, reckoning 2000 pounds to each ton."

SAMBUCUS TREE OF PORTUGAL.

The Great Remedy for Kidney Affections, Rheumatism, Chronic Complaints.

Excellent Wine for Females.

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefiting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

WE REFER TO ADVERTISE!

Advertise!

IT IS THE

LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and exigencies of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy to curtail business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to dread, one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their books out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intersperse advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is so constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

THE NEWSPAPER

Advertising Agency

—OF—

S. R. NILES,

1 Scollay's Building, Court Street, Boston,

Embraces most of the principal Commercial, Business, Religious, Literary, Scientific and Agricultural Newspapers in the United States, British Provinces and Islands, and he is the duly appointed Agent, and authorized by the proprietors to receive advertisements and subscriptions at their lowest rates.

The Agent will spare no pains to render his agency a prompt, safe and reliable medium of communication with the Newspaper Press of the country. He feels qualified, from his long experience and devotion to the subject, to impart valuable information in regard to papers and localities best adapted for different kinds of business.

Persons desiring information, its cost, comparative value of papers and situations, are respectfully invited to call at the Agency, or they will be waited upon and every assistance rendered for the adoption of a thorough and judicious system of advertising. apr5 1f S. R. NILES.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, No. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate. apr7—1y3taw

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 Endicott Street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain one dollar, or they will not be answered.

CERTAIN CURE

In all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

The Chronicle.

LADIES' ORDINARY—STRIKING FAMILY GROUPS.—I suppose that I should have stated some time since that this is the "Ladies' Ordinary" of the National Hotel.—Thus this cheerful breakfast hall is distinguished from another, where men eat by themselves; where they may scrabble and bolt as many beefsteaks and sausages as men are supposed to be able to do in a hotel. The men who enter this hall are supposed to be gentlemen; supposed to have time to masticate their food in a Christian manner; time to read the newspaper, and to discuss the news with their lady friends, over their coffee. You see that it is a very long hall. The table which extends its entire length is for "transients." The small round tables on either side with their shining damask and silver, are for private families, the regular guests of the house.—Here we can drink our coffee as cosily and quietly as in the breakfast room at home, while, if we choose, seeing vastly more.—At the round table nearest the door sits Senator Clark of New Hampshire, with his beautiful boys and pleasant, matronly wife. I believe in Senator Clark. Anywhere, under any circumstances, though I knew nothing else of the man, I would believe in such a face and head as his. He is an earnest and eloquent senator, a patriot and a christian. A man over six feet high, of strong nervous temperament, dark hair and open face, on every line of which is stamped the truth. Next him, more mindful of his news paper than his breakfast, sits Senator Hale, looking exceedingly comfortable, with his very round face and very large stomach.—Mrs. Hale, whether eating her breakfast, or sitting plainly dressed in the Senate gallery, or in purple and ermine ready for calls, or in the full costume of the evening, always looks handsome. A woman of queenly presence, with commanding, magnetic eyes, she can lay claim to beauty as well as her lovely daughters, and at an evening party looks like their elder sister.—Springfield Republican.

☞ Nebraska looks for great benefit from the Homestead bill. The "News," printed at Nebraska City, believes "there are a hundred and fifty thousand persons in the free and border slave States, who will immediately seek new homes where land can be had free. This free gift of the nation, and the beneficent homestead exemption laws of Nebraska, will induce the vast majority of them to come hitherward. We do not care how poor they may be—their hunger must be appeased and their backs must be made warm—and the more we have of them to render mutual service in opening and developing the vast resources of the country the better it will be for all concerned."

THE FIGHT ON THE MISSISSIPPI.—A letter from an officer on board the U. S. Ship Pensacola states that the gunboat Varuna, Capt. Boggs, first ran the gauntlet of the rebel forts Jackson and St. Phillip, and engaged the rebel fleet above, by a ruse.—He used some pork under his boilers, making a dense black smoke like that from the hard pine wood which the rebels used.—They thought the Varuna was one of their own boats, her very boldness favoring the deception. They discovered their mistake only when she opened fire upon them.

☞ The Boston Post says at a recent gathering of the feminine rebels at Nashville, to taboo all the loyal ladies from their set, it was resolved to make an exception in favor of a very amiable and beautiful young miss of their acquaintance. When she heard of their offer, however, she scornfully declined it, and stated her belief that Governor Johnson would accompany her to church on the ensuing Sabbath—an intimation which was, of course, attended to by the gallant Governor with proud satisfaction.

☞ Queer tastes have some people. At an exhibition of pictures at City Hall in Newburyport, on Saturday evening, a considerable part of the audience cheered a grave yard, and hissed at a dead man.

☞ Knee breeches, silk stockings, and low shoes, have been worn recently by some persons who desire to revive the style of dress of two centuries ago.

☞ The New York bar has decided that there is no cause for revoking Mr. Edwin James' license as member.

Dr. S. Swett's Vegetable Medicines.
The saving efficacy of these truly valuable medicines is daily witnessed by thousands of the first classes of society, many of whom are physicians of success. The following are among his most popular preparations, viz.:
His PANACEA is unrivalled for the cure of Cancers, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Canker in the mouth or throat, Sore or inflamed eyes, and all impurities of the blood. Price $1.00.
CORDIAL of Dandelion, Spikenard and Boneset—a remedy unsurpassed for the liver and heart complaint, costiveness, dizziness and pain in the head, stomach and side, and the whole family of consumptive complaints. Price 75 cents.
RHEUMATIC COMPOUND, for the cure of Rheumatism in all its stages, phases and names of acute and chronic gout, neuralgia, lumbago, &c. This compound he has proved to be the surest remedy for these complaints that he has tried or known during the whole 40 years of his study and practice of medicine. Price $1.00.
His FAMILY PILLS are warranted paramount to any in the market, as a safe, easy and effectual physic. Price 25 cents.
His CONSERVE cures the piles, headache and costiveness, and is the surest remedy for worms in young or old. Price 25 cents.
COUGH DROPS for phthisic, colds, asthma, croup, whooping and chin coughs, and all diseases of the lungs. Price of small bottles, 33 cts.; large, 50 cents.
EXETER, March 3, 1861. "Many of my brethren in the ministry frequently complain of oppressed lungs and hoarseness of voice after frequent labors. I wish by this card to say to them and all others affected that the Cough Drops prepared by Dr. Swett of Portsmouth, is a valuable remedy. I have found nothing that gives relief so quick. Let every suffering preacher take a phial and try it
Yrs. EDWIN BURGAM."
☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of these medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. ☞ All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. 1y20

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, MAY 22, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

Official reports of the recent engagement with Fort Darling, below Richmond, state that the works cannot be reduced without the aid of a land force.

Dispatches now state that everything indicates that the rebels intend to defend Richmond with all the available force they are able to bring forward. Richmond papers of the 16th contain a correspondence between the Virginia Legislature and Jeff. Davis. Davis states that he has never entertained the thought of withdrawing the army from Virginia, and abandoning the State; that if in the course of events the capital should fall, the necessity of which he did not see or anticipate, that would be no reason for withdrawing the army from Virginia. The war could still be successfully carried on and maintained on Virginia soil for twenty years.

Floyd has been appointed Major General of the Virginia forces, with authority to raise a force of 20,000 men, for the defence of Western Virginia.

Porter's mortar fleet has been off Mobile and in the Bay, and soundings have been made in the channel. On the 7th the fleet was fired on, while engaged in this work, by Fort Morgan, but no reply was made.—The fleet afterwards returned to Ship Id.

Our advance, under Gen. Stoneham, on Tuesday reached New Bridge, eight miles from Richmond. The rebel pickets, after being driven across Bottom Bridge, attempted to regain the post, by means of their artillery, but failed. Our whole army moved early Wednesday morning, with the intention of making a lengthy march.

The Tribune's Washington dispatch states that a call will soon be made for 100,000 more volunteers to be used as a reserve.—The N. Y. Post's dispatch says the President has decided to accept 50,000 more volunteers, to fill up regiments and form a reserve.

A number of our vessels under Com'r Lee, have gone up the Mississippi, as far as Vicksburg.

The rebels evacuated Pensacola on hearing that our steamers were going into Mobile Bay, and that the squadron and mortars would soon follow.

Com'r Porter left Ship Island on the 7th, to make arrangements for the attack on Mobile. It was believed that Fort Gaines would be evacuated, the rebels there going to reinforce Fort Morgan.

FROM PORT ROYAL.—A gentleman who came from Port Royal in the steamer Atlantic, which left on the 14th inst., says that the Emancipation Proclamation of Gen. Hunter was obnoxious to a large portion of the officers, but met with less opposition from the men than was anticipated.

He states that 30,000 stand of arms had been received there from the authorities at Washington, to arm the blacks incorporated into regiments raised for service during the coming hot and sickly season, and from this it was supposed that the Government sustained that portion of the programme of Gen. Hunter. But few white men had yet been found in the vicinity of Port Royal, and no Union sentiment had been manifested.

Gen. Hunter's force is a good deal scattered, and is not as strong in numbers as it should be for effective service.

A letter from that quarter complains of a want of reinforcements, and says if our Government had given them the reinforcements promised, they would have had Charleston and Fort Sumter before this time.

☞ Mr. Samuel Wilkinson, a deaf mute, formerly of So. Berwick, reports that he was robbed of about $65, in this city on Tuesday evening. It was done by cutting the pocket of his pants so that the wallet containing the money would drop out. The person who accomplished it was certainly no novice in the business. The empty wallet was found in Ladd street, on Wednesday morning, with a deep cut across it.

☞ The terms proposed for an exchange of Col. Corcoran, it is stated on reliable authority, have been accepted by the rebel government, and he is expected to be set at liberty in a very few days.

☞ The steamer Oriental, in which Gen. Saxton sailed for Port Royal, was wrecked on the night of the 16th, 33 miles north of Cape Hatteras. Passengers and crew, and a portion of the cargo, were saved.

☞ The Newbern Progress says the State Convention at Raleigh, N. C., adjourns on the 21st, and will reassemble whenever deemed prudent. At least two-thirds of its members are Union men. A Union meeting has been held in Carteret county, N. C.

POLICE COURT, Tuesday.—Frederick Franklin and Dennis Corcoran, for being drunk, were each fined $3, and costs $3.86.

THE MERRIMAC.—Some deserters from the Merrimac, who have arrived at Philadelphia, state that three hours were consumed in landing the men from the Merrimac after it was determined to destroy her.—While the process of landing was going on every preparation was being made to insure the utter and entire destruction of the vessel. Tar, oil, fat and grease of every kind, and everything of a combustible nature that could be obtained, were spread over the decks and in the most available places, in order that no possibility could exist of the vessel escaping complete destruction. Com. Tatnall, and First Lieut. Jones, with two of the crew, were the last to leave, having remained to set fire to the combustibles.—About forty of the crew, Northern men, deserted on getting ashore. The vessel is reported to have burned an hour and a half before exploding.

☞ Forty deaths from destitution have been reported by the Irish Coroners from one district of that island. The cases were submitted to the House of Commons by Mr. Maguire, M. P. A Spitalfields (England) weaver had just died from starvation. The report of the case is melan holy. He worked, independently and manfully, at his loom, the earnings of himself and his wife being only one dollar and a quarter a week, until he sank with hunger and died in a few minutes. His family had sold and pawned all their clothing sooner than go to the poorhouse.

☞ Mr. William Walker, who died in this city, last Sunday, at the age of 82, was the personal and confidential attendant of Gov. John Langdon, in the governor's latter days; and the old parishioners of the North Parish may remember seeing the governor, about 45 years ago, move slowly up Pleasant street from his mansion, (now occupied by Rev. Dr. Burroughs,) leaning on Mr. Walker's arm,—and as slowly, in the same style, up the broad aisle of the meeting-house, to his pew on the right or south side of the pulpit.

Mr. W. was a man of integrity, and of rare propriety and dignity of character for one in humble private life.

PORTLAND.—At a meeting of the members of the Union Church, in Portland, on Monday evening, a second request was received from their pastor, Rev. Henry D. Moore, that his connection with them might be dissolved. The church with great unanimity voted to comply with his request. A Parish meeting is to be held Thursday evening to decide as to the disposition of the church property—whether the ruins shall be sold or the edifice rebuilt.

☞ There is no official confirmation of the reports of European intervention. Our Ministers, in their dispatches by the last steamer, mention them as rumors, hatched by the emissaries and allies of the rebels, in Paris and London. Nor are they confirmed by any advices from their home Governments, received by those foreign Ministers most likely to be informed on the subject.

☞ A telegraph cable has been successfully laid across Chesapeake Bay, from Cherrystone to Back river, near Fortress Monroe, and the War Department is now in telegraphic communication with Fortress Monroe and Gen. McClellan's headquarters.—A Washington dispatch says: "The cable is of immense strength, that of the covering of the wires alone being equal to a ship's cable. It was laid in four hours."

☞ In the U. S. House of Representatives, on Tuesday, Mr. Colfax of Ind., from the Post Office Committee, reported back the Senate bill providing negroes be allowed to carry the mail, with a recommendation that it do not pass.

☞ Rev. Howard M. Emerson, Pastor of the Baptist Church in Methuen, died Friday 16th inst., in South Berwick, Me., of general debility and consumption of the blood, aged 28. Impressive funeral services were held Monday in the meeting-house of Rev. A. K. Potter of South Berwick.—Many brethren in the ministry were present.

☞ The villain who placed the obstructions on the track of the Evansville and Crawfordsville (Indiana) Railroad, thus causing the death of Professor Fletcher, has been arrested and has made a full confession.

Fanny Fern says it is just as sensible to move to get married without courting, as to attempt to succeed in business without advertising. Well said, Fanny.

☞ The receipts of the Grand Trunk Railway for the week ending May 10th, were ten thousand dollars more than the corresponding week of last year.

☞ After the rebels decided to evacuate Norfolk, they shipped the guns and machinery of the Navy Yard to Raleigh and Charlotte, N. C., and the Commissary stores to Petersburg and Richmond.

☞ Recruiting for the Navy is pretty brisk at Bangor, the recruiting officer at that port having enlisted a large number of lumbermen.

☞ The President has signed the Homestead Bill.

JOHN B. GOUGH gave one of his inimitable lectures on Temperance, at the Temple, Tuesday evening, to a large and highly appreciative audience. We had supposed that this was his first appearance in Portsmouth, as we did not hear him on his former visit here, which occurred several years ago. He is one of the most eloquent and fluent speakers we ever heard—and the most versatile and consummate word-painter and actor we ever saw walk the stage. We—the audience—were more than entertained—we were delighted, by his hour and a half of entirely extempore speaking and acting; but we shall attempt no report of his remarks—you might as well try to describe thunder and lightning, rainbows and cascades, love and hate, heaven and hell, as Gough's ever-varying treatment of his favorite theme.

His eulogy of the Freedom which is "coming, coming—don't you hear it?" (yes, and all did hear it,) was the most sublime burst of lofty eloquence we ever listened to; and his apostrophe to a glass of sparkling, "beautiful water," one of the most exquisite that could be conceived.

We are glad to learn that Mr. Gough will probably lecture again in this city, next Fall, when all who didn't hear him this time, may do so—and all who did, will certainly wish to attend.

Mr. Gough was introduced to the audience by Mr. Wm. C. Hatch, and prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Waterhouse,—both officers of the Portsmouth Division of Sons of Temperance, under whose auspices Mr. Gough appeared.

☞ There are but two prisoners at present confined in Portsmouth Jail—a young man and an elderly woman convicted about a year ago of criminal intercourse, and held for non-payment of fines. These are all the prisoners there are in Rockingham County—Exeter Jail having been entirely empty for months,—unless some prisoners may have been sent there very recently. This is rather unusual for this County, or any other locality of similar extent and population. Who says Portsmouth don't occupy a good "position?" What says the Manchester American?

DOLLIE DUTTON.—This little lady gives levees at the Temple, this, Thursday afternoon and evening, May 22. She is now nearly eleven years old, twenty-nine inches tall, and weighs only fifteen pounds. The celebrated Gen. Tom Thumb, is three times her weight. The easy and graceful manner in which she entertains her visitors, is worthy of copy by many, older than herself. She has been giving levees for five years, and it is said that her visitors now number nearly three millions: the Boston papers state that 40,000 persons attended her six weeks levees in that city. Dollie will be assisted by Miss Wilhelmina Kappes and Mr. George Monk. As they remain only one day, no doubt the Hall will be filled.

☞ Mr. Wm. Berry, 2d, of Greenland, exhibited to us on the 20th May, a strong tuft of Blue grass, measuring two feet nine inches in length. Some grass of the same kind, in the same field, last year grew to seven feet six inches in length.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.—The Republican of Monday morning says that citizens of Florida now there, tell the President that slavery must be abolished in that State.

The legality of the fugitive slave law in the District is to be tested in court in a few days.

A Ship Island correspondent says that the mosquitoes are quite large, and look a good deal like Northern butterflies.

—— Among the corporators named in the Pacific Rail Road bill, recently passed by the House, is Hon. Joseph A. Gilmore of this State. In the estimation of Senator Fessenden, this bill involves some sixty or seventy millions of dollars. Mr. Franklin Tenney, formerly of Manchester, is one of the corporators of the District of Columbia street railroad bill.

BIRD LAW.—The following Petition is to be circulated for signatures, in this city and elsewhere; and will be presented to the General Court in June next. It is worthy of consideration.

To the Honorable the Senate and the House of Representatives of the State of New Hampshire, in General Court convened:

The undersigned, citizens of ——, respectfully request that a law may be enacted to prevent the cruel and wanton destruction of Birds,—similar in character to the laws on this subject now in operation in several of the New England and other States.

Such a law, in our opinion, should be passed, for the following reasons:

Because it is to be supposed that Birds were made by the Creator for other and better purposes than merely to afford objects for cruel sport in their destruction.

Because experience has proved that the smaller birds, particularly, are eminently useful to man by the great destruction made by them of insects that are hurtful to vegetation, and by feeding on the seeds of weeds and noxious plants; while the small quantity of fruit or grain that they consume, bears no proportion to that which they save from destruction.

Because many of the birds known as game, which were formerly abundant, are now becoming nearly extinct in many portions of the State, from the cruel custom of killing them during the breeding season,—thus subjecting the young to starvation, breaking up the broods, and tending gradually to the extermination of the species.

Because many persons, who are forbidden by the laws of their own State from killing game birds out of season, come into New Hampshire to do the mischief here that they are not allowed to do at home.

Because much injury is done to farmers by the tramping of idle men and boys in pursuit of birds through the fields and meadows, at the season when they are covered by the growing crops.

Because it is barbarous to destroy for the mere sport and amusement of a few, that which God has created for the benefit and enjoyment of all.

☞ The Puseyites or fusseyites are hauling Henry Ward Beecher over the coals of their bigoted indignation, because he likes a fast horse better than a dunghill brute, and has seen a game of billiards! But we don't believe there'll be much of a shower—and Beecher is stronger as well as more sensible than all his accusers.

LONG WHARF.
Portsmouth, May 22, 1862. tf

Miss Ann Dickinson
will lecture on
OUR NATIONAL CRISIS,
AT THE TEMPLE.
On SUNDAY AFTERNOON, May 26,
at the usual hour. Seats free.

And will lecture on
THE REBELLION
IN THE EVENING; and a collection of five cents will be taken at the door to defray the expenses.

THE NEW STAR.—If to have an audience remain quiet, attentive and sympathizing during the delivery of a long lecture, is any indication of the ability, tact, and success of the speaker, we think it may be claimed for Miss Dickinson, that she is a star worthy to be admitted as a particular star in the large and brilliant constellation of genius and talent, now endeavoring to direct the country to the goal of speedy emancipation.

Music Hall was filled to overflowing; hundreds of the audience went early, and must have sat there more than an hour before the lecture began; and yet, we do not remember to have seen less signs of weariness and inattention at any lecture we ever attended in this city. Her voice is clear and penetrating, without being harsh; her enunciation is very distinct, and at times somewhat rythmic in its character, will enough of a peculiar accent to indicate that her home has not been in Massachusetts. Her whole appearance and manner are decidedly attractive, earnest and expressive. Her lecture was well arranged, logical, and occasionally eloquent, persuasive and pathetic.

She traced the demands and usurpations of the Slave Power from the commencement of our Government till the present time, and proved that, because it could not hope to control the country in the future as it had in the past, it raised the standard of rebellion,—an act long since determined upon when such an exigency should arise. Slavery being thus proved to be the cause of the war, the justice, necessity and propriety of its abolition, as a means of present defence and future security and peace, was forcibly illustrated.

That the slave was prepared for freedom was proved by the thousands who have passed thro' so much danger and suffering to obtain it. The inhuman character of the fugitive slave enactment was most beautifully referred to, bringing tears to many eyes which are not accustomed to weep over the wrongs of the colored race.

She spoke in eloquent terms of Fremont, which met with a hearty response from the audience, as did other parts of her address. On the whole, we think her friends here must be greatly delighted with her first effort, on her first visit to our old Commonwealth.—From Fall River (Mass.) Press.

READY-MADE CLOTHING
ASTONISH THE WORLD!

Why is it that Lane is so popular?

WHY IS IT THAT THE GREAT MASS OF THE PEOPLE BUY THEIR GOODS AT
"L A N E'S?"

These are questions, the answers to which you will do well to remember.

1st. We do a strictly "CASH BUSINESS," buying and selling for "ready-cash," thereby saving much from bad debts, and having great advantage in buying goods.

2d. We employ none but first-class artists in the cut and manufacture of our goods, thereby giving to the purchaser an elegant and tasty fit combined with great durability.

3d. We always keep a very large stock, and you are sure to find garments suited to your taste and pocket.

4th. Our corps of salesmen are all gentlemen, and you have no fear of being abused if you do not purchase; but on the contrary, take great pleasure in showing strangers over our immense establishment.

5th. We invite strangers who are making purchases in the city, to make our store their headquarters, and send any bundle or package there for safe keeping.

All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and have engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

Farmers! Farmers!

Your attention is requested to the following UNSOLICITED recommendation of the

LODI MANUFACTURING CO'S

POUDRETTE.

DUNBARTON, N. H., May 1, 1862.

MR. SHORES,—Dear Sir:—

Last year I sent to you for three barrels of Poudrette.

Upon two acres of land I spread about twenty loads of barn manure to the acre. Upon ten rows of corn I put hog manure, as shovel in a hill. Upon the next ten POUDRETTE, and then phosphate of lime upon ten—and thus through the field.

One load of hog manure went five rows of seventy hills;

A ba- of Poudretic eighteen rows;

A bag of Phosphate of Lime sixteen rows, all of the same length.

The Corn upon which the Poudrette was spread was more in quantity and quality.

I want six barrels for this year, and my neighbors want ten or fifteen barrels more.

Please write upon what terms you will furnish it. Yours, CHARLES HOLMES.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky:

NEW YORK May 1, 1861.

MR. WM. T. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky.:

Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

DRS. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others

Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper-distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,

I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,

WM. T. CUTTER, JR.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between New York Physicians and WM. T. CUTTER, JR., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer

Simple, Economical, Durable,

AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water, is less than by rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so evenly and thoroughly, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-FOURTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after trying the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, we will, assisted with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.

Return Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It is also excellent when used in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried manure, this caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

THE VARUNA.

SUNK APRIL 25TH, 1862.

Who has not heard of the dauntless Varuna,
Who has not heard of the deeds she has done?
Who shall not hear, while the brown Mississippi
Rushes along from the snow to the surf?

Crippled and leaking she entered the battle,
Sinking and burning she fought through the fray,
Crashed were her sides and the waves ran across her,
Ere, like a death wounded lion at bay,
Sternly she closed in the last fatal grapple,
Then in her triumph moved proudly away.

Fire of the rebels, like satellites round her,
Burned to her orbit of splendor and fear;
One, like the pleiad of mystical story,
Shot, terror-stricken, beyond her dread sphere.

We who are waiting with crowns for the victors,
Though we should offer the wealth of our store,
Lose the Varuna from deck down to keleon,
Still would be niggard, such tribute to pour
On courage so boundless. It beggars possession,
It knocks for just payment at heaven's bright door.

Cherish the heroes who fought the Varuna;
Treat them as kings if they honor your way;
Succor and comfort the sick and the wounded;
Oh! for the dead let as all kneel and pray.

GEORGE H. BOKER.

FORTS VS. SHIPS.—Chief Engineer Totten says:—"Forts that must fall before competent land attacks, are competent to resist and repel vessels. Both these principles have been settled by military experience and received full illustration in the recent attack on Fort Pulaski." He arrives at the following conclusions:—"That the plans of our seaboard batteries cannot be essentially improved; that no change can be made with advantage; that iron has been freely used, and its further use is perfectly easy on existing works; that wherever needed walls may be entirely iron covered; that all changes in ordnance and projectiles are greatly in favor of land batteries and against vessels in any contest between the two; that guns of unlimited size can easily be mounted and covered on land; that no vessel can be built and floated not penetrable to projectiles from such guns; that one shot rightly delivered will probably sink a vessel, while a fort cannot be seriously injured by the return fire of the vessel; that forts can always be reduced by land batteries, but not by vessels, when properly armed and manned; that the use of steam is the only exclusive advantage which modern times affords vessels; that this advantage can be counterveiled by increasing the number and especially the calibre of the guns of land batteries; that our forts urgently need a full supply of guns; that large calibres are to be insisted upon and furnished immediately, but no intention is entertained to dispense with the floating defences of our coast at different points where their use is advantageous."

THE FELICITIES OF SIAMESE LIFE.—Among the charming customs of the Siamese people is one which will particularly commend itself to people who hate children and are bothered by noisy boys.—Homicide in Siam is punishable at a regular tariff of prices. Thus, the penalty for killing a babe of from one to three months is six "ticul," or about $3.50; for a child of four years, about $10; for a boy of fifteen, about $15; and for a man between twenty-six and forty, about $30. Beyond the age of forty years the penalties decrease, so that it is no more expensive to kill an old man from eighty-six to ninety years than an infant of two months. Women can be killed at two thirds of the rates of males. Another pleasing custom is that which allows a man to hire out his wife to his creditor as a slave, and thus cancel his debt by means of her toil.

Honor to the man who rather bears a grief corroding his breast than permits it to prowl beyond and prey on the tender and compassionate.

ADVERTISE!

Advertise!
IT IS THE
LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all and adopted as the medium by which the trader and purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks, as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the general wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-satisfied adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy upon their business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to crowd; one who has tried it says "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had!"

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the means in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, success and profit, but in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information, in every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is at present unrivaling. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

THE NEWSPAPER

Advertising Agency
—OF—
S. R. NILES,
1 Scollay's Building, Court Street, Boston,

Embraces most of the principal Commercial, Business, Religious, Literary, Scientific and Agricultural Newspapers in the United States, British Provinces and Canada, for which he is the duly appointed Agent, and authorized by the proprietors to receive advertisements and subscriptions at their lowest rates.

The Agent will spare no pains to render his agency a prompt, safe and reliable medium of communication with the Newspaper Press of the country. He feels qualified, from his long experience and devotion to the subject, to impart valuable information in regard to papers and localities best adapted for different kinds of business.

Persons desiring information, its cost, comparative value of papers and situations, are respectfully invited to call at the Agency, or they will be waited upon and every assistance rendered for the adoption of a thorough and judicious system of advertising. apr5 tf S. R. NILES.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and Impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Strictures, Retention in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, Frightful Swellings, and all the train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debilitation, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced by such practices. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate. apr7—1y8aw

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain one dollar, or they will not be answered.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

The Chronicle.

THE LAST APPEARANCE OF THE MERRIMAC.—Some interesting statements relative to the last appearance of the Merrimac at the mouth of Elizabeth river, and her destruction by her own officers, are given in a letter from Fort Monroe to the Philadelphia Inquirer, on the authority of a master's mate and a gunner of the Merrimac, who have arrived at the fortress.

"Commodore Tatnall was childish, and so feeble that he had to be assisted up and down stairs.

When the rebels found that the tug-boat J. B. White had deserted and came down to the Point, they concluded that their plans were given to our officers here. Capt. Byers is worthy of praise for the news which he brought. It is known, that, owing to his information, the important movements lately made took place. The rebels had lightened the Merrimac with the intention of running her up the James river to Richmond. But finding their plans betrayed, they determined to come down into the roads and cover their retreat, which was then going on at Norfolk and Craney Island.

When our fleet shelled Sewall's Point, there were only two companies stationed there to keep up appearances. The Merrimac, according to arrangement, came down not to fight, but to cover the retreat, which was then going on. The officers knew that the Galena, Arcostook and Port Royal had gone up James river.

On Saturday night a consultation took place on board the Merrimac. The officers all became intoxicated, and in this condition debated what the Southern chivalry should do with their vessel. The conference ended with the determination to blow her up. So great was the hurry of debarkation, that nothing but the officers' and men's effects were removed.

The armament of the Merrimac consisted of twelve guns—two seven inch rifled pivot guns fore and aft, each working out of three port-holes; four nine-inch smooth bore guns, Dahlgren pattern; four six-inch rifled guns; and two boat howitzers, twelve-pounders, both on the upper deck, fore and aft, to repel boarders.

Com. Tatnall made a speech to the crew, who had been mustered on deck after a boat from Norfolk had reached the vessel, bringing the news of the occupation of the city by our forces. The substance of his speech, as related to me by the gunner, was this:—'Boys, Norfolk has been taken by the Yankees and our supplies are cut off. Altho' the vessel has been lightened, the pilot says he cannot get her up James river, as we had intended to do; therefore we have concluded to blow her up. You can make your escape in the best way possible."

Tatnall was carried away from the Merrimac in a litter, he was so feeble. The Merrimac's crew numbered three hundred and sixty men. At the time of her explosion her magazines, fore and aft, were full of ammunition. Seventy of the crew have taken the oath of allegiance at Norfolk.—They had received but fifty dollars for their services in the Confederate Navy; the money was Confederate shinplasters."

☞ The fiery ordeal of rebellion and civil war through which we are passing, brings out to view, not only the baseness and brutality of wicked men, but also the benevolence, self-denial, and self sacrifice of good and noble men. The writer of a letter from Kansas May 1, to the Boston Journal, mentions that the 4,000 or 5,000 contrabands in that State, were settled among the farmers, the adults working well, and the children learning well in the Sunday and day schools. He then adds,—"Who can tell what emancipation from physical and social disabilities God may work out for a down-trodden race by this dreadful war! I sit by the fresh graves of my only two sons, who have fallen in the service; but if this result may be realized, I will not value the sacrifice, though I would freely take their place."

☞ The newspaper correspondents sometimes leave a great deal to inference. We find one of them with the army of Gen. McClellan stating, while speaking of a camping ground near the rebel front, that "when we first entered this meadow we were told it would hold 40,000 men; we now find that 100,000 will not fill it."

☞ A writer to a London paper proposes that the £200,000 which it is thought the different Albert memorials will cost, be devoted to buying American sewing machines for the twenty thousand poor needlewomen in England.

Dr. S. Swett's Vegetable Medicines.

The saving efficacy of these truly valuable medicines is daily witnessed by thousands of the first classes of society, many of whom are physicians of success. The following are among his most popular preparations, viz.:

His PANACEA is unrivalled for the cure of Cancers, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Canker in the mouth or throat, Sore or inflamed eyes, and all impurities of the blood. Price $1.00.

CORDIAL of Dandelion, Spikenard and Boneset—a remedy unsurpassed for the liver and heart complaint, costiveness, dizziness and pain in the head, stomach and side, and the whole family of consumptive complaints. Price 75 cents.

RHEUMATIC COMPOUND, for the cure of Rheumatism in all its stages, phases and names of acute and chronic gout, neuralgia, lumbago, &c. This compound has been proved to be the surest remedy for these complaints that has tried or known during the whole 40 years of his study and practice of medicine. Price $1.00.

His FAMILY PILLS are warranted paramount to any in the market, as a safe, easy and effectual physic. Price 25 cents.

His CONSERVE cures the piles, headache and costiveness, and all chronic complaints, and all diseases of the lungs. Price of small bottles, 38 cts.; large, 60 cents.

EXETER, March 3, 1841. "Many of my brethren in the ministry frequently complain of oppressed lungs and hoarseness of voice after frequent labors. I wish by this card to say to them and all others afflicted that the Cough Drops prepared by Dr. Swett of Portsmouth, is a valuable remedy. I have found nothing that gives relief so quick. Let every suffering preacher take a phial and try it.

Eld. EDWIN BURNHAM."

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of these medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. 1200

RICHARDS' NEW BOOT BLACKING.

This splendid compound is truly unrivaled in this or any other country for its shining quality and nutritious elements for leather, giving the boot an elegant yet black polish, quick and clean: an oil compound, rendering the leather soft and easy to the foot; strictly a leather preservative; will not dry in the box. Try it, Gentlemen, and you will be pleased with it.

FRIDAY, MAY 23, 1862.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The Manchester American says Gov. Berry has been enquired of by the War Department relative to the raising of one or more regiments from this State for the war. It says if actually called for they can be recruited in sixty days. Col. Gilmore who has been commissioned for the 9th, will bring into requisition his well-known energies, and raise and equip a regiment.

A dispatch from Concord, on Thursday, says Gov. Berry, in compliance with an order telegraphed from the Secretary of War, will immediately raise another volunteer regiment of infantry for active service.—The regiment will be commanded by Col. Joseph A. Gilmore, under whose superintendence the regiment will be recruited.

—— There is not a white oak tree growing in the well-wooded town of Tamworth; nor is it known that there ever was one.

—— A man at work in a field in Madbury was sun struck on Saturday, 10th inst.

—— Lieut. A. M. Perkins of Co. E, 2d N. H. Regiment, reported as having lost an arm in the battle of Williamsburg, arrived at his home in Exeter, on Thursday last.—His wound is not so serious as was reported. A Minie rifle ball passed through his left hand, of course making a painful wound, but he hopes in a few weeks to be able to return to his company.

—— The Treasurer of the Ladies' Aid Society of Exeter, says the whole amount received by them, up to the present time, for the benefit of the soldiers, is $657.86.

—— One night last week some of the choicest roots in the flower garden of Mrs. J. C. Long, in Exeter, were dug up and carried off. As the lady is noted in that town for her liberality in supplying others with the products of her garden, the act is not much to the credit of the person who stole them.

—— H. O. Smith, of Co. E, 2d N. H. Regiment, who has been reported killed at Williamsburg, has returned to his home in New Market, alive but wounded. He was one of the advance guard, and, as he was advancing through a thickly wooded swamp, came to a large fallen tree, when a rebel picket, concealed behind it, instantly raised his gun and fired upon him. Smith caught the muzzle of the rebel's gun, and pushing it aside as it was discharged, lost the thumb of his right hand, it being directly over the muzzle. At the same time, with his left hand, he drew his revolver and shot the rebel dead.

—— Lieut. Hubbard of Co. I, 2d Regiment, who belongs in Manchester, has been transferred to the staff of Gen. Grover of the First Brigade, Hooker's Division. Lt. Hubbard at Ball Run and Williamsburg was among the bravest of the brave.

THE REBELLION.

Gen. McClellan, on Wednesday, made a reconnoissance of the country beyond Bottom's Bridge, and reports that the bridge would be repaired by Thursday, and others built. The Boston Advertiser says the position occupied by the advance may be regarded as most favorable; for it is in a high country, where the Chickahominy is so small as to be easily crossed. By this new route, Richmond may be attacked in a quarter where she has least expected it, and where our troops can act to much better advantage than on the river side.

The rebels have evacuated Fort Wright and fallen back on Fort Randolph, a strong fortification on Second Chickasaw Bluff, twelve miles below their former position. It is stated that in their new position the enemy can maintain a more thorough defense, and be less exposed to the mortars.

Memphis parts of the 17th announce the arrival of the Federal fleet at Vicksburg. They had met with no successful resistance. Fort Adams is 100 miles below Vicksburg, and it is presumed a fight had taken place there.

The N. Y. World's correspondent at Tunstall's Station, Monday, says: "Notwithstanding the accident to the Naugatuck and other difficulties, very heavy firing has been heard nearly all day from the direction of the Rockets, on James river, near Richmond. I shall not be surprised to hear that the Monitor's two eleven-inch Dahlgrens held the city at their mercy."

A train of 16 wagons with government stores, from Rolla, Mo., was overtaken by rebel guerrilas, on Tuesday, who burned the wagons and their contents, and drove off the mules, 80 in number.

☞ At a meeting of the Overseers of Harvard College, on Thursday forenoon, to act on the nomination of a President submitted by the Corporation, (understood to have been Rev. Thomas Hill, D. D., of Waltham,) after a somewhat exciting session of three hours, the nomination was rejected, as is understood, by a vote of 9 to 16.

MORE ABOUT THE BATTLE OF SHILOH. The western papers publish the official report of Gen. Buell. The fate of the Union artillery captured by the rebels in the first day's fight, Sunday, is thus explained:

"The loss of the force under my command is 263 killed, 1,816 wounded, 88 missing; total 2,167. The trophies are twenty pieces of artillery, a great number of caissons, and a considerable number of small arms. Many of the cannon were recaptured from the loss of the previous day. Great stands of colors were also recaptured."

It is a little remarkable that this simple explanation was not made earlier. It would have relieved our cause in Europe of the odium of defeat. The Cincinnati Gazette estimates the rebel loss in killed, wounded and missing at about 17,000, on the basis of an official report of one-third of their army.

MATRIMONIAL DIFFICULTIES. — The facts of a very interesting and peculiar case of matrimonial difficulties are developed in a report made in the Senate, by the Committee on Marriage and Divorce, on the petition of William H. Haven of Leicester.—The report states that in 1846 the petitioner—a very respectable citizen of Leicester—married Elgara D. Fiske, and they lived together as husband and wife until 1851, during which time they had one child—a daughter—now 13 years of age. When this child was 3 years old the mother deserted her husband, and no tidings were received of her whereabouts, until about three years after, when Mr. Haven saw the notice of the death of a woman of that name in one of the Boston papers, and on further inquiry ascertained that she died in Deer Island, in Boston Harbor. Believing that person to be his wife, he afterward married Hannah Hawes, and after they had lived together for six years, and one child had been born to them, the first wife made her appearance, and in the Supreme Judicial Court obtained a decree of divorce from Mr. Haven, on the ground of adultery, which decree prohibited the husband from marrying again. At the instance of the wife a criminal indictment was also found against the husband, to which he pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to one year's imprisonment. On a representation of the case to the Governor, he was, however, pardoned after being confined for several months. And now after his release Mr. Haven petitions the Legislature that the restriction be removed, and to be allowed to marry with Hannah Hawes. This petition was seconded by a petition from a number of citizens of Leicester, and the committee have reported a resolve authorizing him to re marry, and ratifying and confirming the former marriage with Hannah Hawes. —Boston Journal.

This is a fine illustration of the stupid divorce law of Massachusetts.

A TROUT FACTORY.—Messrs. Dunham, Kellogg & Ives of Hartford have a large factory in operation in Glastenbury, Ct., where trout are hatched by artificial means. The number now in the pond is between 40,000 and 50,000, and rapidly increasing. When the stock reaches the number of half a million, they estimate a yield of 50,000 pounds per annum. As they will bring in market from 25 to 50 cents per pound, this amount would afford a very pleasant net income. The fishes are fed regularly, and have a man in constant attendance. Their food consists of small fishes and shad spawn in season. Millions of suckers are raised to feed the hungry beauties of the pond.

☞ Gov. Sprague of Rhode Island received a dispatch from the War Department, on Monday, inquiring what number and how soon he could send additional troops from that State, if they should be wanted. An answer was very promptly forwarded, but no positive call for the troops has as yet been received.

☞ Hamilton E. Towle, the young American civil engineer who invented the temporary steering gear after the breaking of the rudder of the Great Eastern, last year, has libeled the ship—not for compensation, but to obtain an acknowledgment of the services rendered.

☞ At the Brighton review of English volunteers a horse died of fright. He was near the eighteen-pounder battery when it was fired, and at the report he leaped suddenly up and fell dead—the cause, a rupture of the great vessels of the heart, thro' terror.

☞ Amsterdam is, almost as much as Venice, a City of the Sea. Fifty six canals, from six to ten rods in width, and from seven to nine feet deep, run through the city. The canals are crossed by over three hundred bridges.

☞ In the Boston Police Court, on Wednesday, James C. Lowe was fully committed for trial on a charge of murdering his wife, Margaret Lowe, by kicking and beating her.

A BIG PILE OF SHINGLES.—The Aroostook Herald says that about 15,000,000 of shingles have left or are about leaving Tobique and the upper St. John for market since last year.

☞ It is estimated that over five hundred vessels will sail for the Southern ports by the first of June.

☞ Thurlow Weed writes that every rod of land in Belgium and Holland is cultivated.

☞ A levee is to be given in Salem, Ms., for the benefit of the sufferers by the recent fire in Troy, N. Y.

CONGRESS, Wednesday.—In the Senate, a joint resolution of thanks to Capt. Farragut, and the officers and men under his command, was passed. A resolution that the Military Committee inquire into the expediency of reporting at an early day a bill providing a suitable bounty for soldiers enlisted for three months and one year, and also for pensions for widows of soldiers who die in the service, was adopted. An amendment to the tax bill, reducing the salary of the commissioners from $5000 to $3500, was adopted.

In the House, the Senate bill removing all disqualifications of color in carrying the mails, was tabled—83 against 43.

☞ A Washington dispatch says Count Mercier went to Richmond, unofficially, simply to judge for himself of the views and expectations of the rebels,—with no expectation of speaking or acting for his government, or compromising his relations with our government. The President was consulted previous to his going, and approved of it. When he returned he called immediately on Mr. Seward, and afterwards on the President, communicating freely the impressions he received. He allowed no one at Richmond to say anything to him which he should not be at liberty to say to Mr. Seward, and communicated nothing to the rebels from this government, nor anything from them.

MASONIC.—The Supreme Grand Council for the Northern Jurisdiction of the United States held its annual session in Boston on Tuesday, the 20th inst. The Sovereign Grand Consistory met at the same time and place, and transacted much business. The officers of last year were all re elected, including A. P. Hughes, of N.H., Lieut. G. Com.; Amasa Roberts, of N. H., G. Hospitaller.

☞ Parson Brownlow is reaping a golden harvest. Not less than $2500 came from his effort at the Academy of Music, New York. The meeting at Brooklyn yielded about $1200, and he will average about $1000 a lecture. He is to have $10,000 for the copyright of his coming book, and on the whole he will come out of the campaign with a full purse.

☞ The citizens of Lawrence, Mass., raised $500 by subscription, and the city furnishes a street watering cart, water, &c., and does the work for twenty-two weeks, in consideration of that amount.

☞ The French government is seriously occupied with a scheme for replanting the mountains in France, the diminution of timber trees creating considerable alarm.

☞ Lieut. Col. James B. McPherson, of the Engineer corps, who has performed important services with Gen. Halleck's army, has been nominated by the President as a Brigadier General.

Miss Ann Dickinson

will lecture on OUR NATIONAL CRISIS, AT THE TEMPLE, On SUNDAY AFTERNOON, May 26, at the usual hour. Seats free.

And will lecture on THE REBELLION IN THE EVENING; and a collection of five cents will be taken at the door to defray the expenses.

THE NEW STAR.—If to have an audience remain quiet, attentive and sympathizing during the delivery of a long lecture, is any indication of the ability, tact, and success of the speaker, we think it may be claimed for Miss Dickinson, that she is a star in the large and brilliant constellation of genius and talent, now endeavoring to direct the country to the goal of negro emancipation.

Music Hall was filled to overflowing; hundreds of the audience went early, and must have sat there more than an hour before the lecture began; and yet, we do not remember to have seen less signs of weariness and inattention at any lecture we ever attended in this city. Her voice is clear and penetrating, without being harsh; her enunciation is very distinct, and at times somewhat rythmic in its characteristic enough of a peculiar accent to indicate that her home has not been in Massachusetts. Her whole appearance and manner are decidedly attractive, earnest and express-ive. Her lecture was well arranged, logical, and occasionally eloquent, persuasive and pathetic.

She traced the demands and usurpations of the Slave Power from the commencement of our Government till the present time, and proved that, because it could not hope to control the country in the future as it had done in the past, it raised the standard of rebellion,—an act long since determined upon when such an exigency should arise. Slavery being thus proved to be the cause of the war, the justice, necessity and propriety of its abolition, as a means of present defence and future security and peace, was forcibly illustrated.

That the slave was prepared for freedom was proved by the thousands who have passed thro' so much danger and suffering to obtain it. The inhuman character of the fugitive slave enactment was most beautifully referred to, bringing tears to many eyes which are not accustomed to weep over the wrongs of the colored race.

She spoke in eloquent terms of Fremont, which met with a hearty response from the audience, as did other parts of her address. On the whole, we think her friends here must be greatly delighted with her first effort, on her first visit to our old Commonwealth.—From Fall River (Mass.) Press.

Local.

☞ By the Naval Appropriation bill, recently passed by the U. S. House of Representatives, $5500 were appropriated for the purchase of Seavey's Island adjacent to Portsmouth Navy Yard, and $10,000 for the erection of a hospital thereon. Provided, that no building shall be erected or extended until complete plans, specifications, and estimates of cost in detail, shall be furnished to and approved by the Secretary of the Navy, and contracts therefor shall be made upon due and public advertisement."

☞ The New Orleans correspondent of the Boston Journal states that when the Federal fleet was seen coming up the river, the Confederate officers rushed frantically down to the levee, and gave orders to the ship keepers to set fire to the ships and steamers which remained in the river, and which had either been captured by privateers or confiscated as the property of Northerners. Among the vessels mentioned as destroyed, is the Sarah E. Pettigrew, owned by the Marcys of Portsmouth, N. H.

☞ Ship Portsmouth, now discharging at Pier Wharf, brought the largest cargo of salt from Cadiz that was ever imported into this city. Her cargo is said to consist of about 6000 tons of salt.

☞ The Portsmouth Navy Yard, it is stated, contains sixty-three and five-eighths acres.

BROOKLYN NAVY YARD.—The few visitors that are allowed in the Navy Yard, Brooklyn, have another "sensation" to look at. On Saturday last the construction of an indescribable battery or ram, or something else, was begun near the dry dock.—It is 18 feet high, 12 feet wide, and some 12 inches thick, and rumor says it will be plated with iron this week.

On Tuesday the iron plating of the steamer Roanoke, 40, was begun. The plates were sent over on Monday. They are four inches thick and reach some four feet below water mark. The spar deck, and the old bulwarks down to a level with the gun deck, have been completely cut away. The turrets will shortly be forthcoming and the guns are rapidly preparing by the ordnance authorities, but their number and weight must remain a mystery to the public for the present.

☞ The N. Y. Tribune's Washington correspondent says:—

"Capt. Robert Ritchie is ordered to take charge of the property belonging to the United States, consisting chiefly of old iron, at the Norfolk Navy Yard; 200 marines have been detailed to guard, and a large force of colored laborers to preserve and remove it. The Norfolk Navy Yard has passed into history. It will never be reconstructed."

DIFFERENCE OF TIME.—There are two places in Massachusetts, east of Portland, Maine, namely Cape Cod and Nantucket. At the former point the time is thirty seconds faster than at Portland, and at Nantucket it is thirty-eight seconds faster. Boston time is three minutes and fifteen seconds slower than that of Portland.

JUVENILE SUICIDES.—A boy only 14 years old, named Brickford, committed suicide in Waterbury, Vt., on the 15th inst., by shooting himself. Daniel Bond, of Topsham, a young farmer, hung himself in his own barn on the 13th inst., from fear of coming to poverty, though he had property enough to last him if he should live to be a hundred years old.

☞ It is said a plan is about to be brought into use, by which petroleum can be converted into first rate illuminating gas, at a cost of about fifty cents per thousand. If the statement is correct, we shall soon witness a revolution in the business of illumination that will place a most effectual check on all gas monopolies.

☞ In Philadelphia on Monday a German tailor named Peter Cherbron, while in a fit of jealousy, shot his wife and then shot himself with a pistol—the wounds in both cases proving fatal. Six children are made orphans by this tragedy.

☞ The Nashville Union reports that Daniel S. Donelson, Brigadier General in the Confederate service, while ordering his troops to burn other people's cotton and rice in the Southern States, recently sold his own in Sumter county, Tenn., for Yankee gold and "green backs."

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for June is, as ever, filled to the brim with articles to suit every taste. There is plenty of fun, too, to diversify and enliven the scene; and the illustrations are excellent. The June number, which commences a new volume, is for sale by J. H. Foster.

Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the best improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those on-aged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

Farmers! Farmers!

Your attention is requested to the following UNSOLICITED recommendation of the
LODI MANUFACTURING CO'S
POUDRETTE.

DUNBARTON, N. H., May 1, 1862.
MR. SHORES,—Dear Sir:—
Last year I rent to you for three barrels of Poudrette.

Upon two acres of land I spread about twenty loads of barn manure to the acre. Upon one rows of corn. I put hog manure, a shovel in a hill. Upon the next ten POUDRETTE, and then phosphate of lime upon ten—and thus through the field.

One load of hog manure went five rows of seventy hills.

A lot of Poudrette eighteen rows;
A bag of Phosphate of Lime sixteen rows, all of the same length.

The Corn upon which the Poudrette was spread was more in quantity and superior in quality to the other, and also proves it to be the cheapest.

I used six barrels for this year, and my neighbors want ten or fifteen barrels more.

Please write upon what terms you will furnish it. Yours, CHARLES HOLMES.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky:

NEW YORK, May 1, 1861.

MR. WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky.: Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 31, 1861.

DR. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with the same article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,

I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. T. CUTTER, JR.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S
Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN THIS VALUABLE OCCUPATION OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can be trusted with it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any Carpenter can make one of the Machines, can have one sent to their place, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscribers.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The material is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a decidedly excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried mud. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

Boy Wanted.

A good, smart, intelligent Boy, may have opportunity to learn the Printer's trade, at the Chronicle Office.

Morning Chronicle.

THE IRISH PICKET.

BY "BARNEY"

The following affecting little illustration of martial individuality will be appreciated by students of language:

I'm sthanding in the mud, Biddy,
With not a spalpeen near,
And silence, spakless as the grave,
Is all the sound I hear.
Me goon is at a shoulder arms,
I'm wetted to the bone,
And whin I'm alther shpa in out,
I'ad myself alone.

The Southern climate's quare, Biddy,
A quare and hastely thing,
Wid Winter absint all the year,
And summer in the Spring.
Ye mind the hot place down below?
And may ye never fear
I'd dthraw comparisons—but then
It's awful warrum here.

The only moon I see, Biddy,
Is one small star, astheer,
And that's furnint the very cloud
It was behind before!
The watchfires glare along the hill
That's swellin' to the south,
And whin the sentry passes them
I see his ugly mouth.

It's dead for shlape I am, Biddy,
And dramein alwaie I'd be,
If them ould rebels over there
Would only turn one free!
But when I lane against a shtump
And shtrive to get repose,
A musket ball he's comin' shtraight
To hit me spacious nose.

It's ye I'd like to see, Biddy,
A shparkin' here wid me,
And then, avournem, hear ye say,
"Acushla—Pal—asthore—
"Och, Biddy darlint," then says I,
Says you, "get out of that;"
Says I, "me arrum mates your waist,"
Says you, "be dayecent, Pat!"

And bows the pigs and ducks, Biddy!
It's them I think of, shure,
That looked so innocent and shwate
Upon the parlor floors,
I'm shure ye're alsy with the pig
That's fat as he can be,
And fade him wid the best, because
I'm towld he looks like me.

When I come home again, Biddy,
A sargent tried and thrue,
It's joost a dayecent house I'll build
And rint it chape to you.
We'll have a parlor, bedroom, hall,
A dock-pond nately done,
With kitchen, pig pen, gray patch,
And garret—all in one.

But, murther! there's a baste, Biddy,
That's crapin' round a tree,
And well I know the creature's there
To have a shot at me.
Now, Mather Rebel, say yere pray'rs,
And howld yer dirtiest paw,
Here goes!—be jabers, Biddy dear,
I've broke his oogly jaw! —Mercury.

☞ In reply to a dispatch from the Governor of California, Secretary Seward urged the building of one or two iron-clad gunboats by that State for the protection of San Francisco; for the President believed that, while the war continued, there was a possibility of foreign invasion. This was April 2.

☞ The bomb-proof deck of the Galena was covered with iron from one-half to three-quarters of an inch thick, and therefore offered but little obstruction to the heavy balls fired at the boat from a height of two hundred feet. Her sides and bow are plated with two and a half inch iron.

☞ About noon on Friday, two men of respectable appearance stole the chandeliers from the front and back parlors of an unoccupied house in Newark, N. J., having obtained the keys of a neighbor, with whom they were left, by asserting that the house had been let and they were going to make some repairs.

☞ While two boys, relatives, were playing ball in Gorham, Me., on Monday, one of them, in a moment of passion, struck the other upon the side of the head, just back of the ear, with the bat stick, killing him instantly. The boys were about ten years of age.

ADVERTISE!
Advertise!
IT IS THE
LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is used by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who had have neither adopted the right way, the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their confidence and patronage.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, in order to his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the place at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men generally, at all times, are interested when they suppose that it is economy or good business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. Why, many men argue, should the very time of all others to crowd, one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how long the time are. It pays me at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. If may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in business advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand-fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. That is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline, and changing trade takes place in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more recognized as a business agent, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is as constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

THE NEWSPAPER
Advertising Agency
—OF—
S. R. NILES,
1 Scollay's Building, Court Street, Boston,

Embraces most of the principal Commercial, Business, Religious, Literary, Scientific and Agricultural Papers in all the United States, British Provinces and Canadas, for which he is the duly appointed Agent, and authorized by the proprietors to receive advertisements and subscriptions at their lowest rates.

The Agent will spare no pains to render his agency a prompt, safe and reliable medium of communication with the Newspaper Press of the country. He feels qualified, from his long experience and devotion to the subject, to impart valuable information in regard to papers and localities best adapted for different kinds of business.

Persons desiring information, its cost, comparative value of papers, etc., etc., are respectfully invited to call at the Agency, or they will be waited upon and every assistance rendered for the adoption of a thorough and judicious system of advertising. sprl tf S. R. NILES.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrotula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, Gleet and distressing diseases of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, Irrightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest siblings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil foreboding, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.
apr7—1y32aw

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 Endicott Street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of disease of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain one dollar, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

Advertising.
For a Square (14 inches) or less, one insertion 50 cents, three insertions $1, one week $1.50, one month $3, three months $5, six months $8, one year $15. These are Daily rates—and no advertisements receive more than one insertion in the Weekly (Gazette) without special order and charge.
Funeral Notices, and Advertisements of articles Lost and Found, &c., 50 cents.
Advertisements may appear both in the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, if ordered; and will thus receive the most thorough circulation both in this city and vicinity, and throughout the State. ☞ Liberal terms for yearly advertising.

The Chronicle.

☞ A soldier from Salem, Mass., last Fall, took a young kitten in his haversack, as a pet. It survived the hardships of the voyage to Hatteras Inlet, shared the perils of the battles of Roanoke and Newbern, became a very contented denizen of the latter locality when the regiment went into camp there, and did scouting and picket duty on her own hook. Last April her young master and protector died, but the pet was still kindly cherished, and a few days ago was brought back to Salem by the brother of the deceased, who returned on sick furlough.

Much inquiry is excited in consequence of the destruction of the Navy Yard at Gosport after Norfolk had been surrendered! It appears that the first intelligence, that the Navy Yard was uninjured at the time of surrender, was correct, but at 10 o'clock the next morning, openly before the sun, the buildings in the Navy Yard were fired, and property worth millions destroyed.—Now this is the history:—Norfolk and its surroundings, after being taken, while in our possession, and guarded by Union troops, was suffered to be despoiled of the public property therein! The query is pregnant, why was not a sufficient guard placed over the Navy Yard and the public property to prevent the destruction that happened?—Boston Post.

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT.—The fly-wheel in the rolling mill at Auburn, N. Y., exploded recently, instantly killing a fireman in the shop named John O'Hara. The wheel was sixteen feet in diameter, and weighed 15,000 pounds. Its average revolution was eighty times a minute. Some of the segments or ruins of the wheel, weighing at least 1000 pounds, flew through the roof, cutting large beams as clean as if with shears, and breaking the roof in pieces.—O'Hara was struck by one of the cogs, and his body thrown thirty feet. Another workman, named Thomas Grant, had his arm shattered.

There are large public libraries in Japan, literature is common, and books are widely circulated. Thousands of illustrated novels are printed every year, and, to judge from the pictures with which they are profusely illustrated, they contain much the same ingredients as our own—love, murder, suicide, intrigue, heroism and folly. Their books are printed from wooden blocks, on fine paper, doubled, so that the exterior sides only are printed upon. The Japanese are much further advanced in painting and drawing than the Chinese.

☞ Some bad feeling having arisen in the 15th Maine Regiment while on its passage to Ship Island, on account of the emblems of Irish nationality on a flag presented it by the ladies of Aroostook, Col. McClosky threw it overboard, swearing that a certain officer on board should never disgrace it by fighting under it. He is under arrest on certain charges, and Lieut. Col. Dyer is in command of the regiment.

FRUIT.—The "oldest inhabitant" can not remember a year when the fruit trees were so full of blossoms as at the present time. Trees that have not borne fruit for ten years are covered with blossoms. A friend in Centralville tells us that last year he stuck up the limb of an apple tree in his garden for a bean pole and this spring it has leaved-out and blossomed, and "promises to bear fruit."—Lowell News.

☞ Late accounts from the Peninsula state that much sickness exists among the troops composing McClellan's army. An urgent appeal has been made to the farmers of the North for supplies of butter and eggs, to be sent to Fortress Monroe, to the care of Drs. Hunt and McCoy, of the Chesapeake and Mill Creek hospital.—Sponges, oiled silk, rags, bandages, lint, and dried fruit, are also much needed.

☞ Gov. Holbrook has received a draft from some Vermont-born citizens of California, for $386, to be applied, in his discretion, to the aid of sick and wounded Vermont soldiers.

SATURDAY, MAY 24, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

Key West correspondence of the N. Y. Express, 15th inst., states that the British iron steamer Circassian, 1515 tons, with a cargo of tea, silk, coffee, and munitions of war, valued at $1,000,000, had been seized by the blockading fleet, and would be sent to New York.

Pensacola advices state that the rebels besides burning the Navy Yard, burnt all the steam sawmills, thus destroying the only means of sustenance of hundreds.

Deserters from the rebel camp at Corinth report that Beauregard had 103,000 men, 30,000 of them being held as a reserve, under Breckinridge. The rebels are suffering greatly from sickness, and all the houses along the Memphis & Charleston railroad were used as hospitals.

A dispatch from Gen. Halleck's headquarters, says there was considerable skirmishing along our whole line Wednesday. In every case the enemy was driven back. Our loss was about 40 killed and wounded. The enemy's loss was about the same.

It is said our advance on Friday was within five miles of Richmond, having crossed the Chickahomeny; also that the rebels had asked for an armistice, but were, of course, refused. The rebels had fallen back, with but slight efforts to check our onward movements. Beauregard arrived in Richmond on Tuesday.

CONGRESS, Thursday.—In the Senate the articles of impeachment against Judge Humphreys were read, and he is summoned to appear on the 9th of June.—Mr. Clark presented a petition from Mr. Morris, of New Hampshire, who was a soldier in the war of 1812, and who, when the rebellion broke out, sent his only son to the war. The son was killed, leaving the old man and his wife without support.—The Tax bill was taken up. The amendment taxing whiskey 20 cents a gallon was agreed to.

The House, by a majority of 4, passed a bill to secure the speedy transportation of the mails by requiring railroads to contract with postmasters. In case they do not agree on compensation it is to be fixed by the Court of Claims.

It appears probable from the present indications, that Congress will remain in session all summer. So many occurrences may come up suddenly, affecting the general welfare that it seems only prudent to be ready for business at all times.

☞ A letter from a regimental quartermaster at Corinth to his wife, says they (the rebels) are gone up. They have scant ten days' rations, and can get no more; he thinks there can be no fighting, as Halleck has cut off their supplies.

☞ The Sec. of the Treasury has appointed George S. Dennison, from the neighborhood of New Orleans, a special agent and collector, to open that port at the earliest practicable moment.

☞ Measures are to be taken at once to raise the steamer Merrimac, as well as other wrecks in Norfolk harbor.

☞ Mrs. Armstrong, who committed suicide in this city on Saturday evening last was a native of Connaught, Ireland, as was also her husband. They were of the Catholic faith, and Mr. A. was the owner of a family lot in the Catholic cemetery, which his wife had helped to purchase. But the circumstances of her death forbade her christian burial, or even a resting place in her own selected lot. On Sunday afternoon she was borne to a place outside of the Catholic Cemetery, and there buried without any religious services.

☞ Mr. James Eames and his wife celebrated their golden wedding at their home in Providence, R. I., on Tuesday evening, May 13. They have four sons and five daughters, in all these fifty years death having never entered their dwelling. The youngest daughter is the wife of Mr. Ezra A. Stevens, of this city, and one son is a minister settled in Concord, N. H. Rev. Lyman Whiting, their pastor, was present at the social gathering on the above day, and discoursed quite eloquently.

☞ In the suit of D. H. Craig against F. O. Smith, for libel in publishing an article in a newspaper, reflecting on the integrity of the plaintiff, the jury returned a verdict for Mr. Craig with damages in $750 and costs.

☞ The Providence Journal says the Government desires to obtain from Rhode Island a regiment of men for three months' service, as well as a regiment to serve during the war.

☞ Parson Brownlow will probably remain in Boston until after Sunday, and will then visit Portland.

☞ Another regiment is to be recruited in Vermont immediately.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Hon. Frederick Smyth, Ex-Mayor of Manchester, New Hampshire, who received the appointment of United States' Commissioner to the "International Exhibition of 1862," for New England, was, we noticed, present at the opening ceremonies of the Exhibition last Thursday. By the published "Transactions" of the United States' Agricultural Society, of which Mr. Smyth has long been a leading member, we notice he was formally appointed to represent that society at the "World's Fair," and also at all the agricultural exhibitions or meetings to be held in Europe during the present year. Mr. Smyth is, we believe, the only American who has been honored by Her Majesty's Commissioners for the International Exhibition with an appointment to the "Court of Jurors," which numbers among its members some of the most eminent men in Europe.—London American.

—— Commencement at Dartmouth takes place on the 29th, 30th and 31st of July.—The address before the Theological Society will be delivered by Joseph P. Thompson, D. D.; and that before the Phi Beta Kappa Society, by Rev. George L. Prentiss, D. D. The Exercises before the United Literary Society will consist of an Oration by Geo. W. Curtis; and a Poem by Chas. R. Congdon.

—— The total weight of eleven yoke of cattle, owned in one school district in Langdon, (one pair being three years old, one five years old, and the remainder four years old,) is 32,903 lbs. The heaviest yoke weighs 3,444 lbs., and the lightest 2585.

—— The Manchester American announces another chance for Barnum, as follows:—"The wife of Maj. Robin Nutt, the father of Commodore Nutt, on Wednesday presented her husband with another son.—The little fellow weighed one pound and a half." So the Commodore and Dolly Dutton are out-done,—or under-done.

☞ The following document has been issued by Gov. Berry, of this State:—

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
[L. S.] CONCORD, May 15, 1862.

To the Officers and Soldiers of the Second Regiment of N. H. Volunteers:

I desire, in behalf of the State of New Hampshire, to congratulate you on your courage, firmness and soldier like bearing in the recent battle of Williamsburg, Va.

While we lament the loss of so many brave officers and soldiers of your noble regiment, and deeply sympathize with their afflicted relatives, we are only consoled by the reflection that they died in defence of freedom, the Constitution, and laws of their country, and in suppressing a most wicked and causeless rebellion. Their memory will ever be embalmed in the affections of a grateful people. New Hampshire is proud of her Second Regiment. History will record their noble deeds. The battle of Bull Run, although disastrous to the country, bears witness to the gallantry of the Second New Hampshire. Once and again have you proved to the world that you are entitled to the thanks of all lovers of our common country. May a Divine Providence guide our nation, ere long, to Union, peace and prosperity, and permit your early and safe return to your native State, the bosom of your numerous and affectionate families, to receive the congratulations of your friends and fellow citizens.

NATHANIEL S. BERRY, Governor.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.—Mr. Jarnett's fine Combination Company have concluded their performances at the Boston Theatre, after a very successful season. They are now in Portland.

Mr. J. Wilkes Booth, the younger son of the great tragedian, made his first appearance in Boston at the Museum last week. He inherits very much of his father's ability, and is perhaps more like him than his brother Edwin. Taking into consideration his youth, and his limited stage experience, we see in him the promise of a tragedian that will in time rival the fame of his father. His "Richard 3d" is pronounced a very superior portraiture of the ambitious tyrant; and his "Hamlet," though rendered in a manner peculiar to himself, was very fine acting. We have not been accustomed to such a vigorous and nervous representation of the moody Dane. He is very ably supported by the Museum company, the cast in Hamlet being, Laertes by Mr. Keach, (the gentlemanly and courteous manager,) Polonius by Mr. Warren, Ophelia by Miss Kate Reignolds, &c.

Miss Reignolds is the leading lady of the Museum Stock Company, and is an actress of great versatility and superior abilities.

Mr. Wyzeman Marshall at the Howard, has engaged Mrs. Barrow, "the Boston favorite," for a short season. They opened on Monday evening with Shakspeare's comedy, "As you like it."

THE LAST OF THE FIRE ZOUAVES.—After a good many ups and downs, the Fire Zouaves, raised originally by the lamented Ellsworth, have been sent to New York to be mustered out of service. Raised to meet an emergency, and heralded by an extraordinary reputation for fighting, this regiment, we believe, has never proved a valuable addition to the army. It has been drifted here and there, has had to be reorganized, and more than once, and was finally kept in the rear at Fortress Monroe, in the discharge of mere hospital and police duties, such as led the Colonel to resign and the men to be disbanded. They are now to be mustered out, and it is probable that the department has judged very wisely in coming to this decision. The history of this regiment will show, we suspect, that "bruisers" may serve very well for street fighting, but are not the best material for soldiers.

NEW HAMPSHIRE OLD FOLKS.

A writer in the Boston Transcript asserting that the attainment of eighty, and even ninety years, is not so uncommon as is generally supposed, takes his illustrations from the State of New Hampshire.

In 1732, William Perkins died, at Newmarket, aged 116. John Buss, at Durham, in 1786, 108. James Wilson, at Chester, in 1789, 100. William Scoby, at Londonderry, in 1754, 110. James Shirley, at Chester, in 1754, 105. Elizabeth Hight, at Newington, in 1765, 100. Howard Henderson, at Dover, in 1772, 100. William Craige, at Chester, in 1775, 100. Mrs. Green, at Chester, in 1775, 100. Mrs. Lear, at Portsmouth, in 1775, 108. Mrs. Mayo, at Portsmouth, in 1775, 106. Robert Macklin, at Wakefield, in 1787, 115.—Mrs. Ulrick, at Hollis, in 1789, 104. Mrs. Hayley, at Exeter, in 1790, 101. Jacob Shirley, at Hanover, in 1791, 100. James Shirley, Junior, at Chester, in 1791, 100. James Wilson, at Chester, in 1793, 100.—Elizabeth Newmarch, at Portsmouth, in 1800, 100. Thomas Wason, at Chester, in 1800, 100. Ezekiel Leathers, at Durham, in 1801, 102. Abednego Leathers, at Durham, in 1802, 101. Hannah Lovejoy, at Amherst, in 1805, 102. Martha Chesmore, at Dunbarton, in 1808, 101. Daniel Davis, at Allenstown, in 1808, 105. Mrs. McClench, at Merrimack, in 1808, 100. Elizabeth Potter, at Lebanon, in 1808, 100.—Catherine Sherburne, at Conway, in 1808, 101. Joshua Foss, at Barrington, in 1809, 100. Ezra Dolph, at Hopkinton, in 1811, 102. Mary Bean, at Sutton, in 1811, 100. Nathan Blake, at Keene, in 1811, 100. Benjamin Connor, at Exeter, in 1811, 100. James Atwood, at Hampstead, in 1812, 100. Joanna Hixon, at Newington, in 1813, 105. Mary Davidson, at Goffstown, in 1813, 100. Dye, a negro, at Exeter, in 1813, 105. Anna Leavitt, at Hampton, in 1815, 100. Sarah Morse, at Salem, in 1815, 100. John Shaw, at Holderness, in 1815, 101. John Crocker, at Richmond, in 1815, 100. Elizabeth Richards, at Newington, in 1816, 101. Phebe Dow, at Seabrook, in 1816, 101.—Zeno, a negro, at Nottingham, in 1816, 101. Elizabeth Darling, at Portsmouth, in 1817, 102. Elizabeth Pitman, at Epsom, in 1817, 100. Abigail Craig, at Rumney, in 1817, 105. Mrs. Bunker, at Barnstead, in 1817, 105. Mary Fernald, at Portsmouth, in 1818, 100. Hannah Foss, at Gilmanton, in 1818, 103. Dorcas Rowe, at Meredith, in 1819, 101. Jacob Davis, at Sutton, in 1819, 105. William Prescott, at Gilford, in 1819, 102. Samuel Downs, at Somersworth, in 1820, 100. Widow Cilley, at Poplin, in 1820, 101. Jonathan Foster, at Mason, in 1821, 100. Joanna Aplin, at Keene, in 1821, 100. Jane McLellan, at Wentworth, in 1821, 100. Mrs. Godfrey, at Deerfield, in 1821, 101. Mary Smith, at Salem, in 1821, 101. Reuben Abbott, at Concord, in 1822, 100. Thomas Walker, at Sutton, in 1822, 103.

In 1822, Samuel Welch was living, in Bow, N. H., at the age of 112, Sarah Kelly, at New Hampton, 103, and Mrs. Cephas, at Chesterfield, 105. A brigade, between 80 and 90, and a regiment, between 90 and 100, were, at that time, extant in New Hampshire. The greatest age attained by any person, in that State, was 120. At that age, Mr. Lovewell, of Dunstable, died. He was the father of the famous Captain Lovewell, so celebrated for his conduct and courage in the Indian wars.

☞ A Portland man obtained a divorce from a strong-minded woman, on Thursday. The honey-moon had not passed before she refused to cook for him; then she would often commence washing after supper, keeping her husband employed in bringing water until near midnight. Many times had she threatened to take his life.—At last she attempted to interfere with the freeman's privilege and to decide whom he should vote for—and he wouldn't stand it.

GAME IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.—The Portsmouth Chronicle understands that a movement is to be made in that city to procure from the next Legislature the passage of a law in New Hampshire, similar to those in other States, for the protection of birds which are now shot out of season. Such enactment is needed to restrain "pot-hunters." When the friends of this object are at the work they might as well also petition for an enactment to prevent the taking of trout after a certain date in the fall, as the wholesale destruction of that description of fish, in almost every stream, when "full of most blessed condition," is carried out on a scale which threatens, in many instances, to extirpate it.

☞ There was a report in circulation at Washington on Friday that the Governor of one of the New England States flatly refused to call for more troops, until the Government agrees to arm and employ slaves where it is dangerous for white men to perform military duty from the climate.

☞ An Exchange says a gentleman walking near the Gorham Powder Mills, at the time of their late explosion, noticing the smoke, plunged under the water near and swam under the surface till the fragments had fallen.

WORK SOLDIERS.—We are glad that recruiting is to be commenced again.—One hundred thousand additional men could be advantageously employed to-day, if not double that number. Let us have more than enough, rather than be deficient at any point.—Boston Post.

☞ See a woman, in another column picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y

PRIVATE BOARDING
At RYE BEACH, N. H.

Families, parties or individuals wishing board through the summer months, will find a pleasant home and all the comforts of a well ordered house, at the house formerly well and popularly known as the SURF HOUSE, at RYE BEACH,—near the Ocean House and a few rods from the sea shore. THE NEW STAR.—If to have an audience remain quiet, attentive and sympathizing during the delivery of a long lecture, is any indication of the ability, tact, and success of the speaker, we think it can be claimed for Miss Dickinson, that she is a compeer worthy to be admitted as a particular star in the large and brilliant constellation of genius and talent, now endeavoring to direct the country to the goal of negro emancipation.

Music Hall was filled to overflowing; hundreds of the audience were early, and must have sat there more than an hour before the lecture began; and yet, we do not remember to have seen less signs of weariness and inattention during a lecture we ever attended in this city. Her voice is clear and penetrating, without being harsh; her enunciation is very distinct, and at times somewhat rythmic in its character, with enough of a peculiar accent to indicate that her home has not been in Massachusetts. Her whole appearance and manner are decidedly attractive, earnest and express five. Her lecture was well arranged, logical, and occasionally eloquent, persuasive and pathetic.

She argued the demand for the abolition of the Slave Power from the commencement of our Government till the present time, and proved that, because it would not hope to control this country in the future as it had in the past, it raised the standard of rebellion,—an act long since determined upon when such an exigency should arise. Slavery being thus proved to be the cause of the war, the justice, necessity and propriety of its abolition, as a means of present defence and future security and peace, was forcibly illustrated.

That the slave was prepared for freedom was proved by the thousands who have passed thro' so much danger and suffering to obtain it. The inhuman character of the fugitive slave enactment was most beautifully referred to, bringing tears to many eyes which are not accustomed to weep over the wrongs of the colored race.

She spoke in eloquent terms of Fremont, which met with a hearty response from the audience, as did other parts of her address. On the whole, we think her friends here must be greatly delighted with her first effort, on her first visit to our old Commonwealth.—From Fall River (Mass.) Press.

PORTSMOUTH, May 20.

Gents:—I wish to say a few words in regard to the SCHOOLS of your city. An experience of over 30 years in the "old Bay State" causes me to take a great interest in schools, and I rarely visit a place of any size without entering one or more of the public schools. I have done so in this city, and while I have been very much pleased at the appearance of these schools, particularly with the excellent order which prevails—there is one thing which struck me very unpleasantly. I allude to the very limited time allowed for rest to your children and their teachers. In looking over the regulations in these schools, I find that one of them reads thus:—

"No vacations allowed during the year, except the month of August, the 4th of July, Christmas Fast and Thanksgiving days."

School to be taught from Sept. 1 to Aug. 1st—eleven long months, with but four days rest.

I do not believe so little time as this is allowed in any other city in the Union, and I think it is a great mistake to give so little time: it is an injury to both teachers and pupils. I know this by experience—twenty years ago it was customary in the schools in which I taught to have vacations of about the same length that you now have here; but twelve or fifteen years ago this was changed—more time was given, and the result has been a marked improvement in those schools. If you but give it a moment's thought, you will conclude it must be the case. With the same wearisome routine to go through, day after day, for months, would it be wonderful if they did lose interest in their school? why, two or three days' or a week's vacation sends the children back to their books refreshed and eager to recommence study, and sends the teacher back, none but a teacher can tell how much invigorated and encouraged Think of this matter, friends, and give your schools more time; don't be outdone in liberality by your Massachusetts neighbors; give them a spring and winter vacation, as well as summer, and see how good the result will be.

AN OLD TEACHER.

SUNDAY SERVICES.—Rev. Dr. Lamson will preach at the Middle Street Baptist Church, to-morrow. Dr. Lamson will also preach at the Alms-house, at five o'clock in the afternoon.

Rev. Charles H. Brigham, of Taunton, Mass., will preach at the Unitarian church to-morrow.

Miss Ann Dickinson will speak at the Temple to-morrow afternoon and evening.

THAT FIR TREE.—Mr. Wm. Berry, 2d, of Greenland, who, as is well known, sells beautiful and thrifty evergreens, "warranted to be good double Fir," on Wednesday left a sample tree in front of Mr. Shores' bookstore, which having a heavy sod at the root, was not intended to be taken in at night. But Mr. Preston got "taken in" with it—for seeing the tree exposed after his neighbor's store was closed for the night, he, with his usual public spirit and regard for the beautiful, aided by a late passer-by, tugged the tree into his own store for preservation till next morning—when all had a good laugh over it.

Well, it was placed in front of Mr. Shores' again; and the next morning, Mr. N. P. Thacher's clerk found it in his doorway, whence he with difficulty removed it. Where it will travel next is uncertain—but it is a good specimen of fir tree, (whether it goes any further or not,) such as nobody would object to having duplicated for their premises.

☞ When a monkey climbs a tree, he unfavorably exposes himself to view—and so has our green-eyed, jaundice visaged contemporary, who edits an obscure, insignificant, languishing, weakly paper, in a neighboring inland town,—by attacking the Chronicle flag-staff, made another exhibition of the envious jealousy which he has always shown toward us.

If we can't smoke so many cigars, nor "stand so much champagne" as our contemporary, we believe that the Chronicle, like its staunch new flag-staff, can for a spell longer withstand all attempts of its enemies to hack-it down.

☞ We observe that our neighbor, N. P. Thacher, yesterday raised a new flag and very beautiful Star Spangled Banner, on his staff at the corner of Market street. Nathan is determined to "stand by the flag," or that the flag shall stand by him, for this makes the third he has flung to the breeze, at that point—and the elements don't use bunting up, after all, half so fast as contact with trees and buildings.

☞ The reporter for the Ballot, from which we clipped the item, must have wished to spite the rebels by his statement of the number of tons of salt brought to this port by the ship Portsmouth. 6000 tons might be rather a large amount for a ship of her tonnage.

☞ We are indebted to Mr. Nelson Goodrich, of this city, on board the U. S. S. Pensacola, for late New Orleans papers.

MISS DICKINSON'S LECTURE, on Sunday afternoon, will accommodate the citizens of neighboring towns, who are desirous of hearing that noted and interesting speaker,—as many of them cannot conveniently attend in the evening. See advertisement on another page.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S

Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer

Simple, Economical, Durable,

AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!

The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.

Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.

In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, in LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

The great improvement in this, over every other Wringer, such as Ladies' Starter, is its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.

The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.

Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.

Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

Manures.

J. F. SHORES, JR.,

No. 1 Congress Block,

—has for sale—

1900 BARRELS of the LODI MANUFACT'G CO'S

Superior Poudrette.

This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.

TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!

Try it on your FIELD CROPS!! Try it on your BEANS, your CABBAGES, your Corn, Potatoes. Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY; Try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS;

TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY.

The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity.

One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.

Also, for sale,

PURE PERUVIAN GUANO

—and—

Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,

warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

The Best Manure.

The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called

POUDRETTE.

The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.

Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers, therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a much excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.

A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried mud. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We make no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.

DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.

Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky:

NEW YORK, May 1, 1861.

MR. WM. T. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky.

Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an agent, with a good quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.

We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

DRS. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others.

Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,

I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,

WM. T. CUTTER, JR.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the above WM. T. CUTTER & AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

IMMORTELLES.

HUMAN PRIDE.

Power may make many earthly gods,
Where gold or bribery's gulfs prevails;
But death's unwelcome, honest odds
Kick o'er the unequal scales.
The flattered great may clamors raise
Of power,—and their own weakness hide;
But death shall find unlocked for ways
To end the farce of pride.

An arrow hurled e'er so high,
Even by a giant's mighty strength,
In time's untraced eternity,
Goes but a pigmy length.—
Nay, whirring from the tortured string,
With all its pomp of hurried flight,
Th by the sky-lark's little wing
Outmeasured in its height. —Anon.

Even though we bid farewell
Unto the spring's blue skies and budding trees,
Yet may we lift our hearts, in hope to dwell
'Midst brighter scenes than these;

And think of deathless flowers
And of bright streams to glorious valleys given;
And know, the while now little dreams of ours
Can shadow forth of heaven! —Anon.

TIME.

Time, the prime minister of death,
There's naught can stay him; honest will;
He stops the richest tyrant's breath,
And lays his mischief still:
Each wicked scheme for power he stops,
With grandeur's false and vain display;
At eve's shades from high mountain tops
Fade with the rest away. —Anon.

☞ The Philadelphia Press relates the following anecdote of Bulwer's "Strange Story:"

There is an on dit that a Boston publisher who has more than once shown extra Yankee cuteness in rushing out reprints of English books for which others had paid large sums to the authors, commenced reprinting "A Strange Story." The Harpers heard of this, and while he was waiting for their conclusion of the Story (in their Weekly) issued the work complete in a volume, and liberally illustrated,so far in advance of his possibility of timely piracy, and at such a low price, as to make waste paper of 10,000 copies which he had so far printed. It was a sharp lesson,but well deserved. The result was to give the book to the public at a price which must have left no profit to the publishers, though it made the public rejoice.

SAD.—Three out spoken Union men have been found in Norfolk by our troops. One of them was worth $30,000 a year ago, every dollar of which the rebel government confiscated. He took to the woods and swamps south of Norfolk; and upon hearing that the old flag waved once more over his native city, he returned. Meeting an old Northern friend on the streets, he threw himself into his arms and fell to the ground a shrieking maniac. The convulsion of joy was too much for mind and body, enfeebled by his starving in the woods, and he is now a lunatic.

TORNADO IN VIRGINIA.—The Lutheran church, occupied as a school house, in Wheeling, Va., was unroofed on Wednesday afternoon by a tornado, killing three and injuring six of the scholars. The steeple of St. John's Church was also blown down, and the building partially unroofed. The steamer Merrimac, bound down the river, had her upper works demolished and three of her crew injured by the same tornado.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837,)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions; and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, SEVENTY ONE of which was decided in his favor by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

A D V E R T I S E!
Advertise!
IT IS THE
LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all classes of people, from every means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have trifled with them in the past. The right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in the disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally pleasant.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well-sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that it is economy or good business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time to curtail expenses; every one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it,and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me, and I know how far to go, for especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their books out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is as constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

THE NEWSPAPER
Advertising Agency
—OF—
S. R. NILES,
1 Scollay's Building, Court Street, Boston,

Embraces most of the principal Commercial, Business, Religious, Literary, Scientific and Agricultural Newspapers in the United States, British Provinces and Canadas, for which he is the duly appointed Agent, and authorized by the proprietors to receive advertisements and subscriptions at their lowest rates.

The Agent will spare no pains to render his agency a prompt, safe and reliable medium of communication with the Newspaper Press of the country. He feels qualified, from his long experience and devotion to the subject, to impart valuable information in regard to papers and localities best adapted for different kinds of business.

Persons desiring information, its cost, comparative value of papers and situations, are respectfully invited to call at the Agency, or they will be waited upon and every assistance rendered for the adoption of a thorough and judicious system of advertising. apr5 tf S. R. NILES.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE
PURE AND FOUR YEARS OLD,
OF CHOICE OPORTO FRUIT,
For Physicians' Use,
FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS.
SAMBUCUS TREE, OF PORTUGAL,

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefitting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

-American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837,)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States, in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting the Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

MONDAY, MAY 26, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

The rebels made an attack on Gen. Banks' line on Friday afternoon, and attempted to burn the bridge recently built by the Federal force, over the Shenandoah.

A tug sent down from the fleet to reconnoitre, was fired on from Fort Wright, Wednesday. Subsequent demonstrations by the rebels proved that they still occupy the place, and on the same day two mortars opened on the fort, and the firing was kept up until the evening. The fire has been returned three or four times by the rebels.

Our army has been within four miles of Corinth several days. There has been some skirmishing, but the enemy does not seem inclined to attack.

All was quiet in the departments of Banks, McDowell and Frembnt up to Friday noon.

The N. Y. Times' correspondent says:—Prof. Lowe, accompanied by Gen. Stoneman, made a balloon ascension on Tuesday morning. The position of the enemy is ascertained to be on the other side of Richmond. The baggage and supply trains of the rear guard of the rebels were seen moving from the river toward Richmond. Only a small force of the enemy remained between our forces and the city. Prof. Lowe discovered a few earthworks near the city, but they were not regarded as formidable.

The Mayor and Council of Norfolk still refuse to take the oath of allegiance.

Quite an enthusiastic Union meeting was held in Portsmouth on Tuesday night, at which eight hundred persons were present, including many from Norfolk.

It was reported at Norfolk that Gen. Burnside had taken Weldon.

Col. Heth, with 3000 rebels, attacked our forces under Col. Crook, on Friday, at Lewisburg. After a severe fight the rebels were completely routed. Col. Crook's forces numbered 1300. We captured four cannon, 200 stand of arms, 100 prisoners—including one Lieut. Colonel, and one Major.

A dispatch from Gen. Banks, dated Strasburg, 24th, says:

Col. Kenly's command of infantry and cavalry have been driven back from Front Royal Va., with considerable loss in killed, wounded and in prisoners. The rebel force is estimated at 5000 or 6000, and is reported to have fallen back on Front River, which they probably occupied this morning.

It is est mated that there are now in Norfolk and Portsmouth 1000 deserters from Huger's rebel forces. It is said nearly a thousand more are scattered through the woods. All willingly take the oath of allegiance.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Gen. McClellan's advance, on Saturday, shelled out the rebels opposite New Bridge; they ran away, leaving their baggage train, &c. Gen. McClellan says the Louisiana Tigers were about finished in skirmishing on Saturday: 50 were killed, and as many more taken prisoners. Our loss was 10.—The rebels have selected a position 3 or 4 miles this side of Richmond, to meet our forces, and as our advance is but a few miles from Richmond, its further progress must be slow, that the main body may keep up and be prepared for any emergency.

Gen. Banks has been largely reinforced; so also has Gen. Geary, who holds an important position on the Manassas R. R.—Gen. Banks has fallen back to Winchester. The rebels were repulsed in making an attack, with cavalry and artillery, on his baggage train.

The rebel fleet has re-appeared at Fort Wright.

On the morning of the 21st there were 10 gunboats below Vicksburg. The Federal commander ordered the removal of the women and children from the city within 24 hours; the Mayor asked till the 27th inst. The Governor of Mississippi calls for 1000 men, to rendezvous at Vicksburg.

It is known that Beauregard intended to make a general attack on Gen. Halleck's forces and at one time had his entire force outside his intrenchments, but suddenly ordered them back again. The appearance of our gun-boats at Vicksburg, probably, caused a change in his plans. An attack, however, is momentarily expected.

☞ Norfolk is to be occupied at once as a naval station, and all the wrecks sunk in the harbor to be removed. A large number of shells and fuses were obtained from the wreck of the Merrimac, on Friday.

☞ A bill was introduced into the U. S. Senate, on Saturday, legalizing and confirming the act of the President in accepting volunteers, under the act of July last, and authorizing the acceptance of 200,000 additional. A bill amending the Fugitive Slave act, was also introduced.

THE PRESIDENT GOING TO RICHMOND.—A Washington dispatch says the President has gone down the Potomac, and it is rumored that he intends to be present at the capture of Richmond.

☞ Com. Foote declined a public reception offered by the citizens of Cleveland.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Mr. J. N. Robinson, of Concord, has made arrangements with the citizens of Littleton for establishing a line of telegraph to that place. The sum required to accomplish the object has nearly all been raised.

—— Patrick Moriarty, a lad of about 14 years, employed in the mule room of the Manchester Mills, was seriously injured by catching his leg in the machinery. The fleshy part below the knee was sadly mutilated, and the thigh broken.

—— Michael Hurley, while employed at the Locomotive Works in Manchester, on Friday morning, in turning an engine crank, had his leg caught by the balance of the lathe and held there some three minutes before he could be extricated, breaking his leg between the knee and ankle, also bruising him quite badly.

—— The following appointments have been made by the Governor and Council:

☞ Bufford, Portsmouth, Justice of the Peace and Quorum throughout the State.

Lyman D. Spaulding, Portsmouth; Aaron L. Bellows, New Market; Oren Bragdon, Portsmouth; Edward Titcomb, Windham; Joseph Richardson, Deerfield—Justices of the Peace for the County of Rockingham.

—— The Examiner, a weekly paper, some twelve by nine inches in size, published at St. Augustine, Fla., by the N. H. Fourth Regiment, gives the following:—"Daniel Sullivan, of Co. D, while engaged in raising a flag-staff on Fort Marion, had his leg broken by its falling upon him. He was in the hospital on the first inst., and recovering. On the same date Lorin H. Dow, of Co. F, aged 19 years, died in the hospital. Adjt. Fuller, and Asst. Surgeon Greely left St. Augustine for home on the 4th inst. Lieut. Col. Bell, of the Fourth, issued an order, under date of May 7, declaring that certain women, having "conducted themselves in a manner grossly insulting to the U. S. forces, by assembling on the Plaza, and openly proclaiming their disloyalty, therefore it is ordered that any woman who shall be guilty of any open and offensive exhibition of disloyalty shall be considered as having forfeited immunity from punishment by reason of her sex, and shall be held in strict arrest. And furthermore, if another such disgraceful scene is enacted, I shall enforce the full rigor of martial law on the city.'"

—— The Statesman, Independent Democrat and Patriot will each publish its accustomed daily during the session of the Legislature. Price only 25 cents.

—— The soldierly bearing of the N. H. 6th Regiment at the recent battle of Camden has frequently been spoken of. When the battle was doubtful and the other regiments, worn out by the long march, had been compelled to fall back, Lieut. Reno, aid to the General, rode along the line of the Sixth, and at the top of his voice, cried, "now give them a volley, worthy of old New Hampshire." The order was obeyed and the battle was over. The enemy's ranks were broken, and they fled disheartened. Col. Hawkins was lying in the Hospital, having been wounded in the arm during the early part of the engagement: on hearing the volley fired by the N. H. 6th, he exclaimed, "Great God! what a volley! If that was fired by the enemy we are beaten."

ELECTION DAY.—The Nashua Telegraph says one of the new features of the inauguration of Gov. Berry, at Concord, on Thursday, June 5th, will be the appearance of the Governor, mounted, with his aids in full military rig. The Governor's Horse Guards, we have no doubt, will appear with full ranks, in spite of the disadvantages under which they will come out. Co. B, of Nashua, especially suffers by the war—having many of its members absent in the service. But the lack is made up to a considerable extent by new members from Peterborough, Mason, and other places, who have procured new uniforms since the last parade. Co. C, of Portsmouth, Great Falls, &c., has also been recruited up to full numbers, so that the parade may be equal to former years. The Guards will be under command of Lieut. Col. Bellows, Col. Stark having resigned. John H. George is Captain of Co. A, at Concord; Samuel F. Wright, Capt. Co. B; M. C. Burleigh, Capt. Co. C.

FROM TENNESSEE.—An election was held in Tennessee on Thursday for Judicial officers. The vote in Nashville, stood for Circuit Judge:—Brien, (Union) 570; Foster, (Secessionist) 706. The Secessionists generally voted. The Union men rarely voted, regarding the election as invalid.—Gov. Johnson will give no commissions to the Secessionists elected.

The President and Cashier of the Bank of the Union have been arrested by order of Gov. Johnson on a charge of treason.

The town of Pulaski has been assessed for twelve dollars and sixty-eight cents by the Provost Marshal, to compensate a Union merchant for goods seized by Morgan's troops.

☞ In Fitchburg, Mass., on the 20th inst., Martin Calhan, a workman in the Putnam Machine Shop, becoming enraged with a fellow workman, named George Knights, seized a bar of steel, and struck Knights a heavy blow just over the temple, injuring him seriously.

☞ The Supreme Court has been sitting at Lenox, Mass., during the present week, engaged in the trial of William Collins for murdering his wife by stabbing her with a bayonet in September last. The Jury returned a verdict of murder in the first degree. She was his second wife, and he was jealous of her, and was in the habit of denouncing her, and her daughter by her first husband. Before consummating the act, he had previously attempted to murder her, but without success. When arrested, he said the act had been premeditated, he was glad he had killed her, and, under the same circumstances, he would commit the same crime again.

☞ At the funeral services, in Gorham, Me., of the lad who was killed by a blow from a bat-stick while playing ball, the horse of Mr. Rufus Mosher took fright and threw his young daughter out of the chaise and under the wheels, which passed over her face, breaking her nose and her jaw, and injuring one of her eyes. The girl was a cousin of the boy buried. She will probably recover, but will be disfigured for life. It is a very sad affair, as the young miss was a remarkably fine looking girl, and the very idol of her parents.

☞ The Worcester, Mass., Spy states that during the past four or five years, an extensive system of thieving has been carried on in several of the towns in the southeasterly portion of that county. As many as fifty harnesses, among other articles, have been stolen from various parties, and at last the police have succeeded in arresting five men, charged with committing the thefts.

☞ On Monday last, when William C. Baleh's house in Newburyport, was on fire, his little son, of five years old, was the first to discover it. The little fellow sets a great store by his pistol, so he mounted up stairs, got his pistol and clothes, and then made tracks across the Mall towards the School-house. Meeting a friend, he said in hurried and plucky accents, "house's on fire, but I can stand it, for I've saved my pistol and clothes, and guess I can sleep in the School-house."

CONGRESS, Friday.—In the Senate, after the adoption of sundry orders of inquiry, the tax bill was taken up and various amendments adopted. Seventy-five sections of the act have been passed upon by the Senate. The bill requiring the names of staff officers to be sent to the Senate for confirmation, was passed.

The House continued the debate on the confiscation bill.

☞ An important case is to be argued at the law term of the S. J. Court in Bangor, next week. It arises from the burning of the ship Golden Rocket, of Bangor, by a rebel privateer, last summer. The question is whether the rebels were "pirates" within the meaning of the insurance policy. The case is to be argued by R. H. Dana, Jr., for the plaintiff, and Judge Curtis, late of the United States Supreme Court, for the defendants.

A POISONING CASE.—A Mrs. Lineham, in Lawrence, Mass., mixed up some bread with arsenic, by mistake, instead of saleratus, on Tuesday, and she and her child, and a woman boarding with her ate, some of it before the discovery was made. The arsenic was left in the house by a family who had recently vacated it. One of the women is still in a critical condition.

☞ The San Francisco Herald of April 26th, says:—

"A private letter received in San Francisco yesterday, by overland mail, mentions that the New York Journal of Commerce and the Boston Post had been suppressed by the Government—that is, Government has excluded those journals from the mails."

Readers in this part of the country, who know the ability the Boston Post has displayed in its uniform and steadfast adherence to the cause of the Union and the Constitution, will be surprised to learn that a writer should so far rely on the ignorance of his correspondent, as to state that it has been excluded from the mails.

☞ Mr. Everett is delivering his lecture on the character and origin of the war, throughout the West. He visited the rebel prisoners at Camp Douglas, Chicago, the other day, and also the grave of Douglas.

☞ They are to have a new Daily and Weekly paper in Portland, "The Press."—Portland now has three Dailies and four Weeklies. The Press is to be Republican, to be edited by Gilman, of the Bath Times, and Hall, of the Aroostook Herald.

☞ The Charleston Mercury states that the steam ram Mississippi, which the rebels burned at New Orleans, was three times as large as the Merrimac, and that she could have destroyed the Yankee navy if they could have got her ready in time.

☞ It is ascertained from an authentic source that the expenditures of the Government, from April, 1861, to the present time, have not exceeded a million of dollars a day.

☞ Charles Reed, a circus actor, belonging to Madigan & Carrol's circus, was instantly killed on Saturday afternoon, at Greenpoint, by falling upon his head from the top of the centre-pole, while assisting to put up the tent.

SINGULAR DETECTION OF A THIEF.—A musician employed at one of the London theatres possessed an ebony flute with silver keys. He seldom used it, however, in consequence of one of the upper notes being defective. The musician had for a lodger a young man, a theatrical tailor, and between the two there existed a considerable friendship. Well, one night, while the musician was away at his business, some one stole the flute with the silver keys, and suspicion fell on an old char-woman who used to come and do the house work. However, nothing tending to show that the old lady really was guilty, the affair was shortly forgotten. In a few months the tailor left the house of the musician and went to live in a town a few miles off; but as the friendship between the two men still existed, they occasionally visited each other. Nearly a year afterward the musician paid the tailor a visit, and was pleased to find him in possession of a beautiful bullfinch, who could distinctly whistle three tunes. The performance was perfect, with this exception—whenever he came to a certain high note he invariably skipped it and went on to the next. A very little reflection convinced the musician that the note in which the bullfinch was imperfect was the very one that was deficient on the flute. So convinced was he, that he at once sharply questioned the ex lodger on the subject, who at once trembingly confessed the guilt, and that all the bird knew had been taught him on the stolen flute.—Beeton's Home Pets.

GETTING DISGUSTED.—The Richmond Whig says:—"Unless we can go back to the old habit of telling the truth and using moderate language, quit 'shaking Savannah with an earthquake' from a fort that surrenders after four men were wounded, and cease to imitate the bombastical and mendacious lingo of the Mexicans and the Chinese, we had better shut up the telegraphic offices and suppress the newspapers. Let us show to the world that we are Southerners—lovers of truth, and of plain, honest speech, or else let us go back to the Yankees we so much resemble. The country is sick of the ineffable nonsense of the knaves and fools who pretend to report our battles."

OH, MY!—A young lady named McCown, attended a dance at Cohoes on Monday evening. After participating in a cotillion, she sat down on the window sill "to get a breath of air." In this position she lost her balance, but, as she was disappearing, a young man named Johnson rushed to her rescue and seized her by the feet. He held her in this unpleasant position till help arrived, and saved her from a sudden death. Miss McCown felt her modesty so much shocked by the way she was rescued, that she left Cohoes next morning and has not been seen since.

SOUTH DANVERS.—The old custom of having the pastoral relation of a permanent character, is well nigh discarded. This is made manifest in South Danvers, Mass., by the striking fact that of the five religious societies in that town, Rev. Mr. Barber, of the Old South Church, is now the oldest settled minister, and he has held the position for the period of about seven months. His four earliest predecessors ministered to the same society more than a century. This is a proof that itinerancy is not a monopoly of the Methodist persuasion.—Wizard.

A STRANGE CAUSE OF INSANITY.—A woman in New Jersey took to wearing the bloomer costume, a short time since, which so mortified her son—a fine young man about twenty years old—that he has become insane.

☞ See a woman, in another column picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with dilitress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited much of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb 24, 1858. Dr Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."

WM. P. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I CRESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel indeed bound to do, that my daughter was for years afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CRESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

Fresh Beef & Vegetables for the Navy.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
Bureau of Provisions and Clothing,
WASHINGTON, May 3, 1862.

Sealed proposals will be received at this office until THURSDAY, the fifth day of June, 1862, at noon, for the supply of such quantities of Fresh Beef and Vegetables as may be required on the Portsmouth, N. H., station, during the fiscal year commencing on the 1st day of July next, and ending on the 30th June, 1863.

The Beef and Vegetables must be of good quality, and the best the market affords; and each article must be offered for by the pound.

Bond with approved security will be required in one half the estimated amount of the contract, and twenty per centum in addition will be withheld from the amount of each payment to be made, as collateral security for the performance of the contract, which will on no account be paid until it is fully complied with. Payments to be made in certificates of indebtedness, or in Treasury Notes, at the option of the government.

Every offer made must be accompanied (as directed in the act of Congress approved 3d, appropriation for the naval service for 1846-7, approved 10th August, 1846,) by a written guaranty, signed by one or more responsible persons, to the effect that he or they undertake that the bidder or bidders will, if his or their bid be accepted, enter into an obligation, within five days, with ample and sufficient sureties, to furnish the articles proposed.

No proposal will be considered unless accompanied by such guaranty. may6 w Tues 4w

REQUISITION. — The War Department has made a requisition for 200 men to recruit the Sixth Regiment, now with General Burnside. There are fifty-two men already enlisted at Fort Constitution, Portsmouth, who are of no pretical use there, and who could help make up this requisition.— Concord Ind. Democrat.

The men at Fort Constitution,we believe, were enlisted for the especial stated duty of garrisoning that position. They were sworn into the general service a short time since, and with this force it would seem that the defences of Portsmouth harbor and this important naval station, are none too effective or too strongly manned.

☞ Company C, Governor's Horse Guards, Capt. Burleigh, have honored the Strafford Guards (infantry) of Dover, by accepting their invitation to escort them in parade, on the 39th anniversary of the Strafford Guards, on Wednesday next, at Dover. Hall's Band will furnish music for the street, and a concert. Co. C, G. H. G, will have their first uniform drill for the season at Great Falls on Tuesday afternoon next.

☞ Among the hosts of young men who have gone out from Portsmouth and sought a livelihood in other cities, no one is better booked up in his trade than Wm. H. Piper, the Bookseller, in Boston. Mr. P. was for many years connected as salesman and afterwards as copartner with the house of Crosby, Nichols & Co., from which concern he has recently retired to engage in business upon his own account. No dealer in books is better posted than Piper: ask him for any work in the English language that ever saw the literary light of Boston, and he can tell if it is to be had, and its cost.—To a wonderful tenacity of memory he seems to add a complete knowledge of books, authors, and publishers; and it is safe to suppose that if Piper has not a copy of a work or cannot get it at short order, it is out of print.

Mr. Piper has recently opened a new store for the sale of books, rare coins, &c., on Washington street, Boston, and doubtless with his peculiar knowledge of the business and rare assortment of publications, will secure a large share of trade.

"STARR KING'S ANNIVERSARY."—The first Unitarian Church of San Francisco, will commemorate the commencement of the Pastorship of Starr King on Sunday April 27. The interior of the Church will be decorated with flowers, and the occasion will be observed as a festival. There will be a special service in the evening for the children of the Sunday School.—San Francisco Herald, 26th.

☞ The appraisers of Col. Colt's estate reckon his property at over three million dollars, exclusive of his Western and Texan lands, his gold and lead mines in South America, and his property in England—all of which are probably worth another million.

AN UNFORTUNATE CONTRABAND.—At the Worcester, Mass., police court on Tuesday, Philip Lee, a contraband from Port Royal, was convicted of larceny, and sentenced to four months to the House of Correction.

☞ Nassau dates of the 4th state that 30 rebel vessels were there, awaiting the termination of the war, preferring inaction to certain capture by the blockading vessels, which, they say, have effectually sealed the Southern ports.

There is a story told of an old woman, who, when the physician left any medicine in her family, used to divide it amongst all her children. Especially was this the case if the medicine was "bad to take."

FARMERS SELDOM FAIL.—The Massachusetts Ploughman states that out of 1,112 persons who took the benefit of the late bankrupt act in that State, only 14 were farmers.

Commodore Foote is a very religious man, as well known. Some one says that the rebels, who are feeling his bombs, must think he belongs to the "Hard-shell Baptists."—Prov. Jour.

☞ There are fifty vessels under the English flag lying off New Orleans and Mobile, to buy cotton at any price when the ports are opened.

☞ The Nashville Union publishes two columns of notices of runaway slaves captured, and calls for their owners to come after them.

☞ Out of a population of 4000 at Fredericksburg, Va., 300 children died of scarlet fever the past winter.

☞ There are ninety thousand bales of cotton stored in Augusta, Ga., which the Governor has declared must be burned upon the approach of the Federal forces.

☞ The Union Congregational Society, of Portland, hove voted unanimously to sell the parish property.

A Southern recruit is contemptuously defined as the "individual who does not own one square inch of a black man."

☞ The Atlantic Monthly for June is published, and well upholds its previous reputation.

Prentice is responsible for a report that the beggars of the Southern Confederacy positively decline Confederate notes.

☞ The Cotton Factory in Augusta, Me has been engaged for some time in the manufacture of cotton fibre from India,mixing it with a portion of American cotton.—The bales of the India cotton are handsomely pressed and very compact.

☞ Hon. James Dixon, U. S. Senator from Connecticut, has been re-elected by the Legislature, for the term of six years, from the 4th of March next. He had more than two-thirds of the votes.

The rebels call our gunboats "hell bees." One thing is certain, they sting terribly.

DEATHS.

In St. Augustine, Fla., 1st inst., at the Hospital of the 4th N. H. Vimen, private LEWIS D. DORR, of Co. F, aged 19 years. Mr. Dorr was a resident of Farmington, N. H., and was a noble representative of the New England volunteer soldiery. Beloved at home,and highly esteemed in his community, conscience and a sense of duty sent him to the war. He was one of the three months' men, and in May, 1861, was stationed with his Company at Fort Constitution, at Portsmouth. The 3d N. H. regiment, which was in formation at that time, having a large surplus of men, his Company went to Manchester, and was mustered into the service with the 4th N. H. regiment for three years. He gained the full confidence and esteem of his officers and fellow soldiers, was wholly devoted to his duty, and reliable at all times in it. Reserved, generous, self-reliant, brave even to a fault, he was not the man to shun toil or fail in the critical moment. His funeral was largely attended, with many touching marks of respect and esteem.—St. Augustine, Fl., Examiner.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S
Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable,
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!
The SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century, and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water before you rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.
Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so evenly that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least, and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.
In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wrink the larger bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE-EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.
The great improvement in this, over every other Wringing Machine yet invented, is, its Self-Adjusting arrangement, requiring no alteration to wring a handkerchief or bed quilt; consequently, the most ignorant servant can operate it.
The machine is made of wood, and so arranged that no iron can possibly come in contact with the clothes, thereby avoiding all danger of injury to the clothes by iron rust.
We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.
Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscriber.
Terms Cash on delivery—the money to be refunded if the machine proves unsatisfactory in any respect.

MANURES.
J. F. SHORES, JR.,
No. 1 Congress Block,
—has for sale—
1900 BARRELS of the Lont MANUFACT'G CO'S
Superior Poudrette.
This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.
TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!
Try it on your FIELD CROPS! Try it on your BEANS, your CABBAGES, your Corn, Potatoes. Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY; Try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS;
TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation exists—and you will find that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY.
The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity,
One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.
Also, for sale,
PURE PERUVIAN GUANO
—and—
Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

The Best Manure.
The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called
POUDRETTE.
The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.
Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore a little more need more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has also proved excellent in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.
A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried manures. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.
DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.
Correspondence between some of the most eminent Physicians of New York and Louisville, and WM. J. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:
NEW YORK May 1, 1861.
MR. WM. T. CUTTER, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:
Dear Sir:—The great difficulty we have experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.
Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us in having a pure article supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.
We are, very respectfully, your obedt. servants,

Drs. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others.
Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your request, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I believe will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,
I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. T. CUTTER, Jr.
We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and Wm. T. Cutter, of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

Morning Chronicle.

THE WAKENING.

How many thousands are wakening now!
Some to the songs from the forest-hough,
To the rustling leaves at the lattice-pane,
To the chiming fall of the early rain.

And some, far out on the deep mid sea,
To the dash of the waves in their foaming glee,
As they break into spray on the ship's tall ribs,
That holds through the tumult her path of pride.

And some—oh! well may their hearts rejoice,
To the gentle sound of a mother's voice;
Long shall they yearn for that kindly tone,
When from the court and the hearth 'tis gone.

And some in the camp, to the bugle's breath,
And the tramp of the steed on the echoing heath,
And the sudden roar of the hostile gun,
Which tells that a foeman must, ere night, be won.

And some, in the gloomy convict-cell,
To the dull deep note of the warning bell,
As it heavily calls them forth to die,
While the bright sun mounts in the laughing sky.

And some to the peal of the hunter's horn,
And some to the sounds from the city borne;
And some to the rolling of torrent floods,
Far 'midst old mountains, and solemn woods.

So are we roused on this chequer'd earth,
Each unto light hath a daily birth,
Though fearful or joyous, though sad or sweet,
Be the voice which first our uspringing meet.

But ONE must the sound be, and ONE the call,
Which from the dust shall awake us all!
One, though to sever'd and distant doams—
How shall the sleepers arise from the tombs?

READY-MADE CLOTHING

ASTONISH THE WORLD!

Why is it that Lane is so popular?

WHY IS IT THAT THE GREAT MASS OF THE PEOPLE BUY THEIR GOODS AT

"L A N E'S?"

These are questions, the answers to which you will do well to remember.

1st. We do a strictly "CASH BUSINESS," buying and selling for "nett cash," thereby saving much from bad debts, and having great advantage in buying goods.

2d. We employ none but first-class artists in the cut and manufacture of our goods, thereby giving to the purchaser an elegant and tasty fit, combined with great durability.

3d. We always keep a very large stock, and you are sure to find garments suited to your taste and pocket.

4th. Our corps of salesmen are all gentlemen, and you have no fear of being abused if you do not purchase; but on the contrary, take great pleasure in showing strangers over our immense establishment.

5th. We invite strangers who are making purchases in the city, to make our store their headquarters, and send any bundle or package there for safe keeping.

Advertise!

IT IS THE

LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain a, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and affords the only means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right means, at the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when moved by disposition to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the places at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual perseverting advertising, if the subject be at all adapted for the trade and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no instance of a well sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose that at a season of good business showcases to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time of all others to cover up, who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays me at all times, but I know how far to go. But especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no bites are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be turned from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are nearly as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The changes are so rapid in this country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is acknowledged by all. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE

PURE AND FOUR YEARS OLD,

OF CHOICE OPORTO FRUIT,

For Physicians' Use,

FEMALES, WEEKLY PERSONS, INVALIDS.

SAMBUCUS TREE, OF PORTUGAL,

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and in some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefitting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837.)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same, including the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.
The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.
These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.
During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN REFUSALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY,
Boston, Dec. 2, 1861. 1y 5tuw

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, MAY 27, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

It was reported at Fortress Monroe on Sunday that Gen. Burnside had taken Raleigh. The Ellen St. Terry, from Newbern, reports that the American flag was raised in Raleigh some days ago by the citizens. No particulars had been received.—The news arrived by a flag of truce. The health and spirits of the troops at Newbern continued excellent.

Washington, N. C., has been occupied, and newspapers started by the troops.

Through the exertions of Gen. Burnside, about fifteen hundred Federal prisoners, including many New England men, in the hands of the rebels will immediately be released from prison at Salisbury, on parole. They will be taken to New York soon.

Reconnoissances are frequently made from Norfolk in all directions. A recent visit to Pig Point discovered 17 guns in position, in complete order. A large quantity of ammunition was also discovered there.

Two 24-pounder field pieces, entirely new, and mounted upon fine carriages, were seized, together with other articles, a day or two ago, in an agricultural warehouse in Norfolk, which the owner had turned into a manufactory of such articles for the Confederate Government.

A rebel force consisting of Gens. Ewell's and Jackson's divisions, and estimated at 15,000, attacked Gen. Banks' force, numbering less than 4000, on Sunday morning at daybreak, at Winchester. Gen. Banks fought them six hours, when he fell back, continuing his march in good order to Martinsburg, a distance of 22 miles, where he arrived at 2:40 P. M. A rebel prisoner captured Sunday morning says the rebel force is to be strengthened; that their purpose is to enter Maryland at two points, Harper's Ferry and Williamsport. Gen. Banks reports that his command all passed the Potomac safely—men, trains and all.—The loss on both sides is heavy.

The defeat of Gen. Banks has again startled the country, and once more is an urgent appeal made for Northern men to rally to the defence of the Capital. The President on Sunday took military possession of all the railroads in the United States from and after that date until further orders, and directed that the railroad companies should hold themselves in readiness for the transmission of troops and munitions of war as may be ordered by the military authorities, to the exclusion of all other business.

In Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, and other States, measures were immediately taken to dispatch troops. The whole active militia of Massachusetts were summoned to report on Boston Common on Monday. The orders of Gov. Andrew were received in Newburyport at 1 o'clock on Monday morning, and the Mayor ordered all the bells to be rung at 3 o'clock to rouse the people, the object being to fill up the Cushing Guard, which started in the first train for Boston.

The N. Y. Herald's correspondent says:—Previous to May 4th, 7000 men had been added to the rebel force in the Shenandoah valley, and the whole force was supposed to number 18,000 or 20,000 men, with 34 pieces of artillery. On the 9th of May, there was a large rebel force in the mountains in their vicinity, but Gen. Banks had enough men to keep them in check. Gen. Shields and Gen. Geary were being withdrawn from Gen. Banks, and the 17th inst. had left to join Gen. McDowell. Two days previously a union had been effected between the rebel Gens. Johnston, Ewell and Jackson, and they were marching upon the divided and reduced forces of Banks.

It is reported that Col. Kenley and his Lieut. Col., of the First Maryland, and all the regiment except forty, were killed in the attack of Jackson upon their position.—The rebels followed Gen. Banks' forces Sunday night on their march, but did not make their appearance on Monday morning. Prompt efforts have been made to succor Gen. Banks.

Special dispatches from Washington, Monday, state that it was rumored that Jackson was retreating more rapidly than he advanced; that a balloon reconnoissance from Gen. McClellan's Headquarters, on Saturday, disclosed the fact that the rebels were evacuating Richmond; and that the new troops, reaching Washington, would be put into the forts about the city, while the disciplined troops are distributed as emergencies may require.

☞ A deputation of students from Harvard College waited upon Gov. Andrew on Monday forenoon, to tender the services of a company of infantry for three months, the acting President of the College, (Rev. Dr. Peabody,) having given his assent. They were assured that a company would be received if raised, and returned to Cambridge to perfect their plans. The company will be attached to the Fourth Battalion.

☞ Two hundred thousand slate pencils were manufactured and put up for market in four days last week, in Adams & Brown's mill, in Castleton, Vt.

GREAT EXCITEMENT IN BALTIMORE.—The news of the disaster to Col. Kenley's 1st Maryland Regiment at Front Royal, occasioned intense feeling in Baltimore, and when the secessionists began to congregate on Sunday morning, with radiant faces and words of rejoicing, they were attacked and beaten. During the day at least one hundred were knocked down in different parts of the city, though the police prevented any fatal results. In one or two cases ropes were brought out and preparations made for hanging persons to lamp posts. Two men were stabbed, but not dangerously. Among those attacked was Robert McLane, late Minister to Mexico, who was saved by the police. Obnoxious citizens had to keep out of sight. The intense feeling is explained by the fact that the regiment which so severely suffered belongs in Baltimore and the friends and relatives of the men were stung to madness by the exultation of the rebel sympathizers.

The excitement in Baltimore was still intense on Monday, the crowd abusing obnoxious people and occasionally knocking down rebel sympathisers. The people demanded the display of flags from all the newspaper offices and public buildings.—All complied except the News, the office of which remained closed and abandoned.—Subsequently, however, the proprietors returned and displayed the flag. Prominent secessionists disappeared from the streets.—A recruiting office was opened, displaying the inscription—"Recruiting office of the 18th Md. Avengers."

IMPORTANT FROM MEXICO.—Recent news from Mexico is of great importance, indicating that the French troops there were at the point of being overwhelmed and destroyed. Some 30,000 Mexican troops, with a great many guns, were assembled in the vicinity of the City of Mexico. What adds to the difficulty of the French troops is the non-sympathy of their countrymen in the City of Mexico, who have issued a manifesto taking strong ground against the action of Napoleon's government and its advisers in Mexico, and declaring that its policy is fatal to their interests.

AN ENGLISH VIEW OF THE SLAVE TRADE TREATY.—The London Times in a recent article on the new slave trade treaty, says:

"Perhaps we shall be told that this is a blow dealt by the North against the South. It is no such thing. The slave trade is exclusively a vice of the Northern States. It was from the ports of the North that the slavers issued, and it was to Cuba, and not to the ports of the South, they bore their gasping freights of human life. The South would buy no such goods; not certainly from scruple either human, moral, or religious, but because the wares did not suit them."

The stupidity of the Times is on some occasions most surprising. Every intelligent Englishman as well as every American knows that though slavers have been fitted out in the North, yet the North has ever looked upon those engaged in fitting them out as it does upon burglars, incendiaries, and murderers, and that when they have escaped unpunished, it has been only through finesse at the South, aided by supple tools at the North.

☞ On Saturday, 17th inst., as Mr. Joseph Lurvey was sitting on the cross-trees of a schooner at Gloucester, at work on the rigging, he was observed to gasp and fall forward towards the mast. A man was instantly dispatched aloft, and found him in an unconscious state, having received a paralytic shock. He was safely lowered and conveyed to his residence, but died the following Thursday, having remained unconscious up to the hour of his death.

☞ A young lady resides in New Jersey whose throat has seriously troubled her for the past three years, and who at times has for days together been unable to speak above a whisper. Feeling her difficulty to be returning, a few days since, she put her finger in her throat, and, to her astonishment, withdrew a crooked pin, in an advanced state of decomposition.

☞ Some Ohio soldiers, at Gauley Mountain, Va., while digging around their fortifications, discovered a tin can, and upon opening it were surprised to find that it contained one hundred $5 gold pieces, $300 in five dollar notes on the Merchants' Bank of Wheeling, 18 silver tablespoons, a silver soup ladle, and 24 silver teaspoons. It had probably been buried by some person for safe keeping.

☞ The following, from the Augusta, Me., Journal, is, at least, somewhat ambiguous:—

The smoke of large clearings in Aroos. took county continues to ascend, notwithstanding so many of the citizens of that county have gone to the war. The wives and sweet hearts left behind are determined that their homes shall be comfortable and attractive when the heroes of the war return, rejoicing in their success.

☞ Cotton sold in Nashville, Tenn., on Saturday, for 22 cents for gold and 26 cents for the Union and Planters' Bank notes.—Planters refuse all other money for cotton.

☞ It seems to be confirmed that Jeff. Davis drinks sassafras decoction in the morning, for want of a decent article of Bohea or Souchong.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— An invitation was extended to Parson Brownlow to visit Manchester, and address the people, and he promised to be there on Monday evening.

—— The Manchester American states that Lieut. Col. Fiske of the 2d N. H., now temporary Colonel of a Pennsylvania Regiment, is sick of typhoid fever at Baltimore.

—— The court now in session at Plymouth has ordered a nol. pros. to be entered on the indictment against James M. Williams for the murder of Vanness Wyatt at Warren, on which he has once been tried, and ordered Mr. Williams to be discharged.

—— A letter from Fort Jefferson, Fla., states that the 7th New Hampshire Regiment, stationed there, has lost fifteen men by small pox. Their names are as follows:

Sergeant Otis, Co. A; Corporals Davis and Hillman, Co. G; Privates Page, Heath, Sprague, Co. C; Tatro, Colbath, Campbell, Tilton, Sperling, Sprague, Kineo, Larabee, Edgerly, Co. G.

—— A Concord correspondent of the Manchester Mirror says, "the new regiment from this State, the Ninth, will be commanded by Col. Joseph A. Gilmore. Col. Gilmore received his commission last winter. It is thought that Geo. H. Pierce, the railroad contractor of Dover, will be appointed Lieut. Col., and Nat Head of Hooksett, Major."

—— Brownell, the avenger of Ellsworth, was at the Phenix Hotel, in Concord, last week. He makes use of an alias in registering his name.

IRON CLAD VESSELS NOT A VERY NEW NOTION.—Thomas Gregg, of Collingsville Pa., is said to be the originator of iron clad vessels. He had a patent issued to him in 1814. He describes in his specifications a vessel with angular sides "all around," covered by a deck to glance the projectiles of an enemy upward, while the shot striking below the apex of the angle, will be glanced downward. The angulated system of ship-building, as exhibited in the Merrimac and the frigate recently launched at Philadelphia, is claimed to be invented by Josiah Jones of the British navy, as late as 1859. Mr. Gregg invented this half a century before. So of metallic shields. Mr. Gregg's vessel was "to be coppered or covered with iron."

☞ Large sums of money are paid away every year, by the colonial governments in Australia, to boys for the destruction of thistles. These boys, like the rat-catchers take care not to exterminate their means of living. In order to save this expense, and effectually destroy the thistles, it is proposed to introduce the goldfinch, the brown linnet, the red-pole and the German siskin into Australia, all of which birds live on thistle-seed in the season.

☞ Andrew Johnson's organ in Tennessee, the Nashville Union, of the 17th inst., has published an over-whelming denunciation of the address of the fourteen members of Congress in favor of reviving the "Democratic party" and does not hesitate to stigmatize the address as in all respects dangerous, disgraceful and ill-timed. This noble appeal will show where the true Southern democracy stand in this crisis of our country's fate.

NARROW ESCAPE.—A little child fell into a well in Salem, a few days ago, and on the alarm being given by another child, the mother jumped down the well, a distance of 24 feet, and fastened a rope to the little boy, and he was drawn up by a man who had by that time arrived on the spot. The water was about four feet deep.

☞ The bridal attire for the Princess Alice, of England, is very nearly completed. The lace has been preparing in skilful hands for over sixteen months, and the design was chosen by the late Prince Consort.

☞ Dr. E. H. Chapin is to have a year's absence from his society, on account of ill health. He is to go to Europe and is to continue to receive his salary of six thousand dollars a year. His society desire that he shall in the future relinquish lecturing altogether.

☞ A Memphis paper, the other day, told its readers that Gen. Halleck, seeing the indomitable bravery of the rebel soldiers, broke his sword, resigned his command, and said such a people could never be conquered and ought not to be subdued.

☞ Wall street was thrown into great excitement last week, by the discovery of a heavy over issue of Indiana State stocks.—The amount issued is said to be only half a million, of which $240,000 has been taken up by the parties issuing them.

☞ The Boston Post, of Monday, says: "yesterday was one of those red-letter, blue-sky, orange-blossom and golden-cream Sundays, we read of in the nice bound books, but only enjoyed once in a long time."

☞ The liabilities of the Southern Confederacy are reported as upwards of $410,000,000.

Be careful of your word, even in keeping the most trifling appointment. But do not blame another for a failure of that kind till you have heard his excuse.

☞ On the line of railroad from Chicago to Philadelphia, a boy goes around with a card through the cars, with numberless refreshments printed thereon, with the price attached to each, including tea and coffee, and you check such as you want, which are speedily brought to you on a salver from the commissary car.

☞ On the 18th of April, 1862, the Confederate Congress gravely declared New Orleans should be a "port of entry." And the national fleet immediately went to work and made it so, in conformity with the act.

NOVA SCOTIA GOLD.—There are now about sixty localities in Nova Scotia where gold is freely found.

☞ See a woman, in another column picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add, that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."

WM. P. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26

Fresh Beef & Vegetables for the Navy.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
Bureau of Provisions and Clothing,
WASHINGTON, May 3, 1862.

Sealed proposals will be received at this office until THURSDAY, the fifth day of June, 1862, at noon, for the supply of such quantities of Fresh Beef and Vegetables as may be required on the Portsmouth, N. H., station, during the fiscal year commencing on the 1st day of July next, and ending on the 30th June, 1863.

The beef and vegetables must be of good quality, and the best the market affords; and each article must be offered for by the pound.

Bond with approved security will be required in one half the estimated amount of the contract, and twenty per centum in addition will be withheld from the amount of each payment to be made, as collateral security for the performance of the contract, which will on no account be paid until it is fully complied with. Payment to be made in certificates of indebtedness, or in Treasury Notes, at the option of the government.

Every offer made must be accompanied (as directed in the act of Congress making appropriation for the naval service for 1846-7, approved 10th August, 1846,) by a written guaranty, signed by one or more responsible persons, to the effect that he or they undertake that the bidder or bidders will, if his or their bid be accepted, enter into an obligation, within five days, with good and sufficient sureties, to furnish the articles proposed.

No proposal will be considered unless accompanied by such guaranty. may6 w Tues 4w

EXCITING NEWS.—On Sunday night, soon after midnight, dispatches were received at Newburyport, (where the telegraph office must have been occupied all night—probably the operator sleeps there,) from Gov. Andrew of Massachusetts, calling for troops to proceed to Boston and Washington immediately—as "the enemy has repulsed Gen. Banks and are marching in force on Washington." Newburyport was in a high state of excitement through the night, and at 3 o'clock Monday morning, the bells were rung, calling the people to State street, the object being to fill up the Cushing Guard, that started in the first train for Boston, Monday. The Herald for Monday morning had been printed before this news came,—but an Extra was at once issued; and copies brought here by men in a carriage labelled "Important News," and sold by hundreds along the road at 5 cts. each, were the first intimation people this side Newburyport could have of the stirring intelligence, as the telegraph office here is not occupied at night.

Respecting "the news" itself, it would seem that much of the actual facts must be suppressed from the public, as we have no definite and specific information which indicates the requirement of additional force at Washington, except the President's call for such.

POLICE COURT.—Before Justice Odell.—Peter Collins and Michael Cary, for brawl and tumult, were fined $3 each: costs, $3.86.

Bridget Barrett and Bridget Gannor, for brawl and tumult, fined $3 each: costs $5.97.

Louisa M. Percival, for riding in the streets faster than five miles an hour, fined $3: costs $4.80.

Almira P. Robinson, for same offence, fined $3; costs $5.74.

Patrick Quinlan, drunk and disorderly, fined $2: costs $4.80.

Thos. Quinn, drunk and disorderly, fined $2: costs $4.03.

☞ Miss Dickinson spoke at the Temple, Sunday afternoon and evening, to larger audiences than most clergymen in the city probably had—on the subject of slavery, (which is almost worn out, it would seem, in more than one sense—as a topic, some, think, and as an institution, others.) She has a pleasant voice, and is a fluent and earnest speaker; but of course it would be difficult to present many new facts or arguments on her subject. As usual on such occasions, she denounced almost everybody but Gen. Fremont and "niggers." Her remarks were often applauded, even though it was on the Sabbath.

☞ As will be seen by the card of the new landlord of the Franklin House in this city—considerable alteration and improvement have been made in that favorite hotel, including a new parlor on the second floor, and a private or ladies' entrance thereto—a great desideratum in a first-class public house. With these additions, it would seem the Franklin must retain and increase its old popularity.

☞ Mr. H. C. Gerrish, who has for so many years, in various capacities and localities, catered with good acceptance to the tastes and appetites of this public, advertises the removal of his fruitery from Market street to the corner of Daniel street and Market Square. Mr. Gerrish is one of the nicest and neatest of storekeepers, and promptest and pleasantest of men, as everybody knows, and so must succeed wherever he goes.

☞ One of the crew of the privateer Sumter arrived in this city, on Thursday of last week. His name was William Ryan, and he left the vessel at Cadiz, Spain. He arrived here in the ship Piscataqua, and so great was his joy at getting away from the Sumter, and his desire to get home again, that he walked from this city to Boston. He was in a destitute condition, and was relieved by Gov. Andrew, who also furnished him with a passage to New York, where he has relatives. He does not desire to be a "bold privateer" any more.

☞ A child of Mr. Geo. B. French, (of the firm of French & Lunt,) was so badly injured in this city on Monday afternoon, by the falling of a heavy cellar door upon him, that doubts are entertained of his recovery.

☞ Four members of Company K, 2d N. H. Regiment, who were taken prisoners at Williamsburg, confined at Richmond three days, and then released on their parole of honor, arrived at their homes in this city, on Saturday evening last.

☞ Ship Sierra Nevada, bound for Callao, while beating out of San Francisco April 29th, missed stays and went ashore at Fort Point during a thick fog. The government steamer Shubrick went to her assistance, and she was got off immediately, and was lying at Meigs' wharf on the 30th, having sustained some damage, but to what extent was not ascertained.

☞ Gen. Robert Anderson, the hero of Fort Sumter, arrived in Springfield, Mass., on Friday evening, to spend a few days in that city.

HALEY, MORSE, & BOYDEN'S
Pat'nt Self-Adjusting Clothes Wringer
Simple, Economical, Durable.
AND CANNOT GET OUT OF ORDER!
THE SELF-ADJUSTING CLOTHES WRINGER is the greatest improvement of the nineteenth century; and has only to be known, and tried, to come into general use. The saving of clothes, in pressing out the water between two rubber rolls, instead of wringing or twisting, will amount to enough in a short time, to pay for a machine.
Every one is aware that the twisting or wringing of clothes stretches and breaks the fibers; but this machine presses them so even that a newspaper, thoroughly soaked, can be wrung without breaking it in the least; and it works so easy that a child twelve years old can operate it without trouble. Hot water does not injure the rolls, and woollen goods can be wrung out of boiling water to prevent fulling, which cannot be done by hand.
In Starching, it is invaluable, especially on large articles, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.
The great improvement in this, over every other Wringer, such as Ladies' Skirts, &c., as it leaves the starch in the clothes perfectly even. It will wring the largest bed-quilt or the smallest pocket-handkerchief, dryer than it can possibly be done by hand, without alteration, IN LESS THAN ONE EIGHTH OF THE TIME. The machine is so simple that it cannot get out of repair.

We offer this CLOTHES WRINGER to the public with full confidence in its real utility and merit; and any purchaser who thinks, after giving the machine a fair trial, that it is not worth its cost, or is not satisfied with its operation, can return the machine and have its cost refunded.
Any person wishing to purchase one of the Machines, can have one sent to their house, if in the city, by leaving their address with the subscribers.

Manures.
J. F. SHORES, JR.,
No. 1 Congress Block,
—has for sale—
1900 BARRELS of the LODI MANUFACT'R Co's
Superior Poudrette.
This article has been so long used, and with such success, in this vicinity, that a recommendation of it is hardly necessary. One word to those who have not used it—TRY IT.
TRY IT ON YOUR GARDENS!
Try it on your FIELD CROPS!! Try it on your GRASS, your CABBAGES, your Corn, Potatoes.
Try it on your GRAPE VINES, your FRUIT TREES, your SHRUBBERY; Try it on your LAWNS, on your MOWING FIELDS.
TRY IT ANYWHERE and EVERYWHERE, where vegetation starts—and you will find that it pays WELL, pays FIRST RATE on the OUTLAY.
The price this year will be uniform, without regard to quantity,
One Dollar and sixty cents per barrel.
Also, for sale,
PURE PERUVIAN GUANO
—and—
Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,
warranted genuine. Made of the best materials, and in the most improved manner. It is commended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise; and those engaged in the manufacture and sale of it will continue their best endeavors to advance the reputation which it has already acquired, on its merit alone.

The Best Manure.
The subscribers respectfully invite the attention of Farmers, Gardeners, and others interested in Agriculture, to a well known and widely used Fertilizer, called
POUDRETTE.
The base of this Fertilizer is night soil, deodorized by chemical agents, and prepared for use by mechanical means. The night-soil is obtained in Newburyport, from deep vaults, the accumulation in many cases of many years, so that it is highly concentrated.
Poudrette is not so concentrated as Guano and some other Fertilizers; therefore it can be used more freely, without hurtful results, as it will not prove injurious when put in direct contact with seeds. It may be used to advantage with corn, vines, around trees, at the time of hoeing, and for top dressing, in damp weather, when not exposed to the sun. It has a most excellent effect in giving a rapid start to the young plant, thus promoting a vigorous growth and an early maturity. For shrubs and potted plants it is invaluable.
A CAUTION has been thrown out in regard to buying dried manure. This caution farmers would do well to heed. We mix no other ingredients with the night-soil but those absolutely required to remove the odor and fit it for use.
DIRECTIONS.—Put the Poudrette in the hill, in direct contact with the seed. A handful to a hill of Corn is sufficient. For Melons, Cucumbers, &c., a larger quantity will be required. Around Trees and Grape Vines, from three to four quarts may be used, to be dug into the soil.

PURE OLD BOURBON WHISKEY.
Correspondence between some of the most eminent physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and WM. J. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky:
NEW YORK May 1, 1861.
MR. WM. T. CUTTER, JR., Louisville, Ky.:
Dear Sir:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whiskey as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.
Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacture of Whiskey in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to give a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to inquire whether you will not aid us by having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whiskey for the use of the sick.
We are, very respectfully, sir, yours truly,

DRS. VALENTINE MOTT, Willard Parker & others.
Gentlemen:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper distilled Bourbon Whiskey, which I think will fully meet the requirements of your letter. Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c.,
I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
WM. T. CUTTER, JR.

We, the Physicians of Portsmouth, having full confidence in the integrity of D. R. AMBROSE, recommend him as a suitable person to sell OLD BOURBON WHISKEY in Portsmouth, for medicinal purposes, in accordance with an arrangement made between the New York Physicians and Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and a similar agreement between said Cutter and the Physicians of Boston.

OLD FOLKS.

Ah, don't be sorrowful, darling,
And don't be sorrowful, pray;
Taking the year together, my dear,
There isn't more night than day!

'Tis rainy weather, my darling,
Time's waves, they heavily run,
But taking the year together, my dear,
There isn't more cloud than sun!

We are old folks now, my darling;
Our heads they are growing gray;
But, taking the year all round, my dear,
You will always find the May!

We have had our May, my darling,
And our roses long ago,
And the time of year is coming, my dear,
For the silent night and the snow!

And God is God, my darling,
Of night as well as of day;
We feel and know that we can go
Wherever he leads the way.

Ah, God of the night, my darling,
Of the night of death so grim!
The gate that leads out of life, good wife,
Is the gate that leads to him.

It is a pity that bores for the most part are worthy, well-meaning persons. You could turn a dull person out of doors with a good conscience; but rascals are usually too shrewd to be tedious. A man who intends to rob you, can't afford to make himself disagreeable except in the way of his profession. Moral—be patient with bores; they won't steal anything but your time.—Post.

READY-MADE CLOTHING

ASTONISH THE WORLD!

Why is it that Lane is so popular?

WHY IS IT THAT THE GREAT MASS OF THE PEOPLE BUY THEIR GOODS AT

"LANE'S?"

These are questions, the answers to which you will do well to remember.

1st. We do a strictly "CASH BUSINESS," buying and selling for "nett cash," thereby saving much from bad debts, and having great advantage in buying goods.

2d. We employ none but first-class artists in the cut and manufacture of our goods, thereby giving to the purchaser an elegant and tasty fit, combined with great durability.

3d. We always keep a very large stock and you are sure to find garments suited to your taste and pocket.

4th. Our corps of salesmen are all gentlemen, and you have no fear of being abused if you do not purchase; but on the contrary, take great pleasure in showing strangers over our immense establishment.

5th. We invite strangers who are making purchases in the city, to make our store their headquarters, and send any bundle or package there for safe keeping.

Advertise!

IT IS THE

LIFE OF TRADE!

Of all the mediums for reaching the people, there is none so cheap, so certain, so thorough, so effective, as the Newspaper. It is read by all, and is the effectively means by which the trader and the purchaser become generally known.

THE RIGHT MEANS.

Good customers can rarely be tricked into the consideration of the claims of those who they feel have neither adopted the right way, at the right time, nor the legitimate means for gaining their considerate attention.

To be successful, advertisements must be presented through the right means, and come before the reader at the right time, to secure his favorable consideration. That means is the NEWSPAPER. To that the purchaser looks as the legitimate place for the information he seeks, and he finds it there when most in humor to dwell upon its statements and note its facts. He has it represented to him day after day, and the coincidence between his needs and the place at which they may be supplied, is naturally established.

THE RIGHT TIME.

Continual persevering advertising, if the subject be at all adapted to the tastes and wants of the public, is sure to be successful. It is an indisputable fact, that there is no business of any well sustained adherence to a continued system of advertising ever failing of success.

There is a great diversity of opinion as to the best time to advertise, but the experience of some of the most successful advertisers is, that business men greatly mistake their true interests when they suppose it is economy or prudent business shrewdness to curtail advertising when business is most wanted. By many it is considered the very time for all others to avoid; one who has tried it says, "Give me the field when few advertisers occupy it, and I care not how hard the times are. It pays at all times, because I know how far to go, but especially it pays me when most of the business men in my line have taken their hooks out of the water, thinking no fishes are to be had."

THE RIGHT WAY.

There are always two ways of doing a thing, and a good thing in itself may be perverted from its purpose by the mode in which it is applied. For want of experience and judgment, some modes of advertising are merely as bad as none at all, and therefore a knowledge of the places and papers in which a business man is going to advertise, is of as much consequence to him as the advertisements themselves. It may be laid down as an indisputable fact that the money spent in judicious advertising by a business man, invariably yields him four-fold, sooner or later, and in numerous instances one hundred or one thousand fold. Some advertise for a short time after they commence business, and think it is sufficient; others intermit advertising after they have established a flourishing business by its aid. This is a great mistake. From the moment a house ceases to advertise, however large its reputation and standing, it begins to decline. The change may not be in the country, and the public mind is so constantly occupied by new applicants for its favor and its attention, that to be out of the papers where everybody seeks for information on every subject, is to be forgotten. The Press is daily more and more becoming a necessity, and its usefulness as an advertising medium is constantly increasing. No man is wise, or just to himself, who undertakes to do business without availing himself of its advantages.

Advertising Agency

—OF—

S. R. NILES,

1 Scollay's Building, Court Street, Boston,

Embraces most of the principal Commercial, Business, Religious, Literary, Scientific and Agricultural Newspapers in the United States, British Provinces and Canadas, for which he is the only appointed Agent, and authorized by the proprietors to receive Advertisements and subscriptions at their lowest rates.

The Agent will spare no pains to render his agency a prompt, safe and reliable medium of communication with the Newspaper Press of the country. He feels qualified, from his long experience and devotion to the subject, to impart valuable information in regard to papers and localities best adapted for different kinds of business.

Persons desiring information, its cost, comparative value of papers and localities, are respectfully invited to call at the Agency, or they will be waited upon and every assistance rendered for the adoption of a thorough, and judicious system of advertising. apr1 tf S. R. NILES.

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial properties as a gentle Stimulant, Tonic, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Sambucus, cultivated in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefitting ladies and children.

A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

Advertising.
For a Square (1½ inches) or less, one insertion 50 cents, three insertions $1, one week $1.50. one month $3, three months $5, six months $8, one year $15. These are Daily rates—and no adver tisements receive more than one insertion in the Weekly (Gazette) without special order and charge.
Funeral Notices, and Advertisements of articles Lost and Found, &c., 50 cents.
Advertisements may appear both in the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, if ordered; and will thus receive the most thorough circulation both in this city and vicinity, and throughout the State. ☞ Liberal terms for yearly advertising.

The Chronicle.

☞ During the bombardment of Port Royal a shot from the enemy terribly shattered one of the legs of a seaman named Thompson, while he was at the helm.—The brave man, taking his knife, severed the tendons of the limb, and, throwing the member away, continued at his post until compelled by weakness to be carried below. As he was borne away he cried out, "I set the compasses," as calmly as though he was not suffering from his terrible wound. Thompson is now rapidly convalescing at the Naval Hospital at Brooklyn. He has served his country twenty years in various ships, and desires to procure a cork leg, so that he may again be fitted for duty. It must be privilege to help such a man.

☞ There is a pair of Colt's revolvers, nearly finished, at Colt's armory in Hartford, which are inscribed, "From the President of the United States to the King of Denmark." The pistols are the improved army pattern, made in the most perfect manner, and elegantly inlaid with gold.

A HUGE GUN.—For some time the War Department has ordered fifteen inch guns, but a contract has now been for a twenty inch gun, which, rifled, will require an elongated shot weighing one ton, and, with smooth bore, a round ball of a thousand pounds.

☞ Lieut. Horace S. Dunn, of the Mass. 22d Regt., was buried at St. Paul's Church in Boston, on Saturday last. He died of fever at the City Hospital, New York. He was a noble young man, of about twenty years of age, member of the Junior class at Harvard College, and is the first under graduate who has fallen in the war. He was the son of James C. Dunn, Esq., of Boston, and his loss is severely felt by a large circle of relatives and classmates and friends.

☞ An hostler in Boston, fell into a horse trough, Saturday afternoon, supposed to be in a fit, and was nearly drowned when taken out. He was carried to the Hospital, where he remained in convulsions.

☞ Emigrant runners in New York are practicing their arts upon wounded soldiers who arrive in that city. The poor soldiers, unable to help themselves, are glad to get a place of rest at any cost, and they are frequently robbed of all the money they possess in a single night.

☞ Amsterdam is preparing for a "World's Fair." It's Crystal Palace is being erected, and a most imposing and beautiful structure it will be. And this is the only new building now going up in the whole city of Amsterdam!

AN HONEST CONFESSION.—The Mark Lane Express makes the following statement:—"Sir," said the secretary of the hospital at Newcastle-upon-Tyne to a gentleman who had given a sum of money to the hospital, "I have to thank you for your very happy donation, which perhaps, you would like to appear in the papers."—"Like to appear!" answered the old gentleman, losing his temper in a moment; "like to, indeed! Why, what else do you think I gave you the money for?" We are afraid that the donor is not singular in these days when the love of notoriety is so common.
